26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Assyria, saying, The nations whiche thou hast translated and put in the cities of Samaria, knowe not the lawe of the God of the lande: therefore he hath sent Lions vppon them, and beholde they slay them, because they knowe not the manner of woorshipping the God of the lande.

27 Then the king of Assyria commaunded, saying, Cary thyther one of the priestes whom ye brought thence, and let him goe and dwel there, and teache them the fashion howe to serue the God of the countrey.

28 And then one of the priestes, whom they had caryed from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they shoulde feare the Lorde.

29 Howbeit, euery nation made them gods of theyr owne, and put them in the houses of the hygh places whiche the Samaritanes had made, euery nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

30 The men of Babylon made Socoth Benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Asima.

31 The Auites made Nibhaz & Tharthac: and the Sepharuites burnt theyr chyldren in fyre to Adramelech, and Anamelech, the gods of Sepharuaim.

32 And so they feared the Lorde, and made them priestes of the baest of them, which sacrificed for them in the houses of the high places.

33 And so f they feared the Lorde, and serued theyr owne goddes, after the maner of the people whom they caryed thence.

f. We can not worship God and Idols.

34 And vnto this day they doo after the olde manner: and neither feare God, neyther doo after their ordinances and customes, nor doo after the lawe and commaundement whiche the Lorde commaunded the children of Jacob, || whom he called Israel.

||Gen. 32. 28. 3.kin. 18. 31.

35 And the Lord made a couenant with them, and charged them, saying, Feare none other gods, nor bowe your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them:

36 But feare the Lorde, which brought you out of the lande of Egypt, with great power, and a stretched out arme, him feare, and to him bowe, and to him doo sacrifice.

37 The statutes, ordinances, lawe, and commaundement which he wrote for you, see that ye be diligent to doo for euermore, and feare not any other gods.

38 And the couenant that I haue made with you, kepe ye forgeat not, and feare none other goddes:

39 But the Lorde your GOD ye shall feare, and he shall delyuer you out of the handes of al your enimies.

40 Howbeit, they did not hearken, but did after their olde custome.

41 And so these nations feared the Lord, & serued their images also, lyke as did their chyldren, & their chyldrens children: euen as did their fathers, so doo they vnto this day.

4. Hezecia king of Iuda putteth downe the brasen serpent, and destroyeth the idolles, 7. and prospereth.

§2. Chro. 28. 28. and. 29. 1.

IN the thyrde yeere of || Hosea sonne of Ela kyng of Israel, it came to passe that Hezecia the sonne of Achaz kyng of Juda did raigne.

2 Twentie and fiue yeeres olde was he when he began to raigne, and raigned twentie and nine yeeres in Hierusalem: his mothers name also was Abi the daughter of Zacharia.

3 And he did that which is ryght in the sight of the Lorde, according as al as did Dauid his father.

a. It appertayneth to a good prince to purge the Church of god.

4 He a put away the high places, and brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and al to brake the brasen serpent || that Moses had made: for vnto those dayes the chyldren of Israel did burne sacrifice to it: and he called it Nehustan.

||Num. 21. 8.

5 He trusted in the Lorde God of Israel, so that after him was none like him among al the kinges of Juda, neyther were there any suche before him.

6 For he claue to the Lorde, and departed not from him: but kept his commaundements, which the lord commaunded Moses.

7 And the Lorde was with him, so that he prospered in al thinges which he tooke in hand: and he rebelled against the kyng of Assyria, and serued him not.

8 He smote the Philistines, euen vnto Azza, and the coastes thereof, both castles where they kept watches, and strong cities.

9 And in the fourth yeere of kyng Hezecia, (which was the seuenth yeere of Hosea, sonne of Ela kyng of Israel) Salmanazar kyng of Assyria, came vp against Samaria, and besieged it.

||1. king. 17. 1

10 ||And after three yeeres they tooke it: euen in the sixth yeere of Hezecia (that is to say, the nienth yeere of Hosea kyng of Israel) Samaria was wonne.

11 And the kyng of Assyria did cary away Israel vnto Assyria, and put them in Halah and in Habor by the ryuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes:

12 Because they would not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God, but transgressed his couenant, & al that Moses the seruant of the Lorde commaunded, and would neither heare them, nor doo them.

13 ||Therefore in the fourteenth yeere of kyng Hezecia, did Sennacherib kyng of Assyria come vp against al the strong cities of Juda, and tooke them.

||2. Chr. 32. 1. Esai. 36. 1. Eccle. 48. 19.

14 And Hezecia king of Juda, sent to the kyng of Assyria to Lachis, saying, I haue offended, depart from me: and al that thou puttest on me, that wyl I beare. And the kyng of Assyria appoynted vnto Hezecia kyng of Juda three hundred talentes of siluer, and thirtie talentes of golde.

15 And Hezecia gaue him all the siluer that was founde in the house of the Lorde, and in the treasures of the kynges house.

16 At the same season did Hezecia rent of the doores of the temple of the Lord, and the pyllers which the sayde Hezecia kyng of Juda had couered ouer, and gaue them to the kyng of Assyria.

b. After certayne yeeres when Hezecia ceassed to pay the appoynted tribute, the kyng of Assyria sent his captaynes against hym. Matth. 1.

17 And the king of Assyria sent b Tharthan and Rabsaris, and Rabsaceh, from Lachis, to kyng Hezecia, with a great host, against Hierusalem: and they went vp, and came to Hierusalem, and gate them vp, and stoode by the conduite of the vpper poole, whiche is in the way of the fullers feelde.

18 And when they had called to the kyng, there came out to them Eliacim the sonne of Elcia, whiche was stewarde of the householde, and Sobna the scribe, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

19 And Rabsaceh sayd vnto them, Tell ye Hezecia, I pray you, thus sayth the great kyng, euen the kyng of Assyria, What confidence is this that thou hast?

||Esai. 36. 5.

20 ||Thou thinkest surely I haue eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

21 Doest thou trust to the staffe of this broken reede Egypt, on whiche if a man leane, it wyl goe into his hand, and pearse it? euen so is Pharao kyng of Egypt vnto all that trust on hym.

22 If ye say vnto me, We trust in the Lorde our God: is not that he whose hygh places, and whose aulters Hezecia hath c put downe? and hath sayde to Juda and Hierusalem, Ye shall worship before this aulter here in Hierusalem.

c. Idolatres thynke that Gods religion is destroyed when idolatrie and superstition is removed.

23 Nowe therfore, I pray thee, gene hostages to my lorde the kyng of Assyria, and I wyl wyl deliuer thee two thousand horses, yf thou be able to set riders vpon them.

24 Why thinkest thou scorne at the presence of one of the lest Dukes of my maisters seruantes, and trustest to Egypt for charettes and horsemen?

25 Moreouer, am I come nowe without the bidding of the Lorde to this place, to destroy it? The Lorde saide to me, Goe vp to this lande, and destroy it.

26 And Eliacim the sonne of Helcia, and Sobna, and Joah, saide vnto Rabsaceh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruantes in the Syrians language (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the eares of this people that are on the wall.

27 And Rabsaceh said vnto them, Hath my maister sent me to thy maister and thee, to speake these woordes? Hath he not sent me because of the men which syt on the wal, that they may eate their owne dongue, and drinke their owne * pisse with you?

28 And so Rabsaceh stoode, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and spake, saying, Heare the woordes of the great king, euen of the king of Assyria.

29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezecia beguile you, for he shal not be able to deliuer you out of myne hand:

30 Neither let Hezecia make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord shal surely deliuer vs, and this citie shall not be geuen ouer into the hand of the king of Assyria.

31 Hearken not vnto Ezecia: for thus sayth the king of Assyria, Deale kindly with me, and come out to me, and then eate euery man of his owne vine, and of his owne fygge tree, and drinke euery man of the water of his owne wel, 32 Til I come, and fette you to as good a land as yours is, a land of corne and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, a land of oyle, of oliue trees, and of hony, that ye may liue, and not die: and hearken not vnto Ezecia, for he beguileth you, saying, The Lorde shall deliuer vs.

33 Hath euery one of the goddes of the nations, deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

34 Where is the god of Hamath and of Arphad? and where is the god of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah? Dyd they deliuer Samaria out of mine hand?

35 And what god is among all the gods of the nations, that hath deliuered his lande out of mine hand? d Shall the Lorde deliuer Hierusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people held their peace, and answeared not him a woord: for the king had commaunded, saying, Answeare him not.

37 Then Eliacim the sonne of Elcia, whiche was the steward of the houshold, and Sobna the scribe, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, came to Ezecia, with their clothes rent, and tolde him the woordes of Rabsaceh.

6. God promiseth Esai victorie to Hezecia.

SO it came to passe, || that when king Ezecia heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth, and came into the house of the Lord, || Esai 37.1.

2 And sent Eliacim, which was the steward of the household, and Sobna the scribe, and the elders of the priestes, clothed in sacke, to Esai the prophete, the sonne of Amos.

3 And they saide vnto him, Thus saith Ezecia, This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the chyldren are come to the birth, and there is no strength to be deliuered.

4 Peraduenture the Lord thy God wyll heare al the woordes of Rabsaceh, whom the king of Assyria his maister hath sent to raple on the liuing God, and to rebuke him with woordes which the Lord thy God hath heard: and lyft thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of king Ezecia came to Esai.

6 And Esai saide vnto them, So shall ye say to your maister, Thus sayth the Lorde, Be not afraide of the woordes whiche thou hast heard, with which the young men of the king of Assyria haue rayled on me.

7 Behold, || I wyll sende a blast vppon hym, and he shall heare tidynges, and so returne to his owne lande, and I wyll bring to passe that he shal fall vppon the swoord, euen in his owne land. || Esai.37.9.

8 And Rabsaceh went backe againe, and founde the king of Assyria, fighting agaynst Libna: for he had heard how that he was departed from Lachis.

9 And when he heard men say of Thirhacah kyng of Ethiopia, Beholde he is come out to fyght agaynst thee: he departed, and sent messengers vnto Ezecia, saying,

10 Thus speake to Ezecia kyng of Juda, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whō thou trustest, saying, Hierusalem shall not be deliuered into the hand of the kyng of Assyria.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the kynges of Assyria haue doone to al lands, how they haue vtterly destroyed them: and shalt thou escape?

12 Haue the goddes of the heathen deliuered them which mine auncestors haue destroyed? As Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, whiche were in Thelassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, and of Hena, and Iua?

14 And Ezecia receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Ezecia went vp into the house of the Lord, and laide it abrode before the Lorde.

a. It is the true refuge and succour in al dangers, to flee vnto the Lorde by earnest prayer.

15 And Ezecia a prayed before the lord, and saide, O Lorde God of Israel, whiche dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth, thou hast made heauen and earth.

16 Lorde bowe downe thyne eare, and heare: open Lorde thine eyes, I beseeche thee, and see: and heare the wordes of Sennacherib, which hath sent this man to raile on the liuing God.

17 Of a trueth Lorde, the kinges of Assyria haue destroyed nations and their lands, 18 And haue set fyre on their goddes: for they were no goddes, but the worke of the handes of man, euen of wood and stone: and they destroyed them.

19 Nowe therefore, O Lorde our God, I beseeche thee, saue thou vs out of his hand, that al the kingdomes of the earth may know that thou onely art the Lord God.

20 And Esai the sonne of Amos sent to Ezecia, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, That which thou hast prayed me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, I haue heard it.

21 This is therefore the worde that the Lorde hath saide of him, b The virgin, euen the daughter of Sion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne O thou king of Assyria the daughter of Hierusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

b. Hierusalem is called virgin, because as yet it had not been taken by the enimie 22 Whom hast thou rayled on? and whom hast thou blasphemed? Against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes so hygh? euen against the holy one of Israel.

23 By the hand of thy messengers thou hast rayled on the Lorde, and saide, With the multitude of my charrettes, I am come vp to the toppes of the mountaines, along by the sides of Libanon, and I wyll cut downe the high Cedar trees, and the lustie Fyrre trees thereof: and I wyll goe into the lodging of his borders, and into the wood of his Carmel.

24 I haue digged and drunke strange waters: and with the step of my going wyl I drye all the water pooles that are besieged.

25 Hast thou not heard howe I haue ordeyned such a thing a great whyle agoe, and haue prepared it from the beginning? And shall I not nowe bring it forth, that it may destroy and bring strong cities into waste heapes of stones?

26 And the inhabitours of them shalbe of litle power, and faint harted, and confounded, and shalbe like the grasse of the feelde, or greene hearbe, or as the hay on the toppes of the houses, or as the corne that is vnripe and smitten with blasting.

27 I know thy dwelling, thy comming out, and thy going in, & thy fury against me.

28 And because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp to myne eares, I wyl put my hooke in thy nostrels, and my byt in thy lippes, and I wyll bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

29 And this shalbe a signe vnto thee, O Ezecia, Ye shal eate this yeere of such things as growe of them selues, and the next yeere such as come vp of those that dyd growe of their owne accorde, and the third yeere sowe ye and reape, plant vineyardes, and eate the fruites thereof.

30 And it that is escaped and left of the daughter of Juda, shall yet agayne take rooting downeward, and beare fruite vpward.

31 For out of Hierusalem shall goe a remnant and a number that shal escape out of mount Sion: the zeale of the Lorde of hostes shal bring this thing to passe.

32 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come to this citie, nor shoote an arrowe into it, nor come before it with shielde, nor cast a bancke against it:

33 But shal goe backe againe the way he came, and shall not come into this citie, sayth the Lorde.

34 For I wyll defend this citie, to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruantes sake.

35 And the selfe same night the ‖ angel of the Lorde went out, and smote in the host of the Assyrians an hundred fourescore and fiue thousand: and when the remnant were vp early in the morning, behold they were all dead coarses.

‖ Tobi.1.21.

36 And so Sennacherib king of Assyria auoyded, and departed, and went againe and dwelt at Niniue.

37 And as he was in a temple worshipping Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sarezar his owne sonnes c smote hym with the swoorde: and they escaped into the lande of Armenia, and Asar haddon his sonne raigned in his steade.

c. This was the iust iudgement of God for his blasphemie, that he should be slaine before that idol whiche he preferred before the liuing God: and by them by whom he ought by nature to haue been defended.

10 And Saphan the scribe shewed the king, saying, Helcia the priest hath delyuered me a booke: and Saphan read it before the kyng.

11 And when the kyng had hearde the woordes of the booke of the lawe, he rent his clothes.

12 And the kyng commaunded Helcia the priest, and Ahicam the sonne of Saphan, and Achbor the sonne of Michaia, and Saphan the scribe, and Asahia a seruant of the kynges, saying,

13 Goe ye, and enquyre of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for al Iuda, concerning the woordes of this booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lorde that is kindled agaynst vs, because our fathers haue not hearkened vnto the woordes of this booke, to doo according vnto all that which is written therein for vs.

14 So Helcia the hygh priest, and Ahicam, Achbor, and Saphan, and Asahia, went vnto Hulda the prophetisse, the wyfe of Sallum the sonne of Thicua, the sonne of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe: (which prophetisse dwelt in Hierusalem in the c house of the doctrine) and they communed with her.

15 And she answeared them, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Tel the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyl bryng euyl vpon this place, and on the inhabitours thereof, euen all the woordes of the booke whiche the kyng of Iuda hath read:

17 Because they haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other goddes, to anger me withal, the d woorkes of their handes: my wrath also shalbe kyndled agaynst this place, and shal not be quenched.

18 But to the kyng of Iuda, which sent you to aske counsel of the Lorde, so shal ye say, Thus sayth the Lorde GOD of Israel, as touching the woordes whiche ye haue hearde:

19 Because thine hart dyd e melt, and because thou hast humbled thee selfe before the Lorde, when thou heardest what I spake agaynst this place, and agaynst the inhabiters of the same, howe that they shoulde be destroyed and accursed: and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me, I also haue hearde it sayth the Lorde.

20 Beholde therefore, I wyll receyue thee vnto thy fathers, and thou shalt be put into thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see al the euyl which I wyl bring vpon this place. And they brought the king woorde agayne.

20 And he sacrificed all the priestes of the hygh places that were there, vppon the aulters, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Hierusalem.

12 And Dauid was afrayd of God that

3 And Dauid tooke yet moe wyues at Hierusalem, and begate moe sonnes and daughters.

4 These are the names of his chyldren which were borne vnto hym at Hierusalem: Samua, Sobab, Nathan, and Solomon,

b. Dauid asked counsel at God before he enterprised warre.

11 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Go vp: for I wyl deliuer them into thyne hand. And so they came vp to Baal Perazim, and Dauid smote them there, and Dauid sayde, God hath diuided myne enimies with myne hand, as a man wouide diuide waters: and therfore they called the name of that place Baal Perazim.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into al landes, and the Lorde made all nations feare hym.

¶ The xv. Chapter.

25. Dauid bringeth the arke with ioy. 29. And daunceth before it, is despised of his wyfe Michol.

AND Dauid made hym houses in the citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the arke of God, & pitched for it a tent.

2 Then Dauid sayd, ‖ The arke of God ought not to be carred, but of the Leuites: For them hath the Lorde chosen to beare the arke of the Lorde, and to minister vnto hym for euer.

‖Num. 4. 9

3 And Dauid geathered all Israel together to Hierusalem, to fetche the arke of the Lorde vnto his place whiche he had ordeyned for it.

4 And Dauid brought togeather the chyldren of Aaron and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Caath, was Uziel the cheefe, and of his "brethren there were an hundred and twentie.

9 Of the sonnes of Hebron, Eliel the cheefe, and of his brethren, foure score.

10 Of the sonnes of Uziel, Aminadab the cheefe, and of his brethren, an hundred and twelue.

11 And Dauid called Zadoc and Abiathar the priestes, & the Leuites, Uriel, Asaia, Joel, Semaia, Eliel, and Aminadab, 12 And sayd vnto them, Ye that are the principal fathers of the Leuites, & that ye be holy with your brethren, that ye may bring the arke of the Lorde God of Israel, vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 ‖ For because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a rent amōg vs, for that we sought hym not as the fashion ought to be.

‖ 1. Chr. 13. 10.

14 So the priestes and the Leuites sanctified them selues, to fetche the arke of the Lorde God of Israel.

15 And the children of the Leuites bare the arke of God vpon their shoulders, with staues theron, ‖ as Moses commaunded, according to the woorde of the Lorde.

‖Exod. 25. 14

16 And Dauid spake to the cheefe heads of the Leuites, that they shoulde appoint certayne of their brethren to syng, with instrumentes of musicke, psalteries, harpes, and cymbales, that they myght make a sounde, and to syng on hygh with ioyfulnesse.

miramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaia, Maasiah, Mathathia, Eliphale, Micnia, Obed Edom, and Jeiel, porters.

19 So Heman, Alaph, and Ethan, the singers, made a sounde with cymbales of brasse.

20 And Zacharia, Aziel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maasia, and Banaia, played * with psalteries to sing with.

21 Mathathia, Eliphale, Micnia, Obed Edom, Jeiel, and Azaia, played with harpes of eyght stringes, to prouoke them to sing.

22 And Chenania the cheefe of the Leuites was maister of the song: for he taught other to sing, because he was a man of vnderstanding.

23 Berechia and Elcana kept the dooze of the arke.

24 And Sebania, Josaphat, Nathanael, Amasai, Zacharia, Banaia, & Eliezer the priestes, dyd blowe with trumpettes before the arke of God: And Obed Edom, and Jehia were keepers of the dooze of the arke.

25 ‖ And Dauid, and the elders of Israel, and the captaynes ouer thousandes, went to fetch the arke of the couenant of the Lozde out of the house of Obed Edom with gladnesse.

26 And when a God helped the Leuites that bare the arke of the couenant of the Lozde, they b offered seuen oxen, and seuen rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, lyke as had also all the Leuites that bare the arke, and so had the singers, and Chenania the ruler of the song, with the singers: and Dauid had vpon him an Ephod of linnen.

28 And all they of Israel brought the arke of the Lozdes couenant, with showtyng and blowing of the shawme, and trumpets, making a noyse with cymbales, psalteries, and harpes.

29 And as the arke of the c couenant of the Lozde came into the citie of Dauid, Michol the daughter of Saul looking out at a wyndowe, sawe kyng Dauid daunsing and playing, and she despised him in her hart.

¶ The .xvi. Chapter.

1. The arke being placed, they offer sacrifices.
8. Dauid appoynteth a notable psalme to be song in the prayse of the Lorde.

SO they brought in the arke of God, and set it in the middest of the tent that Dauid pitched for it: and they offered whole burnt sacrifices, and peace offeringes before God.

2 And when Dauid had made an end of offering the whole burnt offerynges, and peace offeringes, he a blessed the people in the name of the Lozde.

3 And he dealt to al Israel, both man and woman, a cake of bread, and a peece of flesshe, and a flagon of wine.

4 And he appoynted certayne of the Leuites to minister before the arke of the Lozd, and to b shewe foorth and to thanke & prayse the Lozde God of Israel.

5 And Asaph was the cheefe, and next to him Zacharia, Jeiel, Semiramoth, Jehiel, Mathathia, Eliab, Benaia, Obed Edom, and Jeiel, with instrumentes, psalteries, and harpes: but Asaph made a sounde with cymbales.

6 Banaia and Jahaziel, priestes, blewe with trumpettes continually before the arke of the couenant of God.

7 And that same tyme Dauid c did appoynt cheefely to thanke the Lozde by Asaph and his brethren.

8 ‖ Confesse you it vnto God, cal vpon his name: cause the people to vnderstande his deuices.

14 He hath ben myndful alwayes of his couenant (for he promised a woorde to a thousande generations:) euen of his couenant that he made with Abraham, and of his othe vnto Isahac.

15 And he appoynted the same vnto Jacob for a lawe: and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, 33 Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel for euer and euer: and let all the people say Amen, and prayse the Lorde.

34 And so he left there before the arke of the Lordes couenant, Asaph and his brethren, to minister before the arke continually, euery day [b] his dayes woorke.

35 And Obed Edom and his brethren, three score and eyght: and Obed Edom the sonne of Idithun, and Hosa were appointed to be porters.

37 To offer whole burnt offeringes vnto the Lorde, vpon the whole burnt offering aulter, perpetually in the morning and euening, according to all that which is written in the lawe of the Lord, which he commaunded Israel.

38 And with them were Heman and Idithun, and other that were chosen, whose names were expressed, to geue thankes to the Lorde, that his mercie lasteth euer.

39 And with them did Heman and Idithun sing with trumpets and cymbales, making a sweete melodie with instrumentes of musicke, and godly songes, and the sonnes of Idithun were porters.

40 And all the people departed euery man to his house, and Dauid returned to blesse his house.

¶ The .xvii. Chapter.

12. Christe is promised vnder the figure of Solomon.

2 And Nathan sayd vnto Dauid, Doo al that is in thine hart, for God is with thee.

3 And the same night the woorde of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Goe and tel Dauid my seruant, Thus sayth the Lorde, Thou shalt not buylde me an house to dwel in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house since the day that I brought out the children of Israel, vnto this day: but haue gone from tent to tent, and from one dwelling place to another.

6 And whereloeuer I haue [b] walked with al Israel, spake I euer one woord to any of the Iudges of Israel, whom I commaunded to feede my people, saying, why haue ye not buylt me an house of Cedar tree?

[b] Meanyng whereloeuer his arke went, which was the signe of his presence.

7 Nowe therfore, thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, I tooke thee from the sheepe coate, and from folowing the sheepe, that thou shouldest be captayne ouer my people Israel:

8 And I haue ben with thee whyther so euer thou hast walked, and haue weeded out all thine enimies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, lyke the name of the greatest men that are in the earth.

9 And I haue ordeyned a place for my people Israel, and made it fast, so that nowe they may dwel in their place, and moue no more: neyther shall the children of wickednes vexe them any more, as at the beginning.

10 And since the time that I commaunded iudges to be ouer my people Israel, I haue subdued al thyne enimies: and I tolde thee that the Lorde woulde buylde thee an house.

11 This also shal come to passe: when thy dayes be expyred, that thou must goe vnto thy fathers, I wyl rayse vp thy seede after thee, which shalbe of thy sonnes, and I wyll stablishe his kyngdome.

12 He shal buylde me an house, and I wyl stablishe his seate for euer.

14 But I wyll stablyshe hym in myne house and my kingdome for euer, and his seat shalbe sure for euermore.

15 Accordyng to all these wordes, and according to all this vision, dyd Nathan tell kyng Dauid.

16 And Dauid the kyng came, and sate before the Lorde, and sayde, What am I, O Lorde God, and what is myne house, that thou hast promoted me thus farre?

15 And yet this seemed litle in thyne eyes, O God: but thou hast also spoken of thy seruants house for a great while to come, and hast looked vpon me, as vpon a man of hygh degree, O Lorde God.

18 What shall Dauid desyre more of thee, for the honour of thy seruant? For thou hast knowen thy seruant.

19 O Lorde, for thy seruantes sake, euen according to thyne owne hart, hast thou done all this magnificence, to shewe all great thynges.

20 Lord, there is none lyke thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreouer, what nation on the earth is lyke thy people Israel, to whom God hath vouchsafed to come, and redeeme them to be his owne people, and to make thee a name of excellencie and terriblenesse, with casting out nations from before the people whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypte?

22 Thy people of Israel dyddest thou make thyne owne people for euer, and thou Lorde becamest their God.

23 Therefore nowe Lorde, let the thing that thou hast spoken concernyng thy seruant and his house, be true for euer, that thou lord do as thou hast sayde.

24 Let it come to passe, that thy name may be magnified for euer, that it may be said, The lord of hostes is the God of Israel, euen the God of Israel, and the house of Dauid thy seruant endureth stable before thee.

25 For thou, O my God, hast tolde thy seruant that thou wylt buylde him an house, and therefore thy seruant hath founde in his hart to pray before thee.

26 And nowe Lorde, thou art God, and hast promised this goodnes vnto thy seruant.

27 Nowe therefore, let it be thy pleasure to blesse the house of thy seruant, that it may continue before thee for euer: For whom thou blessest, O Lord, the same is blessed for euer.

9 And when Thogu kyng of Hemath heard, howe Dauid had beaten all the "or, hoste. strength of Hadarezer kyng of Zoba, 11 And king Dauid dedicated them vnto the Lorde, with the syluer and golde that he brought from all nations, from Edom, frō Moab, from the chyldren of Ammon, from the Philistines, and from Amalec.

3 But the lordes of the chyldren of Ammon ſayd to Hanon, Thinkeſt thou that Dauid dooth honour thy father in thy ſight, that he hath ſent comforters vnto thee? Are not his ſeruantes come to b ſearch, to looke, and eſpye out the lande?

4 Wherefore, Hanon tooke Dauids ſeruantes, and c ſhaued them, and cut of theyr coates harde by theyr buttockes, & ſent them away.

7 And they hyred thirtie and two thouſande charettes, and the king of Maacha and his people, whiche came and pitched before Medeba: and the chyldren of Ammon gathered them ſelues togeather from theyr cities, and came to battayle.

8 And when Dauid hearde of it, he ſent Ioab and al the hoſt of ſtrong men.

9 And the chyldrē of Ammon came out, and put them ſelues in aray to battayle, before the gate of the citie: and the kinges that were come, kept them by them ſelues backe in the feelde.

10 When Ioab alſo ſawe that the frunt of the battayle was againſt hym before and behynde, he choſe out of all the choſen men of Iſrael, and put them in aray againſt the Syrians.

11 And the reſt of the people he deliuered vnto the hande of Abiſai his brother, and they put them ſelues in aray againſt the chyldren of Ammon.

12 And he ſayde, If the Syrians be to ſtrong for me, thou ſhalt ſuccour me, and if the chyldren of Ammon preuayle againſt thee, I wyll helpe thee.

13 Plucke vp thyne hart, & let vs play the men for our peoples ſake, and for the cities of our God: and the Lorde ſhall doo that whiche is good in his owne ſight.

14 So Ioab and the people that were with hym, drue nygh, before the Syrians, vnto the battayle: and they fled before hym.

15 And when the chyldren of Ammon ſawe that the Syrians were fled, they ran away lykewyſe before Abiſai his brother, and gate them into the citie: and Ioab came to Hieruſalem.

16 And when the Syrians ſawe that they were put to the worſe before Iſrael, they ſent meſſengers, and fet out the Syrians that were beyonde the "ryuer: and Sophach the "or, Euphrates captayne of the hoſt of Hadarezer, went before them.

17 And it was told Dauid: and he gathered all Iſrael, and went togeather ouer Iordane, and came, and ſet vpon them: and when Dauid had put him ſelf in aray againſt the Syrians, they fought with hym.

18 But the Syrians fled before Iſrael, & Dauid deſtroyed of the Syrians, ſeuē thouſande charets, and fourtie thouſand footmen, and killed Sophach the captayne of the hoſt.

19 And when the ſeruantes of Hadarezer ſaw that they were put to the worſe before them of Iſrael, they made peace with Dauid, and became his ſeruantes: neyther woulde the Syrians helpe the chyldren of Ammon any more.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid, and went out of the threalhing flooze, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid said to Ornan, Geue me the place of the threalhing flooze, that I may builde an aulter therein vnto the Lorde: thou shalt geue it me for as muche money as it is worth, that the plague may ceasse from the people.

23 And Ornan saide vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lorde the king doo that which seemeth good in his eyes: Loe, I geue thee Oxen also for whole burnt sacrifyces, and threalhing instrumentes for wood, and wheate for meate offering, I geue it all.

24 And king Dauid said to Ornan, Not so, but I wyll bye it for as much money as it is worth: for I wyl not take that whiche is thine for the Lorde, nor offer whole burnt offeringes without cost.

2 And Dauid commaunded to gather togeather the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he set Masons to hewe and pullithe stones for the building of the house of God.

3 And Dauid prepared plentie of iron for nayles, and doores of the gates, & to ioyne withal, and abundance of brasse without wayght,

4 And Cedar trees without number: for the Sidons and they of Tyre brought muche Cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid saide, Solomon my sonne is young and tender, and the house that is to be builded for the Lorde, must be magnifical, excellent, and of great fame and dignitie thorowout all countreys: I wyll therefore make ordinances for it. And so Dauid prepared many thinges before his death.

6 And he called Solomon his sonne, and charged him to builde an house for the lorde God of Israel.

7 And Dauid saide to Solomon, My sonne, I thought in my hart to builde an house vnto the name of the Lorde my GOD:

16 And of golde, siluer, brasse, and iron, there is no number: vp therefore and be doing, and the Lorde shalbe with thee.

17 And Dauid commaunded all the lordes of Israel to helpe Solomon his sonne, saying, 18 Is not the Lord your God with you? and hath he not geuen you rest on euery syde? for he hath geuen the inhabitours of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

19 Nowe therefore set your hartes and your soules to seeke the Lorde your God: vp, and builde ye the temple of the Lorde God, to bring the arke of the couenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God, into the house so built for the name of the Lorde.

5. Because Dauid vvas forbidden to builde the temple, he vvylleth Solomon and the people to performe it, 8. Exhorting him to feare the Lorde.

AND Dauid gathered all the lordes of Israel, the lordes of the tribes, the lordes of the companies that ministred to the king by course, the captaynes ouer the thousandes and ouer the hundreds, and the lordes that had the ouerlyght ouer al the substance and possession of Dauid, and of his sonnes, with the chamberlaynes, and all the mightie and valiant, and all actiue men, vnto Hierusalem.

2 And king Dauid stoode vp vppon his feete, and saide, Heare me, my brethren and my people, I had in myne hart to builde an house of rest for the arke of the couenant of the Lorde, and for the a footestoole of our God, and had made redy for the building.

a. So he called the arke, because on it God shewed him selfe present by miracles.

3 || But God saide vnto me, Thou shalt not builde an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of warre, and hast shed blood. ||2. Sa. 7. 13.

4 Moreouer, the Lorde GOD of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to be king ouer Israel for euer: for in Iuda would he choose a captayne, and of the household of Iuda is the house of my father, and among the sonnes of my father he had a lust to me, to make me king ouer all Israel.

5 || And of all my sonnes (for the Lorde hath geuen me many sonnes) he hath chosen Solomon my sonne, to syt vppon the seate of the kingdome of the Lorde in Israel. ||Dap. 9. 7.

6 And he saide vnto me, Solomon thy sonne he shal build me an house and courtes: I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I wyl be his father.

7 I wyl stablishe his kingdome for euer, yf he wyll be strong to doo my commaundementes and my lawes, as it goeth this day.

8 Nowe therefore, in the sight of all Israel, the congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commaundementes of the lord your God, that ye may enioy a good lande, and leaue inheritance for your children after you for euer. ||1. Sa. 17. 7. Psalm. 7. 10. Ierem. 17. 1.

9 ||And thou Solomon my sonne, know thou the GOD of thy father, and serue hym with a pure hart, and with a wylling minde: for the Lorde searcheth al hartes, and vnderstandeth all the imaginations of thoughtes: and yf thou seeke him, he wyll be founde of thee: but yf thou forsake him, he wyll cast thee of for euer.

10 Take heede nowe, for the Lord hath chosen thee to buylde hym an house of a sanctuarie: be strong therefore and play the man.

11 And Dauid gaue Solomon his sonne the paterne of the porche, and of the houses that longed thereto, of the storehouses, vpper chambers, inner parlours, and of the house of the mercie seate:

12 And the example of al that he had in his mind, for the courtes of the house of the Lorde, and for all the celles rounde about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate thinges:

13 For the diuisions of the priestes and Leuites that wayted by course, and for al the woorkemanship that shoulde serue for the house of the Lorde, and for all the vesselles that shoulde serue in the house of the Lorde:

14 For gold, and for the wayght of gold, for all vessels of sundry ministrations, for all maner of vessels of siluer in wayght, and for all vessels what so euer purpose they serued vnto:

15 The waight of golde for the candelsticks, and the golde for their lampes, with the waight for euery candelsticke, and for the lampes thereof, and for the candelsticks of siluer by wayght, both for the candelsticke and also for her lampes, according to the diuersitie of the vse of euery candelsticke.

16 And by wayght he gaue golde for the tables of shewe bread, euen for euery table, and lykewyse syluer for the tables of syluer, 17 And pure golde for the flesshehookes, cuppes, and drinking pottes: and pure golde in wayght for basons, euen for euery bason: and likewyse siluer by wayght, for euery bason of siluer.

18 And for the aulter of incense pure golde by wayght, and golde for the patterne of the charret of the Cherubims that stretched out their winges, and couered the arke of the couenant of the Lorde.

19 Al he sayde was geuen me by writing of the hand of the Lorde, which made me vnderstande all the woorkemanship of the paterne.

20 And Dauid saide to Solomon his sonne, Be strong, and of good courage, and doo manfully: feare not, nor be faynt harted, for the Lorde GOD, euen my God, is with thee, and he shall not fayle thee, nor forsake thee, vntil thou hast fynished all the woorke that must serue for the house of the Lorde.

21 Beholde, the priests and Leuites are diuided in companies, for all maner of seruice that pertayneth to the house of GOD, they are with thee for all maner of woorkemanship, and so are all that excell in wysedome for any maner of seruice, thou hast also the princes and all the people wholy at thy commaundement.

yet young and tender, and the woorke is great: for the house shal not be for man, but for the Lorde God.

2 Moreouer, I haue prepared with all my might, for the house of my God, golde, for vessels of golde, siluer, for them of siluer, brasse, for thinges of brasse, iron, for thynges of iron, and wood for thinges of wood, and Onyx stones, and stones to be set, " glysterying stones, and of diuers colours, and all maner of pretious stones, and Marble stones in great abundance.

" Some reade, Carbuncle stones.

3 And because I haue lust to the house of my GOD, I haue of mine owne proper good, of golde and siluer whiche I haue geuen to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the holy house,

4 Euen three thousand talentes of gold of Ophir, and seuen thousande talentes of tryed siluer, to ouerlay the walles of the house withal.

5 The gold, for thinges of golde, siluer, for them of siluer, and for all manner of woorke by the handes of artificers: and who so euer is a wyllyng, may this day b consecrate his hande vnto the Lorde.

a He was not onely liberal hym selfe to. b That is, to helpe the buylyng of Gods house, but also prouoked o. ther.

6 And so the auncient fathers, and the Lordes of the tribes of Israel, the captaynes of thousandes, and hundredes, with the lordes that were rulers ouer the kynges woorke, were wyllyng:

7 And gaue for the seruice of the house of God, fiue thousande talentes of gold, and ten thousande peeces of golde and tenne thousande talentes of siluer, and eyghteene thousande talentes of brasse, and one hundred thousande talentes of iron.

8 And they with whom pretious stones were founde, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lorde, by the hande of Iehiel the Gersonite.

9 And the people reioyced when they were so wyllyng to geue their goodes, and with a perfect hart they offered wyllingly to the Lorde, and Dauid the king reioyced with great gladnesse.

10 And Dauid blessed the Lorde before al the congregation, and sayde, Blessed be thou Lorde God of Israel, our father, from euer and for euer.

11 Thine, O Lorde, is greatnesse, and power, glory, victorie, and prayse: for all that is in heauen and in earth, is thine, and thyne is the kyngdome, O Lorde, and thou excellest aboue al, euen as the head of all.

12 And richesse and honour come of thee, and thou raignest ouer al, and in thine hande is power and strength, and in thyne hande it is to make great, and to geue strength vnto al.

13 And nowe our God we thanke thee, and prayse thy glorious name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we shoulde be able to geue these thynges so wyllyngly? but al thinges come of thee, and of that which we receyued at thyne hande, we haue geuen thee.

15 For we be but strangers before thee, and soiourners, as were al our fathers: || our dayes on the earth also are but as a shadowe, and there is none abyding. || Wisd. 2. 5.

16 O Lorde our God, al this stuffe that we haue prepared to buylde thee an house for thy holy name, commeth of thine hande, and is al thyne.

17 I wote also, my God, that thou tryest the hartes, and hast pleasure in vnfaignednesse: and in the vnfaignednesse of mine hart, I haue wyllingly offered all these thinges: and nowe haue I seene thy people whiche are found here to offer vnto thee willingly, and with gladnesse.

18 O Lorde God of Abraham, Isahac, and of Israel our fathers, c keepe this for euer in the desire of the thoughtes of the hart of thy people, and prepare their hartes vnto thee.

c. Continue them in this good mynde, that they may serue thee wyllyngly.

19 And geue vnto Solomon my sonne a perfect hart, to keepe thy commaundementes, thy testimonies, and thy statutes, and to doo all, and buylde the house for the which I haue made prouision.

20 And Dauid sayde to all the congregation, Nowe blesse the Lorde your GOD. And all the congregation blessed the Lorde God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heades, and woorshipped the Lorde, and the kyng.

21 And they offered offeringes vnto the Lorde: and on the morowe after the sayde day, they offered whole burnt offerynges vnto the Lorde, euen a thousande young oxen, a thousande rammes, and a thousand sheepe, with their drynke offerynges, many sacrifices offered they for al Israel, 22 And did eate and drynke before the Lord the same day with great gladnesse, and they made Solomon the sonne of Dauid kyng the seconde tyme, and annoynted hym prince before the Lorde, and Zadoc to be the hygh priest.

23 And Solomon sate on the seate of the Lorde, and was kyng in steede of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all they of Israel obeyed hym.

24 And al the lordes, and men of power, and al the sonnes of king Dauid, submitted them selues, and were vnder kyng Solomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Solomon in dignitie, in the sight of al them of Israel, and

geue him so glorious a kyngdome, as no kyng had before him in Israel.

26 ||And so Dauid the sonne of Isai raigned ouer al Israel. ||3.kin.2.11.

27 And the space that he raigned ouer Israel, was fourtie yeeres: Seuen yeeres raigned he in Hebron, and thirtie and three yeeres raigned he in Hierusalem.

28 And he died in a good age, full of dayes, rychesse and honour: and Solomon his sonne raigned in his steede.

29 The actes of Dauid the kyng firste and last, behold they are written in the booke of Samuel the Seer, and in the booke of b Nathan the prophete, and in the booke of Gad the Seer,

b. The bookes of Nathan and Gad are perished.

30 With al his kyngdome and power, and tymes that went ouer him, and ouer all Israel, and ouer all the kyngdomes of the earth.

AND "Solomon the sonne of Dauid waxed strong in his kingdome, ||and the Lorde his GOD was with him, and magnified hym "in dignitie. ||3.king.3.1.

2 And Solomon spake vnto al Israel, to the captaynes ouer thousandes, to the captaynes ouer hundredes, to the iudges, and to euery officer in al Israel, and to the auncient fathers.

3 And so Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, whiche Moses the seruant of ỹ lord made in the wyldernes.

4 But the arke of GOD had Dauid brought from Kiriath-iarim, into the place which Dauid had made therefore: for he had pitched a tent for it at Hierusalem.

5 ||Moreouer, the brasen aulter that Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, was there before the tabernacle of the Lorde: and Solomon and the congregation went to visite it. ||Exod.38.1.

6 And Solomon went vp there before the Lorde, to the brasen aulter that was before the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thousande whole burnt offerynges vpon it.

7 And the same night did God appeare vnto Solomon, and sayde vnto hym, Aske what I shal geue thee,

8 And Solomon sayde vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, & hast made me to raigne in his stede.

9 Nowe therefore, O Lorde God, let thy promise, which thou madest vnto Dauid my father, be true: ||for thou hast made me kyng ouer a people which is lyke the dust of the earth in multitude: ||3.king.3.8.

10 ||Geue me nowe wysedome and knowledge, that I may be able to a goe in and out before this people: for who els can iudge this people that is so great? ||Sap.9.7.

a. That I may gouerne this people.

11 And God sayd to Solomon, Because this was in thine hart, and because thou hast not asked treasure & richesse, nor honour, nor the b lyues of thyne enimies, neyther yet long lyfe, but hast asked wysedome & knowledge for thee selfe, to iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee kyng:

b. That is, to be reuenged on thine enimies.

12 Wisedome and knowledge is graunted vnto thee, and I wyl geue thee treasure, and rychesse, and glory: so that among the kynges that haue ben before thee, or after thee, none was or shalbe lyke thee.

13 And so Solomon came from the hygh place that was at Gibeon, to Hierusalem, from the tabernacle of the congregation, and raigned ouer Israel.

14 ||And Solomon geathered charets, and horsemen: and he had a thousande and foure hundred charettes, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the charet cities, and with the kyng at Hierusalem. ||3.kin.10.26.

15 ||And the king made siluer and golde at Hierusalem, as plenteous as stones, and Cedar trees made he as plentie as the Mulberie trees that growe in the valleyes. ||3.kin.10.27.

16 Also Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fyne lynnen: the kynges marchantes receiued the fyne lynnen for a price.

17 They came also, and brought out of Egypt a charet for sixe hundred peeces of syluer, euen an horse for an hundred and fyftie: and so brought they horses for all the kynges of the Hethites, and for the kynges of Syria, by theyr owne hande.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

1. Solomon sendeth to Hiram the king of Tyrus for wood and woorkemen.

AND Solomon determined to buylde an house for the name of the Lorde, and an house for his kingdome.

2 And Solomon told out threescore and ten thousande men to beare burdens, and fourescore thousande men to hewe stones in the mountayne, and a three thousande and syxe hundred to ouersee them.

3 ‖ And Solomon sent to Hiram the kyng of Tyre, saying, As thou diddest deale with Dauid my father, and diddest send him Cedar wood to buylde hym an house to dwel in euen so deale with me:

4 Beholde, I buylde an house for the name of the Lorde my God, to offer vnto him holy things, and to burne sweete incense, and to set shewe bread before him continually, to offer whole burnt sacrifices of the morning, and euening, on the Sabboth dayes, in the first day of euery newe moone, and in the solemne feastes of the Lorde our God: for it is an ordinance to be cõtinually kept of Israel.

5 And the house which I buylde shalbe great: for great is our God, aboue al gods.

6 But who is able to buylde hym an house? when that heauen, and heauen aboue al heauens is not able to receiue hym, what am I then, that should buylde hym an house? nay, but euen to burne sacrifice before hym shal this buyldyng be.

7 Sende me nowe therefore a cunnyng man that can woorke in golde, and syluer, in brasse, and iron, in purple, crymson, b yelow sylke, and that can skyll to graue with the cunnyng men that are with me in Iuda and Hierusalem, whom Dauid my father dyd prepare.

8 Send me also Cedar trees, Pine trees, and c Algume trees out of Libanon: for I wote that thy seruantes can skyll to hewe tymber in Libanon: and beholde my men shalbe with thyne, 9 That they may prepare me timber enough: for the house which I am determined to buylde, shalbe woonderfull great.

10 And beholde, for the vse of thy seruantes the cutters and hewers of tymber, I haue geuen twentie thousande measures of beaten wheate, and twentie thousande measures of barley, and twentie thousande battes of wyne, & twentie thousande battes of oyle.

11 And Hiram the kyng of Tyre answeared in writyng, whiche he sent to Solomon, Because the Lorde hath loued his people, therefore hath he made thee kyng ouer them.

12 And Hiram sayde moreouer, Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel, which made heauen and earth, and that hath geuen Dauid the kyng a wyse sonne, and one that hath discretion, prudence, and vnderstanding, to build an house for the Lorde, and a palace for his kyngdome.

13 And nowe I haue sent a wyse man, and a man of vnderstandyng, whom my father Hiram dyd vse:

14 The sonne of a woman of the d daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, and he can skyll to woorke in golde, and syluer, in brasse, and iron, in stone, and tymber, in purple, and yelowe sylke, and fyne whyte, and crymson, and can graue sundrie maner of grauinges, and to finde out diuers maners of subtile woorke that shalbe set before hym, with thy cunnyng men, and with the cunnyng men of my lorde Dauid thy father.

15 Nowe therefore, the wheate, and barley, oyle, and wyne, which my lorde hath spoken of, let hym sende vnto his seruantes:

16 And we wil cut wood in Libanon, as much as thou shalt neede, and wyl bryng it to thee in flotes by sea to Japho, from whence thou mayest cary them to Hierusalem.

17 And Solomon numbred al the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the number of them whom his father Dauid had numbred: and they were founde an hundred, fiftie, & three thousand, and fyue hundred.

18 And he set threescore & ten thousande to beare burdens, and fourescore thousande to hew stones in the mountayne, and three thousande and fyue hundred officers to set the people a woorke.

3 And these are the patternes whereby Solomon was instruct to buyld the house of God: the length was threescore cubites, after the olde measure, and the breadth twentie cubites.

4 And the porche that was before the length in the frunt, according to the breadth of the house, was twentie cubites, and the heyght was an hundred and twentie cubites: and he overlayd it on the inner side with pure golde.

5 And the greater house he seeled with fyre tree, whiche he overlayde with the best golde, and graued thereto paulme trees, and chaynes.

12 And euen so the one wyng of the other Cherub was fyue cubites, reachyng to the wall of the house: and the other wyng was fyue cubites also, and reached to the wing of the other Cherub.

The thynges dedicated by Dauid, are put in the temple.

AND so all the woorke that Solomon made in the house of the Lorde was finished: || and Solomon brought in all the thinges that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and golde, and all the iewels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God. 3.kin.7.51.

2 Then Solomon gathered the elders of Israel together, and al the heades of the tribes and auncient fathers of the children of Israel, vnto Hierusalem, to bring the arke of the couenant of the Lorde out of the citie of Dauid, which is in Sion.

3 Wherefore, al the men of Israel resorted vnto the kyng, in the feast, euen in the a seuenth moneth. a September.

4 And al the elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the arke.

5 And the priestes & Leuites brought away the arke of the tabernacle of the congregation, and al the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, and they bare them.

6 And kyng Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled vnto him before the arke, offered sheepe and oxen, so many, that they coulde not be tolde, nor numbred, for multitude.

7 And the priestes brought the arke of the couenant of the Lorde vnto his place, euen into the quyer of the temple, within the place most holy, and set it vnder the winges of the Cherubims,

8 So that the Cherubims stretched out their winges ouer the place of the arke, and the Cherubims couered both the arke and her barres aboue on bygh.

9 And the barres of the arke were so long, that the " heades of the barres were seene without the arke, within the quyer, but not without: and there the arke remayned vnto this day. " or, endes.

10 But there was nothing in the arke, saue the two tables which Moses put therein at Horeb, when the Lorde made a couenant with the children of Israel after they were come out of Egypt.

11 And when the priestes were come out of the holy place (for al the priestes that were present, were sanctified, and did not then wayte by course:

13 And the trumpet blowers and the singers so agreed, that it seemed but one voyce in prayling and thanking the Lorde, and when they lyft vp theyr voyce with the trumpets, cymbales, and other instrumentes of musicke, and when they praysed the Lord, howe that he is good, and that his mercy lasteth euer:) the house of GOD was filled with a cloude, 14 So that the priestes coulde not endure to minister by the reason of the cloude: for the Maiestie of the Lorde had filled the house of God.

2 And I haue buylt thee an house of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for euer.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed the whole congregation of Israel (and al the congregation of Israel stoode.)

4 And he sayde, Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel, which hath with his [n] handes fulfilled it that he spake with his mouth to my father Dauid, saying, n or, power.

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie among al the tribes of Israel to buylde an [o] house in, that my name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 Sauing that I haue chosen Hierusalem, that my name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 And when it was in the hart of Dauid my father, to build an house for the name of the Lorde God of Israel,

8 The Lorde sayde to Dauid my father, For as muche as it was in thyne hart to buyld an house for my name, thou diddest wel that thou thoughtest in thine hart.

9 Notwithstanding, thou shalt not build the house: but thy sonne, whiche shall come out of thy loynes, he shal buylde an house for my name.

10 The Lord therefore hath made good his saying that he hath spoken: and I am rysen vp in the roome of Dauid my father, and am set on the seate of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue buylt an house for the name of the Lorde God of Israel.

11 And in it haue I put the arke, wherein is the [a] couenant of the Lorde that he made with the children of Israel.

a. Meaning the two tables.

12 And the king stoode before the aulter of the Lorde, in the presence of al the congregation of Israel, & stretched out his handes:

13 (For Solomon had made a brasen scaffolde of fiue cubites long, and fiue cubites brode, and three of heyght, and had set it in the middes of the great court, and vpon it he stoode, and kneeled downe vpon his knees, before all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his handes towarde heauen,) 14 And sayde, ‖O Lord God of Israel, there is no God lyke thee in heauen, nor in earth, whiche keepest couenant, and shewest mercie vnto thy seruantes that walke before thee with all their hartes.

‖2. Mac. 2. 10

15 Thou which hast kept with thy seruant Dauid, my father, the things that thou promisedst hym: thou saydest it with thy mouth, & hast fulfilled it with thine handes, as it is to see this day.

16 And nowe Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruaunt Dauid, my father, the thynges that thou promisedst him, saying, Thou shalt in my sight not be without a man that shal sit vpon the seate of Israel, so that thy children take heede to their wayes, to walke in my lawe, as thou hast walked before me.

17 And nowe Lorde God of Israel, let thy saying be true, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

18 (And wyl God in very deede dwell with men on earth? Beholde, heauen, and heauen aboue al heauens, doo not conteyne thee, howe muche lesse the house whiche I haue buylded?)

19 Let it be thy pleasure therefore to turne to the prayer of thy seruant, and to his supplication, O Lorde my God, to hearken vnto the voyce and prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee.

20 And let thine eyes be open towarde this house day and night, ouer this place whereof thou hast sayde that thou wouldest put thy name there, to hearken vnto the prayer which thy seruant prayeth in this place.

21 Hearken vnto the prayers of thy seruant, and of thy people Israel, whiche they pray in this place: heare thou, I say, out of thy dwelling place, euen out of heauen, heare, and be merciful.

22 If a man sinne [b] agaynst his neighbour, and take an othe agaynst hym, and make him to sweare, and the oth come before thine aulter in this house:

b. By withholding any thyng from him, or els by denying that which is left him to keepe, or doo him any wrong.

23 Then heare thou from heauen, and doo and iudge thy seruantes, that thou rewarde the vngodly, and recompence him his way vpon his head, and iustifie the ryghteous, and geue him according to his ryghteousnesse.

24 And if thy people Israel be put to the worse before the enimie, because they haue sinned agaynst thee: yet if they turne and geue thankes vnto thy name, and make intercession, and pray before thee in this house.

25 Then heare thou from heauen, and be merciful vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bring them agayne vnto the lande which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.

26 When heauen is shut vp, and there be no rayne, because they haue sinned agaynst thee: yet if they pray in this place, and confesse thy name, and repent from their sinne, for the which thou chastenest them:

27 Then

27 Then heare thou in heauen, and be merciful vnto the sinne of thy seruantes, and of thy people Israel, and guyde thou them into the good way to walke in, and send rayne vpon thy lande whiche thou hast geuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

28 And if || there be dearth in the lande, or pestilence, corruption, or blastyng of corne, Grashoppers, or Caterpillers, or that theyr enimies besiege them in the " cities of their lande, or whatsoeuer plague or sickenesse it be:

29 Then what supplications and prayers soeuer shalbe made of any man, and of all thy people Israel, when euery one shal know his owne sore, and his owne greefe, and shall stretche out theyr handes towarde this house:

30 Thou shalt heare from heauen, euen from thy dwellyng place, and shalt be mercyfull, and geue euery man accordyng vnto all his wayes, as thou doest knowe euery mans hart: (for thou b onely knowest the hartes of the chyldren of men,)

31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they lyue in the land whiche thou gauest vnto our fathers.

32 Moreouer, the stranger whiche is not of thy people Israel, yf he come from a farre lande for thy great names sake, and thy myghtie hande, and thy stretched out arme: yf they come, & say, and pray in c this house,

33 Thou shalt heare from heauen, euen from thy dwellyng place, and shalt doo according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for: that all people of the earth may knowe thy name, and feare thee, as doeth thy people Israel, and that they may know howe that in this house whiche I haue buylt, thy name is called vpon.

34 Yf thy people go out to warr agaynst their enimies by the way that thou shalt send them, and they pray to thee in the way towarde this citie which thou hast chosen, euen towarde the house whiche I haue buylt for thy name:

35 Then heare thou from heauen their supplication and prayer, and helpe them in their ryght.

36 Yf they sinne agaynst thee (as there is ||no man but he doth sinne) and thou be angrie with them, and deliuer them ouer before their enimies, and they take them, and carry them away captiues vnto a lande farre or neare:

37 Yet yf they repent in theyr hart, in the lande where they be in captiuitie, & turne and pray vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie, saying, We haue sinned, we haue done euyll and wickedly:

38 And turne agayne to thee with all theyr hart, and all their soule, in the lande of their captiuitie where they keepe them in bondage, and so pray towarde their lande whiche thou gauest vnto their fathers, euen towarde the citie which thou hast chosen, and towarde the house whiche I haue buylt for
thy name:

39 Then heare thou from heauen, euen from thy dwellyng place, their supplication and their prayer, and iudge their cause, and be mercyfull vnto thy people which haue sinned agaynst thee.

40 Now my God, let thyne eyes be open, and thyne eares attent vnto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 ||Nowe vp, O Lorde God, into thy d restyng place, thou, and the arke of thy strength: O Lorde God, let thy priestes be clothed with health, and let thy saintes reioyce in goodnesse.

42 O Lorde God, turne not away the mercies which thou hast promised to Dauid thy seruant.

AND || when the queene of Saba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to proue him in hard questions at Hierusalem, with a very great company, with Cammels that bare spices, and plentie of gold and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of al that she had in her hart.

2 And Solomon solued her all her questions, and there was not one woorde hyd from Solomon, which he tolde her not.

3 And when the queene of Saba hadde seene the wysedome of Solomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meate of his table, the sitting of his seruantes, and the standing of his waiters, their apparel, his butlars, their apparel, " his goyng vp by the whiche he went into the house of the Lorde: there was no more spirite in her.

5 And she sayde to the kyng, The saying whiche I heard in myne owne lande of thyne " actes, and of thy wysedome, is true.

6 I beleeued not the woordes of them, vntyll I came, and myne eyes had seene it: and beholde, the one halfe of thy wysedome was not tolde me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, & happy are these thy seruantes which stand before thee alway, and heare thy wysedome.

8 Blessed be the Lorde thy God, which had lust to thee, to set thee king on his seate, that thou mightest be kyng for the Lorde thy GOD: because thy GOD loueth Israel, to make them continue euer, therefore made he thee kyng ouer them, to doo ryght and equitie.

9 And she gaue the kyng an hundred and twentie talentes of golde, and of spices exceedyng great abundance, and precious stones: neither was there any more suche spice as the queene of Saba gaue kyng Solomon.

10 And the seruantes of Hiram and the seruantes of Solomon which brought golde from Ophir, brought also Algume wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Algume wood stayres in the house of the Lorde, and in the kinges palace, and harpes, and psalteries for syngers: and there was none suche wood seene before in the land of Juda.

12 And kyng Solomon gaue to the queene of Saba euery pleasant thing that she asked, a beside that which she had brought vnto the kyng: and so she turned, and went away to her owne land with her seruantes.

13 The wayght of golde that came to Solomon in one yeere, was syxe hundred threescore and syxe talentes of golde:

14 Beside that whiche chapmen and marchantes brought: and all the kynges of Arabia, and rulers of that countrey, brought golde and syluer to Solomon.

15 And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten golde: and syx hundred sycles of beaten golde were spent vppon one target.

16 And three hundred sheeldes made he of beaten golde: and three hundred peeces of golde went to one sheelde: and the kyng put them in the house that was in the forest of 17 And the king made a great ſeate of Iuorie, and ouerlayde it with pure golde.

18 And there were ſixe ſteppes to the ſeate, with a footeſtoole of golde faſtened to the ſeate: and pommelles on eche ſyde of the ſytting place, and two Lions ſtanding by the pommels.

19 And twelue Lions ſtoode on the one ſyde and on the other vpon the ſixe ſteppes: ſo that there was no ſuche woorke made in any kingdome.

20 And all the drinking veſſels of kyng Solomon were of golde, and al the veſſels of the houſe that was in the foreſt of Libanon were of precious golde: for ſiluer was counted nothing woorth in the dayes of Solomon.

21 For the kinges ſhips went to Tharſis with the ſeruantes of Hiram, euery three yeeres once came the ſhippes to Tharſis, and brought golde, ſiluer, Iuorie, and apes, and pecockes.

22 And king Solomon paſſed all the kinges of the earth in richeſſe and wyſdome.

23 And al the kinges of the earth ſought the preſence of Solomon, to heare his wyſedome that God had put in his hart.

24 And they brought euery man his preſent, veſſels of ſyluer, and veſſels of golde, rayment, harneſſe, ſpices, horſes and mules yeere by yeere.

||3. kin. 4. 26. Or, foure thouſand horſes in ſtalles.

25 ||And Solomon had * foure thouſand ſtables for horſes and charrettes, and twelue thouſande horſemen: whom he beſtowed in the charet cities, and ſome were with the king at Hieruſalem.

26 And he raigned ouer all the kinges that were from Euphrates vnto the land of the Philiſtines, and to the border of Egypt.

b. The abundance of theſe temporal treaſures in Solomõs kingdome, is a figure of the ſpiritual treaſures which the elect ſhal enioy in heauẽ vnder the true Solomon Ieſus Chriſte. 1. king. 11. 41.

27 And the king made ſyluer in Hieruſalem as plenteous as b ſtones, and Cedar trees as plenteous as the Mulberie trees that growe in the valleyes.

28 And they brought vnto Solomon horſes out of Egypt, and out of all landes.

29 The reſt of the actes of king Solomon fyrſt and laſt, are they not writ ten in the ſayinges of Nathan the Prophete, and in the prophecie of Ahiah the Silonite, and in the viſions of Iddo the Sear of viſions, agaynſt Ieroboam the ſonne of Nabat?

30 And Solomon raigned in Hieruſalem vpon al Iſrael fourtie yeeres.

31 And Solomon ſlept with his fathers: and they buried him in the citie of Dauid his father, and Roboam his ſonne raigned in his ſteade.

¶ The x. Chapter.

4. The rigour of Roboam. 13. He followeth lewde counſel. 16. The people rebell.

AND ||Roboam went to Sichem: for to Sichem were all Iſrael come together to make him king. ||3. kin. 12.

2 And when Ieroboam the ſonne of Nabat (which was fled into Egypt from the preſence of Solomon the king) heard it, he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they ſent and called him: And ſo Ieroboam and all they of Iſrael came, and communed with Roboam, ſaying, 4 Thy father layde a greeuous yoke vpon vs: nowe therefore remit thou ſomewhat of the greeuous ſeruice of thy father, and of his heauie yoke that he put vppon vs, and we wyl ſerue thee.

5 And he ſaide to them, Come agayne vnto me after three dayes. And the people departed.

6 And kyng Roboam counſayled with the elders that had ſtand before Solomon his father whyle he yet liued, and he ſaide, What counſel geue ye me to anſweare this people agayne?

7 And they tolde him, ſaying, If thou be kinde to this people, and ſhewe thee ſelfe lowly to them, and ſpeake louyng woordes to them, they wyl be thy ſeruantes for euer.

8 But he left the counſel whiche the elders gaue him, and tooke counſel with the young men that were growen vp with hym, and a that ſtoode in his preſence.

a. Which were of his counſel and ſecrets.

9 And he ſaide vnto them, What aduiſe geue ye, that we may anſweare this people, whiche haue communed with me, ſaying, Abate ſomewhat of the yoke whiche thy father dyd put vpon vs?

10 And the young men that were growen vp with him, ſpake vnto hym, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou anſweare the people that ſpeake vnto thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it ſomewhat lighter for vs: thus ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, My litle fynger ſhalbe thicker then my fathers loynes.

11 For where my father put a heauie yoke vpon you, I wyl put more to your yoke: my father chaſtiſed you with whippes, but I wyl chaſtiſe you with * ſcourges. * Or, Scorpions.

12 And ſo Ieroboam and all the people, came to Roboam the third day, as the kyng bade, ſaying, Come agayne to me the thirde day.

13 And the king anſwearen them cruelly, and kyng Roboam left the counſayle of the aged men,

14 And anſweared them after the aduiſe of of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke greeuous, and I wyl adde thereto: my father chastised you with whippes, but I wyl chastise you with scourges.

15 ‖ And so the kyng hearkened not vnto the people: but the occasion came of God, that the Lorde might make good his saying, which he spake by the hande of Ahia the Silonite, to Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat. ‖3.kin.12.31

16 And when all Israel sawe that the kyng woulde not agree vnto them, the people answeared the kyng, saying, What portion haue we in Dauid? For we haue no inheritance in the sonne of Isai: Euery man to his tent oh Israel, and nowe Dauid see to thyne owne house. And so all Israel gate them to their tentes.

17 So that Roboam raigned ouer no moe of the chyldren of Israel then dwelt in the cities of Iuda.

18 Then kyng Roboam also sent Haduram that was ruler ouer the tribute, and the chyldren of Israel stoned him with stones, that he dyed: but kyng Roboam made speede to geat him vp to his charet, to flee to Hierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled agaynst the house of Dauid vnto this day.

4. Roboam is forbidden to fight agaynst Ieroboam.

AND when Roboam was come to Hierusalem, he geathered of the house of Iuda and Beniamin, niene score thousande chosen men of warre, to fight agaynst Israel, and to bryng the kyngdome agayne to Roboam.

‖3.kin.12.22 2 ‖ And the woorde of the Lorde came to Semeia the man of God, saying,

3 Speake vnto Roboam the sonne of Solomon kyng of Iuda, and to all them of Israel that are in Iuda and Beniamin, and say,

4 Thus saith the Lord, Ye shal not goe vp, nor fight agaynst your brethren: returne euery man to his house, for this thyng is done of me. And they obeyed the woordes of the Lorde, and returned from going agaynst Ieroboam.

5 And Roboam dwelt in Hierusalem, and buylt strong cities in Iuda.

6 He buylt vp Bethlehem, and Etam, and Thecoa,

7 Bethzur, Socho, and Adullam,

8 Gath, and Mareſa, and Ziph,

9 Adurahim, Lachis, and Azecah.

10 Zoraa, Aialon, and Hebron, which is in Iuda and Beniamin, strong cities.

11 And he repayred the strong holdes, and put captaynes in them, and store of vitayle, and wyne, and oyle:

12 And in al cities he put sheeldes and speares, and made them exceeding strong, hauing Iuda and Beniamin on his side.

13 And the priestes and the Leuites that were in al Israel, resorted to him out of al their coastes.

14 For the Leuites left their suburbes, and their possession, and came to Iuda and Hierusalem: for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from ministring vnto the Lorde.

15 And he ordeyned him priestes for the high places, for the a deuils, and for the calues which he had made.

a. Meaning idolles, reade Esai.34.

16 And after the Leuites, there went out of the tribes of Israel, suche as submitted their hartes to seeke the Lorde God of Israel, and came to Hierusalem, to offer vnto the Lorde God of their fathers.

17 And so they strengthed the kingdome of Iuda, and made Roboam the sonne of Solomon mightie three yeeres long: for three b yeeres they walked in the way of Dauid and Solomon.

b. So long as they feared God, and set foorth his woorde, they prospered.

18 And Roboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wyfe, and Abihael the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Isai:

19 Whiche bare him chyldren, Ieus, Samaria, and Zaham.

20 And after her he tooke ‖ Maacha the daughter of Absalom, which bare hym Abia, Atthai, Ziza, and Selomith. ‖Judg.19.1.

21 And Roboam loued Maacha the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wyues and concubines: for he tooke eighteene wiues and three score concubines, and begate twentie and eyght sonnes, and three score daughters.

22 And Roboam made Abia, the sonne of Maacha, the cheefe ruler among his brethren: for he thought to make hym kyng.

23 c And he played wyssely, and scattered al his chyldren throughout al the countreyes of Iuda and Beniamin, vnto euery strong citie: and he gaue them abundance of vitayle, and obteyned many wyues.

c. Others reade, and he taught hym.

1. Roboam forsaketh the Lorde, and is punished by Sesac.

AND when Roboam had stablished the kyngdome, and became mightie, he forsooke the lawe of the Lorde, and a all Israel with hym.

a. As the prince is, so for ỹ most part the people wyll be.

2 And in the fifth yeere of king Roboam, Sesac the kyng of Egypt came vp agaynst Hierusalem (because they had transgressed agaynſt the Lorde)

3 With twelue hundred charets, and threeſcore thouſande horſemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt: Lubim, b Sukim, and the Ethiopians.

b. Whiche were a people in Africa called the Troglodites, becauſe they dwelt in holes.

4 And he tooke the ſtrong cities in Iude, and came to Hieruſalem.

5 Then came Semeia the prophet to Roboam, & to the lordes of Iuda that were geathered togeather within Hieruſalem for Seſac, and ſayde vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde, Ye haue leaft me, and therefore haue I alſo c leaft you in the handes of Seſac.

c. God pouleaueth vs vntyl we haue caſt hym away.

6 Wherevpon the lordes of Iſrael and the king humbled them ſelues, and ſayde, The Lorde is ryghteous.

7 And when the Lorde ſawe that they ſubmitted them ſelues, the woorde of the Lorde came to Semeia, ſaying, They ſubmit them ſelues, therefore I wyl not deſtroy them, but I wyl deliuer them ſomewhat, and my wrath ſhal not be powred out vppon Hieruſalem by the hande of Seſac.

8 Neuertheleſſe, they ſhalbe his ſeruantes: to knowe what difference is betweene d my ſeruice, and the ſeruice of the kyngdomes of the worlde.

d. God puniſheth his, not to deſtroy them, but to reſourme them. 1. Kyng. 10.

9 And ſo Seſac kyng of Egypt came to Hieruſalem, and tooke away the treaſures of the houſe of the Lorde, and the treaſures of the kynges houſe, he tooke al: and he caryed away the ſheeldes of golde whiche Solomon made.

10 In ſteade of whiche, kyng Roboam made ſheeldes of braſſe, and committed them to the handes of the cheefe of the garde, and that kept the entrance of the kynges houſe.

11 And when the kyng entred into the houſe of the Lorde, the garde came and fet them, and brought them agayne vnto the garde chamber.

12 And when he humbled him ſelfe, the wrath of the Lorde turned from hym, that he wouldе not deſtroy altogeather: and in Iuda al was wel.

13 ‖ And ſo king Roboam waxed mighty, and raigned in Hieruſalem: and Roboam was one and fourtie yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and he raigned ſeuenteene yeeres in Hieruſalem, the citie whiche the Lorde had choſen out of al the tribes of Iſrael to put his name there: And his mothers name was Naama an Ammoniteſſe. ‖3. kin. 14. 21

14 And he dyd euyl, becauſe he prepared not his hart to ſeeke the Lorde.

15 The actes alſo of Roboam fyrſt and laſt, are they not written in the ſayinges of Semeia the prophet, and of Iddo the Seer, which noted the genealogie? and there was warre alway betweene Roboam and Ieroboam.

16 And Roboam ſlept with his fathers, and was buryed in the citie of Dauid, and Abia his ſonne raigned in his ſteede.

¶ The. xiii. Chapter.

1. Abia maketh warre agaynſt Ieroboam. 4. He ſhewyeth the occaſion. 12. He truſteth in the Lorde and ouercommeth Ieroboam.

THe eyghteenth yeere of king Ieroboam, began Abia to raigne ouer Iuda.

2 And he raigned three yeeres in Hieruſalem: (His mothers name alſo was Michaia the daughter a of Uriel of Gibea:) And there was warre betweene Abia and Ieroboam.

a. Called otherwyſe Abſalom.

3 ‖ And Abia ſet the battel in aray, with the armie of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundred thouſande choſen men: and Ieroboam ſet hym ſelfe in aray to fyght agaynſt him, with eyght hundred thouſande pickt men, which were ſtrong, and men of armes. ‖3. king. 15. 7

4 And Abia ſtoode vp vpon Zemaraim, an hyl whiche is in mount Ephraim, and ſayde, Heare me thou Ieroboam & al Iſrael.

5 Doo not you knowe howe that the Lorde God of Iſrael gaue the kyngdome ouer them of Iſrael to Dauid for euer, euen to hym, and to his ſonnes, with a b ſalted couenant?

b. With a ſtrime and perpetual, becauſe that thyng which is ſalted is preſerued from corruption: he meaneth alſo that it was made ſolemly and confirmed by offeryng ſacrifices, where as they vſed ſalt, as was ordeyned Nu. 18.

6 And Ieroboam the ſonne of Nabat the ſeruant of Solomon the ſonne of Dauid, is ryſen vp, and hath rebelled agaynſt his Lorde.

7 And there geathered vnto hym lewde men, the chyldren of Belial, and preuayled agaynſt Roboam the ſonne of Solomon, when Roboam was c young and tender harted, and coulde not ſtande before them.

c. In hart and courage.

8 And nowe ye ſay that ye be able to preuayle agaynſt the kyngdome of the Lord, which is in the hande of the ſonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and haue the golden calues whiche Ieroboam made you for goddes.

9 And haue ye not caſt out the prieſtes of the Lord the ſonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you prieſtes after the manner of the nations of other landes? ſo that who ſo euer commeth and conſecrateth his hand with a young ore & ſeuen rammes, the ſame may be a prieſt of them that are no goddes.

10 But we belong vnto the Lorde our God,

God, whom we haue not forſaken, and the prieſtes are the ſonnes of Aaron whiche miniſter vnto the Lorde, and the Leuites wayte vpon their office.

11 They burne vnto the Lorde euery morninge and euenyng whole burnt ſacrifyces, and ſweete incenſe: the ſhewe breed ſet they in order vppon a pure table, and prepare the candelſticke of golde, with the lampes of the ſame, to burne euer at euen: and truely we keepe the watche of the Lorde our God, but ye haue forſaken him.

12 And beholde, God him ſelf is our captayne, and his prieſtes blowe with the trumpets, and crye alarum agaynſt you. O ye chyldren of Iſrael, fyght not againſt the Lorde God of your fathers: for it wyll not proſper with you.

13 But for all that Jeroboam conueyed men priuily about, to come behinde them: and ſo they were before Juda, and the layers in wayte were behinde them.

14 And when they of Juda looked about, beholde, the battel was before and behinde, and they cryed vnto the Lord, and the prieſtes blewe with the trumpets.

15 And the men of Juda gaue a ſhoute: and as the men of Juda ſhouted, it came to paſſe that God ſmote Jeroboam and all Iſrael, before Abia and Juda.

16 And the chyldren of Iſrael fledde before Juda, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abia and his people ſlue a great ſlaughter of them: there fell downe wounded of Iſrael fyue hundred thouſande chooſen men.

18 And ſo the chyldren of Iſrael were brought vnder at that time, and the chyldren of Juda preuayled, d becauſe they leaned vnto the Lorde God of their fathers.

19 And Abia folowed after Jeroboam, and tooke cities from hym, Bethel with the townes belonging thereto, Jeſana with the townes that belonged thereto, and Ephron with her townes.

20 And Jeroboam recouered no ſtrēgth agayne in the dayes of Abia: and the Lorde plagued hym, and he dyed.

21 But Abia waxed mightie, and maried fourtiene wiues, and begate twentie and two ſonnes, and ſixtiene daughters.

22 The reſt of the actes of Abia, his mayers and his ſayinges, are written in the ſtorie of the prophete Jddo.

d The cauſe of victorie.

¶ The. xiiii. Chapter.

1. Aſa deſtroyeth idolatrie, and commaundeth his people to ſerue the true God.

SO Abia ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid, || & Aſa his ſonne raigned in his ſteade, in whoſe dayes the lande was in quietneſſe ten yeeres. ||3.king.15.8

2 And Aſa dyd that was good and ryght in the eyes of the Lorde his God.

3 For he toke away ſtrange aulters, and the high places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the groues:

4 And commaunded Juda to ſeeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to do accordyng to the lawe and commaundement.

5 And he put away out of all the cities of Juda, the high places and the images: and the kyngdome was quiet before hym.

6 And he built ſtrong cities in Juda, becauſe the land was in reſt, & he had no warre in thoſe yeeres: for the Lord had geuen him reſt.

7 Therefore he ſayde vnto Juda: let vs buylde theſe cities, and make about them walles, towres, gates, & barres, for the lande is yet in reſt before vs: becauſe we haue ſought the Lorde our God, we haue ſought hym, and he hath geuen vs reſt on euery ſide. And ſo they buylt, & it proſpered with them.

8 And Aſa had an armie of men that bare ſheeldes and ſpeares, out of Juda three hundred thouſande, & out of Beniamin that bare ſheeldes and drue bowes two hundred and foureſcore thouſande: all theſe were valiant men.

9 And there came out agaynſt them Zarah of Ethiopia, with an hoſt of ten hundred thouſande, and three hundred charrets, and came as farre as Mareſa.

10 And Aſa went out before hym, and they ioyned the battayle in the valley of Zephata, beſyde Mareſa.

11 || And Aſa cryed vnto the Lorde his God, and ſayde, Lorde, it is no harde thyng with thee to helpe with many, or them that haue no power: helpe vs therefore, O Lorde our God, for we truſt to thee, and in thy name we goe agaynſt this multitude: thou art the Lorde our God, and no man ſhall preuayle agaynſt thee. ||1.Sa.14.6.

12 So the Lorde ſmote the Ethiopians before Aſa and Juda, & the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Aſa and the people that was with hym, folowed after them vnto Gerar: & the Ethiopians hoſt was ouerthrowen, that there was none of them left, but were deſtroyed before the Lorde and before his hoſt: and they caryed away a myghty great pray.

14 And they ſmote all the cities rounde about Gerar, for the feare of the Lorde came vpon them: and they ſpoyled all the cities, and there was exceedyng muche ſpoyle in them.

15 They smote also the tentes of cattel, and caried away plentie of sheepe and Cammels, and returned to Hierusalem.

1. The exhortation of Azaria. 8. Asa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 14. They sweare together to serue the Lorde. 16. He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

AND the spirite of God came on Azaria the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meete Asa, and saide vnto him, Heare me Asa, and al Juda and Beniamin, the Lorde is with you, whyle ye be with hym: and when ye seeke him, he wyll be found of you: and againe, when ye forsake him, he also wyl forsake you.

a. For the space of .xii. yeeres vnder Roboam, and there yeres vnder Abia, true religion was neglected, and idolatry planted.

3 Now for a long a season Israel hath been without the true GOD, and without priestes to teache, and without lawe.

4 And when any man in his trouble dyd turne vnto the Lorde God of Israel & sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and in, but great sedition was there among all the inhabiters of the earth.

6 And nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God did moue all aduersitie among them.

7 Play ye therefore the men, and let not your handes slacke: for your woorke shalbe rewarded.

b. He had two names both Azaria, & Obed.

8 And when Asa heard those woordes, and the prophesie of b Azaria the sonne of Obed the prophete, he tooke courage, and put away the abominable idols out of al the land of Juda and Beniamin, and out of the cities whiche he wanne in mount Ephraim, and renued the aulter of the Lorde that was before the porche of the Lorde.

9 And he gathered all Juda and Beniamin, and the strangers with them, out of Ephraim, Manasse, and Simeon: for there fel many to hym out of Israel, when they sawe that the Lorde his GOD was with hym.

c. May.

10 So they assembled togeather at Hierusalem the c thirde moneth, the fiftieth yeere of the raigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lorde the same tyme, of the spoyle whiche they had brought, seuen hundred oxen, and seuen thousande sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lorde God of their fathers with al their hart, and al their soule.

d. A lawe of death for idolaters. Deu. 13.

13 And whosoeuer woulde not seeke the Lorde GOD of Israel d shoulde dye for it, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lorde with a loude voyce, showtyng and blowyng with trumpettes and shawmes.

15 And al they in Juda reioyced at the othe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with al their hart, and sought hym with all their lust, and he was founde of them: and the Lorde gaue them rest rounde about on euery syde.

16 || And kyng Asa put e Maacha his mother out of aucthoritie, because she had made an idol in a groue: and Asa brake downe her idol, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brooke Cedron.

e. His grandmother, & herein he shewed that he lacked zeale: for he ought to haue dyed both by the couenant & Lawe of GOD.

17 But al the hygh places were not taken away out of Israel, though the hart of Asa was perfect al his dayes.

18 And he brought into the house of God the thynges that his father had dedicate, and that he hym selfe had dedicate, euen syluer, and golde, and vessels.

19 And there was no more war vnto the thirtie and fyue yeere of the raigne of Asa.

1. Asa for feare of Baasa king of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad king of Syria. 7. He is reproued by the prophete.

IN the thirtie and sixth yeere of the raigne of Asa, came Baasa king of Israel against Juda, and buylt Rama, to the intent that he woulde let none passe out or in to Asa king of Juda.

2 And Asa set out gold and syluer out of the treasures of the house of the Lorde, and out of the kynges house, and sent to Benhadad kyng of Syria that dwelt at || Darmesec, and sayde,

|| Or, Damascus.

3 There is a confederation betweene me and thee, betweene my father and thyne: beholde, I haue sent thee syluer and golde, that thou wylt come and breake thy league with Baasa kyng of Israel, that he may depart from me.

4 And Benhadad graunted vnto kyng Asa, and sent the captaynes of his armies to the cities of Israel: and they smote Ion, Dan, and Abilmaim, and all the strong cities of Nephthali.

5 And when Baasa heard this, he left buildyng of Rama, and let his woorke ceasse.

6 And then Asa the kyng toke al Juda, and caryed away the stones and tymber of Rama wherewith Baasa was a buyldyng, and he buylt therwith Geba and Mispah.

7 At that tyme Hanani the Seer came to Asa kyng of Juda, and sayde vnto hym, a Becauſe thou haſt truſted in the kyng of Syria, and not rather put thy truſt in the Lorde thy GOD, therefore is the hoaſt of the king of Syria eſcaped out of thyne hand.

Because

8 ||Had not the Ethiopians and Lubim exceeding great hoaſt, with many charets and horſemen? and yet becauſe thou truſtedſt in the Lorde, he deliuered them into thyne hand.

9 ||For the eyes of the Lorde behold all the earth, to ſtrengthen them that are of perfect hart towarde him: herein thou haſt doone fooliſhly, and therefore from henceforth thou ſhalt haue warre.

10 And ſo Aſa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a b priſon houſe, for he was diſpleaſed with him, becauſe of this thing: and Aſa deſtroyed certayne of the people the ſame ſeaſon.

11 And beholde, theſe deedes of Aſa fyrſt and laſt, are written in the booke of the kinges of Iuda and Iſrael.

12 And Aſa in the thirtie & nienth yeere of his raigne fell ſicke in his feete, and his diſeaſe continued very long, and in his ſickneſſe he ſought not the Lorde, c but Phiſitions.

13 And Aſa ſlept with his fathers, and dyed in the fourtie & one yeere of his raigne.

14 And they buried him in his owne ſepulchre, whiche he had made for him ſelfe in the citie of Dauid, and laide him in the bed whiche was fylled with diuers kindes of ſpices, and ſweete odours, made by the craft of the apyothecaries: and they made a very great burning.

The. xvii. Chapter.

1. Ioſaphat truſting in the Lorde, proſpereth in richeſſe and honour. 6. He aboliſheth idolatrie, 7. and cauſeth the people to be taught.

AND Ioſaphat his ſonne raigned in his ſteade, and preuayled againſt Iſrael.

2 And he put ſouldiers in all the ſtrong cities of Iuda, and ſet rulers in the land of Iuda, and in the cities of Ephraim which Aſa his father had wonne.

3 And the Lorde was with Ioſaphat, becauſe he walked in the former wayes of his father Dauid, and ſought not Baalim:

4 But ſought the Lorde God of his father, and walked in his commaundementes, and not after the dooinges of Iſrael.

5 And the Lord ſtabliſhed the kingdome in his hande, and all Iuda brought him preſentes, ſo that he had abundance of richeſſe and honour.

6 And he lift vp his hart into the wayes of the Lorde, and he put doune yet more of the high places and groues out of Iuda.

7 In the third yeere of his raigne he ſent to his lordes, euen to Benhail, Obadia, Zacharia, Nethanel, and to Michaia, that they ſhould a teache in the cities of Iuda:

8 And with them he ſent Leuites, euen Semeia, Nethania, Zebadia, Aſael, Semiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonia, Tobia, and Tobadonia, Leuites: and with them Eliſama and Ioram, prieſtes.

9 And they taught in Iuda, and had the booke of the lawe of GOD with them, and went about throughout al the cities of Iuda, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lorde fell vppon all the kingdomes of the landes that were rounde about Iuda, and they fought not againſt Ioſaphat.

11 And ſome of the Philiſtines brought Ioſaphat gyftes, and tribute ſiluer, and the Arabians brought him cattell, euen ſeuen thouſand and ſeuen hundred rammes, and ſeuen thouſand and ſeuen hundred hee goates.

12 And ſo Ioſaphat proſpered and grew vp an hygh: and he built in Iuda caſtels, and cities of ſtore.

13 And he had great b ſubſtance in the cities of Iuda: but the men of armes and ſtrongeſt ſouldiers were in Hieruſalem.

14 And theſe are the c offices of them in the houſe of their fathers: the captaynes ouer thouſandes in Iuda, Adna the captayne, and with him of fyghting men, three hundred thouſand.

15 And next to his hand was Iehonana captayne, and with him two hundred & foureſcore thouſand.

16 And next him was Amazia the ſonne of Zichri, whiche of his owne good wyll offered him ſelfe vnto the Lorde, and with him two hundred thouſande mightie men of warre.

17 And of the chyldren of Beniamin, Eliada a man of might, and with him armed men with bowe and ſhielde two hundred thouſand.

18 And next him was Ioſabad, and with him an hundred and foureſcore thouſand that were prepared for the warre.

19 Theſe wayted on the kyng, beſydes thoſe which the kyng put in the ſtrong cities throughout all Iuda.

a. Ioſaphat ſent viſitours abrode into the countreyes to ſee religion reformed, and the people truly inſtructed.

a. God reproueth ſuche leagues as are made with infidels.

b. The prophet of God is puniſhed for ſpeaking his meſſage, and thus the wicked in ſtede of turning vnto God by repentance, contemne the admonition of the prophetes and miniſters of God.

c. He ſheweth that it is in vayne to ſeeke to the phiſitions, except firſt we ſeeke to God to pourge our ſinnes, which are the cheefe cauſes of al our diſeaſes, and after vſe the helpe of the phiſition, as a meane by whom God woorketh.

AND || Iosaphat had abundance of ryches and honour, and ioyned affinitie with Achab.

2 And after certayne yeeres he went downe to Achab to Samaria: and Achab slue many sheepe and oxen for him, and for the people that he had with him, and entreated him to goe vp with him vnto Ramoth in Gilead.

3 And Achab kyng of Israel saide vnto Iosaphat king of Iuda, Wylt thou goe with me to Ramoth in Gilead? And he answeared him, I wyl be as thou, and my people shalbe as thyne, and vve vvyll goe with thee to the warre.

4 And Iosaphat said vnto the king of Israel, Seeke counsel, I pray thee, at the woord of the Lorde this same day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered together of prophetes foure hundred men, and saide vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth in Gilead to fyght, or shoulde I ceasse? And they saide, Goe vp, and God shal deliuer it into the kinges hand.

6 But Iosaphat saide, Is there yet here neuer a prophete more of the Lordes, that we might aske of him?

7 And the king of Israel saide vnto Iosaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske the Lorde, but I hate him, for he neuer prophesieth me good, but alway euyll: and the same is Micha the sonne of Iemla. And Iosaphat saide, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called one of his chamberlaynes, and saide, Fetche hyther quickely Michea the sonne of Iemla.

9 And the king of Israel and Iosaphat king of Iuda sate eyther of them on his seate in their apparel, in a threshing floore beside the gate of Samaria, and all the prophetes prophecied before them.

10 And one Zedecia the sonne of Chanaana had made him hornes of iron, and sayd, Thus sayth the Lorde, With these thou shalt pushe Syria, vntyll they be brought to nought.

11 And al the prophetes prophesied euen so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth in Gilead, and it shall prosper with thee: for the Lorde shall deliuer it into the hand of the kyng.

12 And the messenger that went to call Michea, spake to him, saying, Beholde, the woordes of the prophetes speake good to the king with one assent: let thy woordes therfore, I pray thee, be lyke one of theirs, that thou speake that which is pleasant.

13 And Michea said, As the lord liueth, euen what my God saith, that wyll I speake.

14 And when he was come to the kyng, the kyng saide vnto him, Michea, shoulde we goe to Ramoth in Gilead to fyght, or leaue of? And he saide, Goe vp, and all shalbe well, and they shalbe deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king saide to him, So and so many tymes doo I charge thee that thou say nothing but the trueth to me, in the name of the Lorde.

16 Then he saide, I dyd see all Israel scattered in the mountaynes, as sheepe that haue no shepheard, & the Lord said, b These haue no maister: let them returne euery man therefore to his house in peace.

b. He prophecieth howe the people should be dispearsed, & Achab slaine.

17 And the king of Israel said vnto Iosaphat, Dyd I not tell thee, that he woulde not prophesie good vnto me, but euyll?

18 But he saide againe, Therefore heare the woorde of the Lorde: I sawe the Lord syt vpon his seate, and all the company of heauen stood on his right hand and on his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shal deceiue Achab king of Israel, that he may goe vp and be ouerthrowen at Ramoth in Gilead? And one saide this, another said that.

20 And there came out a spirite, & stoode before the Lord, and saide, I wyll deceiue hym. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he saide, I wyll goe out, and be a c lying spirite in the mouth of all his prophetes. And the Lorde saide, Thou shalt deceiue him, and shalt preuayle: goe out, and doo euen so.

c. They that wyl not beleeue the trueth, God sendeth strong delusions, that they shoulde beleeue lyes.

22 And nowe therefore behold, the lorde hath put a lying spirite in the mouthes of all these thy prophetes, and the Lorde hath spoken euyl agaynst thee.

23 ||And Zedecia the sonne of Chanaana went to, and smote Michea vpon the cheeke, and saide, By what way went the d spirite of the Lorde from me, to speake with thee?

d. Thus the hypocrites boast of the spirite which they haue not, and declare their malice against them in whom the true spirite is.

24 And Michea saide, Beholde, thou shalt see the day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber for to hyde thee selfe.

25 And the king of Israel saide, Take ye Michea, & bring him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, & to Joas the kinges sonne.

26 And ye shall say, Thus sayth the kyng, Put this felowe in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, & water of trouble, vntyll I come agayne in peace.

27 And Michea saide, If thou come againe in peace, then hath not the Lord spoken by me. And he sayde, Hearken to ye people euery one of you.

28 And so the king of Israel and Iosaphat the kyng of Iuda went vp to Ramoth in Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel saide vnto Iosaphat, I wyl change me when I goe to the battel: but see that thou haue thyne owne apparel appatel vpon thee. And the kyng of Iſrael changed hym ſelfe, & they came to the battel.

30 But the kyng of Syria had commaunded the captaynes of the charettes that were with hym, ſaying, See that ye fyght not agaynſt ſmal or great, ſaue agaynſt the kyng of Iſrael onely.

31 And when the captaynes of the charettes ſawe Ioſaphat, they ſayde, It is the kyng of Iſrael: and therefore they compaſſed about him to fight. ||But Ioſaphat cryed out, and the Lorde helped hym, and GOD [a] chaſed them away from hym.

32 For when the captaynes of the charets perceiued that it was not the king of Iſrael, they turned backe agayne from hym.

33 And [a] certayne man drewe a bowe [a] at a venture, and ſmote the kyng of Iſrael betweene the ioyntes of his habergin: and he ſayde to his charetman, Turne thine hande, that thou mayeſt cary me out of the hoſt, for I am wounded.

34 And the battel encreaſed that day: howbeit, the kyng of Iſrael cauſed his charet [e] to ſtande ſtyl agaynſt the Syrians, vntyll euen: and about the time of the ſunne going downe, he dyed.

1. After Ioſaphat was rebuked by the prophete, he calleth agayne the people to the honouring of the Lorde.

AND Ioſaphat the kyng of Juda came home agayne in peace to Hieruſalem.

2 And Jehu the ſonne of Hanani the Seer, went out to meete him, and ſayd to kyng Ioſaphat, Wouldeſt thou helpe the vngodly, and loue them that hate the Lorde? Therefore is wrath come downe vppon thee from before the Lorde:

3 Neuertheleſſe, there are ſome good actes founde in thee, in that thou haſt hewen downe the groues out of the lande, and haſt prepared thine hart to ſeeke God.

4 And Ioſaphat dwelt at Hieruſalem, and turned, [a] and went out to the people from Beer-ſeba to mount Ephraim, and brought them agayne vnto the Lorde God of their fathers.

5 And he ſet iudges in the land, throughout al the ſtrong cities of Juda, citie by citie,

6 And ſayde to the iudges, Take heede what ye doo: for ye execute not the iudgementes of man, but of God, which is [b] with you in the iudgement.

7 Wherefore nowe let the feare of the Lorde be vpon you, and take heede, and be dooyng the thyng that pleaſeth hym: for there is no vnrygh teouſneſſe with the Lorde our God, || that he ſhoulde haue any reſpect of perſons, or take rewardes. ||Job.34.19. Actes.10.34. Rom.2.11. 1.Pet.1.17.

8 Moreouer, in Hieruſalem did Ioſaphat ſet of the Leuites and of the prieſtes, and of the auncient fathers ouer Iſrael, in the iudgement and cauſe of the Lorde, and they returned agayne to Hieruſalem.

9 And he charged them, ſaying, Thus ſhal ye doo in the feare of the Lorde faythfully, and with a pure hart:

10 What cauſe ſo euer come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, betweene blood and blood, betweene lawe and commaundement, betweene ſtatutes and ordinances: ye ſhal warne them that they treſpaſſe not agaynſt the Lorde, and ſo wrath come vpon you and your brethren: thus doo, and ye ſhal not offende.

11 And behold, Amaria the hygh prieſt is among you in al matters of the Lorde, and Zebadia the ſonne of Iſmael, a ruler of the houſe of Juda, for all the kynges matters: There be officers of the Leuites alſo before you, take courage to you therefore, and be dooyng manfully, and the Lord ſhalbe with ſuch as be good.

3. Ioſaphat and the people pray vnto the Lorde. 22. The marueylous victorie that the Lorde gaue hym agaynſt his enimies. 30. His raigne and actes.

AFter this alſo, the chyldren of Moab and the chyldren of Ammon, and with them other of the Ammonites, came agaynſt Ioſaphat to battel.

2 And there came ſome that tolde Ioſaphat, ſaying, There commeth a great multitude agaynſt thee from the other ſide of the ſea, and out of Syria, and beholde, they be in Haſaſon Thamar, which is En-gadi.

3 And Ioſaphat feared, and ſet him ſelfe to ſeeke the Lorde, and proclaymed faſting throughout al Juda.

4 And Juda geathered them ſelues togeather, to aſke counſayle of the Lorde: and they came out of al the cities of Juda, [a] to make interceſſion to the Lorde. [a] or, to enquyre of the Lorde.

5 And Ioſaphat ſtoode betweene the congregation of Juda and Hieruſalem, in the houſe of the Lorde, before the new court,

6 And ſayde, O Lorde God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen, and raigneſt not thou on al the kyngdomes of the heathen, and in thine hande is power and might, and there is no man that is able to withſtande thee?

7 Art not thou our God whiche diddeſt caſt

a. We onely put our truſt in thee, and wayte for our deliuerance from heauen.

13 And al Iuda ſtoode before the Lord, with their young ones, theyr wyues, and theyr chyldren.

14 And there was Iahaziel the ſonne of Zacharia, the ſonne of Banaia, the ſonne of Iehiel, the ſonne of Matthania, a Leuite, of the ſonnes of Aſaph, and vpon him came the ſpirite of the Lorde in the middes of the congregation:

15 And he ſayde, Hearken all Iuda, and ye inhabiters of Hieruſalem, and thou kyng Ioſaphat, Thus ſayth the Lorde vnto you, Be not afrayde, nor faynt harted, by reaſon of this great multitude: for the battel is not yours, but Gods.

16 To morowe goe ye downe agaynſt them: beholde, they come vp by the clyft of Ziz, and ye ſhal finde them at the ende of the brooke, before the wyldernelle of Ieruel.

17 Ye ſhall not neede to fight in this battel, but ſtep forth, and ſtand, & beholde the helpe of the Lorde whiche is with you: feare not, nor let your hartes fayle you, O ye of Iuda & of Hieruſalem, to morowe goe out agaynſt them, for the Lord wyll be with you.

18 And Ioſaphat b bowed his face to the earth, and al Iuda, and the inhabiters of Hieruſalem fel before the Lorde, worſhypping the Lorde.

b. Declaryng his fayth and obedience to the woorde of the Lorde.

18 And the Leuites of the chyldren of the Caathites, and of the chyldren of the Corahites, ſtoode vp to prayſe the Lorde God of Iſrael, with a loude voyce on hygh.

20 And when they aroſe early in the morowyng, they gate them out vnto the wylderneſſe of Thecoa: and as they went out, Ioſaphat ſtoode, and ſayde, Heare me, O Iuda, and ye inhabiters of Hieruſalem: Put your truſt in the Lorde your GOD, that ye may be founde faythful: geue credence to his prophetes, and ſo ſhal ye proſper.

21 When he had conſulted with the people, & ſet ſome to ſing vnto the Lorde, and to prayſe him in the beautie of holyneſſe, and to goe out before the armie, and to ſay, Praiſe the Lorde, for his mercie laſteth euer.

22 And when they begamne to ſhowte, and to prayſe the Lorde, the Lorde layde ambuſhmentes againſt the chyldren of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, whiche were come agaynſt Iuda, and they were ouerthrowen with ſtrokes among them ſelues.

23 For the chyldren of Ammon and Moab, roſe agaynſt the inhabiters of mount Seir, and they ſlue and deſtroyed them: and when they had made an ende of the inhabiters of Seir, euery one helped to deſtroy an other among them ſelues.

24 And when Iuda came towarde Miſpah in the wyldernelſe, they looked vnto the multitude, and beholde, they were dead carkaſſes fallen to the earth, and none eſcaped.

25 And when Ioſaphat and his people came to take away the ſpoyle of them, they founde among them abundance of goodes, rayment, and pretious iewelles, whiche they tooke for them ſelues, more then they coulde cary away: ſo that they were three dayes in geathering of the ſpoyle, it was ſo muche.

26 And the fourth day they aſſembled in the valley of bleſſyng: for there they c bleſſed the Lorde, and therefore they called the name of the ſame place, The valley of bleſſing, vnto this day.

c. Gaue thankes vnto the Lorde for that victorie.

27 And ſo all the men of Iuda and Hieruſalem, returned with Ioſaphat their head, for to goe agayne to Hieruſalem with gladneſſe: for the Lorde had made them to reioyce ouer theyr enimies.

28 And they came to Hieruſalem with pſalteries, and harpes, and ſhawmes, vnto the houſe of the Lorde.

29 And the feare of God fel on the kingdomes of all landes, when they had hearde that the Lorde fought agaynſt the enimies of Iſrael.

30 And ſo the realme of Ioſaphat was in tranquilitie, and his God gaue him reſt on euery ſide.

31 And Ioſaphat raigned vpon Iuda, and was thirtie and fiue yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and he raigned twentie and fiue yeeres in Hieruſalem, and his mothers name was Azuba, the daughter of Silhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Aſa his father,

36 He ioyned hym ſelfe with hym, to make ſhips to go to Tharſis: and they made the ſhippes in Ezion Gaber.

37 And Eliezer the ſonne of Dodauah of Mareſa, prophecied agaynſt Joſaphat, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt d ioyned thee ſelfe with Ahazia, the Lorde hath broken thy woorkes. And the ſhyppes were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tharſis. d. God would not haue his to ioyne in ſocietie with idolaters and wicked men.

the captiues hyther: for where as we haue offended towarde God alredy, ye entende to adde more to our ſinnes and treſpaſſe: for our treſpaſſe is great alredy, and there is a fierce wrath agaynſt Iſrael.

14 And vpon that, the men of armes left the captiues and the ſpoyle before the lordes and all the congregation:

15 And the men that were nowe rehearſed by name, roſe vp, and tooke the priſoners, and with the ſpoyle clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and ſhoed them, and gaue them to eate & to drynke, and annoynted them, and caryed al that were feeble of them vpon Aſſes, and brought them to Iericho the citie of Palme trees, to their brethren: and then they returned to Damaria agayne.

16 At that ſame tyme dyd kyng Achas ſend vnto the kynges of the Aſſyrians, to haue helpe of them.

17 And the Edomites came againe, and ſlue ſome of Iuda, and caryed away cap-tiues.

18 And the Philiſtines inuaded the cities in the lowe countrey, and towarde the South of Iuda, and tooke Bethſames, and Aialon, and Gederoth, and Socho, with the townes longyng thereto, and Thimna with the townes of the ſame, Gimſo & the townes therof, and dwelt there.

19 For the Lorde brought Iuda lowe, becauſe of Achas kyng of "Iuda, whiche "or, Iſrael. made Iuda naked, and tranſgreſſed ſore agaynſt the Lorde.

20 And Thilgath Phalnaſar kyng of the Assyrians, came vpon him, and troubled him, rather then strengthed him.

21 For Achas tooke away a portion out of the house of the Lord, and out of the kings house, and out of the Lordes houses, and gaue vnto the king of the Assyrians: and yet it helped him not.

22 And in the very time of his tribulation, did king Achas trespasse yet more against the Lorde.

23 For he offered vnto the gods of Damascus, whiche b smote him, and he sayde, Because the goddes of the kinges of Syria helpe them, therfore wyl I offer to them, that they may helpe me also: but they were his destruction, and the destruction of al Israel.

b As he falsely supposed.

24 And Achas gathered together the vessels of the house of God, and brake them, and shutte vp the doores of the house of the Lorde, and made him aulters in euery corner of Hierusalem.

25 And in all the cities of Juda he made high places, to burne incense vnto other gods, and angred the Lorde God of his fathers.

26 The rest of his actes, and his woorkes fyrst and last, beholde they are written in the booke of the kinges of Juda and Israel.

27 And Achas slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Hierusalem: but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kinges of Israel, and Ezecia his sonne raigned in his steade.

¶ 4. kin. 18. 1. EZecia began to raigne when he was fiue and twentie yeeres olde, and he raigned viene and twentie yeeres in Hierusalem: and his mothers name was Abia, the daughter of Zacharia.

9 For loe, our fathers were ouerthrowen with the swoorde, and our sonnes, our daughters, and our wyues were caried away captiue for the same cause.

10 And nowe it is in mine hart to make a couenant with the Lorde God of Israel, that he may turne away his heauie indignation from vs.

11 Nowe therefore my sonnes be not negligent: for the Lorde hath chosen you to stande before hym, and for to minister and serue hym, and to burne incense.

12 Then the Leuites arose, Mahath the sonne of Amasai, and Joel the sonne of Azaria, of the chyldren of the Caathites: and of the sonnes of Merari, Cis the sonne of Abdi, and Azaria the sonne of Jahalelel: and of the sonnes of the Gersonites, Joah the sonne of Simma, and Eden the sonne of Joah:

13 And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Simri and Jehiel: and of the sonnes of Asaph, Zacharia and Matthania:

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel, and Simei: and of the sonnes of Idithun, Semaia, and Oziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and purified them selues, & came accordyng to the commaundement of the kyng, and the woordes of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lorde.

16 And the priestes went into the inner partes of the house of the Lorde, to cleanse it, and brought out all the vncleannesse that they founde in the temple of the Lorde, into the court of the house of the Lorde: and the Leuites toke it, to carie it out into the brooke Cedron.

17 They began the first day of the first moneth to purifie, and the eyght day of the moneth came they to the porche of the Lorde: so they sanctified the house of the Lorde in eyght dayes, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth they made an ende.

18 And they went in to Ezecia the king, and sayde, We haue cleansed al the house of the Lord, the aulter of whole burnt offeryng, with al his vessels, and the shew bread table, with all his "apparel:

19 And al the veſſels whiche king Achas dyd caſt aſide when he raigned and tranſgreſſed, them we haue prepared and ſanctifyed, and beholde, they are before the aulter of the Lorde.

20 And Ezecia the king roſe early, and geathered the lordes of the citie, and went vp to the houſe of the Lorde.

21 And they brought ſeuen oxen, ſeuen rammes, ſeuen ſheepe, and ſeuen hee goates, to be a ſinne offering, for the kingdome, for the ſanctuarie, and for Juda: and he commaunded the prieſtes, the ſonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the aulter of the Lorde.

22 And they ſlue the oxen, and the prieſtes receiued the blood, and e ſprinckled it on the aulter: likewyſe when they hadde ſlayne the rammes, they ſprinckled the blood vppon the aulter: they ſlue alſo the ſheepe, and they ſprinckled the blood vpon the aulter.

23 And then they brought foorth the hee goates for the ſinne offering, before the kyng and the congregation, and f put their handes vppon them.

24 And the prieſtes ſlue them, and with the blood of them they cleanſed the aulter, to make ſatisfaction for all Iſrael: for the king commaunded that the whole burnt offeryng and the ſinne offering ſhould be made for al Iſrael:

25 And ſet the Leuites in the houſe of the Lord, with cymbals, pſalteries, & harpes, accordyng to the commaundement of Dauid, and of Gad the kynges Seer, and Nathan the prophete: for ſo was the commaundement of the Lorde through the haude of his prophetes.

26 And the Leuites ſtoode, hauyng the inſtruments of Dauid: and the prieſtes held the trumpets.

27 And Ezecia commaunded to offer the whole burnt offering vpon the aulter: And when the whole burnt offering began, the ſong of the Lorde began alſo, and the trumpettes, with the inſtrumentes that were ordeyned by the hande of Dauid kyng of Iſrael.

28 And all the congregation woorſhipped, ſynging a long, and blowyng with the trumpettes: and all this continued vntyll the whole burnt offering was finiſhed.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the kyng and all that were preſent with him, bowed them ſelues, and woorſhipped.

30 And ‖Ezecia the kyng, and the lordes ſpake to the Leuites, to prayſe the Lorde with the woordes of Dauid and of Aſaph the Seer: and they ſang prayſes with gladneſſe, and the other bowed them ſelues, and woorſhipped.

31 And Ezecia anſwearedand ſaide, Nowe ye haue conſecrated your handes vnto the Lorde: goe to therefore, and bryng the ſacrifyces and thanke offeringes into the houſe of the Lorde. And the congregation brought in the ſacrifyces and thanke offeringes, and whole burnt offeringes, as many as were of a free liberall hart.

32 And the number of the whole burnt offeringes, which the congregation brought, was threeſcore and ten oxen, an hundred rammes, and two hundred ſheepe: whiche were all for the whole burnt offeryng of the Lorde.

33 And there were dedicated ſixe hundred oxen, and three thouſand ſheepe.

34 And the prieſtes were to fewe to flay all the whole burnt offerynges: but their brethren the Leuites dyd helpe them, tyll they had ended the woorke, and vntyll the prieſtes were ſanctifyed: for the Leuites were purer harted to be ſanctifyed then the prieſtes.

35 And thereto the whole burnt offeringes were many, with the fat of the peace offeringes, and the drinke offeringes that belong to the whole burnt offering: and ſo the ſeruice, parteyning to the houſe of the Lorde, was fynished.

36 And Ezecia reioyced, and all the people, that God had made the folke ſo redy, and that the thing was ſo ſoone doone.

¶ The.xxx. Chapter.

The keeping of the Paſſouer by the kinges commaundement.

AND Ezecia ſent to all Iſrael and Juda, and wrote letters to Ephraim and Manaſſe, that they ſhoulde come to the houſe of the Lorde at Hieruſalem, and keepe the Paſſeouer vnto the Lorde GOD of Iſrael.

2 And the king helde a counſel with his lordes, and all the congregation of Hieruſalem, to keepe the feaſt of Paſſeouer in the a ſecond moneth:

3 For they coulde not keepe it at that time, becauſe the prieſtes were not ſanctifyed ſufficiently, neither was the people geathered togeather to Hieruſalem.

4 And the thyng pleaſed the kyng and al the congregation.

5 And they decreed that it ſhould be proclaymed throughout all Iſrael, from Berſeba to Dan, that they ſhould come and holde the feaſt of Paſſeouer vnto the Lorde God of Iſrael at Hieruſalem: for they had not doone it of a great season as it was b written.

6 So the postes went with letters of the kynges and of his lordes, throughout all Israel and Juda, and at the commaundement of the kyng they sayde, Ye children of Israel, turne agayne vnto the Lorde GOD of Abraham, Isahac, and Israel, and he wyll returne to the remnant that are escaped of you out of the hande of the kynges of the Assyrians.

7 And be not ye lyke your fathers and your brethren, whiche trespassed agaynst the Lord God of their fathers, which gaue them vp to be destroyed, as ye see.

8 And nowe be not ye stiffe necked lyke as were your fathers: but yeelde your selues vnto the Lorde, and enter into his holy place, whiche he hath sanctifyed for euer, and serue the Lorde your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shal turne away from you.

9 For yf ye turne agayne vnto the lorde, then shall your brethren and your children finde compassion in the presence of them that tooke them captiue, and they shall come agayne vnto this lande: for the Lorde your God is gracious and mercifull, and wyll not turne away his face from you, yf ye conuert vnto hym.

10 And so the postes went from citie to citie, through the land of Ephraim, and Manasse, euen vnto Zabulon: but they laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Neuertheless, yet diuers of Aser, Manasse, and of Zabulon, submitted them selues, and came to Hierusalem.

12 And the hande of God was in Juda, and he gaue them one hart to doo the commaundement of the king, and of the rulers, accordyng to the woorde of the Lorde.

13 And there assembled to Hierusalem much people, and there was present a mightie great congregation, to holde the feast of sweete breed in the second moneth.

14 And they arose, and remooued the aulters that were in Hierusalem: and all the aulters for incense dyd they away, and cast them into the brooke Cedron.

15 And they slue the Passouer the fourteenth day of the seconde moneth: and the priestes and Leuites which were c ashamed, sanctifyed them selues, and brought in the whole burnt offeringes into the house of the Lorde.

16 And they stoode in their office after their maner, and accordyng to the law of Moses the man of God: and the priestes sprincled the blood which they receiued of the hande of the Leuites.

17 For there were many in the congregation that were not sanctifyed, and therefore the Leuites had the charge of the kyllyng of the Passeouer for euery one that was not cleane, to sanctifye hym vnto the Lorde.

18 For many of the people, and very many of Ephraim, Manasse, Isachar, and Zabulon, were not cleansed, and yet dyd eate the Passeouer, agaynst the lawe appoynted: but Ezecia prayed for them, saying, The good Lorde be mercifull towarde euery one 19 That prepareth his hart to seeke the Lorde God, the God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed accordyng to the purifycation of the sanctuarie.

20 And the Lorde heard Ezecia, and d healed the people.

21 And the chyldren of Israel that were present at Hierusalem, held the feast of sweete breed seuen dayes with great gladnesse: and the Leuites and the priestes praysed the lorde day by day, singing with loude instrumentes vnto the Lorde.

22 And Ezecia spake [a] comfortablie vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to syng vnto the Lorde: and they dyd eate throughout that feast seuen dayes long, and offered peace offeringes, and thanked the lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assemblie tooke counsel to doo so other seuen dayes: and they held those seuen dayes with gladnesse.

24 For Ezecia kyng of Juda, dyd geue to the congregation e a thousand young Oxen, and seuen thousande Sheepe: and the lordes gaue out to the congregation a thousand Oxen, and ten thousand Sheepe, and a great number of y priestes were sanctifyed.

25 And all the congregation of Juda, with the priestes and Leuites, and all the congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the lande of Israel, and that dwelt in Juda, reioyced.

26 And there was great gladnesse in Hierusalem: for since the tyme of Solomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel, there was no such ioy in Hierusalem.

27 And the priestes and the Leuites arose, and blessed the people: and their voyce was heard of the Lorde and their prayer came vp vnto heauen his holy dwellyng place.

deſtroyed them all: and al the children of Iſrael returned euery man to his poſſeſſion, and to their owne cities.

2 And Ezecia appoynted ſundry companies of the prieſtes and Leuites, after the diuerſitie of their miniſtrations, euery man according to his office, both prieſtes and Leuites, for the whole burnt offering, and peace offeringes, to miniſter, and to geue thankes and prayſe in the gates of the a hoſt of the Lorde.

3 And the kinges portion of his ſubſtance that he gaue, were dayly whole burnt offeringes in the morning and euening, and whole burnt offeringes for the Sabboth dayes, newe moones, and ſolemne feaſtes, according as it is written in the lawe of the Lorde.

4 And he bade the people that dwelt in Hieruſalem, to geue a b part to the prieſtes and Leuites, that they myght with more courage apply them ſelues to the lawe of the Lorde.

5 And as ſoone as the kinges commaundement came abrode, the children of Iſrael brought abundance of fyrſt fruites, of corne, wine, oyle, hony, and of all maner of fruites of the feelde, and the tythes of all maner of thynges brought they in plenteouſly.

6 And the children of Iſrael and Iuda, that dwelt in the cities of Iuda, they alſo brought in the tythes of Oxen and Sheepe, and other holy tythes, which were conſecrate vnto the Lorde their God, and layde them all by heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the heapes in maner of a fundation, and fynished them in the ſeuenth moneth.

8 And when Ezecia and the lordes came and ſawe the heapes, they bleſſed the Lorde, and his people Iſrael.

9 And Ezecia queſtioned with the prieſtes and the Leuites concernyng the heapes.

10 And Azaria the chiefe prieſt, of the houſe of Sadoc, anſwered him, and ſaide, Since the people began to bring the heaue offeringes into the houſe of the Lorde, c we alſo haue had ynough to eate, and yet remaineth plentie: for the Lorde hath bleſſed his people, and this heape is left.

11 And Ezecia bade prepare the chambers in the houſe of the Lorde: and they dyd prepare them,

12 And caried in the fyrſt fruites, the thithes, and the dedicate thinges faythfully, ouer whiche Chonenia the Leuite had the rule, and Semei his brother next to him:

13 And Iehiel, Azaria, Nahath, Aſael, Ierimoth, Joſabad, Eliel, Iſmachia, Mahath, and Banaia, were ouerſeers, ordeyned by Chonenia, and Semei his brother was an officer of Ezecia the king, and Azaria was the ruler of the houſe of God.

14 And Chore the ſonne of Imma the Leuite, and porter of the Eaſt doore, had the ouerſyght of the thinges that were offered of a free wyll vnto God, to diſtribute the oblations of the Lorde, and the holy thynges that were conſecrate.

15 And vnder his hand were Eden, Miniamin, Jeſua, Semeia, Amaria, and Sechania, in the cities of the prieſtes appoynted of theyr fidelitie to geue to theyr brethren theyr partes, aſwell to the ſmall as to the great:

16 Alſo to their generation, being males, from three yeeres olde and vpwarde, euen vnto euery one that entreth into the houſe of the Lorde, they ſhall geue day by day for their miniſtration, and for their geuyng attendance: and for theyr diuers waytynges by courſe,

17 Both to the generation of the prieſtes and Leuites throughout the houſeholde of their fathers, from twentie yeeres and aboue, to wayte when theyr courſes came:

18 And to the families of al their babes, wyues, ſonnes and daughters, through al the congregation: for vpon the fidelitie of them, were the holy thinges beſtowed.

19 And to the children of Aaron the prieſtes which were in the feeldes & ſuburbes of their cities, citie by citie, the men whoſe names were expreſſed afore, ſhould geue portions, to all the males among the prieſtes, and to all the Leuites, according to theyr number.

20 And of this maner dyd Ezecia throwout all Iuda, and wrought that is good and right and true before the Lord his God.

21 And in al the woorkes that he began for the ſeruice of the houſe of God, according to the lawe and the commaundementes, he ſought his God: and that dyd he with all his hart, and proſpered.

¶ The xxxii. Chapter.

1. Sennacherib inuadeth Iuda. 3. Ezecia prepareth for the warre. 7. He exhorteth the people to put theyr truſt in the Lorde.

AFter that theſe deedes were faythfully doone, || Sennacherib king of the Aſſyrians came, and entred into Iuda, and compaſſed the ſtrong cities, and thought to winne them for hym ſelfe. ||4.kin.18.13. Eſai.36.1. Eccle.48.19.

2 And ſo when Ezecia ſawe that Sennacherib was come, and that he was purpoſed to fyght againſt Hieruſalem, 3 He tooke counsell with his lordes and men of might, to stoppe the water of the fountaynes without the citie: and they dyd helpe hym.

4 For there geathered many of the people togeather, and stopt al the welles, and the brooke that ranne through the middes of the land, saying, Why shall the kinges of the Assyrians come and fynde much water?

5 And Ezecia went too lustily, and built vp the wall where it was broken, and made vp the towres, and an other wall without, and repayred Millo in the citie of Dauid, and made many dartes and sheeldes.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and geathered them togeather to hym in the large streete of the gate of the citie, and spake gently to them, saying,

7 Plucke vp your hartes and be strong: be not afraide nor discouraged for the king of the Assyrians, and for all the multitude that he hath with him: for there be moe with vs then with him.

a. That is, the power of man. b. This declareth that Ezecia dyd euer put his trust in god, and yet made him selfe strong and vsed lawful meanes, lest he shoulde seeme to tempt God.

8 With him is an arme of a flesche, but with vs is the b Lorde our God, for to helpe vs, and to fyght our battels. And the people tooke a courage through the woordes of Ezecia king of Juda.

9 After this did Sennacherib king of the Assyrians, send of his seruantes to Hierusalem (but he him selfe remained before Lachis, hauing all his power with him) vnto Ezecia kyng of Juda, and vnto all Juda that were at Hierusalem, saying,

10 Thus sayth Sennacherib kyng of the Assyrians, Wherein doo ye trust, O ye that dwell in Hierusalem whiche is besieged?

11 Dooth not Ezecia entice you to geue ouer your selues vnto death, hunger, and thirst, saying, The Lord our God shal ridde vs out of the hande of the king of the Assyrians?

c. The wicked make no difference betweene true religion & false.

12 Hath not the same Ezecia put downe his high places and his c aulters, and commaunded Juda and Hierusalem, saying, Ye shal woorship before one aulter, and burne incense vpon the same?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue doone vnto all people of the landes? Were the goddes of the people of other lands able or mightie to saue their landes out of my hand?

14 Which of all the goddes of those nations that my fathers destroyed, coulde deliuer his people out of my hande? And shall your GOD be able to deliuer you out of my hand?

15 Wherefore nowe let not Ezecia deceiue you, nor perswade you of this fashion, nor yet beleeue hym: For as no God among all nations and kingdomes was able to ridde his people out of my hande, and out of the hande of my fathers: howe muche lesse shall your goddes be able to keepe you out of my hande?

16 And yet mo thinges dyd his seruants speake against the Lorde God, and against his seruant Ezecia.

17 And Sennacherib also wrote a letter to raple on the Lorde God of Israel, & spake against him, saying, As the goddes of the nations of other landes haue not been able to deliuer their people out of my hand: euen so shal not the God of Ezecia deliuer his people out of my hand.

18 And they cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speache vnto the people of Hierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them, and to make them faynt harted, and that they might take the citie.

19 And they spake against the GOD of Hierusalem, as against the goddes of the nations of the earth, vvhiche vvere the woorkes of the handes of men.

20 But Ezecia the king, and the Prophete Esai the sonne of Amos d prayed against that blasphemie, & cryed vp to heauen.

d. Prayer is the best refuge in al troubles and dangers.

21 And the Lorde sent an angel, whiche destroyed all the men of warre, and the lordes and captaynes of the host of the king of the Assyrians, that he turned his face againe with shame toward his owne land: and when he was come into the house of his God, they that came of his owne body slue hym there with the swoord.

22 And so the Lorde saued Ezecia and the inhabiters of Hierusalem out of the hand of Sennacherib the king of the Assyrians, and from the hand of al other, and mayntey ned them on euery syde.

23 And many brought offeringes vnto the Lorde to Hierusalem, and presentes to Ezecia kyng of Juda: so that he was magnifyed in the syght of all nations from thence forth.

24 In those dayes || Ezecia was sicke to the death, and prayed vnto the lord: which answeared him, and shewed hym a woonderfull myracle. ||4. king. 20. Esai. 38.

25 But Ezecia dyd not againe vnto God according to it that he had shewed hym: for his hart arose, and there came wrath vpon hym, and vpon Juda and Hierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding, Ezecia submitted him selfe, after that his hart was rysen vp, he, and the inhabiters of Hierusalem: and the wrath of the Lorde came not vppon them in the dayes of Ezecia.

27 And Ezecia hadde exceedyng much richesse cheſſe and honour: and he gate him treaſures of ſyluer and golde, pꝛecious ſtones, and ſpices, ſhieldes, & of al maner pleaſant iewels, 28 And made ſtoꝛe houſes foꝛ the fruites of coꝛne, foꝛ wine and oyle, and ſtalles foꝛ all maner of beaſtes, and coates foꝛ ſheepe.

29 And he made him cities, and had of ſheepe and oxen great abundance: foꝛ GOD had geuen him ſubſtance exceeding much.

30 This ſame Ezecia ſtopped the vpper water ſpringes of e Gion, and bꝛought them downe to the Weſt ſide of the citie of Dauid: and Ezecia pꝛoſpered in al his woꝛkes.

31 And when || the pꝛinces of Babylon ſent vnto him ambaſſadours, to enquire of the woonder that was doone in the lande, GOD left him, f to tꝛye him, and that all that was in his hart might be knowen.

2 But did euyl in the ſyght of the Lord, like vnto the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord caſt out befoꝛe the chyldꝛen of Iſrael.

3 Foꝛ he went backe, and built the high places whiche Ezecia his father had bꝛoken downe: and he reared vp aulters foꝛ Baalim, and made groues, and woꝛſhypped al the hoſt of heauen, and ſerued them.

4 And he built aulters in the houſe of the Lord, wheras the Lord yet had ſayd, || In Hieruſalem ſhal my name be foꝛ euer.

|| 2. kin. 7. 10.

5 And he builded aulters foꝛ al the hoſt of heauen, in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lorde.

6 And he burnt his chyldꝛen in fyre in the valley of the ſonne of Hinnom: he was a ſoꝛcerer, he regarded the cryng of byꝛdes, vſed inchauntmentes, and mainteyned woꝛkers with ſpirites, and ſeers of foꝛtunes, and bꝛought muche euyl in the ſyght of the Lorde to anger him withal.

7 And he put the carued image, and an idol which he had made, in the houſe of God: || of whiche houſe God ſayde to Dauid and to Solomon his ſonne, In this houſe, and in Hieruſalem whiche I haue choſen afoꝛe al the tribes of Iſrael, wyl I put my name foꝛ euer.

|| 2. kin. 7. 10. 3. kyng. 8. 16.

8 Neyther wyl I make the foote of Iſrael to remoue any moꝛe out of the land whiche I haue oꝛdayned foꝛ your fathers, yf ſo be that they wyl be diligent, and doo al that I haue commaunded them in al the law and ſtatutes, and oꝛdinances by the hande of Moſes.

9 And ſo Manaſſes made Iuda and the inhabitours of Hieruſalem to eꝛre, and to doo woꝛſe then the heathen whom the Lord deſtroyed befoꝛe the chyldꝛen of Iſrael.

10 And the lord ſpake a vnto Manaſſes, and to his people: but they would not regard.

a. Meaning by his pꝛopheres.

11 Wheꝛefoꝛe the Lorde bꝛought vpon them the captaynes of the hoſt of the kyng of the Aſſyrians, which tooke Manaſſes, and bounde hym with fetters and chaynes, and caryed hym to Babylon.

12 And when he was in tribulation, he beſought the Lorde his God, and humbled hym ſelfe exceedyngly befoꝛe the God of his fathers, 13 And made interceſſion to hym: and God was b intreated of him, and heard his pꝛayer, and bꝛought hym agayne to Hieruſalem into his kyngdome: and then Manaſſes knewe that the Lorde was God.

b. Affliction geueth vnderſtandyng.

14 After this he buylt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Weſt ſide of Gion, in the valley as they come to the fyſhe gate, and rounde about Ophel, and bꝛought it vp of a very great heyght, and put captaynes of warre in all the ſtrong cities of Iuda.

15 And he tooke away ſtrange goddes, and images out of the houſe of God, and all the aulters that he had buylt in the mount of the houſe of God and Hieruſalem, and caſt them out of the citie.

16 And he pꝛepared the aulter of the Lord, and ſacrificed theron peace offeringes, and thanke offerynges, and charged Iuda to ſerue the Lorde God of Iſrael.

17 Neuertheleſſe, the people dyd offer ſtyll in the hygh places, howbeit vnto the Lorde their God only.

18 The reſt of the actes of Manaſſes, and his pꝛayer vnto his God, and the woꝛdes of the Seers that ſpake to hym in the name of the Lorde GOD of Iſrael, beholde they are written in the layinges of the kynges of Iſrael.

19 And his pꝛayer, and how that he was heard, and all his ſinnes, and his treſpaſſe, and the places where he made hygh places, and set vp groues and images before he was humbled, beholde, they are written among the sayinges of the Seers.

20 And Manasses slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his c owne house, and Amon his sonne raigned in his roome.

c. Because he had so horribly offended against the Lorde, they dyd not burye hym in the sepulchre of the kinges, but in the garden of the kinges house.

21 Amon was two and twentie yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and raigned two yeeres in Hierusalem.

22 But he dyd euyll in the syght of the Lorde, lyke as dyd Manasses his father: for Amon sacrifyced to all the carued images whiche Manasses his father had made, and serued them, 23 And submitted not him selfe before the Lorde, as Manasses his father had humbled hym selfe: but Amon trespassed greatlye.

24 And his owne seruantes conspired agaynst him, and slue him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the lande slue all them that had conspired against kyng Amon: and the same people of the lande made Iosias his sonne king in his roome.

1. Iosias destroyeth the idols, 8. and restoreth the temple. 14. The booke of the lawe is founde.

4. kin. 22. 1. IOsias || was eyght yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and he raigned in Hierusalem thirtie and one yeeres.

2 And he dyd that whiche was ryght in the syght of the Lorde, and walked in the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 In the eyght yeere of his raigne, when he was yet a childe, he began to seeke after the GOD of Dauid his father: and in the twelfth yeere he began to purge Iuda and Hierusalem, from the hygh places, groues, carued images, and images of mettal.

4 And they brake downe the aulters of Baalim euen in his a presence: and other images that were in greater honour then they, he caused to be destroyed: & the groues, carued images, and images of mettall, he brake, and made dust of them, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had offered vnto them.

a. He would see the reformation with his owne eyes.

5 And he burnt the bones of the prestes vpon the aulters of them, and cleansed Iuda and Hierusalem:

6 And so did he in the cities of Manasse, Ephraim, Simeon, vnto Nephthali, and in the wyldernesse of them rounde about.

b. The godly zeale of this good prince, is a worthy example for al princes to folowe.

7 He plucked asunder the b aulters and the groues, and dyd beate the images, and stampe them to powder, and cut downe all the idols throughout all the lande of Israel, and returned to Hierusalem agayne.

8 In the eyghtienth yeere of his raigne, when he had pourged the lande and the temple, he sent Saphan the sonne of Azalia, and Maasiah the gouernour of the citie, and Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder, to repayre the house of the Lorde his God.

9 And when they came to Helciah the high priest, they deliuered the money, that was brought into the house of God, whiche the Leuites that kept the entryes had gathered of the hande of Manasse and Ephraim, and of al that yet remained in Israel, and of al Iuda and Beniamin, and they returned to Hierusalem.

10 And they put it in the handes of the workmen that had the ouersight of the house of the Lorde, and they gaue it to the labourers, that wrought in the house of the Lorde, to repayre and mende the house.

11 Euen to masons and carpenters, gaue they it, to geat hewed stone, and timber, for couples, and for beames of the houses, whiche the kynges of Iuda had destroyed.

12 And the men dyd the worke c vpon trust: and the ouerseers of them to courage them forwarde, were Jahath and Obadia, Leuites, of the chyldren of Merari: and Zecharia and Meſullam of the chyldren of the Caathites, and other of the Leuites, whiche all coulde skyll of instrumentes of musicke. c. Faythfull officers.

13 And ouer the bearers of burdens, & ouer all that wrought in what so euer workemanship it were, were there scribes, officers, and porters of the Leuites.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lorde, Helcia the priest founde the booke of the lawe of the Lorde geuen by Moses.

15 And Helcia aunswered and sayd to Saphan the scribe, I haue founde the booke of the lawe in the house of the Lorde. And Helcia gaue the booke to Saphan.

16 And Saphan d carped the booke to the kyng, and brought the king word againe, saying, All that was committed to thy seruantes, that do they.

d. For the kyng was commaunded to haue continually a copie of this booke, and to reade therin day and nyght. Deut. 17.

17 And they haue geathered togeather the money that was found in the house of the Lorde, and haue deliuered it into the handes of the ouerseers of the worke, and to the handes of the workemen.

18 And then Saphan the scribe shewed the king, saying, Helcia the priest hath geuen me a booke: and Saphan read in it before the kyng.

19 And when the kyng had heard the wordes wordes of the lawe, he e tare his clothes.

e For sorowe that the worde of God had ben so long suppressed.

20 And the kyng commaunded Helcia, and Ahican the sonne of Saphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Saphan the scribe, and Asaa, a seruant of the kyngs, saying, 21 Goe and enquyre of the Lorde for me, and for them that are left in Israel and Juda, concerning the wordes of the booke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the worde of the Lord, to doo after al that is written in this booke.

22 And Elcia, and they that the kyng had appoynted, went to Hulda a prophetisse, the wyfe of Sallum the sonne of Thecuath, the sonne of Hasra, keeper of the wardrobe (for she dwelt in Hierusalem within the seconde wall) and so they communed with her.

23 She answeared them, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Tel ye the man that sent you to me,

24 Euen thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I wyl bryng euyl vpon this place, and vpon the inhabiters therof, euen al the curses that are written in the booke whiche they haue read before the kyng of Juda:

25 Because they haue forsaken me, and haue offered vnto other goddes, to anger me with all maner woorkes of their handes: therefore is my wrath set on fyre against this place, and shal not be quenched.

26 And as for the kyng of Juda, which sent you to enquyre of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto hym, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, concernyng the wordes which thou hast hearde, f The ende of Gods threatnynges, is for our repentance

27 Because thine hart did f melt, and thou diddest humble thee selfe before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place, and against the inhabiters therof, and humbledst thee selfe before me, and taredst thy clothes, and diddest weepe before me, I haue hearde it also, sayth the Lorde.

28 Beholde, I wyl take thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thyne eyes shal not see all the mischeefe that I wyl bryng vpon this place, and vpon the inhabiters of the same. || And they brought the kyng woorde agayne.

29 Then the kyng sent, and gathered togeather all the elders of Juda and Hierusalem:

30 And the kyng went vp into the house of the Lorde, and al the men of Juda, and the inhabiters of Hierusalem, & the priestes and Leuites, and all the people great and smal, and the kyng did reade in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lorde.

31 And the kyng stoode at his standing, and made a couenant before the Lorde, to folowe the Lorde, and to keepe his commaundementes, his witnesses, & his statutes, with al his hart, and with al his soule, and to fulfyll the wordes of the couenant written in the sayde booke.

32 And he set in their roome all them that were founde in Hierusalem and Beniamin: and the inhabiters of Hierusalem dyd accoyding to the couenant of the Lorde God of their fathers.

33 And Josias put away all manner of abominations out of all landes that pertayned to the chyldren of Israel, and g constrayned al that were founde in Israel, to serue the Lorde their God: and they turned not aside from the Lorde God of their fathers, as long as he lyued.

g. Because he had charge ouer al, and must answeare for euery one that perished, he thought it his duetie to see that all shoulde make profession to receyue the worde of God

¶ The.xxxv. Chapter.

1. Iosias keepeth the Passouer. 2. He setteth foorth Gods seruice. 20. He fighteth agaynst the kyng of Egypt, and dyeth. 24. The people bewayle hym.

AND || Iosias helde the feast of Passeouer vnto the Lorde in Hierusalem, and they a slue the Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

a. The scripture vseth in sundry places to call the lambethe passeouer, whiche was but the signe of the passeouer, because in al sacramentes the signes haue the names of the thynges which are signified.

2 And he set the priestes in their offices, and ayded them in the seruice of the house of the Lorde,

3 And sayde vnto the Leuites that taught all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lorde, Put the holy arke in the house which Solomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel dyd buyld, it shalbe no more a burden vppon your shoulders: but nowe serue the Lorde your God, and his people Israel.

4 And prepare your selues by your auncient housholdes and companies, accoyding to the wryting of Dauid kyng of Israel, and the wryting of Solomon his sonne:

5 And stand in the holy place, accoyding to the diuision of the auncient housholdes of your brethren the chyldren of the people, and after the diuision of the auncient housholdes of the Leuites:

6 Kyl the Passouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren, that they may doo accoyding to the worde of the Lorde by the hande of Moses.

7 And Josias gaue to the people, sheepe, lambes, and kyddes, al for the Passeouer, and for al that were present, thirtie thousande by tale, and three thousand oxen: and these were of the kynges substance.

8 And his lordes gaue wyllyngly both vnto vnto the people, and to the priestes, and vnto the Leuites, Elcia also, Zacharia, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the priestes for the Passouer offeringes, two thousande and sixe hundred sheepe, and three hundred oxen.

a. Liberall prouision for the ministerie.

9 a Cononia, Semeia, and Nathanael, his brethren, and Hasabiah, and Iehiel, and Iosabad, rulers of the Leuites, gaue vnto the Leuites Passouer offeringes, fiue thousande sheepe, and fiue hundred oxen.

10 And so the seruice was prepared, and the priestes stoode in theyr places, and the Leuites in their distinct companies, at the kynges commaundement:

11 And they slue the Passouer, and the priestes sprinckled the blood with their hand, and the Leuites pulled of the skinnes of the beastes.

12 And they set away the whole burnt offeringes, to geue them vnto the people that were diuided by auncient houses: and that they shoulde offer vnto the Lorde, lyke as it is written in the booke of Moses: and so did they with the oxen also.

13 And they dressed the Passouer with fyre, as the manner was: and the other dedicate beastes sodde they in pottes, caldrons, and pannes, and diuided them speedily among al the people.

14 And afterwarde they made redy for them selues, and for the priestes: for the priestes the chyldren of Aaron were busied in offeryng of whole burnt offerynges, and the fat vntyl nyght: therefore the Leuites prepared for them selues, and for the priestes the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the chyldren of Asaph stoode in theyr standyng, accordyng to the commaundement of Dauid, and Asaph, Heman, and Idithun, the kinges b Seer: and the porters wayted at euery gate, and might not depart from their seruice: for their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

b. Meaning the prophete.

16 And so al the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to offer the Passouer, and to offer whole burnt offeringes vppon the aulter of the Lorde, accordyng to the commaundement of kyng Iosias.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passouer the same tyme, and the feast of sweete bread, seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passouer lyke to that kept in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the prophete, neyther did al the kynges of Israel holde suche a Passouer as did Iosias, and the priestes, and Leuites, and al Iuda and Israel that were present, and the inhabiters of Hierusalem.

19 This Passouer was holden, in the eyghteenth yeere of the raigne of Iosias.

20 After al this, || when Iosias had prepared the temple, Necho kyng of Egypt came vp to fight agaynst Charcamis, beside Euphrates: & Iosias went out agaynst him. ||4. kin. 23. 29

21 Which sent messengers to him, and sayde, What haue I to doo with thee, thou kyng of Iuda? "Be not thou agaynst thee selfe this day, for my warre is agaynst another house, & God bade me make haste: leaue of therefore, and meddle not with God which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

" Or, I come not against thee this day, but against the house of myne enimie.

22 Neuertheless, Iosias woulde not turne his face from him, " but rather tooke aduise to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the woordes of Necho, || out of the mouth of God, and came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

" Or, changed his apparel to fight with him || Zach. 12. 11

23 And the shooters shot dartes at king Iosias: and the kyng sayde to his seruantes, Carry me away, for I am soze wounded.

24 His seruantes therefore had him out of that charet, and put him in another charet that they had: and when they had brought him to Hierusalem, he dyed, and was buryed in the sepulchre of his fathers: and al Iuda and Hierusalem mourned for Iosias.

25 And Ieremias lamented Iosias, and al singing men, and singing women mourned for Iosias in theyr lamentations, to this day, and made the same lamentations an ordinance in Israel, and beholde, they are written in the lamentations.

26 The rest of the actes of Iosias, and his goodnesse, as it is written in the lawe of the Lorde, 27 And his sayinges fyrst and last, beholde they are written in the bookes of the kynges of Israel and Iuda.

1. After Iosias, raigneth Ioahaz. 4. After Ioahaz, Ioiacim. 8. After him, Ioiacin. 11. After him, Zedecia, 14. 17. in whose time al the people were caried away to Babylon, for contemnyng the admonitions of the prophetes.

AND || the people of the lande tooke Ioahaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him kyng in his fathers steede in Hierusalem. ||4. kin. 23. 30

2 And Ioahaz was twentie and three yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and he raigned three monethes in Hierusalem.

3 And the kyng of Egypt put him downe at Hierusalem, and condemned the lande in an hundred talentes of siluer, and a talent of golde.

4 And

4 And || the king of Egypt made Eliacim his brother kyng vpon Juda and Hierusalem, and turned his name to Joiacim: and Necho tooke Joahaz his brother, and caryed hym to Egypt.

5 Joiacim was twentie and fyue yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and he raigned eleuen yeeres in Hierusalem, and he dyd euyl in the syght of the Lorde his God.

6 Agaynst hym came vp Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, and bound him with two chaynes, to carye hym to Babylon.

7 Nabuchodonosor also caryed of the vessels of the house of the Lorde to Babylon, and put them in his temple at Babylon.

8 The rest of the actes of Joiacim, and his abominations which he dyd, a and that whiche was founde vpon hym, beholde, they are written in the booke of the kynges of Israel and Juda, & Joiacin his sonne raigned in his steade.

9 || And Joiacin was eyght yeers olde when he began to raigne, & he raigned three monethes and ten dayes in Hierusalem, and dyd euyll in the syght of the Lorde.

10 And when the yeere was out, kyng Nabuchodonosor sent, and fet hym to Babylon, with the goodly vesselles of the house of the Lorde, and made Zedecia his fathers brother kyng ouer Juda and Hierusalem.

11 Zedecia was twentie and one yeeres olde when he began to raigne, and raigned eleuen yeeres in Hierusalem.

12 || And he dyd euyl in the syght of the Lorde his God, and humbled not hym selfe before Jeremie the prophete at the mouth of the Lorde.

13 And he rebelled agaynst kyng Nabuchodonosor, whiche had receiued an oth of hym by God: but he was stifnecked, and to harde harted, to turne vnto the Lord God of Israel.

14 Moreouer, all the cheefe of the priestes, and the people, transgressed wonderfully, after al maner of abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lorde, whiche he had halowed in Hierusalem.

15 And the Lorde God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rysing vp betymes, and sendyng: for he had compassion on his people, and on his dwellyng place.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his woordes, and misused his prophetes, vntyll the wrath of the Lorde arose against his people, and tyl there was no remedie.

17 And so he brought vpon them the kyng of Chaldee, which slue their young men with the sword in their holy temple, and spared neyther young man, mayden, old man, nor hym that stowped for age: he gaue them all into his hande.

18 And all the vesselles of the house of God, both great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lorde, and the treasures of the kyng, and of his lordes: all these caryed he to Babylon.

19 And they burnt the house of GOD, and brake downe the wal of Hierusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fyre, and destroyed all the goodly iewels thereof.

20 And the rest that had escaped the sworde, caryed he to Babylon: where they were bondmen to him and his children, vntil the tyme that Persia had the Empire:

21 To fulfyl the woorde of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremie, vntyll the lande had her pleasure of her Sabbothes: for as long as she lay desolate, she kept Sabboth, vntyll threescore and ten yeeres were fulfylled.

22 And the b first yeere of || Cyrus king of Persia (when the woorde of the Lorde, spoken by the mouth of Jeremie, was fynished) the Lord stirred vp the spirite of Cyrus king of Persia, that he made a proclamation throughout all his kyngdome, and that by writyng, saying:

23 Thus sayth Cyrus kyng of Persia, All the kyngdomes of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen geuē me, and hath c charged me to buylde hym an house in Hierusalem, that is in Juda: Wherefore whosoeuer is among you of al his people, the Lord his God be with him, and let hym goe vp.

Xerxes the sonne of the sayde Darius succeeded him: but is not here placed in the number of ꝑ monarchies, for that he left his kyngdome to Darius longhande his sonne (according to the custome of the Persians) when he went to warre agaynst the Greekes. The Greeke historiographers not respecting that custome, number the sayde Xerxes, and Cambyles aboue mentioned, among the sayde monarchies successiuely in order, whiche is the cause that they count more yeeres in the sayde monarchie, that is to say. 226. yeeres.

As touchyng theyr confused names, ye shal vnderstande, that among the Persians, Darius signifieth, he that subdueth: Xerxes, a warriour: Artaxerxes, a great warriour. Also, that this name Assuerus, is drawen from the Hebrues, in steede of Artaxerxes. Further, that Artaxerxes was the common name of all kynges of Persia, as Pharao was the common name of the kynges of Egypt, & Caesar, of the Romish Emperours. Therfore where ye finde many indifferently named Darius, or, Artaxerxes, or both togeather, that is the cause of the difficultie, howe to vnderstand vnder what kyng that happened, whiche is resited in the sayde bookes of Esdras, Nehemias, Esther, Daniel, and other places of the holy scriptures, except ye well marke them, and wel vnderstande the contentes of this table.

N the a fyrste yeere of Cyrus kyng of Persia, (that the worde of the Lorde, ||spoken by the mouth of Jeremie, myght be fulfylled) the Lorde stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus kyng of Persia, that he caused to be proclaymed throughout al his empire, and to be written, saying,

2 Thus sayth Cyrus the kyng of Persia, The Lorde God of heauen hath geuen me b all the kyngdomes of the earth, and hath commaunded me to buylde hym an house at Hierusalem, which is in Juda.

b. For he was cheefe monarche of the worlde, and had many nations vnder his dominion.

3 Whosoeuer nowe among you is of his people, the Lorde his God be with hym, and let him goe vp to Hierusalem in Juda, and buylde the house of the Lord God of Israel, (he is the God) that is at Hierusalem.

4 And whosoeuer remayneth yet in any maner of place, where he is a stranger, let the men of that place helpe hym with siluer and golde, with good and cattel, beside that whiche they willyngly offer for the house of God that is at Hierusalem.

5 Then gate vp the principal fathers of Juda and Beniamin, and the priestes and Leuites, and al they whose spirit GOD had rayled to goe vp, and to buylde the house of the Lorde which is at Hierusalem.

c. The Babylonians and Chaldeans gaue them these gyftes. Thus rather then the children of God shoulde want for theyr necessities, he would sturre vp the hartes of very infidels to helpe them.

6 And c all they that were about them, strengthed their hande with vessels of siluer and golde, with goodes, and cattel, & iewels, besides al that was willyngly offered.

7 And kyng Cyrus brought foorth the vessels of the house of the Lorde, which Nabuchodonosor had taken out of Hierusalem, and had put in the house of his God.

8 Those did Cyrus the kyng of Persia bryng foorth by the hande of Mithridates the treasurer, & numbred them vnto d Sesbazer the prince of Juda.

d. So the Chaldeans called Zorobabel, who was the cheefe gouernour: so that ỳ preeminence styl remayned in the house of Dauid.

9 And this is the number of them: thirtie chargers of golde, a thousande chargers of siluer, twentie and niene knyues:

10 Thirtie basons of golde, and of other siluer basons, foure hundred and ten: and of other vessels a thousande.

12 And the GOD that set his name there, destroy al kynges and people that put to their hande to alter and to breake downe this house of God which is at Hierusalem. I Darius haue made a decree, that this be done with speede.

13 ||Then Thathanai the captayne of the countrey beyonde the water, and Stharbuzanai, with their counsaylours, according to that which kyng Darius had sent, so they did speedily. ||3.Esd.7. 1.

14 And the elders of the Iewes buylded, and they prospered through the propheciyng of Aggeus the prophete, and Zachari the sonne of Iddo, and they buylded, and they finished it according to the commaundement of the God of Israel, and after the commaundement of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes, kynges of Persia.

15 And this house was finished the third day of the moneth a Adar, euen in the b sixt yeere of the raigne of kyng Darius.

16 And the children of Israel, the priestes, the Leuites, and the other children of the captiuitie, helde the dedication of this house of God with ioy.

17 And offered at the dedication of this house of God an hundred calues, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes: and for the reconciling of all Israel twelue hee goates, according to the number of the tribes of Israel:

18 And set the priestes in their sundry courses, and the Leuites in their diuers offices, to minister vnto God at Hierusalem, || as it is written in the booke of Moses.

19 And the children of the captiuitie helde the Passouer vpon the fourteenth day of the first moneth:

20 For the priestes and Leuites were purified altogeather, and kylled the Passouer for al the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the priestes, and for themselues.

21 And the children of Israel whiche were come agayne out of captiuitie, and all suche as had separated them selues vnto them, from the filthinesse of the heathen of the lande, to seeke the Lorde God of Israel, did eate, 22 And helde the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes with ioy: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the hart of the kyng of Assur vnto them, to strengthen their handes in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Israel.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

1. By the commaundement of the king, Esdras and his companions come to Hierusalem.
27. He geueth thankes to God.

||3.Esd.8. 1.

AFter ||these thynges, there was in the raigne of a Artaxerxes kyng of Persia, one Esdras, the sonne of Saraia, the sonne of Azaria, the sonne of Elcia,

a. The Hebrues write that the kynges of Persia were called by this name, as Pharao was a common name to the kynges of Egypt, and Cæsar to the Emperours of Rome.

2 The sonne of Sallum, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Ahitob,

3 The sonne of Amaria, the sonne of Azaria, the sonne of Meraioth,

4 The sonne of Zeraia, the sonne of Ozi, the sonne of Bucci,

5 The sonne of Abisua, the sonne of Phinehes, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron the cheefe priest.

6 This Esdras also went vp from Babylon, and was a "perfect b scribe in the lawe of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel did geue: and the kyng gaue him al that he requyred, according to the hande of the Lorde his God which was vpon hym.

b. He sheweth here what a scribe is, who had charge to write the lawe, and expounde it, whom Marke calleth a scribe. Marke. 12. 28. Matthewe and Luke cal hym a lawyer or doctour of law.

7 And there went vp certayne of the children of Israel, of the priestes, Leuites, singers, porters, and of the Nethinims, vnto Hierusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Artaxerxes.

8 And he came to Hierusalem in the fifth moneth, euen in the seuenth yeere of the kyng.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth, began he to goe vp from Babylon: and on the first day of the fifth moneth came he to Hierusalem, according to the c good hand of his God that was vpon him.

c. Accordyng to the fauour and mercie of God.

10 For Esdras prepared his hart to seeke the lawe of the Lorde, and to doo it, and to teache the preceptes and iudgementes in Israel.

11 And this is the tenor of the letter that kyng Artaxerxes gaue vnto Esdras the priest, and scribe, which was a writer of the wordes and commaundementes of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 Artaxerxes kyng of kinges, vnto Esdras the priest and scribe of the lawe of the God of heauen, peace and salutation.

13 I haue commaunded that al they of the people of Israel, and of the priestes and Leuites in my realme, which are mynded of their owne good wyll to goe vp to Hierusalem, goe with thee.

14 And therefore art thou sent of the kyng and of his seuen counsaylers, to visite Iuda and Hierusalem, according to the lawe of God, which is in thy hande:

15 And that thou shouldest take with thee siluer, and golde, whiche the kyng and his counsaylers offer of their owne good wyl vnto the God of Israel, whose habitation is at Hierusalem:

16 And al the siluer and golde that thou canst finde in al the "countrey of Babylon, with it that the people offer of their owne good wyl, and the priestes geue wyllyngly for the house of their God whiche is at Hierusalem:

17 That thou mayst buye diligently with the same money, oxen, rammes, and lambes, with their meate offeringes & drinke offeringes, and thou shalt offer them vppon the aulter of the house of your God which is at Hierusalem.

18 And looke what lyketh thee and thy brethren to doo with the remnant of the syluer and golde, that doo after the wyl of your God.

19 And the vessels that are geuen thee for the ministration in the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God at Hierusalem.

20 And what so euer thing more shalbe needeful for the house of thy God whiche is necessarie for to spend, thou shalt receyue the charges out of the kynges treasure house.

21 I kyng Artaxerxes haue commaunded al the treasures beyonde the water, that looke what so euer Esdras the priest & scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen requyreth of you, || that ye fulfyl the same speedyly, 22 Vntyl an hundred talentes of siluer, and tyl an hundred quarters of wheate, and tyl an hundred battes of wyne, and tyll an hundred battes of oyle, and salt without measure.

23 What so euer also is the commaundement of the God of heauen, let the same be done without any delay for the house of the God of heauen, that he be not wroth agaynst the realme, and agaynst the kyng and his children.

24 And we certifie you, that ye haue no authoritie to require taxing and custome, and yerely rentes, vpon any of the priestes, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, and ministers in the house of his God.

25 And thou Esdras, after the wisdome of thy God, that is in thine "hande, set iudges and arbitrers by my authoritie to iudge al the people that is beyonde the water, euen al suche as knowe the lawe of thy God: and them that knowe it not, those see that ye teache.

26 And who so euer wyl not fulfyll the lawe of thy God, and the kynges lawe, let him haue his iudgement without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to be rooted out, or to be condempned in goodes, or to be put in prison.

27 Blessed be the Lorde God of our fathers, which so had inspyred the kinges hart, to garnishe the house of the Lorde that is at Hierusalem:

28 And hath enclined mercie vnto me in the presence of the kyng and his counsaylers, and before all the kynges bygh estates: and I was comforted euen as the hande of the Lord my God was vpon me, and so gathered I the heades of Israel together, that they might goe vp with me.

THese are nowe the principal fathers of them, || and this is the "register of them that went vp with me from Babylon, what tyme as kyng Artaxerxes raigned. ||3. Esh. 8. 1. "or, pedigree. Reade. chap. 7

2 Of the chyldren of Phinehes, Gersom: of the chyldren of Ithamar, Daniel: of the chyldren of Dauid, Hattus:

3 Of the chyldren of Zechania, among the chyldren of Pharos, Zachari, and with hym were numbred an hundred and fiftie men.

4 Of the chyldren of the captayne of Moab, Elioenai the sonne of Zerahia, and with him two hundred men.

5 Of the children of Zechania, the sonne of Jahaziel, & with him three hundred men.

6 Of the chyldren of Adin, Abed the sonne of Jonathan, and with hym fiftie men.

7 Of the chyldren of Elam, Esaias the sonne of Athalia, and with hym seuentie men.

8 Of the chyldren of Sephatia, Zebadia the sonne of Michael, and with him foure score men.

9 Of the chyldren of Joab, Obadia the sonne of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eyghteene men.

10 Of the chyldren of Selomith, the sonne of Josaphia, and with him an hundred and three score men.

11 Of the children of Bebai, Zachari the sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eyght men.

12 Of the children of Asgad, Johanan the sonne of Hacatan, and with him an hundred and ten men.

13 Of the children of Adonicam that were the last, whose names are these: Eliphelet, Jehiel, and Samaiah, and with them threescore men.

14 Of the children of Biguai, Uthai, and Zabud, and with them seuentie men.

15 And I geathered them togeather by the water that runneth towarde Ahaua, and there abode we three dayes: and I looked among the people and the priestes, and founde there none of the children of Leui.

16 Then sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, Semeia, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zacharia, and to Mesullam, the rulers, and to Joiarib and Elnathan, which were men of vnderstanding.

17 And to those gaue I commaundement vnto Iddo the cheefest at Casphia, and I tolde them what they should say vnto Iddo and to his brethren the Nethinims at Casphia, that they shoulde cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

18 And through the good hand of our God vppon vs, they brought vs a very wyse man from among the children of Moholi the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel, and Sarabia with his sonnes and his brethren, euen eyghteene.

19 And Hasabia, and with him Esaias of the children of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes, twentie.

20 And of the Nethinims whom Dauid and the princes gaue to ministre vnto the Leuites, two hundred and twentie of Nethinims: whiche al were named by name.

21 And euen there at the water beside Ahaua I proclaymed a fast, that we myght humble our selues before our God, and seeke of him a ryght way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king souldiers and horsemen, to helpe vs agaynst the enimie in the way: for we had spoken vnto the king, saying, The hand of our God is vpon al them that seeke him in goodnesse, and his power and wrath is agaynst all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this, and he was intreated of vs.

24 And I tooke out twelue of the cheefe priestes, Sarabia, and Hasabia, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And wayed them the syluer and gold, and vessels that were appoynted for the house of our God, which the kyng and his counsayllers, and his lordes, and all Israel that were there at hand, had geuen togeather.

26 And I wayed vnto their hand sixe hundred and fyftie talentes of syluer, and in siluer vessels an hundred talentes, and in golde an hundred talentes:

27 Twentie balons of golde of a thousand a drams, and two costly vessels of good brasse, as cleare as golde.

a. A dram is the eyght part of an ounce.

28 And I sayde vnto them, Ye are consecrate vnto the Lorde, like as the vessels are holy also: and the golde and syluer are geuen of a good wyll vnto the Lorde GOD of your fathers.

29 Watche ye, and keepe them: for ye shall way them downe before the cheefe priestes, and Leuites, and auncient fathers of Israel at Hierusalem, in the treasuries of the house of the Lorde.

30 Then tooke the priestes and Leuites the waged syluer and golde, and vessels, to bring it to Hierusalem vnto the house of our God.

31 And we brake vp from the water of Ahaua on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to goe vnto Hierusalem: and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enimies, and of suche as layde wayte for vs by the way.

32 And we came to Hierusalem, and abode there three dayes.

33 But on the fourth day was the siluer and golde and vessels waged in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the sonne of Uria the priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Phinehes, and with them was Iosabad the sonne of Iosue, and Noadia the sonne of Bennoi, the Leuites.

34 Accordyng to the number & weyght of euery one, was the wayght all written vp at the same time.

35 And the children of the captiuitie, whiche were come out of captiuitie, offered whole burnt offeringes vnto the God of Israel, twelue bullockes for al Israel, nienetie and sixe rammes, seuentie and seuen lambes, twelue hee goates for sinne offering all to the whole burnt offering of the Lorde.

36 And they deliuered the kynges commission vnto the kynges officers, and to the captaynes that were beyonde the water: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

¶ The ix. Chapter.

1. Esdras complayneth on the people that had turned them selues from GOD, and maryed with the Gentiles. 6. He prayeth vnto GOD.

WHen these thinges were doone, the rulers came to me, and saide, ‖The people of Israel, and the priestes and Leuites are not separated from the people of the landes, as touching their abominations: namely of the Chanaanites, Hethites, Pherezites, Iebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians, and Amorites.

‖3.Esd.9.6.

2 For they haue taken the daughters of the same to them selues & to their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the nations of the landes, and the hand of the princes and rulers hath been principall in this trespasse.

3 And when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt of the heare of my head and of my beard, and sate " mourning.

4 And there resorted vnto me all suche as feared the woordes of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of the people of the captiuitie: and I sate " mourning vntyl the euenyng sacrifyce.

"or, astonyed.

‖Exod.29.39 Num.28.3.

5 ‖ And about the euenyng sacrifyce I arose vp from my heauinesse, and rent my clothes and my rayment, and fell vppon my knees, and spread out my handes vnto the Lorde my God,

6 And saide, My God, I am ashamed, and dare not lyft vp myne eyes vnto thee my God: for our wickednesse are growen ouer our head, and our trespasse is waxed great vnto the a heauen.

a They so exceede, that they can growe no greater.

7 Since the time of our fathers haue we been in great trespasse vnto this day, and because of our wickednesse haue we and our kynges and our priestes been deliuered into the hand of the kinges of the nations, vnto the swoorde, into captiuitie, into a spoyle, and into confusion of face, as it is to see this day.

8 And nowe for a litle space grace hath been shewed from the Lorde our God, in causyng a remnant to escape, and in geuing vs b a nayle in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and geue vs a litle lyfe, to take breath in our bondage:

b. That is, a resting place: it is a similitude taken of them that remayne styl in a place.

9 For we were bondmen, and yet our God hath not forsaken vs in our bondage, but hath enclined mercie vnto vs in the syght of ‖the king of Persia, to geue vs lyfe to set vp the house of our God, and to redresse the desolation thereof, and to geue vs a wall in Iuda and Hierusalem.

‖Esai.22.23.

10 And nowe, O our God, what shal we say after this? for we haue forsaken thy commaundementes, 11 Whiche thou hast commaunded by thy seruantes the prophetes, saying, ‖ The land vnto which ye goe to possesse, it is an vncleane land, because of the fylthynesse of the people of the landes, which with their abominations haue made it ful of vncleannesse on euery syde.

‖Exod.23.32 Deut.7.3.

12 ‖ Therefore shall ye not geue your daughters vnto their sonnes, & their daughters shall ye not take vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their peace and wealth for euer: that ye may be strong, and " enioy the goodnesse of the land, and that ye and your children may haue the inheritance of it for euermore.

13 And after that all these thinges are come vppon vs, because of our euyll deedes and great trespasses (seeing that thou our God hast " staied vs from being c beneath for our iniquities) and hast geuen vs such deliuerance:

"or, pardoned our iniquities, c. That is, hast not vtterly cast vs downe, and destroyed vs for our sinnes.

14 Shoulde we returne to breake thy commaundementes, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of these abominations? wouldest not thou be angry towardes vs, tyl thou hadst consumed vs, so that there shoulde be no remnant, nor any escaping?

15 O Lorde GOD of Israel, thou art righteous, for we remayne yet escaped, as it is yet to see this day: Beholde also, in thy presence are we in our trespasses, and because of it may we not stand before thee.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

1. The people repent and turne, and put away their strange wyues.

AND when Esdras prayed after this maner, and a knowledged, wept, and lay before the house of God, there resorted vnto him out of Israel a very great congregation, of men, and women, and children: and the people wept very sore.

a. His sinnes & the sinnes of the people.

2 And Sechania the sonne of Iehiel, one of the chyldren of Elam, answeared, and sayde vnto Esdras, We haue trespassed agaynst our GOD, and haue taken strange wyues of the people of the lande: Yet nowe there is b hope in Israel concernyng this thyng.

b. Meaning that Israel may repent, and God receyue them to mercy.

3 For nowe we wyll make a couenant with our GOD, and put away all the wyues and such as are borne of them, accordyng to the counsell of the Lorde, and of those that feare the commaundementes of our GOD, that we may doo accordyng to the lawe.

4 Geat thee vp, for this matter belongeth vnto thee, we also wyll be with thee: be of good comfort therefore, and doo it.

5 Then arose Esdras, and tooke an othe of the cheefe priestes and Leuites, and of all Israel, that they should doo according to this woord: and they sware.

1.Esd.9.1.

6 ‖ And Eliezas rose vp from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanna the sonne of Eliasib: and when he came thither, he did eate no bread, nor drinke water: for he mourned, because of the transgression of the people that had been in captiuitie.

7 And they caused a proclamation to goe throughout Iuda and Hierusalem, vnto all them of the captiuite, that they should geather them selues togeather vnto Hierusalem:

8 And that who so euer came not within three dayes, according to the deuice of the rulers and elders, all his substance should be forfayted, and he should be put out from the congregation of them of the captiuitie.

9 Then all the men of Iuda and Beniamin, geathered them selues togeather vnto Hierusalem, within three dayes, euen the twentieth day of the nienth moneth, and all the people sate in the streete of the house of God, and trembled, because of this matter, and for the rayne.

10 And Esdras the priest stood vp, and sayd vnto them, Ye haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wyues, to make the trespasse of Israel yet more.

*Or, geue prayse.

11 * Confesse nowe therefore vnto the Lorde God of your fathers, and doo his pleasure: and separate your selues from the people of the lande, and from the strange wyues.

12 And all the congregation answeared, and saide with a loude voyce, It shalbe so, and we wyll doo as thou hast saide.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rayny weather, and the people are to faynt to tary without in the streete, neither is this a woorke of one day or two: for * we haue offended very sore in this thing.

*Or, we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand therefore in all the congregation, & let al them whiche haue taken strange wiues in our cities, come at the time appoynted, and let the elders of euery citie and theyr iudges be with them, tyll the fierce wrath of our God for this matter be turned from vs.

15 Then were appoynted Jonathan the sonne of Asahel, and Jahasia the sonne of Thecua ouer this matter: and Mesullam and Sabathai the Leuites helped them.

16 And the children of the captiuitie did euen so: and Esdras the priest, and the auncient heads through the house of their fathers, al men of great fame, separated them selues, and sate them downe in the first day of the tenth moneth, to examine the matter.

17 And vntil the first day of the first moneth, they were finishing the busynesse, with al the men that had taken strange wiues.

18 And among the children of the priestes, there were men founde that had taken strange wiues: namely among the children of Iosue the sonne of Josedec, and of his brethren, Maasiah, & Eliezer, Jarib, & Gedalia.

19 And they gaue theyr handes, that they woulde put away theyr wyues: and they that had trespassed, gaue a ramme for theyr trespasse.

20 And among the children of Immer: Hanani, and Zebadia.

21 Among the children of Harim: Maasia, Elia, Semeia, Iehiel, Ozias.

22 Among the children of Pashur: Elioenai, Maasia, Ismael, Nethanael, Iosabad, and Elasah.

23 Among the Leuites: Iosabad, Semei, and Selaia (whiche same is Celitah) Phathaiah, Juda, and Eliezer.

24 Among the syngers also, Eliasib: and among the Porters, Sellum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 And of c Israel: among the children of Pharaos, Remeia, Iesia, Melchia, Miamin, Eliezer, Melchia, and Banaiah.

c. Meaning of the common people: for before he spake of the priestes.

26 Among the children of Elam: Mathania, Zacharia, Iehiel, Abdi, Jerimoth, and Elia.

27 Among the children of Zatthu: Elioenai, Eliasib, Mathania, Jerimoth, Zabad, and Aziza.

28 Among the children of Bebai: Iehohanan, Hanania, Zabbai, and Athalai.

29 Among the children of Bani: Mesullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jasub, Saal, and Jeramoth.

30 Among the children of the captayne of Moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaia, Maasia, Mathania, Bezalel, Bennui, and Manasse.

31 Among the children of Harim: Eliezer, Isiah, Melchiia, Semeia, & Simeon, 32 Beniamin, Malluch, & Semariah.

33 Among the children of Hasum: Mattenai, Mathatha, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasse, and Semei.

34 Among the children of Bani: Maadai, Amram, and Uel, 35 Banea, Badaia, Cheliau,

36 Uaniah, Maremoth, Eliasib,

37 Mathaniah, Mathanai, Iasi,

38 Bani, Bennui, and Semei,

39 Selemia, Nathan, Adaiah,

40 Machnadebai, Sasai, Sarai,

41 Azarel, Selemia, and Semariah,

42 Sallum, Amaria, and Joseph.

43 Among the children of Nebo, Iehiel, Mathathia, Zabad, Zabina, Idau, Joel, and Banaia.

44 All these had taken strange wyues, and among the same there were some that had children.

1. Nehemias bewayleth the calamitie of Hierusalem. 5. He confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth to God for them.

THe woordes of Nehemias the sonne of Hachalia. In the moneth a Chesleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the castle at Susan,

a. Which conteyneth part of Nouember and part of December, and was theyr nienth moneth.

2 Came Hanani, one of my brethren, he and the men of Juda: and I asked them how the Iewes dyd that were deliuered & escaped from the captiuitie, and howe it went at Hierusalem.

3 And they saide vnto me, The remnant that are left of the captiuitie there in the lande, are in great affliction and rebuke: the wall of Hierusalem also is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fyre.

4 And when I heard these woordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certayne dayes, and fasted, and prayed before the God of heauen:

‖ Deut. 9. 4. 5 And sayde, ‖ O Lorde God of heauen, thou great and terrible God, thou that keepest couenant and mercye for them that loue thee, and obserue thy commaundementes:

6 Let thine eares hearken, I beseeche thee, and let thine eyes be open, that thou mayest heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I nowe pray before thee day and nyght, for the children of Israel thy seruantes, and knowledge the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned agaynst thee: both I and my fathers house haue sinned.

7 We haue greeuously sinned agaynst thee, and haue not kept thy commaundementes, statutes, and iudgementes, whiche thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseeche thee call to remembrance the worde that thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses, and saidest, Ye wil transgresse, and I wyl scatter you abrode among the nations.

9 But yf ye turne vnto me, and kepe my commaundementes, and do them: though ye were cast out vnto the vttermost part of heauen, yet wil I geather you from thence, and wyl bryng you vnto the place that I haue chosen to set my name there.

10 They are thy seruantes and thy people whom thou hast deliuered through thy great power, and in thy mightie hande.

11 O Lorde, I beseeche thee, let thine eare hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruantes, whose desyre is to feare thy name: and let thy seruant prosper this day, and graunt hym mercie in the syght of b this man. For I was the kynges Butler.

b. That is, of kyng Artaxerxes.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

1. After Nehemias had obtayned letters of Artaxerxes, 11. he came to Hierusalem, 17. and buylded the wualles.

IN the moneth a Nisan, in the twentieth yeere of kyng Artaxerxes, the wyne stoode before hym: and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the king: and I had not ben before heauy in his presence.

a. Which was the first moneth of the yeere, and conteyneth part of Marche & part of Apryl.

2 And the kyng sayd vnto me, Why lookest thou so sadly, seeyng thou art not sicke? It is nothyng els, but that thou art heauy harted. And I was sore afrayde,

3 And sayde vnto the kyng, God saue the kyng for euer: how should I not looke sadly, when the citie and place of my fathers buryals lye waste, and the gates therof are consumed with fyre?

4 And the kyng sayde vnto me, What is then thy requeste? I made my prayer also to the God of heauen,

5 And sayde vnto the kyng, Yf it please the king, & if thy seruant haue founde fauour in thy sight, sende me vnto Juda, vnto ꝑ citie of my fathers buryals, that I may buylde it.

6 And the king said vnto me (the queene sytting by him) How long shall thy iourney continue, and when wylt thou come agayne? And it pleased the kyng to sende me, and I set hym a tyme,

7 And sayde vnto the kyng, Yf it please the kyng, let hym geue me letters to the captaynes which are beyond the water, that they may conuey me ouer, tyll I come into Juda:

8 And letters vnto Asaph the Lorde of the kynges wood, that he may geue me tymber, to make beames for the gates of the palace whiche is harde by the house, and for the walles of the citie, & for the house that I shal enter into. And the kyng gaue me accordyng to the " hande of my God whiche was good vpon me. " or, fauour.

9 And when I came to the captaynes beyonde the water, I gaue them the kynges letters: and the kyng had sent captaynes of the armie, and horsemen with me.

10 Sanaballat also the Horonite, and Tobia a seruant the Ammonite, heard of it, and it greeued them sore that ther was come a man which sought the wealth of the chyldren of Israel.

11 And I came to Hierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I gate me vp in the nyght season, and a fewe men with me, neyther tolde I any man what GOD had geuen me in my hart to do at Hierusalem: and there was not one beast with me, saue it that I rode vpon.

13 And I departed in the night by the valley porte, before the dragon wel, and to the doung porte, & considered the walles of Hierusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the portes thereof consumed with fyre.

14 And I went ouer vnto the wel porte, and to the kynges "conduit, and there was no roome for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

"Or, the poole.

15 Then went I in the night by the brooke side, and considered the wall, and turned backe, and came home agayne by the valley porte.

16 And the rulers knewe not whyther I went, or what I dyd, neyther did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, to the priestes, to the noble men, to the rulers, and to the other that laboured in the woorke.

17 Afterwarde sayde I vnto them, Ye see the miserie that we are in, howe Hierusalem lyeth waste, and howe the gates thereof are burnt with fyre: come therefore and let vs build vp the wal of Hierusalem, and that we be no more a rebuke.

They were encouraged, I gaue them eares to doo and to trauaile in this thing enterprised.

18 Then I tolde them of the hande of my God, that it was gratious ouer me, and the kynges woordes that he had spoken vnto me: and they sayde, Let vs geat vp, and build. And they b strengthed their handes to good.

b, rebell. Thus the Iewes vsed when they wyl burthe the children of God, or lay treason to their kyng, both whose it maketh them most odious to the people, and also to deth the hartes of princes against them.

19 But when Sanaballat the Horonite, and Tobia the seruant an Ammonite, and Gelem the Arabian heard it, they laughed vs to scorne, and despised vs, and sayde, What is this that ye doo? Wyl ye "fal away from the kyng?

"Or, rebell.

20 Then answeared I them, and sayd, The God of heauen, he it is that hath graunted vs prosperitie, and we his seruantes wyll geat vp and builde: as for you ye haue no portion, nor ryght, nor remembrance in Hierusalem.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

7. The buyldyng of Hieruſalem is hyndered.
15. But God breaketh theyr enterpriſe.
17. The Ievves buylde vvith one hande, and holde theyr vweapon in the other.

7 But when Sanaballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, Ammonites, and Aſdodites, hearde that the walles of Hieruſalem were made vp, and that the breaches began to be ſtopped, they were very wroth, vnto our God, and set watchemen by them day and nyght, because of them.

10 And Juda sayde, The strength of the bearers is feeble, and there is yet much more matter, and we are not able to buylde on the wall.

11 And our aduersaries sayd, They shal not knowe, neyther see, tyll we come in the middes among them, & slay them, and cause the woorke to ceasse.

12 But when the Jewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they told vs b ten times, that in al places where we goe vnto, they are appointed to fall vpon vs.

b That is, often tymes.

13 Therfore set I the people after their kinredes, with their swoordes, speares, and bowes, beneath in the lowe places behynde the wall, vpon the toppes of the stones.

14 And I looked, and gate me vp, and sayde vnto the cheefe men, to the rulers, and to the other people, Be not ye afrayd of them: but thinke rather vpon the great Lord which ought to be feared, and fyght for your brethren, your sonnes, your daughters, your wyues, and your houses.

15 Neuertheleſſe, when our enimies heard that we had gotten woorde of it, God brought their counsayle to nought: and we turned al agayne to the wall, euery one vnto his labour.

16 And from that tyme forth, the halfe part of the young men dyd the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, shieldes, bowes, and breastplates, and the rulers stoode c behynde al the house of Juda.

c To ouersee them, and to encourage the in their worke.

17 They which buylded on the wal, and they that bare burdens, and those that laded them, with one hande dyd euery one his woorke, and with the other held his weapon.

18 For euery one that buylded, had his swoorde gyrded by his thigh, and so buylded they: And he that blewe the trumpet, was behynde me.

19 And I sayd vnto the principal men, to the rulers, and to the other people, The woorke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall one farre from another.

20 Looke in what place therefore ye heare the noyse of the trumpet, resort ye thyther vnto vs, and our God shal fyght for vs:

21 And we wyll be labouryng in the woorke. And the halfe part of them held their speares, from the morning spring, tyll the starres came forth.

22 And at the same tyme sayde I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Hierusalem, that in the nyght season we may watch, and labour on the day tyme.

23 As for me, and my brethren, my seruantes, and the men of the watche which followed me, we put neuer of our clothes, saue onely because of the washing.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

1. The people are oppressed, and in necessitie.
7. Nehemias forbiddeth vsurie.

AND there arose a great complaynt of the people and their wyues agaynst their brethren the Jewes.

2 For there were some that sayde, Our sonnes, and daughters, and we are very many: therfore wyl we take corne for them, that we may eate and lyue.

3 Some also there were that sayde, Let vs set our landes, vineyardes, and houses to pledge, and take vp corne in the dearth.

4 But some there were that sayde, We haue borowed money for the kynges tribute, and that vpon our landes and vineyardes.

5 And nowe our flesshe is as the a flesshe of our brethren, & our children as their children: and loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruantes, and some of our daughters are subdued vnto bondage alredy, and no strength is there in our handes to redeeme them, and other men haue our landes and vineyardes.

a That is, although we are of the kinred & stocke that our rulers be of: yet they not regarding our necessitie, doo take our children & landes to gage: & so bring vs in lyke bondage as our brethren which remayne styll in the captiuitie.

6 And when I heard their complaynt, and such woordes, it displeased me sore.

7 And I aduised so in my mynde, that I rebuked the counsaylers, and the rulers, and sayde vnto them, Euery one you taketh vsurie of his brother. And I brought a b great congregation agaynst them, b Or multitude of people, eyther because they shoulde be mooued with pitie, or els ashamed, seeyng how many were oppressed by them, and also myght heare the iudgement of others, whiche shoulde be as it were witnesses of their cruel dealyng towarde their brethren.

8 And sayde vnto them, We after our abilitie haue redeemed our brethren the Jewes, whiche were solde vnto the heathen: and wyl you sel your brethren agayne? and shall they be solde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and couldе fynde nothyng to answeare.

9 And I sayd, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, because of the c rebuke of the heathen that are our enimies?

c Who by this occasion wyll blaspheme the name of God, seeyng that our doings are no better then theirs.

10 I, and my brethren, & my seruantes, do lende them money and corne: I pray you let vs leaue of this vsurie.

11 Therfore, this same day, I pray you, see that ye restore them their landes agayne, their vineyardes, olyue gardens, and their houses, and remit the hundred part of the money, of the corne, wyne, and oyle, that ye haue exacted of them.

12 Then sayd they, We wil restore the agayne, and wyll require nothyng of them, and wil do as thou hast spoken. And I called the priestes, and tooke an othe of them, that they they shoulde doo accordyng to this promise.

13 And I shooke my lap, and sayd, God shake out euery man after the same maner from his house and labour, that maintayneth not this woorde, euen thus be he shaken out, and voyde. And all the congregation sayde, Amen, and praysed the Lord: And the people dyd accordyng to this promise.

14 And from the tyme forth that the king committed vnto me to be captayne of them that were in the lande of Iuda, euen from the twentieth yeere, vnto the thirtie and two yeere of king Artaxerxes, that is twelue yeeres, I with my brethren lyued not of suche sustenance as was geuen to a captayne.

15 For the old captaynes that were before me, had ben chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beside fourtie sicles of siluer, yea and their seruants had oppressed the people: but so dyd not I, and that because of the feare of God.

16 [a] But I laboured also in the woorke vpon the wal, and we bought no land: and al my seruantes came thyther togeather vnto the woorke.

17 Moreouer, there were at my table an hundred and fyftie of the Iewes and rulers, whiche came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared for me dayly an oxe and syx chosen sheepe, and byrdes were prepared for me: and euer once in tenne dayes wyne for all in abundance: Yet requires not I the [b] lyuyng of a captayne, for the bondage was greeuous vnto the people.

19 Thynke vpon me my God vnto the best, accordyng to all that I haue doone for this people.

[a] Or, but rather I fortified a portion in the vvoorke of this vval.

[b] Or, bread.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

1. Nehemias answereth vnto great vvysedome and zeale to his aduersaries. 11. He is not discouraged by the false prophetes.

AND when Sanaballat, Tobias, and Gesem the Arabian, and the other of our enimies heard, that I had buylded the wall, and that there were no moe [a] gappes therein: (howbeit, at the same time had I not hanged the doores vpon the gates,)

[a] Or, breaches.

2 Sanaballat and Gesem sent vnto me, saying, Come, that we may meete and take counsel togeather in the villages that are in the playne of the citie Ono. Neuertheless, they thought to do me euyll.

3 And I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great busines to doo, and I can not come downe: Why should the woorke ceasse, whyles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Howbeit, they sent vnto me foure tymes after the same maner: and I gaue them the same answeare.

5 Then sent Sanaballat his seruant agayne vnto me the fyfth tyme, with an open letter in his hande.

6 Wherein was written, It is tolde the heathen, & Gesem hath sayde it, that thou and the Iewes thynke to rebell: for the whiche cause thou buyldest the wal, that thou maiest be their king, accordyng to these [a] woordes:

[a] As the same goeth.

7 And hast ordeyned the prophetes to preache of thee at Hierusalem, and to say, He is king of Iuda. And nowe shall this come to the kynges eares: come nowe therefore, and let vs take our counsell togeather.

8 And I sent vnto hym, saying, There is no suche thing doone as thou sayest, for thou faignest them of thyne owne hart.

9 For they were all mynded to make vs afrayde, saying, They shall withdrawe their handes from their woorke, that it shall not be fynished: Nowe therefore, strengthen thou my hande.

10 And I came vnto the house of Semaia the sonne of Delaia, the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he had shut hym selfe within, and sayde, Let vs come togeather in the house of GOD, euen vnto the middes of the temple, and shut the doores of the temple, for they wyll come to slay thee, yea euen in the nyght wyll they come to put thee to death.

11 And I sayde, Should any such man as I flee? Who is, that beyng as I am, wyll goe into the temple to saue his lyfe? I wyll not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued that God had not sent hym, but that he pronounced this prophesie agaynst me: for Tobia and Sanaballat had hyred hym for money.

13 Therefore was he hired, that through feare I should so do, & sinne, that they myght haue an euyll report of me, to lay to my charge.

14 My God, thynke thou vpon Tobia, and Sanaballat, accordyng vnto these their woorkes, and on the prophetisse Noadia, and the other prophetes that would haue put me in feare.

15 And the wall was fynished in the twentie and fifth day of the moneth [b] Elul, in [c] fyftie and two dayes.

[b] Which was the fifth moneth, and conteyneth part of August, & part of September.

[c] After that I had sent Sanaballat his answeare.

16 And when al our enimies heard therof, al the heathen that were about vs, were afrayde, & their courage fayled them: for they perceiued that this woorke came of our God.

17 And at the same tyme were there many of the cheefe of Iuda, whose letters went vnto Tobia, and agayne from Tobia vnto them.

18 For there were many in Juda that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Sechania the sonne of Arah, and his sonne Johanan had the daughter of Mesullam the sonne of Barachia.

19 And they spake good of him before me, and tolde him my woordes: and Tobia sent letters to put me in feare.

b. Meanyng Nehemias, as Chap 8. verse 9. For Athirsatha in the Chalde tongue, signifieth a Butler, 66 ‖ And so the whole congregation togeather, was fourtie and two thousand, three hundred, and threescore, 70 And certaine of the auncient fathers gaue vnto the worke: Athirsatha gaue to the treasure a thousande "peeces of golde, fyftie "Or, drammes basons, fiue hundred and thirtie priestes garmentes.

71 And some of the cheefe fathers gaue to the treasure of the worke, twentie thousande peeces of golde, and two thousand and two hundred pounde of syluer.

72 And the other people gaue twentie thousande peeces of golde, and two thousande pounde of syluer, and threescore and seuen priestes garmentes.

73 And the priestes, and Leuites, the porters, and the singers, and the other of the people, and the Nethinims, and all Israel, dwelt in their cities: and when the seuenth moneth came, the children of Israel were in their cities.

The. viii. Chapter.

2. Esdras geathereth togeather the people, and readeth the lawe to them.

AND all the people geathered thē selues togeather as one man, in the streete that was before the water gate, ‖ and they sayde vnto Esdras the scribe, that he should fetch the booke of the lawe of Moses, which the Lorde commaunded to Israel. ‖ 1. Esd. 3. 1. 1. Esd. 7. 6.

2 And Esdras the priest brought the lawe before the congregation, both of men, and women, and all that coulde vnderstande, and hearken vnto it, vpon the first day of the seuenth moneth.

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before the water gate, from the morning vntyll vntyll the noone day, before men and women that dyd hearken to it: and the eares of al the people were inclined vnto the booke of the lawe.

4 And Esdras the scribe stoode vpon a pulpet of wood whiche they had made for the preachyng, and beside hym stoode Matthathia, Sema, and Anaiah, Uriah, Helcia, and Maaseiah, on his ryght hand: and on his left hande stoode Pedaia, Misael, and Melchia, and Hasum, Hasbadana, Zachari, and Mesullam.

5 And Esdras opened the booke before all the people (for he stoode aboue all the people:) and when he opened it, all the people stoode vp.

6 And Esdras praysed the Lorde the great God: and all the people aunswered, Amen, Amen, lyfting vp their handes, and bowed them selues, and worshypped the Lorde, fallyng downe vpon their faces to the grounde.

7 And Iosue, Bani, Serebia, Iamin, Accub, Sebethai, Hodaia, Maasia, Celita, Azariah, Iosabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, & the Leuites caused the people to geue heede vnto the lawe: and the people stoode in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the lawe of GOD distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstande the readyng.

9 And Nehemias, which is Athirsatha, and Esdras the priest and scribe, and the Leuites that caused the people to take heede, sayde vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lorde your God, be not ye sory, and a weepe not. For all the people wept when they hearde the woordes of the lawe.

10 And he sayde vnto them, Goe your way, and eate the fat, and drynke the sweete, and sende part vnto them also that haue not prepared for them selues, for this day is holy vnto our Lorde: be not ye sory therefore, for the ioy of the Lorde is your strength.

11 And the Leuites stylled all the people, and sayde, Holde your peace, for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 And all the people went their way to eate, and to drynke, and to sende part vnto other, and to make great myrth, because they had vnderstande the woordes that were declared vnto them.

13 And on the next day were geathered togeather the cheefe fathers among all the people, and the priestes, and Leuites, vnto Esdras the scribe, that they myght vnderstande the woordes of the lawe.

14 And they founde written in the lawe whiche the Lorde had commaunded by Moses, that the chyldren of Israel shoulde dwell in boothes in the feast of the seuenth moneth:

15 And that they shoulde cause it to be declared and proclaymed in all their cities, and throughout Hierusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and fetche Olive branches, Pine branches, Myrtel branches, Palme branches, and branches of the thicke tree, to make boothes, as it is written.

16 And so the people went forth, and set them, and made them boothes, euery one vpon the roofe of his house, and in their courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the water gate, and in the streete of the porte of Ephraim.

17 And al the congregatiō of them that were come agayne out of the captiuitie, made boothes, and sate vnder the boothes: for since the tyme of Iosua the sonne of Nun, vnto this day, had not the chyldren of Israel b doone so: and there was very great gladnes.

b. That is, were not so vniuersally geathered togeather as one man, as verse. 1.

16 And euery day from the fyrst day, vnto the last, read Esdras in the booke of the lawe of God: and seuen dayes held they the feast, and on the eyght day they geathered togeather, accordyng vnto the maner.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

1. The people repent, and forsake their strange wyues. 5. The Leuites exhort them to prayse God.

IN the ‖ twentie and fourth day of a this moneth, came the chyldren of Israel togeather agayne, with fastyng, and sackclothes, and earth vpon them. ‖3. Esd. 9. 4.

a. Meanyng the seuenth moneth, as Chap. 8. 2.

2 And they that were of the seede of Israel, were separated from al the strange chyldren, and stoode, and knowledged their sinnes, and the wickednesse of their fathers:

3 And stoode vp in their place, and read in the booke of the lawe of the Lorde their God foure tymes on the day, and they knowledged, and worshipped the Lorde their God foure tymes on the day.

4 Then stoode vp vpon the stayres of the Leuites, Iosue, Bani, Cadmiel, Sabaniah, Bunni, Serebiah, Bani, and Chanani, and cryed loude vnto the Lorde their God:

5 And the Leuites, Iosue, and Cadmiel, Bani, and Hasabnia, Serebiah, and Hodia, Sebania, and Phathahia, sayde, Stande vp, and prayse the Lorde your God for euer, and let thankes be geuen vnto the name of thy glorie, whiche excelleth all thankes geuyng and prayse.

6 Thou art Lord alone, thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their host, the earth, and all thynges that are therein, the sea, and all that is therein, and and thou preseruedst them all, and the host of heauen worshippeth thee.

9 And hast considered the miserie of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their complaynt by the red sea,

10 And shewed tokens and woonders vpon Pharao and al his seruantes, and on al the people of his land: for thou knewest that they were presumptuous and cruel agaynst them: and so madest thou thee a name, as it is this day.

‖Exo.14.22. 11 ‖ And the red sea diddest thou diuide in sunder before them, so that they went thorow the middest of the sea, [a] drye shod: and their persecuters threwest thou into the deepe, as a stone in the mightie waters:

‖Deut.1.8. 15 ‖ And gauest them bread from heauen, when they were hungry, and broughtest foorth water for them out of the rocke, when they were thirstie, and promisedst them that they shulde goe in, and take possession of the lande ouer whiche thou haddest lift vp thyne hande for to geue them.

16 But they, and our fathers, were proude and harnecked, so that they folowed not thy commaundementes:

17 And wolde not obey, neyther were mindfull of the woonders that thou diddest for them: but hardened their neckes, and had in their heades to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gratious, and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercy, yet forsookest them not.

20 And thou gauest them thy good spirite to enfourme them, and withheldest not thy Manna from their mouth, and gauest them water when they were thirstie.

21 Fourtie yeeres long dyddest thou feede them in the wyldernesse, so that they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their feete swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kyngdomes and nations, and diddest b scatter them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sehon, and the lande of the kyng of Hesbon, and the lande of Og kyng of Basan.

b. Meanyng the heathen. Num.21.

23 And their children multipliedst thou as the starres of heauen, and broughtest them into the lande whereof thou haddest spoken to their fathers, that they shoulde goe into it, and haue it in possession.

24 And the children went in, & possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabiters of the lande, euen the Chanaanites, and gauest them into their handes, with their kynges, and the people of the lande, that they myght doo with them what they woulde.

25 And they wan their strong cities, and a fat land, and tooke possession of houses that were full of all maner of goodes, [a] welles digged out, vineyardes, oliue gardens, and many fruitefull trees, and they dyd eate, and were fylled, and became fatte, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

26 Neuertheles, they were disobedient, and rebelled agaynst thee, and cast thy lawe behinde their backes, and slue thy prophetes, [a] which exhorted them earnestly, that they myght bring them agayne vnto thee, and dyd great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou gauest them ouer into the hand of their enimies that vexed them, and in the tyme of their trouble, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen: and through thy great mercy thou gauest them sauiours, which helped them out of the hande of their enimies.

28 But when they came to rest, they turned backe agayne, to do euyll before thee: therefore lefte[st] thou them in the hande of their enimies, so that they had the dominion ouer them: and when they conuerted, and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and many tymes hast thou deliuered them, according to thy great mercy,

29 And * teſtifyedſt vnto them, that thou mightest bring them agayne vnto thy lawe: notwithſtanding they were proud, and hearkened not vnto thy commaundementes, but ſinned * in thy lawes, whiche yf a man doo, he ſhal lyue in them: and c turned the ſhoulder away, and were ſtiffnecked, & woulde not heare.

30 Yet many yeeres dyddeſt thou forbeare them, and * teſtifyedſt vnto them thorowe thy ſpirite by the hand of thy prophets, and yet would they not heare: therefore gaueſt thou them into the hande of the nations of the landes.

31 And for thy great mercies ſake thou haſt not vtterly conſumed them, neither forſaken them: for thou art a gratious and merciful God.

32 Nowe therfore our God, thou great God, mightie and terrible, thou that keepeſt couenant and mercie, regard not a litle al the trauayle that hath come vnto vs, and our kinges, our princes, our prieſtes, our prophetes, and our fathers, and all the people ſince the time of the kinges of Aſſur, vnto this day.

33 And truely thou art iuſt in all that thou haſt brought vpon vs, for thou haſt done right: as for vs, we haue been vngodly.

34 And our kynges, and our princes, our prieſtes, and our fathers haue not doone thy lawe, nor regarded thy commaundementes, and thy * earneſt exhortations wherwith thou haſt * exhorted them.

35 And they haue not ſerued thee in their kyngdome, and in thy great goodneſſe that thou gaueſt them, and in the large and * plenteous lande which thou gaueſt before them, and haue not conuerted from their wicked woorkes.

36 Behold, we are in bondage this day, and ſo is the lande that thou gaueſt vnto our fathers to eate the fruites and goodneſſe thereof, behold there are we bondmen.

37 And great is the increaſe of it vnto the kinges, whom thou haſt ſet ouer vs becauſe of our ſinnes, and they haue dominion ouer our bodyes and cattell, euen as they wyl them ſelues: & we are in great trouble.

38 Nowe becauſe of all this, make we a ſure couenant, and write it, and our Princes, Leuites, and prieſtes ſeale vnto it.

25 Matthania, Bachucia, Obadia, Meſullam, Talmon, and Accub, were porters " in the watche, at the threſholdes of the gates.

" or, keepyng the vvarde.

26 Theſe were in the dayes of Ioiacim the ſonne of Ioſue the ſonne of Ioſedec, and in the dayes of Nehemias the captayne, and of the prieſt Eldras the ſcribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Hieruſalem, they ſought the Leuites out of al their places, that they myght be brought to Hieruſalem, to keepe the dedication and gladneſſe with thankeſgeuynges, and ſyngyng with cymbales, *pſalteries, and harpes.

28 And the children of the ſyngers gathered them ſelues togeather from euery ſide, out of the playne countrey about Hieruſalem, & from the villages of a Nethophathi, 29 From the houſe of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Aſmaueth: for the ſingers had builded them villages round about Hieruſalem.

30 And the prieſtes and Leuites were purifyed, and cleanſed the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And I brought the princes of Juda vpon the wall, and appoynted two great *quiers of men to geue thankes, whiche went on the right hande of the wall towarde the Dounig gate.

32 And after them went Hoſaia, and halfe of the princes of Juda, 33 And Azaria, Eſdras, and Meſullam,

34 Juda, Beniamin, Semeia, & Jeremi,

35 And certaine of the prieſtes children with trumpets: namely Zacharie the ſonne of Jonathan, the ſonne of Semeia, the ſonne of Matthania, the ſonne of Michaia, the ſonne of Zaccur, the ſonne of Aſaph.

36 And his brethren, Semeia, Aſarael, Melalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Juda, and Hanani, with the muſicall inſtrumentes of Dauid the man of God: and Eſdras the ſcribe went before them.

37 And beſyde the well gate, they went vp ouer againſt them vpon the ſteppes of the citie of Dauid at the going vp of the wall, beyond the houſe of Dauid vnto the water gate Eaſtward.

38 The other quier of them that gaue thankes, went ouer againſt them, and I after them, and the halfe part of the people, vpon the wal beyonde the furnace gate, vnto the brode wall, 39 And beyonde the port of Ephraim, and beyonde the olde gate, beyonde the fyſhe gate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Mea, euen vnto the Sheepe gate, and they ſtoode ſtyll in the *priſon gate.

40 And ſo ſtoode the two quiers of them that gaue thankes in the houſe of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me:

41 And the prieſtes, namely Eliacim, Maaſia, Miniamin, Michaia, Eliœnai, Zachari, and Hanania, with trumpettes:

42 And Maaſia, Semeia, Eleazar, Azzi, Iehohanan, Melchiah, Elam, and Ezer: and the ſyngers ſang loude, hauing Iesrahiah for their ouerſeer.

43 And the ſame day they offered great ſacrifices, and reioyced: for God had geuen them great gladneſſe, ſo that both the wiues and children were ioyful, and the myrth of Hieruſalem was heard farre of.

44 ||At the ſame time were the men appointed ouer the treaſure houſes, wherein were the heaue offerynges, the fyrſtlynges, and the tithes, that they ſhould geather them out of the feeldes about the cities, to diſtribute them vnto the prieſtes and Leuites according to the lawe: for Juda was glad of the prieſtes and Leuites that ſerued. ||2. Chron. 31.11.

45 And both the ſyngers and Porters kept the warde of their God, and the warde of the purification, || according to the commaundement of Dauid, and of Solomon his ſonne. ||2. Chron. 24.25.

46 For in the time of Dauid and Aſaph of olde were the cheefe ſingers ordeyned and the ſonges of prayſe and thankeſgeuing vnto God.

47 In the tyme of Zorobabel and Nehemias, dyd al Iſrael geue portions vnto the ſingers & porters euery day his portion: and they *gaue tythes vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites *gaue tythes agayne vnto the children of Aaron. *or, ſanctified. *or, ſanctified.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.

1. The lawe is read. 3. They ſeparate from them all ſtrangers. 30. An ordinance to ſerue God.

AND that day dyd they reade in the ||booke of Moſes in the audience of the people, and therein was founde written, that the Ammonites and Moabites ſhoulde neuer come into the congregation of God: ||Num.22.5. Deut.23.3.

2 ||Becauſe they met not the children of Iſrael with bread and water, but hyred Balaam againſt them, that he ſhoulde curſe them: and our God turned the curſe into a bleſſing. ||Num.22.5.

3 Nowe when they had heard the law, they ſeparated from Iſrael euery one that had *myxt hym ſelfe therein. *or, ſtrangers.

4 And before a this had the prieſt Eliaſib the ouerſight of the treaſurie of the houſe of our God, and he was kinſeman vnto Tobia, a. That is, before the children of Iſrael had ſeparated the ſtrangers from among them.

5 And had made hym a great chamber, and there had they afore tyme layed the offerynges, frankencenſe, veſſels, and the tythes of corne, wyne, and oyle, whiche was commaunded to be geuen to the Leuites, ſingers, and porters, and the heaue offerynges of the prieſtes.

6 But in al this tyme was not I at Hierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artaxerres kyng of Babylon came I vnto the king, and after certayne dayes obteyned I licence of the king to come to Hierusalem.

7 And I gate knowledge of the euyll that Eliasib did for Tobia, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God.

8 And it greeued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobia out of the chamber,

9 And commaunded them to cleanse the chambers, and thyther brought I agayne the vessels of the house of God, with the meate offering, and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not been geuen them, and that euery one was fled to his lande, euen the Leuites & singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I geathered them togeather, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought al Juda the tythes of corne and wine, and oyle, vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasure, Selemiah the Priest, and Zadoc the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Phadaia: and vnder their hande was Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Matthania: for they were counted faythfull, and their office was to distribute the portions vnto their brethren.

14 Thinke vpon me, O my God, herein, and wype not out b my " mercie that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the officers thereof.

15 And the same time sawe I in Juda some treading wine presses on the Sabboth, and bringing in sheaues, and whiche laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Hierusalem vppon the Sabboth day: and I rebuked them earnestly the same day that they solde the victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyre also therein, whiche brought fysshe and all maner of ware, and sold on the Sabboth vnto the children of Juda in Hierusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers in Juda, and saide vnto them: What euyll thing is this that ye doo, and breake the Sabboth day?

18 Dyd not your fathers euen thus, and our God brought al this plague vppon vs, and vppon this citie? and ye make the wrath more yet vppon Israel, in that ye breake the Sabboth?

19 And when the portes of Hierusalem began to be c darke in the euenyng before the Sabboth, I commaunded to shutte the gates, and charged that they shoulde not be opened tyl after the Sabboth: and some of my seruantes set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabboth day.

20 Then remained the chapmen and marchantes once or twyse ouer nyght without Hierusalem with al maner of wares.

21 Then reproued I them sore, and saide vnto them, Why tary ye al night about the wall? If ye doo it once agayne, I wyl lay handes vpon you: from that time forth came they no more on the Sabboth.

22 And I sayde vnto the Leuites, that they shoulde cleanse them selues, & that they shoulde come and keepe the gates, to halowe the Sabboth day: Thinke vpon me, O my God concerning this also, and spare me according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also sawe I Iewes that maryed wyues of Asdod, of Ammon, and of Moab, 24 And their children spake halfe in the speache of Asdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, but according to the language of the one people & of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and d cursed them, and smote certayne men of them, and " made them bare: and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not geue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, or for your selues.

26 ||Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these thinges? and yet among many heathen was there no kyng lyke hym, which was deare vnto his God, and GOD made him king ouer al Israel: || and yet neuertheless outlandishe women cauled him to sinne.

27 Shal we then obey vnto you, to doo all this great euyl, and to transgresse against our God, and marrie strange wyues?

28 And one of the children of Iehoiada the sonne of Eliasib the high priest, was the sonne in lawe of Sanaballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me.

29 O my God, thinke thou vppon them that defyle the priesthood, and the couenant of the priesthood and of the Leuites.

30 Thus cleansed I them from al such as were outlandishe, and appoynted the courses of the priestes and Leuites, euery one in his office:

31 And to offer the wood at times appoynted, and the fyrst fruites: Thynke thou vppon me, O my God, for the best.

The booke of Esther.

The fyrst Chapter.

1. King Ahasuerus maketh a royal feast. 10. Whereunto the Queene Vasthi vvyll not come. 19. For vvhiche cause she is put avvay. 20. The kinges decree touchyng the preeminence of man ouer his vvyfe.

NOw in the dayes of Ahasuerus, (this is Ahasuerus which raigned from India vnto Ethiopia ouer an hundred and twentie and seuen prouinces.)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerus sate on his seate a royall, whiche was in the palace of Susan:

a. That is, had rest and quietnesse.

3 In the thirde yeere of his raigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes & seruantes: and the mightie men of Persia and Media, the captaynes also and rulers of his countreys were before him.

4 And he shewed the richesse and glory of his kyngdome, and the glorious worshyp of his greatnesse many dayes long, an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the kyng made a feast vnto al the people that were in the palace of Susan, both vnto great and smal, seuen dayes long, in the court of the garden by the kynges palace,

6 Where there hanged white, greene, and *violet coloured clothes. *or, beds, or tables. *or, porphyre, marble, alabaster, and blewe colour.

*a pelowe clothes, fastened with cordes of fyne sylke and purple in siluer rynges, vppon pyllers of marble stones: the *benches also were of golde and syluer made vppon a pauement of *greene, white, pelowe, and blacke marble.

7 And they dranke in vessels of gold, and changed vessel after vessel, and royal wyne in abundance, according to the power of the kyng.

8 And the drinkyng was by an order, none myght compel: for so the kyng had appoynted to all the officers of his house, that they shoulde doo according to euery mans pleasure.

9 And the queene Vasthi made a feast also for the women in the palace of Ahasuerus.

10 And on the seuenth day when the king was merry after the wine, he commaunded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagthan, Zethar, and Charchas, the seuen chamberlaynes that dyd seruice in the presence of kyng Ahasuerus, 11 To fetche the queene Vasthi with the crowne regall into the kinges presence, that he myght shewe the people and princes her fayrenesse: for she was beautiful.

12 But the queene Vasthi woulde not come at the kinges woorde by his chamberlaynes: then was the kyng very wroth, and his indignation kindled in him.

13 And the kyng spake to the wyse men which b knewe the times (for so was the kinges maner towardes all that knewe the lawe and the iudgementes:

b. That is, which were learned men, & knew the lawes and actes of their eldern in tymes past.

14 And the next vnto him were, Carsena, Sethar, Admata, Tharsis, Mares, Marsena, and Memuchan, the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which c sawe the kinges face, and sate the fyrst in the kyngdome.)

c. Which went his cheefe counselers, and might haue alwayes accesse vnto hym.

15 What, shall we doo vnto the queene Vasthi according to the lawe, because she did not according to the woord of the king Ahasuerus, which he commaunded by his chamberlaynes?

16 And Memuchan answeared before the kyng and the princes, The queene Vasthi hath not onely done euil agaynst the king, but also agaynst al the princes, and agaynst al the people that are in all the prouinces of kyng Ahasuerus.

17 For this deede of the queene shall come abrode vnto all women, so that they shall despyse their husbandes before their eyes, and shall say, The kyng Ahasuerus commaunded Vasthi the queene to be brought in before him, but she woulde not come.

18 And so shal the princesses in Persia and Media say likewyse this day vnto al the kinges princes when they heare of this deede of the queene: thus shal there aryse to much displeasurefulnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the kyng, let there goe a commaundement from him, and let it be written according to the lawes of the Persians and Medians, and not to be transgressed, that Vasthi come no more before kyng Ahasuerus, and let the kyng geue her royall estate vnto another that is better then she.

20 And when this commaundement of the king whiche shalbe made, is published throughout all his empire, which is great, all women shall honour their husbandes in honour both among great and smal.

21 This saying pleased the kyng and the princes, and the kyng did according to the woorde of Memuchan.

22 For he sent letters foorth into al the kinges prouinces, into euery lande according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man shoulde be lorde in his owne house: and this to be published after the language of his people.

The.ii. Chapter.

1. After the queene is put away, certayne young maydens are brought to the king. 14. Esther pleaseth the kyng, and is made queene.

AFter these actes, when the displeasure of kyng Ahasuerus was nowe "alayed, he thought vpon Vasthi, and what she had done, and what was decreed agaynst her.

"or, appeased.

2 Then sayd the kynges seruantes that ministred vnto him, Let there be sayre young virgins sought for the kyng.

3 And let the kyng appoynt officers in all the prouinces of his empyre, that they shoulde bryng togeather all the fayre young virgins vnto the palace of Susan to the womans "buylding, vnder the hande of Hegai the kynges chamberlayne that kept the women, to geue them "theyr apparel.

"or, house.

"or, thynges for purification. Hester. 12.

4 And that the mayden whiche pleased the kyng, should be queene in Vasthis steede. And this pleased the kyng, and he did so.

5 In the palace of Susan there was a certayne Iewe, whose name was Mardocheus, the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis, a man of Iemini,

4. kin. 24. 15

6 ‖ Whiche was caryed away from Hierusalem with the captiuitie, when Ieconia the kyng of Iuda was led away, whom Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon carryed thence:

7 And he nourished Hadassa (that is Esther) his vncles daughter: for she had neyther father nor mother, and she was a fayre and beautiful mayden, whom Mardocheus (when her father and mother were dead) receyued for his owne daughter.

8 So when the kinges commaundement and commission was published, and many maydens were brought togeather into the palace of Susan vnder the hande of Hegai, Esther was brought also vnto the kynges house vnder the hande of Hegai the keeper of the women.

9 And the mayden pleased hym, and she found fauour in his sight: and he caused "or namentes to be geuen her speedily, and suche thynges as belonged to her, and appoynted her seuen comely maydens out of the kynges house, and fauoured both her and her gentlewomen singularly in the house of the women.

"or, and he gaue change to her, and to her maydens, of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Esther shewed not her people and her kinrede: for Mardocheus had charged her, that she shoulde not tel it.

11 And Mardocheus walked euery day before the court of the womens house, that he might knowe howe Esther did, and what shoulde become of her.

12 And when the appoynted time of euery mayden came, that she should goe in to the kyng Ahasuerus, after that she had ben twelue monethes according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purification accomplished, sixe monethes with oyle of myrrhe, & sixe monethes with sweete odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maydens vnto the kyng) what so euer she required, that must be geuen her, to goe with her out of the a womens "buylding vnto the kynges palace.

a. There were three houses appoynted for women: one for virgins, another for concubines, the thirde for queenes.

"or, house.

14 In the euenyng she went, and on the morowe she returned into the seconde house of the women, abydyng vnder the hande of Saasgaz the kynges chamberlayne, whiche kept the concubines: and she came in vnto the kyng no more, except it pleased the king to haue her, and that she were called by name.

15 Nowe when the course came of Esther, the daughter of Abihail, the vncle of Mardocheus (which had receyued her as his owne daughter) that she shoulde come in vnto the kyng, she desyred nothyng but what Hegai the kynges chamberlayne the keeper of the women sayde: and Esther founde fauour in the syght of all them that looked vpon her.

16 And Esther was taken vnto kyng Ahasuerus into his house royall, in the tenth moneth (which is the moneth b Tebeth) in the seuenth yeere of his raigne.

b. Whiche] conteyneth part of December, and part of Ianuarie.

17 And the kyng loued Esther aboue al the women, and she founde grace and fauour in his sight, more then all the virgins, so that he set the crowne of the kyngdome vpon her head, and made her queene in steede of Vasthi.

18 And the kyng made a great feast vnto al his princes and seruantes, which feast was because of Esther, and caused the prouinces to be in c quietnesse, and gaue gyftes as became the royaltie of a kyng.

c. He released their tribute.

19 And when the virgins were geathered togeather the seconde tyme, Mardocheus sate in the kynges gate.

20 And as yet had not Esther shewed her kinrede and her people, according as Mardocheus had bidden her: for Esther did after the woorde of Mardocheus, lyke as yf she had ben yet vnder his gouernance.

21 At the same time (whyle Mardocheus sate in the kynges gate) two of the kinges chamberlaynes, Bigthan & Theres, whiche kept the dooze, were wroth, and sought to lay their handes on the kyng Ahasuerus:

22 Whereof also Mardocheus gate knowledge, and tolde it vnto queene Esther, and Esther certified the kyng thereof in Mardocheus name.

23 And when inquisition was made, it was founde so, and they were both hanged on tree: and it was written in the Chronicles before the kyng.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

1. Haman after he was exalted, obteyned of the king, that all the Ievves shoulde be put to death, because Mardocheus had not done him worshipp as other had.

AFter these actes dyd kyng Ahasuerus promote Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite, and set him on hygh, and set his seate aboue al the princes that he had with hym.

2 And al the kinges seruantes that were in the kynges gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman, for the kyng had so commaunded concerning him: but Mardocheus a bowed not the knee, neyther dyd hym reuerence.

a. This fact of Mardocheus seemed to come by the singuler motion of Gods spirite, to the ende he might execute his iust iudgement against wicked Haman, and also bryng Mardocheus to honour for the preseruation of his people: for otherwyse to obey magistrates in al ciuil behauiour, is Gods commaundement. Nehe. 2.

3 Then the kynges seruantes whiche were in the kynges gate, sayde vnto Mardocheus, Why transgressest thou the kynges commaundement?

4 And though they spake this dayly vnto him, yet woulde he not heare them, therefore they tolde Haman, that they myght see howe Mardocheus matters woulde stande, for he had tolde them that he was a Iewe.

5 And when Haman sawe that Mardocheus bowed not the knee vnto hym, nor dyd reuerence vnto hym, he was ful of indignation.

6 And thought it to litle to lay handes onely on Mardocheus, for they had shewed him the nation of Mardocheus: wherefore he sought to destroy all the Iewes that were throughout the whole empyre of Ahasuerus, and that were of the nation of Mardocheus.

7 In the fyrst moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of kyng Ahasuerus, they cast Phur, that is a b lot, before Haman from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, to the twelth moneth, that is, the moneth Adar.

8 And Haman sayde vnto kyng Ahasuerus, There is a people scattered abrode, and dispersed among al people in all the prouinces of thine empyre, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and doo not after the kynges lawes, therefore it is not the kynges profite to suffer them.

9 If it please the kyng, let it be written, that they may be destroyed: and so wyll I "way downe ten thousande talentes of siluer, by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse, to bryng it into the kynges treasurie. "or, pay.

10 And the kyng tooke his ryng from his hand, & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite the Iewes enimie.

11 And the kyng sayd vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and doo with that people as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kinges "scribes called, on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written according as Haman commaunded vnto al the kynges officers, and to the captaynes that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people in the countreyes on euery side, according to the wryting thereof, and to euery nation after their language, in the name of kyng Ahasuerus was it written, and sealed with the kynges ryng. "or, secretaries.

13 And the letters were sent by postes into al the kynges prouinces, to roote out, to kyl, and to destroy al Iewes both young and olde, chyldren and women, in one day, vppon the thirteenth day of the twelth moneth, (whiche is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 ||This was the tenor of the wryting, that there shoulde be a commaundement geuen in al prouinces, and published vnto al people, that they shoulde be redy against the same day. ||Reade verse. 7.

15 And the postes went in al hast according to the kynges commaundement, and in the palace of Susan was the commaundement deuised: and the kyng and Haman sate and dranke, when in the meane time the c citie of Susan was disquieted. c. That is, the Iewes which were in Susa.

1. Mardocheus geueth the queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Ievves. 16. She vvilleth that they pray for her.

WHen Mardocheus perceyued al that was done, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with asshes, & went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed loude and lamentablie,

2 And came before the kynges gate, but he he myght not enter within the kinges gate, becaule he had ſackecloth on.

3 And in all prouinces, countreyes, and places, as farre as the kynges woorde and commaundement came, there was great lamentation among the Iewes, faſtyng, weepyng, and mournyng, and many lay in ſackclothes and in aſhes.

4 So Eſthers maydens, and her chamberlaynes, came, and tolde it her: then was the queene exceedyngly aſtonied, and ſhe ſent rayment that Mardocheus ſhoulde put on, and lay the ſackecloth from hym: but Mardocheus woulde not take them.

5 Then called Eſther Hathach, one of the kynges chamberlaynes, which ſtoode before her, and gaue him a commaundement vnto Mardocheus, to knowe what it was wherefore he dyd ſo.

6 So Hathach went forth to Mardocheus vnto the ſtreete of the citie, which was before the kynges gate:

7 And Mardocheus told him of all that had come vnto hym, and of * the ſumme of ſyluer that Haman had promiſed to way downe into the kynges treaſurie, becauſe of the Iewes, yf he woulde deſtroy them.

8 And he gaue him the copy of the kings commaundement that was deuiſed at Suſan to deſtroy them, that he myght ſhewe it vnto Eſther, and to ſpeake to her, & charge her that ſhe ſhoulde goe in vnto the king, and make her prayer and ſupplication vnto hym for her people.

9 And when Hathach came in, he tolde Eſther the woordes of Mardocheus.

10 And agayne Eſther ſpake vnto Hathach, & commaunded hym to ſay vnto Mardocheus, 11 Al the kinges ſeruantes, and the people in the prouinces of the kyng knowe, that whoſoeuer commeth within the court vnto the kyng, whether it be man or woman, whiche is not called, " the commaundement is, that the ſame ſhall dye, except the kyng holde out the golden ſcepter vnto hym, for then he ſhal lyue: but I haue not ben called to come in vnto the kyng nowe this thirtie dayes.

12 And when Mardocheus was certified of Eſthers woordes, 13 Mardocheus bade ſay agayne vnto Eſther, Thinke not with thee ſelfe that thou ſhalt eſcape in the kynges houſe more then al the Iewes.

14 For yf thou holdeſt thy peace at this tyme, then ſhall the Iewes haue " helpe and deliuerance out of an a other place, and thou and thy fathers houſe ſhalbe deſtroyed: And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kyngdome " for this cauſe ſake?

15 Eſther bade them gene Mardocheus this aunſweare,

16 Goe and geather all the Iewes that are founde at Suſan, & faſt ye for me, that ye eate not and drinke not in three dayes, neither day nor nyght, I and my maydens wyll faſt lykewyſe: and ſo wyl I goe in vnto the kyng, whiche thyng is yet contrarie to the commaundement, and b yf I peryſhe, I periſhe.

17 So Mardocheus went his way, and dyd accordyng to all that Eſther had commaunded hym.

b. I wyl put my lyfe in danger, and referre the ſucceſſe to God, ſeeing it is for his glory, and deliuerance of his people.

The .v. Chapter.

1. Eſther entreth in vnto the king, and byddeth hym and Haman to a feaſt. 11. Haman prepareth a gallows for Mardocheus.

AND on the thirde day, Eſther put on her royall apparell, and ſtoode in the court of the kinges palace within, ouer agaynſt the kynges houſe: and the kyng ſate vpon his royall ſeate in the kynges palace, ouer agaynſt the gate of the houſe.

2 And when the kyng ſawe Eſther the queene ſtandyng in the court, ſhe found grace in his ſyght: and the kyng helde out the golden ſcepter that was in his hande: So Eſther ſtept forth, and touched the toppe of the ſcepter.

3 Then ſayde the kyng vnto her, What wilt thou, queene Eſther? and what requeſt thou? aske euen the halfe of the empire, and it ſhalbe geuen thee.

4 And Eſther aunſweared, Yf it pleaſe the kyng, let the kyng and Haman come this day vnto the banquet that I haue prepared for hym.

5 And the kyng ſayde, Cauſe Haman to make haſte, that he may do as Eſther hath ſayde. So the kyng and Haman came to the banquet that Eſther had prepared.

6 And the kyng ſayd vnto Eſther at the banquet of wyne, What is thy petition, that it may be geuen thee? And what requeſt thou? Yf it be euen the halfe of the empire, it ſhalbe doone.

7 Then aunſweared Eſther, and ſayde, My petition and deſyre is,

8 Yf I haue founde grace in the ſyght of the kyng, and yf it pleaſe the kyng to geue me my petition, and to fulfil my requeſt, then let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I ſhall prepare for them, and ſo wyll I do to morowe as the kyng hath ſayde.

9 Then went Haman forth the ſame day ioyful and merry in his minde: but when Haman ſaw Mardocheus in the kings gate, that that he ſtoode not vp, nor moued for hym, he was ful of indignation at Mardocheus.

10 Neuertheleſſe, Haman refrayned hym ſelfe, and when he came home, he ſent & called for his freendes, and Zares his wyfe.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorye of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and al the thinges wherein the kyng had a promoted hym ſo greatly, and howe that he had ſet hym aboue the princes, and ſeruantes of the kyng.

12 Haman ſayde moreouer, Yea Eſther the queene dyd let no man come in with the kyng vnto the banquet that ſhe had prepared, except me: and to morow am I bydden vnto her alſo with the king.

13 But in al this am I not ſatiſfied, as long as I ſee Mardocheus the Iewe ſittyng at the kinges gate.

14 Then ſayde b Zares his wyfe, and al his freendes vnto hym, Let them make a gallous of fiftie cubites high, and to morowe ſpeake thou vnto the kyng that Mardocheus may be hanged thereon: then goe thou in merely with the king vnto the banquet. And Haman was well content withall, and cauſed the gallous to be made.

a. Thus the wicked when they are promoted, in ſtead of conſyderyng their charge, & humbling them ſelues, waxe ambitious, diſdayneful, and cruel.

b. The comfort and counſel whiche he receiued of his wife, & friends, through the prouidence of God, was turned to his deſtruction.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

1. The king turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mardocheus, 10. and commaundeth Haman to cauſe Mardocheus to be had in honour.

THE ſame nyght coulde not the kyng ſleepe, and he commaunded to bryng the "Chronicles and ſtories: and they were read before the kyng.

2 Then it was found written, how Mardocheus had tolde that Bigthana and Theres the kynges two chamberlaynes which kept the "doores, ſought to lay handes on kyng Ahaſuerus.

3 And the kyng ſayde, What honour and dignitie hath ben geuen to Mardocheus therefore? Then ſayde the kynges ſeruantes that miniſtred vnto hym, There is nothing at al doone for hym.

4 And the kyng ſayde, Who is in the court? (for Haman was come into the court without before the kinges houſe, that he might ſpeake vnto the king to hang Mardocheus on the tree that he had prepared for hym.)

5 And the kynges ſeruantes ſayde vnto hym, Beholde, Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the kyng ſayde, Let hym come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the kyng ſayde vnto hym, What ſhalbe doone vnto the man whom the kyng would fayne bryng vnto worſhyp? (Haman thought in his hart, Whom deſyreth the king to bryng vnto worſhyp more then me?)

7 And Haman ſunſweared the kyng, Let the man whom the kyng pleaſeth to bryng vnto worſhyp, be brought hyther,

8 That he may be araied with the royal garmentes whiche the kyng vſeth to weare, and the horſe that the kyng rydeth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be ſet vpon his head:

9 And let this rayment & horſe be deliuered vnder the hande of one of the kyngs moſt noble princes, that they may aray the man withall, whom the kyng is diſpoſed to bryng to honour, and cauſe hym to ryde vpon the horſe through the ſtreete of the citie, and proclayme before hym: Thus ſhal it be doone to the man whom the kyng pleaſeth to bryng to honour.

10 And the kyng ſayd to Haman, Make haſt, and take as thou haſt ſayde, the rayment and the horſe, and doo euen ſo vnto Mardocheus the Iewe, that ſitteth before the kyngs gate: and let nothyng fayle of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 Then tooke Haman the rayment, and the horſe, and araied Mardocheus, and brought hym on horſebacke through the ſtreete of the citie, & proclaymed before hym, Thus ſhall it be doone vnto the man whom the kyng is diſpoſed to honor.

12 And Mardocheus came agayne to the kyngs gate: but Haman gate him home in al the haſt mournyng, & his head couered:

13 And tolde Zares his wyfe, and al his freendes, euery thing that had befallen him. Then ſayd his wiſe men, and Zares his wife vnto hym, If it be Mardocheus of the ſeede of the Iewes, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou ſhalt not preuayle agaynſt hym, but ſhalt ſurely a fal before hym.

14 And whyle they were yet talkyng with hym, came the kynges chamberlaynes, and cauſed Haman to make haſt to come vnto the banquet that Eſther had prepared.

a. Thus God ſometyme puſheth in the mouth of the very wicked, to ſpeake that thyng which he hath decreed to come to paſſe.

3. The queene prayeth for her ſelfe, and her people. 6. She accuſeth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallous whiche he had prepared for Mardocheus.

AND the king and Haman came to banquet with queene Eſther.

requirest thou? yf it be euen to halfe of the empyre, it shalbe doone.

3 And Esther the queene answeared, and saide, If I haue found grace in thy sight, O king, & yf it please the kyng, then graunt me my lyfe at my desyre, and my people for my petitions sake.

4 For we are solde, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne, and to perishe: and would God that we were solde to be bondmen, and bondwomen, then would I hold my tongue: although the enimie coulde not recompence the kinges a losse.

a Meaning the tribute which the Iewes payde vnto the king.

5 The kyng Ahasuerus answeared, and saide vnto queene Esther, Who is he? and where is he that dare presume in his mind to doo after that maner?

6 And Esther said, The enimie and aduersarie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was exceedingly afrayde before the king and the queene.

7 And the king arose from the banket, and from the wine in his displeasure, & went into the palace garden: and Haman stood vp, and besought queene Esther for his lyfe: for he sawe that there was a mischeefe prepared for him of the king alredy.

8 And when the kyng came agayne out of the palace garden into the place where they dranke wine, Haman had layd him vpon the bed that Esther sate vpon. Then sayde the kyng, Will he force the queene also before me in the house: As soone as that woord went out of the kinges mouth, they b couered Hamans face.

This was the order of the Persians, when any was out of the kyngs fauour.

9 And Harbona, one of the chamberlaynes that stoode before the king, saide, Behold, there standeth yet a gallous in Hamans house, fyftie cubites high, whiche he had made for Mardocheus, that spake good for the kyng. Then the kyng sayd, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallous that he had made for Mardocheus: Then was the kynges wrath pacified.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

1. After the death of Haman, was Mardocheus exalted. 14. Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

THe same day dyd kyng Ahasuerus geue the house of Haman the Iewes enimie, vnto queene Esther, and Mardocheus came before the king: for Esther tolde what he was vnto her.

2 And the kyng tooke of his ring which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Esther spake yet more before the kyng, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that he had imagined against the Iewes.

4 And the king held out the golden scepter towarde Esther. Then rose Esther, and stoode before the king,

5 And sayde, If it please the kyng, and yf I haue founde grace in his sight, and yf it be acceptable before the kyng, and I please him, then let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha the Agagite may be called againe, which letters he wrote to destroy the Iewes which are in al the kynges prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euil that shal come vnto my people? or howe can I beare and looke vpon the destruction of my kynred?

7 And the kyng Ahasuerus sayde vnto queene Esther, & to Mardocheus the Iewe: Beholde, I haue geuen Esther the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpō a tree, because he layde hande vpon the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes as it lyketh you in the kynges name, and seale it with the kynges ryng: For the writynges that were written in the kynges name, and sealed with the kynges ryng, durst no man disanull.

9 Then were the kynges scribes called at the same tyme, euen in the thirde moneth (that is in the moneth a Siuan) on the three and twentieth day thereof, and it was written accordyng to all as Mardocheus commaunded vnto the Iewes, and to the princes, to the deputies and captaynes in the prouinces whiche are from India vnto Ethiopia, namely, an hundred, twentie, and seuen prouinces, vnto euery prouince accordyng to the writyng thereof, and vnto euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes accordyng vnto their writyng and language.

a Which conteyneth part of May, and part of Iune.

10 And he wrote in the kyng Ahasuerus name, and sealed it with the kinges ryng, and by postes that rode vpon horses, and swyfte young Mules, sent he the writynges,

11 Wherein the kyng graunted the Iewes, in what cities soeuer they were, to geather them selues togeather, & to b stand for their lyfe, and for to roote out, to slay, and to destroy all the power of the people and prouince that would trouble them, both chyldren and women, and to spoyle their goodes:

b That is, to defende them selues agaynst al that would assayle them.

12 Upon one day in al the prouinces of king Ahasuerus, namely, vpon the thirteenth day day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar.

13 The tenor of the writing was, howe there shoulde be a commaundement geuen in all and euery prouince, and published among al people, and that the Iewes should be redy against that day to auenge them selues on their enimies.

14 And so the postes that rode vpon the swyft Horses and Mules, made haste with al speede to execute the kinges woord: and the commaundement was deuised in the pallace of Susan.

15 And Mardocheus went out from the king in royal apparel, of [a] yelowe and whyte, and with a great crowne of golde, being arayed with a garment of [b] silke and purple: and the citie of Susan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes there was come lyght and gladnesse, ioy and worshyp.

17 In all prouinces and cities into what place soeuer the kinges woorde & commaundement reached, there vvas ioy & mirth, a feast and good dayes among the Iewes: insomuch that many of the people in the lande became Iewes, for the feare of the Iewes came vpon them.

¶ The ix. Chapter.

1. At the commaundement of the king, the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14. The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged.

IN the twelfth moneth (that is, the moneth Adar) vppon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kinges woorde and commaundement drewe neare to be put in execution, in the day that the enimies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them, it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them.

2 For then gathered the Iewes together in their cities within al the prouinces of kyng Ahasuerus, to lay hande on suche as woulde do them euyll, and no man coulde withstande them: for the feare of them was come ouer al people.

3 And al the rulers in the prouinces, & prynces, and deputies, & officers of the king, promoted the Iewes: for the feare of Mardocheus came vpon them.

4 For Mardocheus was great in the kings house, and the report of him was noysed in al the prouinces: for this man Mardocheus waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their enimies with the stroke of the swoorde, & slaughter, and destruction, & did what they woulde vnto their enimies.

6 And at the palace of Susan, the Iewes destroyed [a] fyue hundred men.

7 And slue Pharsandatha, Dalphon, Aspharha,

8 Phoratha, Adalia, Aridatha,

9 Pharmastha, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha, the enimie of the Iewes: but [a] on his goodes they layde no handes.

11 At the same tyme was the kyng certified of the number of those that were slayne in the palace of Susan.

12 And the king saide vnto queene Esther, The Iewes haue slayne and destroyed fiue hundred men in the palace of Susan, and the ten sonnes of Haman: What haue they done thynkest thou in other landes of the kyng? And what is thy petition, that it may be geuen thee? or what requirest thou more to be doone?

13 Esther answeared, If it please the kyng, let hym suffer the Iewes whiche are in Susan, to morowe also to do accordyng vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang Hamans ten sonnes vpon the tree.

14 And the kyng charged to doo so: and the decree was deuised at Susan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 For the Iewes that were in Susan, gathered them selues togeather vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slue three hundred men at Susan: but on their goodes they layde no handes.

16 As for the other Iewes that were in the kynges prouinces, they came togeather, & stoode for their liues, and had rest from their enimies, and slue of their enimies seuentie and fyue thousande, howbeit they layde no handes on their goodes.

17 This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and on the foureteenth day of the same moneth rested they, whiche day they helde with feasting and gladnesse.

18 But the Iewes that were at Susan, came togeather, both on the thirteenth day, and on the foureteenth: and on the fyfteenth day of the same they rested, and helde that day with feastyng and gladnesse.

19 And therefore the Iewes that dwelt in the villages, and vnwalled townes, helde the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with gladnesse and feastyng, and [b] kept holy day, and euery one sent presentes vnto his neyghbour.

20 And Mardocheus wrote these woords, and sent letters vnto al the Iewes that were in all the prouinces of kyng Ahasuerus, both nygh and farre:

21 That they should make a law amõg them them selues, and holde the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the moneth Adar yeerely, 22 As the dayes wherein the Iewes came to rest from their enemies, & as a moneth wherein their payne was turned to ioy, and their sorowe into a ioyful day: and that in those dayes they shoulde make feastes and gladnesse, and one to sende gyftes vnto an other, and to distribute vnto the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to doo as they had begun, and as Mardochens had written vnto them:

24 Because Haman the sonne of Hamadatha the Agagite, al the Iewes enimie, had deuised agaynst the Iewes, howe he might destroy them, & caused to cast Phur, (that is a lot) for to consume them, and to bring them to nought.

Esther. 3.7. 25 ‖ But when Esther came before the king, he cõmaunded by letters, that his wicked deuice, whiche he imagined agaynst the Iewes, shoulde be turned vppon his owne head, and that he and his sonnes shoulde be hanged on the tree.

26 For the which cause they called these dayes Phurim, because of the name of the lot, and because of all the woordes of this writyng, & what they them selues had seene, and what had come vnto them:

27 And the Iewes ordeyned, and tooke it vppon them and their seede, and vppon all such as ioyned them selues vnto them, that they woulde not misse, but obserue these two dayes yeerely, accordyng as they were written and appoynted in their season.

28 And that these dayes are to be remembred, and to be kept of chyldren chyldren among al kynredes in al landes and cities, in these dayes of Phurim, whiche are not to be ouerslypte among the Iewes, and the memorial of them ought not to perysshe from their seede.

29 And queene Esther the daughter of Abihail, and Mardocheus the Iewe, wrote with al auctoritie to confirme this seconde writyng of Phurim.

30 And he sent the letters vnto al the Iewes, to the hundred twentie and seuen prouinces of the empire of Ahaluerus, with woordes of peace and trueth:

31 To confirme these dayes of Phurim in their tyme appoynted, accordyng as Mardecheus the Iewe, and Esther the queene had appoynted them: and they bounde their * soule and their seede to fasting and prayer.

* or, selues

32 And the decree of Esther confirmed these woordes of Phurim, and was written in the booke.

33 And the king Ahaluerus layde tribute vpon the lande, and vpon the iles of the sea.

34 And al the actes of his power, and of his myght, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mardocheus, wherwith the kyng magnified him, be they not written in the bookes of the Chronicles of the kinges of Medes and Persia?

35 For Mardocheus the Iewe, was the seconde next vnto kyng Ahaluerus, and great among the Iewes, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, as one that seeketh the wealth of his people, and speaketh peaceably for al his seede.

8 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not consydered my seruant Iob, howe there is none lyke him in the earth? a perfect and a iust man, one that feareth God, and eschaweth euyl?

12 And the Lorde sayde vnto Satan, Loe, al that he hath be in thy " power, onely vpon hym selfe see that thou lay not thyne hande. And Satan went foorth from the g presence of the Lorde.

13 And vpon a certayne day when his sonnes and daughters were eating and drinkyng wyne in their eldest brothers house, 16 Whyle he was yet speakyng, there came another, and sayde, The fire of God is fallen from heauen, and hath burnt vp thy sheepe, and seruantes, and consumed them, and I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

17 And whyle he was yet speaking, there came another, and sayde, The Chaldees made out three bandes, and fell vppon the Cammelles, and haue carryed them away, yea, and slayne thy seruants with the swoorde, and I only am gotten away alone to tel thee.

3 And the Lorde sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not consydered my seruant Iob? howe there is none lyke vnto hym in the earth, a perfect and a iust man? one that feareth God, and eschaweth euyl, and continueth styl in his vprightnesse, although thou mouedst me agaynst hym, to destroy him a without cause.

5 But lay thine hande nowe vpon hym, and touche his bone and his flesshe, and he shal curse thee to thy face.

15 Or as the princes that haue had golde, and their houses full of syluer:

16 Or why was not I hyd, as a thyng borne out of tyme, either as young chyldren which neuer sawe the lyght?

17 There d must the wicked ceasse from their tyrannie, and there such as laboured valiantly, be at rest.

18 There the e prisoners rest togeather, they heare no more the voyce of ꝑ oppressour:

19 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his maister.

20 Wherfore is the lyght geuen to hym that is in miserie? and lyfe vnto them that haue heauy hartes?

21 Which long for death, and fynde it not, though they searche more for it, then for treasures:

22 Whiche reioyce exceedyngly, and be glad when they can fynde the graue,

23 From whom their endes are hyd, and conceyled by God?

24 For my syghes come before I eate, & my roringes are powred out lyke the water:

25 For the thyng that f I feared is come vpon me, and the thyng that I was afrayde of, is happened vnto me.

26 Was I not happy? Had I not quietnesse? Was I not in rest? and nowe commeth such miserie vpon me.

The.iiii. Chapter.

5. Eliphaz blameth Iob for impatiencie, 7. vniustice, and for the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

AND Eliphaz the Themanite aunswered, and sayde,

2 If we assay to commune with thee, wylt thou be discontent? a But who can withholde hym selfe from speakyng?

3 Behold, thou hast ben an instructer of many, & hast strengthened the b weery hands.

4 Thy woordes haue set vp him that was falling, thou hast refreshed the weake knees.

5 But nowe it is come vpon thee, and thou art greeued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is this thy feare, thy confidence, thy hope, and thy c vpryght lyuyng?

7 Consyder, I pray thee, who euer perished beyng an innocent? or when were the godly destroyed?

8 For as I haue proued by experience, they that plowe iniquitie, and sow wretchednesse, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perishe, with the breath of his nosethrilles are they consumed away.

10 The roaring of the Lion, & the voyce of the Lion, and the teeth of Lions whelpes are pulled out.

11 The d Lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelpes are scattered abroade.

12 But

d. That is, death is the ende and helpe from the tirannie and wickednesse of them.

e. Here Iob declareth the sore plagues he bare, countyng hym selfe in worse state the the vilest persons, & bounde prisoners: of which cares, after opinion of the flesshe he accompteth death the onely ende.

f. That is, aduersitie, whiche beyng in prosperitie, he feared.

a. Because of thy sore affliction, and thy impacience.

b Meanyng, thou hast holpe and comforted many in miserie, and canst thou not rule thee selfe now?

c. By this he gaetherth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had not perfect feare nor trust in God.

d. That is, God wyl punish tyrantes which are compared to Lions, although men neglectyng their office, do winke at them.

12 But where as a thyng was e hid frō me, yet mine eare hath receiued a litle therof.

13 In the thoughtes and visions of the night, when sleepe commeth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dreade, whiche made all my lones to shake.

15 The wind passed by before my presence, and made the heares of my flesshe to stande vp.

16 It stoode, and I knewe not the face therof, an image there was before mine eyes, and in the stylnesse heard I voyce.

17 Shall man be more iuste then God? or shall a man be purer then his maker?

18 Beholde, he founde not trueth in his seruantes, || & in his angels there was folly:

19 How much more in them that dwel in f houses of clay, and whose fundation is but dust, whiche shalbe consumed, as it were with a moth?

20 They shalbe smitten from the morning vnto the euening: yea they shal perishe for euer, when no man regardeth them.

21 Is not their royaltie gone away with them? they shal dye truely, & not in wysdome.

1. 2. Eliphaz shevveth the difference betweene the chyldren of God, and the vvicked.

CRye, I pray thee, yf there be any that wyll aunsweare thee, and a looke thou vpon any of the holy.

2 As for the foolishe man, wrathfulnesse kylleth hym, and enuy slayeth the ignorant.

3 I haue seene me selfe when the foolish was deepe rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation.

4 His chyldren were without prosperitie, and they were slaine in the gate, and there was no man to deliuer them.

5 His harueste was eaten of the hungry, and taken from among the thornes, and the thirstie dronke vp their labour.

6 It is not the earth that bryngeth forth iniquitie, neyther commeth sorowe out of the grounde:

7 But man is borne vnto labour, lyke as the sparkes flee vp.

8 But b I woulde aske counsell at the Lorde, and talke with God:

9 Whiche doeth great thinges, and vnsearchable, and marueples without number.

10 He geueth rayne vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes, 11 To set vp them that be of lowe degree, and that those whiche are in heauynesse may be exalted to saluation.

12 He destroyeth the deuises of the subtyll, so that their handes are not able to performe that whiche they do enterprise.

15 But he deliuereth the poore from the swoorde, from their threatnynges, and from the violence of the myghtie.

16 He is the hope of the poore, and the mouth of the wicked shalbe stopped.

17 Beholde, || blessed is the man whom God correcteth, therefore refuse not thou the chastening of the almyghtie. ||Pro.3.11. James.1.12. Deut.32.5.

18 For he maketh a wound, and he healeth: he smiteth, and his hande maketh whole agayne.

19 He shall deliuer thee in d sixe troubles, and in the seuenth there shall no euyll come to thee.

20 In hunger he shall saue thee from death, and when it is warre, from the power of the swoorde.

21 Thou shalt be hyd from the scourge of the tongue, and when destructiō commeth thou shalt not neede to feare.

22 In destruction and dearth thou shalt be mery, & shalt not be afrayde of the beastes of the earth.

23 For the e stones of the lande shalbe confederate with thee, and the beastes of the feelde shalbe at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt knowe that thy dwellyng place shalbe in rest, and thou shalt visite thy habitation, and shalt f not sinne.

25 Thou shalt see also that thy seede shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse vpon the earth.

26 Thou shalt come also to thy graue in a full age, lyke a corne sheafe cut downe in due season.

27 Loe, this we our selues haue proued by experience, and euen thus it is: hearken thou to it also, that thou mayest take heede to thee selfe.

¶ The .vii. Chapter.

1. Iob sheweth the shortnesse and miserie of mans lyfe.

Is there not an appoynted tyme to man vpon earth? are not his dayes also like the dayes of an a hyred seruant?

2 Foz like as a bond seruant desyreth the shadowe, and as an hyreling would fayne haue the reward of his woozke:

3 Euen so haue I laboured whole monethes long in vayne, and many a carefull night haue I tolde.

4 When I laide me downe to sleepe, I sayde, O when shall I aryse? and b measuring the euenyng, I am ful with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesshe c is clothed with woozmes, and dust of the earth: my skynne is wythered and become horrible.

6 My dayes passe ouer moze speedily then a weauers shuttle, and are spent without hope.

7 O remember that my lyfe is but a winde, and that myne eye shal no moze see pleasures:

8 Yea and the eye that hath seene me, shall see me no moze: foz yet thou d fasten thyne eye vpon me, I come to nought?

d. That is, fasten thy iudgement, whiche is so heauie that I can not beare it.

e. Before the general iudgement.

18 Thou viſiteſt him early and euery day, euery moment dooeſt thou trye him.

19 Why k goeſt thou not fro me, nor letteſt me alone, ſo long till I may ſwalowe downe my ſpittle?

21 Why dooeſt thou not pardon my treſpaſſes, and take away myne iniquitie? Behold nowe muſt I ſleepe in the duſt, and yf thou ſeekeſt me in the morning, I ſhall not be.

Bildad ſhevveth that Iob is a ſinner, becauſe God puniſheth the vvicked, and preſerueth the good.

THen anſweared Bildad the Suhite, and ſaid:

2 Howe long wylt thou talke of ſuch thinges? howe long ſhall the woordes of thy mouth be as a a mightie winde?

3 Dooth God peruert the thing that is lawful? or dooth the Almightie deſtroy the thing that is right?

4 For ſeeing that b thy ſonnes ſinned againſt him, did not he ſende them into the place of their iniquitie?

5 If thou wouldeſt nowe reſort vnto God betimes, and make thy prayer to the almightie,

6 If thou wouldeſt liue a pure and godly life: ſhould he not awake vp vnto thee immediatly, and make the habitation of thy righteouſneſſe proſperous?

7 Inſomuch that wherein ſo euer thou haddeſt litle afore, thou ſhouldeſt haue nowe great abundance.

8 Enquire I pray thee c of the former age, and ſearche diligently among their fathers:

9 || (For we are but of d yeſterday, and conſyder not that our dayes vppon earth are but a ſhadowe.)

10 Shal not they ſhewe thee, and tell thee, and vtter the woordes of their hart?

11 May e ruſhe growe without moiſture? or, may the graſſe growe without water?

12 No, but whyleſt it is nowe in his greeneneſſe, though it be not cut downe, yet wythereth it before any other herbe:

13 So are the pathes of all that forgeat God, and the hypocrites hope ſhall come to nought.

14 His confydence ſhalbe deſtroyed, and his truſt ſhalbe a f Spiders webbe.

15 He ſhall leane vpon his houſe, but it ſhall not ſtand: he ſhall holde him faſt by it, yet ſhall it not endure.

16 But the greene tree in the ſunne ſhooteth forth his branches in the garden.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountayne, and are folden about the houſe of ſtones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denye, g ſaying, I haue not ſeene thee:

19 Beholde, it wyl reioyce by this meanes, if it may growe in another moulde.

20 Beholde, God wyll not caſt away a vertuous man, neyther wyl he h helpe the vngodly.

21 Thy mouth ſhall he fyl with laughing, and thy lippes with gladneſſe.

22 They alſo that hate thee ſhalbe clothed with ſhame, and the dwelling of the vngodly ſhal come to nought.

a. He declareth that thoſe mens words whiche wyl diminiſhe any thing from the iuſtice of God, are but as a puffe of winde that vaniſheth away.

b. And therefore are iuſtly plagued, but thou rather art more bound to God, becauſe he hath geuen thee ſpace to repent.

‖ Pſal. 143. 4.

c. Here Bildad confyrmeth his ſayinges by the auctoritie of the fathers.

d. That is, lately borne.

e. Meanyng, that as a ruſh without moiſture can not growe: ſo can not an euyll man liue, without repentance moiſtened with gods grace.

f. Whiche is ſpun to day, & to morowe ſwept away: whereto is likened the houſe of the wicked, his richeſſe, and his ſubſtance.

g. That is, ſo that there remayneth nothyng there to proouue whether the tree had growen there or no.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

Iob declareth the myghtie powver of GOD, and that mans ryghteouſneſſe is nothyng.

IOB anſweared, and ſaide,

2 I know it is ſo of a trueth: for how may a man compared vnto God be a iuſtifyed?

3 If he wyl argue with him, he can not anſweare him one thing of a thouſand.

4 He is wyſe in hart, and mightie in ſtrength: who hath been fearce againſt him, and hath proſpered?

5 He b tranſlateth the mountaynes or euer they be aware, it is he that ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillers thereof ſhake withal.

7 He commaundeth the ſunne, and it ryſeth not: he cloſeth vp the ſtarres as vnder a ſeale.

8 He him ſelfe alone ſpreadeth out the heauens, and goeth vppon the ‖ waues of the ſea.

9 He maketh the waynes of heauen, c the Dzion, the ſeuen ſtarres, and the ſecrete places of the South.

10 He doth great thinges & vnſearcheable: yea and woonders without number.

11 Loe, d when he goeth by me, I ſhal not ſee him, and when he paſſeth, I ſhall not perceiue him.

12 If he be haſtie to take away, who wyl make 13 God wyll not withdrawe his anger, and the most mightie doo stowpe vnder him.

14 Howe muche lesse shall I answeare him? or howe should I fynde out my woords with him?

15 For though I were righteous, yet might I not geue him one woord agayne, but meekely submit mee selfe to him as my iudge.

16 If I had called vppon him, and he had answeared me, f yet wouldе I not beleeue that he heard my voyce:

17 He troubleth me so with the tempest, and woundeth me out of measure without a cause.

18 He wyll not suffer me to take my breath, but fylleth me with bitternesse.

19 If men vvyll speake of strength, loe he is strong: yf men vvyll speake of iudgement, who shall be my pleader?

20 If I wyl g iustifye mee selfe, myne owne mouth shal condemne me: yf I wyl be a perfect man, he shall prooue me a wicked dooer.

21 Though I were perfect, yet I knowe not my soule, and am weery of my life.

22 This is one poynt, & therfore I said, He destroyeth both the perfect and vngodly.

23 And though he slay sodenly with the scourge, wyll he laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 As for the earth, it is geuen ouer into the hand of the wicked, & he shal h couer the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he, or who is he? that can shevve the contrary?

25 My dayes are more swift then a runner, they are gon, & haue seene no good thing.

26 They are passed away as the shippes that be good vnder sayle, and as the Eagle that fleeth to the pray.

27 If I say, I will forgeat my complayning, I wyl cease from my wrath, and comfort mee selfe:

28 Then am I afraid of al my sorowes, for I knowe that thou wylt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why then i labour I in vayne?

30 If I washe me selfe with snowe water, and make myne handes neuer so cleane at the wel:

31 Yet shalt thou "dip me in the mire, and k mine owne clothes shal deffile me.

32 For he that I must geue answeare vnto, and with whom I goe to the lawe, is not a man as I am:

33 Neyther is there any dayes man to laye his hande betweene vs,

34 Let hym take his rodde away from me, yea let hym make me no more afrayde of hym, 35 And then shal I answeare hym without any feare: but " because I am not so, I holde me styl.

" or, I haue nothing to make for me.

MY soule is a cut of though I lyue, I wil powre out my complaynt agaynst mee selfe, and wil speake out of the very " heaynesse of my soule.

2 I wil say vnto God, O b doo not condemne me, but shew me wherefore thou contendest with me?

3 Thynkest thou it wel done to oppresse me? to cast me of, beyng the woorkes of thy handes? and to c maintayne the counsell of the vngodly?

4 Hast thou fleshly eyes? or dooest thou looke as a man looketh?

5 Or are thy dayes as the dayes of d man? and thy yeeres as mans yeeres?

d. Shewing our righteousnesse before God to be nothing but a defiled cloth.

17 Thou bringeſt freſhe * witneſſe agaynſt me, and thy wrath increaſeſt thou vpon me: diuers and many are the plagues that I am in.

6 That he might ſhewe thee the d ſecretes of wyſedome, howe thou haſt deſerued double, accordyng to right: Knowe therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thyne iniquitie.

7 Art thou able to fynde out the ſecretes of God? Or wilt thou attaine to the perfectneſſe of the almyghtie?

8 He is e higher then heauen, what art thou able to doo? deeper then the hell, howe wylt thou then knowe hym?

9 The meaſure of hym is longer then the earth, and broder then the ſea.

10 Though he turne al thynges vpſide downe, cloſe them in, and geather them togeather, who wyll turne hym from his purpoſe?

11 For it is he that knoweth vaine men, he ſeeth theyr wickednеſſe alſo, ſhould he not then conſyder it?

12 Yet vayne man woulde be wiſe, though man neuer borne, is lyke a wilde Aſſes coult.

13 If thou preparedſt thyne hart, and lyfteſt vp thyne handes towarde hym:

14 If thou wouldeſt put away the wickednеſſe whiche thou haſt in hande, ſo that no vngodlyneſſe dwel in thy houſe:

15 Then myghteſt thou f lyft vp thy face without * ſhame, and then ſhouldeſt thou be ſure, and haue no neede to feare.

16 Then ſhouldeſt thou forgeat thy miſerie, and thynke no more vpon it then vpon the waters whiche paſſeth by.

17 Then ſhoulde thy * lyfe be as cleare as the noone day, thou ſhouldeſt ſhine forth, and be as the mornyng.

18 Then mighteſt thou be bolde, becauſe there is hope, and take thy reſt quietly, as compaſſed with a trenche.

19 || Then mighteſt thou lye downe, and none to make thee afrayde, yea many one ſhoulde make ſuite vnto thee.

20 As for the eyes of the vngodly, they ſhall fayle, and they ſhal not eſcape, and their hope ſhalbe ſorowe of minde.

z. For not he that ſpeaketh much, but he that ſpeaketh truely, ſpeaketh well.
b. Here Sophar layeth to Iobs charge wordes that he ſpake.
c. Sophar goeth about to prooue Iob to be iuſtly plagued.
d. Which is not to ſtand in iuſtifying thee ſelfe.
e. If man be not able to comprehende the heyght of heauen, the depth of hel, the length of the earth, and the breadth of the ſea, whiche are but creatures, howe can he attayne to the perfect knowledge of the creatour?

f. Suche are the quiet mindes of thoſe that truely repent.
* Or, ſpotte.
* Or, age.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

1. Iob accuſeth his freendes of ignorance. 7. He declareth the myght and power of God. 17. And howe God changeth the courſe of thinges.

SO Iob aunſweared, and ſayde,

2 Then no doubt ye are the people, and a wyſedome ſhall perylhe with you.

3 But I haue * vnderſtanding as well as ye, and am not inferior to you: yea, who knoweth not theſe thinges?

4 || I am as one mocked of his neyghbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth hym: the iuſt and the vpright is laughed to ſcorne.

5 Beyng as a lyght b deſpiſed in the hartes of the riche, and as one redy to fall.

6 The houſes of robbers are in wealth and proſperitie, and they that malitiouſly meddle agaynſt God, dwell without care in thoſe thynges that God hath c geuen rychly with his hande.

7 Aſke the cattayle, d and they ſhal enfourme thee: the foules of the ayre, and they ſhall tell thee.

8 Speake to the earth, and it ſhal ſhewe thee: or to the fyſhes of the ſea, and they ſhall certifie thee.

9 What is he, but he knoweth that the hande of the Lorde made all theſe?

a. As though he ſhoulde ſay, your wiſedome exceedeth al others, & when ye dye al wiſdome ſhoulde periſhe with you.
* An hart.

|| Prou. 14.1.
b. That is, as he that deſpiſeth the lyght in the night ſeaſon may ſoone ſtumble, ſo they that refuſe the afflicted which ſhine before Gods face, do geat to the ſubdues his wrath to their perill.
c. The Hebrue reade, who God hath brought in with his hande.
d. For euē the cattayle, and all creatures doo declare Gods power, as it is ſayde, The heauēs declare the glorie of God.

10 In

10 In whose hand is the f soule of euery lyuing thing, and the breath of al" mankynde?

11 Dooth not the eares discerne the woordes? and the mouth taste the meate?

12 Among olde persons there is wisedome, and in age is understandyng.

13 Yea with GOD is wysedome and strength, counsel and understanding.

14 ‖ Behold, yf g he breake downe a thing, who can set it vp againe? if he shut a thing, who wyl open it?

15 Beholde, yf he withhold the waters, they drie vp: if he let them goe, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisedome, both the deceyuer and he that is deceiued are h his.

17 He carryeth away the wyse men as it were a spoyle, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He looseth the rule of kynges, and gyrdeth their loynes with a bonde.

19 He leadeth away the great men into captiuitie, and turneth the mightie vpsyde downe.

20 He stoppeth the mouth of them that speake trueth, and disapoynteth the aged of their understanding.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake.

22 Looke what lyeth hyd in darknesse, he declareth it openly, and the very shadowe of death bringeth he to light.

23 He increaseth the people, and destroyeth them, he maketh them to multiply, and diminisheth them.

24 He taketh away the hart of them that be heades of the people of the earth, and causeth them to wander in the wyldernesse out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light, and he maketh them to stacker lyke a dunken man.

¶ The.xiii. Chapter.

Iob prayeth vnto God that he vvould not handle hym vygorously.

LOe, a all this haue I seene with myne eye, heard with myne eare, and vnderstand it.

2 What ye knowe, that same doo I knowe also, neither am I inferior vnto you.

3 Neuertheless, I talke with the almightie, & my desyre is to cõmune with God.

4 As for you ye are woorkemaisters of lyes, and b vnprofytable Phisitions altogether.

5 Would God ye kept your tongue, for then might ye be taken for wyse men.

6 Nowe heare my reasonyng, and ponder the argument of my lippes.

7 Wyl you speake c wickedly for Gods defence and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Wyl ye accept the person of him? or wyl ye contende for God?

9 Shal that helpe you when he calleth you to reckening? or as one man mocketh another, doo ye so mocke him?

10 He shall surely reprooue you, yf ye doo secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraide? shall not his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your d remembrance is like vnto dust, and your bodyes like the clay.

13 Holde your tongues before me, that I may speake, and let come on me what wyll.

14 Wherefore doo I e teare my flesshe with my teeth, and f put my soule in myne handes?

15 Loe, though he slay me, yet wyll I trust in him: but I wyl reprooue myne owne wayes in his syght.

16 He shalbe my saluation: for there may no g hypocrite come before him.

17 Heare diligently my woordes, and ponder my sayinges with your eares.

18 Beholde, nowe haue I prepared my iudgement, and knowe that I shalbe founde h righteous.

19 What is he that wyl i goe to lawe with me? yf I nowe hold my tongue, I dye.

20 Neuertheless, doo not these two thinges vnto me, and then wyll I not hyde mee selfe from thee:

21 Withdrawe thine hande farre from me, and let not the fearefull dread of thee make me afraide.

22 Then call, and I wyll answeare: or let me speake, & geue thou me an answeare.

23 Howe many are my misdeedes and sinnes? let me knowe my transgressions and offences.

24 Wherefore hydest thou thy face, and holdest me for thy enimie?

25 Wylt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro, and wylt thou pursue the drie stubble?

26 For thou laiest sharply to my charge, and punishest me for the sinnes of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feete also in the k stockes, and lookest narowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in the heeles of my feete:

28 And I as a rotten thing doo consume away, as a garment that is moth eaten.

a. For God dooth not only create his creatures, but also nourisheth, cherisheth, and preserueth them styl.

b. Flesshe.

c. Marke what I shal lay against you, for I blame you not in that ye declare Gods power, but because you faine a carnal and humane iustice to be in him: and so of true thinges ye conclude lyes.

d. Your fame shal come to nothyng.

e. That is, sore vexe and torment mee selfe as though I should rent and teare my flesshe with teeth.

f. That is, to set my lyfe in dangers.

g. Here it appeareth that Iobs trust and hope in God was not al perished, discharging him selfe of hypocrisie wherwith they charged hym.

h. That is, not condemned for my sinnes, as you doo reason.

i. To proone that God plagueth me for mine offences.

k. Thou makest me thy prisoner, and dooest so oppresse me, that I can not stirre hande nor foote.

¶ The. xiiii. Chapter.

1. Iob describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the lyfe of man. 14 Hope sustayneth the godly. 22. The condition of mans lyfe.

MAn that is borne of a woman hath but a shorte time to liue, & is ful of miserie.

2 He commeth vp, and is cut downe a like a floure: he fleeth as it were a shadowe, and continueth not.

3 Doest thou b open thyne eyes vpon such one, & bringest me into thy iudgement?

4 Who can make it cleane that commeth of an vncleane thing? no body.

5 The dayes of man surely are determined, the number of his monethes are knowen only vnto thee, thou hast appoynted him his boundes which he can not goe beyond.

6 Goe from him, that he may rest, vntil his day c come whiche he looketh for, like as an hyrelyng looth.

7 For yf a tree be cut downe, there is some hope yet that it wyl sproute, and shoote foorth the branches agayne.

8 Though the roote of it be waxen olde in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground:

9 Yet when it getteth the sent of water, it wyl budde and bring foorth bowes, like as a tree that is planted.

10 d But as for man, when he is dead, perished, and consumed away, what becommeth of him?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the floodde decayeth and dryeth vp:

12 So man after he is a sleepe riseth not, he shall not wake tyll the heauens be no more, nor ryse out of his sleepe.

13 O that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe me secrete, vntill thy wrath were past, and to appoynt me a tyme wherein thou mightest remember me.

14 May a dead man liue againe? Al the dayes of my life wyll I wayte stil, till my changing shal come.

15 Thou shalt e call me and I shal answeare thee, " despise not thou the woorke of thyne owne handes.

16 For nowe thou f numbrest all my goinges, and geuest no delay vnto my sinne.

17 Myne iniquitie is sealed vp as it were in a g bagge, and thou addest punishment vnto my wickednesse.

18 The mountaynes fall away at the last, the rockes are remooued out of their place.

19 The waters pearse through the very stones by litle and litle, the floodes washe away the grauel and earth: so shalt thou destroy the hope of man.

20 Thou preuaylest stil against him, so that he passeth away: thou changest his " estate, and puttest him from thee.

21 And whether his children come to woorshipp or no, he can not tel: and yf they be men of lowe degree, he knoweth not.

22 But whyle his h flesh is vpon him, it must haue sorowe: & his soule shal mourne within him.

The. xv. Chapter.

Eliphas blameth Iob, because he chalengeth ouersedome and pureneſſe to him ſelfe.

THen answeared Eliphaz the Themanite, and saide,

2 Shal a wyse mans answeare be as the winde, and fyll his belly with the a winde of the East?

3 Shal he reproue with a woorde that is nothing woorth, and speake the thinges whiche can doo no good?

4 Surely thou hast cast of feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth setteth foorth thyne owne iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thyne owne mouth condempneth thee, and not I: ye & thyne owne lippes shape an answeare agaynst thee.

7 b Art thou the first man that euer was borne? or wast thou made before the hilles?

8 Hast thou heard the secrete counsel of God? and doest thou restraine wysedome to thee selfe?

9 What knowest thou that we knowe not? and what vnderstandest thou, but we can the same?

10 || With vs are both olde & aged men, yea such as haue liued longer thē thy father.

11 Thinkest thou it a smal thing of the consolations of God? " with thee is a lying woorde.

12 Why doth thine c hart so betwitche thee? and wherfore winckest thou with thine eyes, 13 That thy minde is so d puft vp agaynst God, and lettest such woordes goe out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he shoulde be cleane? and he whiche is borne of a woman, whereby he might be righteous?

15 Behold, he doth not" trust his saintes, yea the heauens are not cleane in his syght:

16 Howe much more then an abominable and vile man, which e drinketh wickednesse like water.

17 I wyll tel thee, heare me, and I wyl shewe thee that I haue seene:

18 Which wyse men haue told, & haue not hyd that which they receiued from theyr fathers:

19 Vnto

g. This expresseth mans shortnesse of life, and the vnstableneſſe thereof, being compared to a floure, to a shadowe, and to the grasse in the feelde.

b. Meaning, that seeing man is so frayle, he shoulde not handle hym so extremely.

c. That is, death whiche he desireth as the hirelyng wayteth in the end of his labour to receyue his wages.

d Iob saith not this as hauyng no hope of immortalitie, but as one sore tormented.

e. Thou plagueſt me nowe, yet when thou shalt cal me vp at domes day, I shal answere thee, for thou art mercifull.

f. That is, thou hast al my deedes numbred, spare me therefore.

g. Thou keepest al my sinnes in store, and sufferest none vnpunished.

" or, face.

h. Whyle he lyueth.

a. Woordes to no effect spoken, are likened to the east winde whiche drieth vp the moisture as sone as it falleth: So foolishe woordes vaynely perishe assoone as they be spoken.

b. That is, art thou so ancient that all wisedome is in thy head?

||Eccl. 18. 13

" or, it there any secrete thing within thee?

c. As one standyng in thyne owne conceite.

d. So reade, as swearyng by, or at thy pleasure: the Hebrue is, answearing him in thy spirite.

" or, among his saintes there is none vnstedfast.

e. Which hath a desire to sinne as he that is thirstie to drinke.

19 Unto whom alone the earth was geuen, and no stranger went among them.

20 The f vngodly sorowerh al the dayes of his lyfe, as it were a woman with childe, and the g number of a tyrantes yeeres are vnknowen.

21 A feareful sound is euer in his eares, and when he is in peace, the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 He beleeueth neuer to be delyuered h out of darkenesse: for the swoorde is alwayes before his eyes.

23 He wandreth abrode for bread where it is, knowing that the day of darkenesse is redy at his hande.

24 Trouble and anguishe wyll make him afrayde, they shal preuayle agaynst hym, as a kyng with his armie.

25 For he hath stretched out his hande agaynst God, and armed him selfe agaynst the almightie.

26 He runneth proudely vpon him, and with a stiffe necke fighteth he agaynst hym.

27 Where as he i couereth his face with fatnesse, and maketh his body well lykyng.

28 Therefore shal his dwelling be k in desolate cities, and in houses whiche no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes of stones.

29 He shal not be riche, neyther shal his substance continue, neither shal the prosperitie thereof be prolonged vpon the earth.

30 He shal neuer depart out of darkenesse, the flame l shal drie vp his branches, with the blast of the mouth of God shal he be taken away.

31 He beleeueth not that he erreth in vanitie, e yet vanitie shalbe his recompence.

32 He shal perishe afore his tyme be worne out, and his m branche shall not be greene.

33 He shalbe plucked of as an vntimely grape from the vine, and shal let his flowre fal as the Olyue doeth.

34 For the congregation of hypocrites shalbe desolate, and the fyre shal consume the houses of suche as are greedy to receyue gyftes.

35 ‖ He conceaueth trauayle, and beareth vanitie, and theyr belly bryngeth foorth decepte.

¶ The xvi. Chapter.

1. Iob moued by the importunacie of his freendes, 7 cometh in vvhat extremitie he is, 19. and taketh God to vvitnesse of his innocencie.

IOb answeared, and sayde,

2 I haue oft times heard such thinges: a miserable geuers of comfort are ye, all the sort of you.

3 [a] Shal not vayne wordes come yet to an ende? or what maketh thee bolde so to answeare?

4 I coulde speake as ye doo also: but woulde God that your b soule were in my soules steede, then coulde I frame woordes for you, and shake my head at you:

5 I woulde strengthen you with my mouth, and release your payne with the talking of my lippes.

6 For all my woordes my sorowe wyll not ceasse: and c though I holde my tongue, what am I eased?

7 But now he hath made me weery, thou hast made desolate al d my congregation.

8 And that thou e hast fylled me with wrinckles, my fleshe is record, and my leanenesse ryseth vp agaynst me, and beareth witnesse thereof in my face.

9 His wrath hath torne me, he hateth me, and gnasheth vppon me with his teeth: myne enimie looketh fiercely vppon me with his eyes.

10 They haue opened their mouthes wyde vpon me, and f smitten me vppon the cheeke despitefully, they geather them selues togeather agaynst me.

11 God hath shut me vp with the vngodly, and deliuered me g into the handes of the wycked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, he hath all to shaken me, and set me as a marke for hym selfe.

13 His h archers compasse me rounde about, he woundeth my reynes, and doeth not spare, my [a] bowels hath he i powred vpon the grounde.

14 He hath geuen me one wounde vpon another, and is fallen vpon me lyke a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and wallowed my * head in the dust.

16 My face is wythered with weeping, and in mine eyes is the shadowe of death.

17 Notwithstanding there is no wyckednesse in my handes, but my prayer is cleane.

18 O earth couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no roome.

19 For loe, my witnes is in heauen, and he that knoweth me is in the heyght.

20 My freendes geue me many wordes to scorne, and mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 O that a body might pleade with God, as one man doeth with another.

22 Yet the number of my yeeres is come, and the way that I must goe is at hande, from whence I shall not turne agayne.

[a] Here he repeateth certayne places of the leuiticall lawe for his proofe, whiche in deede the fathers so spake, but did not vnderstande them as Eliphaz dyd.

[b] He shalbe alwaies in feare day and nyght, not knowyng any thing certayne.

[c] That is, out of the troubles and feares whiche fal vpon hym.

[d] That is, abundance of ryches hath made hym so proude, that he forgeaeteth God.

[e] That is, he shal haue no certayne and sure place to dwel in.

[f] That is, suche blessing as God gaue hym, shalbe turned into curssing.

[g] That is, his progenie or ofspryng shal not continue.

[a] For they more bite hym with cruell woordes, then comfort hym.

Esai. 59. 4. Psal. 7. 15.

[a] Or, vvordes of vvynde.

[b] Woulde ye suffered that which I sufferi

[c] For God wyl haue his pleasure ouer me.

[d] My housholde, children, and substance.

[e] Not by reason of yeeres, but by reason of my greefe, shewing his extreme paynes.

[f] That is, despitefully handled me, whiche striking on the cheeke signifieth.

[g] To prooue hym, and not to destroy him.

[h] His plagues and afflictions wherewith he vexeth me.

[a] Or, gall.

[i] God hath not onely stricken outwardly my body and al my substance, but also touched my inwarde partes.

¶ The xvii. Chapter.

1. Iob sayth that he consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abyde it. 10. He exhorteth his freendes to repentance, 13. shewing that he looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt, my dayes are shortened, I am harde at deathes doore.

2 a " Frowarde men are with me, and mine eye must continue in the bitternesse of them.

3 Deliuer me, and b looke out one to be my suretie in thy sight: what is he that knoweth who wyl promise for me?

4 For thou hast withholden their hartes c from vnderstanding, therfore shalt thou not set them vp on hygh.

5 He that speaketh flatterie to his freende, the eyes of his chyldren shal fayle.

6 He hath made me a bywoorde of the people, whereas afore I was theyr " ioy.

7 Mine eye is dimme for very heauinesse, and al my strength is lyke a shadowe.

8 Vertuous men therfore shal wel consyder this, and the innocent shal take part agaynst the hypocrite.

9 The ryghteous also wyl d keepe his way, and he that hath cleane handes wyll euer be stronger and stronger.

10 As for al you, turne you, and " geat you hence, I pray you, seeyng I can not finde one wyse man among you.

11 My dayes are past, and my counsels and thoughtes of my hart are vanished away, 12 Changing the night into day, and the lyght approching into darkenesse.

13 Though I tary neuer so muche, yet the graue is my house, and I haue made my bed in the darke.

14 I sayde to corruption, Thou art my father: and to the woormes, Ye are my mother, and my sister.

15 e Where is then nowe my hope? or who hath consydered the thyng that I looke for? My hope shal goe downe with me into the pit, and lye with me in the dust.

¶ The xviii. Chapter.

1. Bildad rehearseth the paynes of the vnfaythful and wycked.

THen answeared Bildad the Suhite, and sayde,

2 When wyll ye make an ende of your woordes? Marke wel, and then we wyl speake.

3 Wherfore are we counted as beastes, and reputed so vyle in your sight?

4 He destroyeth him selfe with his anger: shal the earth be forsaken, or any stone remooued out of his place a because of thee?

5 Yea the lyght of the vngodly shall be put out, and the sparke of his fyre shall not shine.

6 The b light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candle shalbe put out with him.

7 The steppes of his strength shalbe restrayned, and his owne counsel shal cast hym downe:

8 For his feete are taken as it were in the net, and he walketh vpon the snares.

9 The grinne shal take him by the heele, and the thirstie of blood shal catche hym.

10 The snare is layde for him in the grounde, and a pitfal in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shal make him afrayde on euery side, and shal driue him to his feete.

12 c Hunger shalbe his strength, and destruction shalbe redy at his side.

13 He shal d eate the strength of his owne skynne, euen the fyrst borne of death shal eate his strength.

14 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shal bryng hym to the e king of feare.

15 Other men shal dwel in his house, and it shalbe none of his, and brimstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shalbe dryed vp beneath, and aboue shal his branche be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perishe from the earth, and he shal haue no name in the streete.

18 They shal driue him from the f light into darkenesse, and chase him cleane out of the worlde.

19 He shal neyther haue " chyldren nor kinsfolkes among his people, no nor any posteritie in his dwellinges.

20 They that come after hym shall be astonied at g his day, and " they that goe before shalbe afrayde.

21 Suche are nowe the dwellinges of the wycked, and this is the place of hym that knoweth not God.

¶ The xix. Chapter.

1. Iob reproueth his freendes, 15. and reciteth his miseries and greeuous paynes. 25. He assureth him selfe of the generall resurrection.

IOb answeared, and sayde,

2 Howe long wyl ye vexe my soule, and trouble me with woordes?

3 Loe, ten tymes haue ye reproched me, and are not ashamed, but haue laughed me to scorne.

4 Be it that I haue erred in deede, mine errour

a. In al Iobs extreme afflictions, yet this one made the rest most greeuous, that they that shoulde chearefully comfort hym, did cruelly vexe him and mocke hym.
" Or, mockers.
b. That is, make promise with me O god, that I may talke with thee, for I wyl not reason with them, for they are fooles.
c. That they can not vnderstand the cause of my punishment: but iudge me wycked, not knowyng thy wysedome, whereby thou doest afflict thy children.
" Or, tabret.
d. Though the godly see them selues afflicted of God as the wycked are, yet they dispayre not, knowyng that the iust also are punished for proofe of them.
" Or, come nowe.
e. Seeing I am but corruption.

a. That is, shal god change the accustomed order of his operation for thee: and not afflict the wycked as his order is?
b. His wyfedome shal perishe, and from this place vnto the ende of the Chapter, Bildad goeth about to proone Iob wicked, because God plageth hym as he doeth the wycked man.
c. That is, he shal not atteyne to that which he desireth, for al his power & might shalbe taken away by hunger.
d. Meaning, the vngodly shalbe the destruction of the strength of his owne skinne, that is, of his chyldren and posteritie.
e. Whiche is death, the most fearefull and terrible of all thynges.
f. From prosperitie to aduersitie.
" Or, sonne, or nevevo.
g. That is, al his fall.
" Or, elder, Or, auncient.

errour then remayneth with mee a selfe.

5 But yf ye wyll aduaunce your selues against me, and rebuke me for the shame that is come vpon me:

6 Knowe this then, that it is b GOD which hath ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Yf I complayne of the violence that is doone vnto me, I can not be heard: and yf I crye, there is no sentence geuen with me.

8 He hath hedged vp my way that c I can not passe, and he hath set darkenesse in my pathes.

9 He hath spoyled me d of mine honour, and e taken the crowne away from my head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery syde, and I am " gone: my hope hath he taken away, as a tree pluckt vp by the roote.

11 His wrath is kindled against me, he taketh me as though I were his enimie.

12 His f men of warre come together, which made their way ouer me, and besieged my dwellyng rounde about.

13 He hath put my brethren farre away from me, and mine acquaintance are also become strangers vnto me.

14 Myne owne kinsfolkes haue forsakē me: and my best acquainted haue forgotten me.

15 " The seruantes & maydens of myne owne house take me for a stranger, and I am become as an aliant in their syght.

16 I called my seruant, and he gaue me no aunswere: no though I prayed hym with my mouth.

17 Myne owne wyfe myght not abyde my breath, though I prayed her for the chyldrens sake of myne owne body.

18 Yea, the" young men despised me, and when I rose, they spake euyl vpon me.

19 All my most familiers abhorred me: and they whom I loued best, are turned against me.

20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne, and to my flesshe, onely there is left me the skinne about my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me, haue pitie vpon me, O ye my freendes, for the hande of God hath touched me.

22 Why doo ye persecute me as GOD doth, and are not satisfied with my flesshe?

23 O that my woordes were nowe written, O that they were put in a booke, 24 And grauen with an iron pen in lead, or in stone, to continue.

25 For I am sure that my redeemer lyueth, and that I shall g ryse out of the earth in the latter day, 26 And " shalbe couered agayne with my skynne, and shall see God in my flesshe:

27 Whom I mee self shal see, and mine eyes shal beholde, and none other for me: this my hope is layde vp in my bosome.

28 But ye sayde, Why is he persecuted, and there was a deepe matter in me?

29 h But beware of the swoorde: for the swoorde wyl be auenged of wickednesse, and be sure that there is a iudgement.

h. That is, the iudgement of God, the reuenger of iniquitie: meanyng, though they: wicked endeauour tooke place nowe, yet God wyll hereafter consyder hym, and be reuenged of the euyll.

The. xx. Chapter.

1. Sophar sheweth that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a short ende, 22. though for a tyme they florishe.

THen aunswered Sophar the Naamathite, and sayde,

2 For the same cause doo a my thoughtes compell me to aunsweare, and therefore make haste.

3 I haue sufficiently heard the b checking of my reproofe, therefore the spirite of my vnderstandyng causeth me to aunsweare.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde, & since God placed man vpon earth,

5 c That the gladnesse of the vngodly hath ben short, and that the ioy of hypocrites continued but the twincklyng of an eye?

6 Though he be magnified vp to the heauen, so that his head reacheth vnto the cloudes:

7 Yet he perysheth for euer lyke his doung, in so muche that they which haue seene hym, shal say, Where is he?

8 He shall vanish as a dreame, so that he can no more be founde, and shall passe away as a vision in the nyght.

9 So that the eye which saw him before, shal haue no more syght of him, and his place shal " knowe hym no more.

10 His chyldren shall please the poore, and his handes shall restore their goodes.

11 From his youth his bones are full of sinnes, which shal lye downe with hym in the " earth.

12 When wickednes was sweete in his mouth, he hyd it vnder his tongue.

13 That he fauoured, that woulde he not forsake, but kept it close in his throte.

14 The bread that he dyd eate, is turned to the poyson of serpentes within his body.

15 The riches that he deuoured shal he parbreake agayne: for God shall draw them out of his belly.

16 He shall sucke the gall of serpentes, and the adders tongue shall slay hym:

17 So that he shall no more see the riuers and brookes of hony and butter.

18 The thing he hath laboured for, shal he restore, and d shall not eate of it: great trauaile shall he make for riches, but he shall

a. Because Iob bragged of his innocencie (as they thought) Sophar enterrupted his talke, as though he boasted in vayne, for that God accepteth none but the repentant sinner.

b. For two causes Sophar spake: one, because Iob in aunsweryng toucheth hym: and for that he deemed his knowledge sufficient to aunsweare agayne.

c. Sophar cuō to the ende of this chapter, alleageth true sentences: but he erreth, in that he thought Iob for impietie & hypocrisie to be plagued.

" or, see.

" or, dust.

d. For euyll gotten goodes God wyl soone take away, and restore to them from whom they were craftily spoyled and rauened.

no

not enioy them,

19 Because he hath oppressed the poore, and not helped them: houses hath he spoyled, and not buylded them.

20 ‖ Because he coulde not perceiue when his belly was wel, through his greedie desyre, he shall not escape.

21 There e shall none of his meate be left, therfore shal no man loke for his goodes.

22 When he had plenteousnesse of euery thyng, yet was he poore, though he was helped on euery syde.

23 And it shal come to passe, that wherwith he purposed to fyll his belly, God shall powre the furie of his wrath theron, and shall cause his indignation to raigne vpon hym, and vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the iron weapon, & the bowe of steele shal strike hym through.

25 The sword is drawen out, and goeth through the body, and glistereth of his gall: so feare shall come vpon hym.

26 All darkenesse shal be hyd in their secrete places, f an vnkyndeled fyre shall consume him: and looke what remayneth in his house, it shalbe destroyed.

27 The heauen shal g declare his wickednesse, and the earth shal take part against hym.

28 The substance that he hath in his house shal be taken away, and perysshe in the day of the Lordes wrath.

29 This is the portion that the wicked man shall haue of God, and the heritage that he may looke for of GOD, because of his h woordes.

¶ The.xxi. Chapter.

1. Iob declareth howe the prosperitie of the wycked maketh them proude, 15. insomuch that they blaspheme God.

IOb aunswered, and sayde,

2 O heare diligently my woordes, and that shalbe in steade of your consolations.

3 Suffer me that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Is it with a man that I make this disputation? whiche if it were so, shoulde not my spirite then be in sore trouble?

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and b lay your hande vpon your mouth.

6 For when I consyder, I am afrayde, and my flesshe is smitten with feare.

7 ‖ Wherfore do wicked men lyue, come to their olde age, and encrease in rychesse?

8 Their [a] chyldren lyue in their syght, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are safe from all feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and that not out of tyme, their Cowe calueth, and is not vnfruitefull.

11 They sende foorth their chyldren by flockes, and their sonnes daunce.

12 They beare with them tabrets and harpes, and reioyce in the sound of the instrumentes of musicke.

13 They spende their dayes in wealthinesse, but c sodaynely they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, d Go from vs, we desire not the knowledge of thy waies.

15 Who is the almighty, that we should serue hym? and what profite should we haue yf we shoulde pray vnto hym?

16 Loe, there is vtterly no goodnesse in their hande, therefore wyll I not haue to doo with the counsayle of the vngodly.

17 Howe oft shall the e candle of the wicked be put out, and their destructiō come vpon them? Or what sorowe shall God geue them for their part in his wrath?

18 Yea, they shalbe euen as hay before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme careth away.

19 God wyll lay vp the sorowe of the father for his chyldren: and when he rewardeth hym, he shall knowe it.

20 Their owne miserie shall they see with their eyes, and drynke of the fearefull wrath of the almightie.

21 For what careth he for his house after his death, when the f number of his monethes is cut shorte?

22 Seeing God hath the highest power of all, who can teache hym any knowledge?

23 g One dyeth in his full strength, beyng in all ease and prosperitie, 24 His breastes are full of mylke, and his bones runne full of marowe.

25 Another dieth in the h bitternesse of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both alyke in the earth, and the woormes shal coner them.

27 Beholde, i I know what ye thinke, yea and the subtiltie that ye imagine against me.

28 For ye say, k Where is the princes palace, and where is the dwellyng of the vngodly?

29 Haue ye not asked thē that go by the way? doubtlesse ye can not deny their tokens, 30 That the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and the vngodly shalbe brought foorth to the day of wrath?

31 l Who dare declare his way to his face? who wyl reward him for that he doth?

32 Yet shal he be brought to his graue, and dwel among the heape of the dead.

e. That is, his heires and executours shall gape in vayne.

f. That is, fire from heauen: & here Sophar toucheth Iob, for that his freendes and chyldren were consumed by fire.

g. There is nothing hyd that shall not be opened, and the earth shal eyther be vnfruitefull, or bryng foorth thinges hurtful to the wicked.

h. Spoken agaynst God.

a. As though he shoulde say, My cause is before God who I can not escape, and not before you.

b. That is, keepe silence.

‖ Iere. 12. 1.

c. Not beyng plagued with long sickenesse.

d. They say this, not with tongue, but by the wickednesse and impietie of their hart, they seeme so to say.

e. That is their great felicitie & wealth.

f. For the wicked dye vnwares, & neuer endure the course of their dayes to the ende.

g. Meanyng the wicked: where Iob sayth, that it is not for man to reason with God why he doth thus plague the iust, & prosper the vniust, for who can teache God wysedome?

h. And this he meaneth by the godly.

i. Howe we thinke me vnkyndeled, because I am plagued.

k. That is, call for the house of the wicked by scorning & mocking.

l. For no man can iudge by the wicked mens profession what shall becom of them 33 Then shall the m slimie valley be sweete vnto him, all men also muste folowe him, as there are innumerable gone before him.

34 Howe vayne then is the comfort that ye geue me, seeing falshood remayneth in all your answeares?

1. Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6. He accuseth him of unmercifulnesse. 13. and that he denyed Gods providence. 21. He exhorteth hym to repentance.

SO Eliphaz the Themanite gaue answeare, and saide,

2 May a man be profytable vnto God, as he that is wyse may be profytable to him selfe?

3 Is it any aduantage to the almightie, that thou art righteous? or shall it profyte him that thou makest thy wayes perfect?

4 Is he afraide to reproue thee, and to steppe foorth with thee into iudgement?

5 Is b not thy wickednesse great, and thy vngracious deedes innumerable?

6 For thou c hast taken the pledge from thy brother for nought, and robbed the naked of their clothing.

7 To suche as were weery, hast thou geuen no water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mightie man had the earth, and he that was in aucthoritie dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast sent widowes away emptie, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore art thou d compassed about with snares, and sodenly vered with feare.

11 Shouldest thou then see no e darknesse? shoulde not the water floodde runne ouer thee?

12 Is not God on high in the heauen? beholde the height of the starres, howe hygh they are.

13 Wylt thou therefore say, Howe f should God knowe? can he iudge through the darke cloude?

14 The cloudes couer him, that he may not see, and he walketh on the top of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were cut downe out of time, and whose fundation was as an ouerflowing ryuer, 17 Which sayd vnto God, Go from vs: and what could the almightie do for them?

18 He filled their houses with good thinges: but the counsell of the vngodly be farre from me.

19 The righteous saw it, and were glad, and the innocent laughed them to scorne.

20 Is our substance hewen downe? As for the remnant of them, the g fire hath consumed.

21 Therefore h reconcile thee vnto God, and be at peace: so shal al things prosper with thee right wel.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe at his mouth, & lay vp his words in thine hart.

23 For if thou wilt turne to the almightie, thou shalt be i built vp, & put al vnrighteousnesse from thy dwelling.

24 Thou shalt lay vp golde as plentifull as the dust, and the golde of Ophir as the stones of the ryuers.

25 Yea, almightie God shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 Then shalt thou haue thy delight in the almightie, and lyft vp thy face vnto god.

27 Then shalt thou make thy prayer vnto hym, and he shal heare thee, and thou shalt "keepe thy promises.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thyng, and he shal establish it vnto thee, and the k light shall shyne in thy wayes.

29 When the wicked be cast downe, thou shalt say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shal deliuer the Iland: l it shalbe preserued by the pureness of thyne handes.

2. Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power & sentence of the iudge, to. and that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

IOb aunswered, and sayde,

2 Though my talke be this day in bitternesse, and my plague greater then my groning,

3 O that I a might know him, & finde him, and that I might come before his seate:

4 I would pleade my cause before him, and fyll my mouth with argumentes:

5 I woulde knowe what aunswere he woulde geue me, and vnderstande what he woulde say vnto me.

6 Wyll he pleade agaynst me with his great power? No, but he wyll make me the stronger.

7 There the righteous might dispute with hym, so shoulde I be deliuered for euer from my iudge.

8 Beholde, though I goe forwarde, I finde hym not: yf I goe backewarde, I can geat no knowledge of hym:

9 If I go on the left side where he doth his woorke, I can not attayne vnto hym: agayne, yf I goe on the right syde, he hydeth hym selfe, that I can not see hym.

10 But

m That is, he will be content with a homely house of clay, which before was not cõtent with a kingly pallace.

The whole course of this chapter is, that man compared to god, is vniust, and therefore ought to repẽt.

They knewe not that Iob did so greatly offended: but by coniecture, because he was so plagued for his sinnes so much for to proue him, and therefore all their conclusions are false.

Thou hast been vncharitable & vniust. That is, therefore art thou so plagued euery way.

He reproueth him, as though he denyed Gods prouidence, and that he coulde not see the things that are done in the worlde.

g. Meaning the vngodly and euil persons.

h. Eliphaz exhorteth Iob to repentaunce by the great goodnesse that commeth thereof.

i. God wyl restore vnto thee al thy substance.

" Or, pay thy vowes.

k. That is, the fauour of God.

l. The place fareth the better, where the ryghteous are.

a. Iob beyng admonished before to returne to God, sayth, If I shoulde come to hym, where is he, or where might I fynde hym, to pleade my cause before hym?

10 But as for my way, he knoweth me, and tryeth me, that as the golde I may be tryed.

11 My b foote dooth keepe his path, his high way haue I holden, and will not goe out of it.

12 I wyll not forsake the commaundemēt of his lippes, I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then my necessary foode.

13 He is one, and c who can turne hym? he hyngeth to passe what he desyreth.

14 He d performeth the thing that is appoynted for me, and many suche thinges dooth he.

15 This is the cause that I shrinke at his presence, so that when I consyder him, I am afrayde of hym.

16 For God maketh my hart softe, and the almightie vexeth me in feare, 17 Because I am not cut of before the darkenesse, neyther hath he couered the darke fro my face.

b. That is, gods wayes, prouing therefore hym selfe not to deserue such greeuous plagues and afflictions for his faultes.

c. For God is immutable, and his decres stand fast.

d. That is, he hath decreed thus to punishe me appoynted hereunto, although I can not atteine to the secrete iudgement of God therein, and therefore I doo feare his presence.

¶ The. xxiiii. Chapter.

Iob describeth the vvickednesse of men, and shevveth vvhat curse belongeth to the vvicked. 12. Hovve all thynges are governed by Gods providence. 17. and the destruction of the vvicked.

WHy shoulde not the a tymes be hyden from the almightie, & they that knowe hym, see not his dayes?

2 For some men remooue the land markes, robbe men of theyr cattel, and feede of the same.

3 They dryue away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widowes ore for a pledge.

4 They cause the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hyde them selues togeather.

5 Beholde, as wylde asses in the desart goe they forth to theyr woorke, and ryse betimes to spoyle: Yea the very b wildernesse ministreth foode for them and theyr chyldren.

6 They reape the corne feelde that is not theyr owne, and geather the vineyarde of the vngodly vvhiche they possesse vniustely.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, & without couering in the cold.

8 They are wet with the shewres of the mountaynes, and imbrace the rocke for want of a couerynge.

9 They plucke the fatherlesse from the brest, and take the pledge from the poore.

10 They let hym goe naked without clothing, and haue taken away the sheafe of the hungry.

11 They that labour in their oyle mils, and treade their wine presses, suffer thirste.

a. The dooings of men are such and so variable, that it seemed to Iob that god was ignorant & careles, because he punished not the wicked, nor reuenged the godly.

b. That is, they liue by robbery and theaft.

12 Men of the citie crye out, the soules of the slayne also crye out, yet God regardeth not theyr complaynt.

13 Those are they that flee from the lyght, they knowe not his wayes, nor continue in his pathes.

14 The murderer ryseth early, and kylleth the poore and needie, and in the night is as a theefe.

15 The c eye of the adulterer wayteth for the darkenesse, and sayth, There shall no eye see me: and hideth his face.

16 In the darke they digge through houses, which they marked for them selues in the day tyme: they knowe not the lyght.

17 The morning is to them euen as the shadowe of death: yf one knowe them they are in the terrours of the shadowe of death.

18 The vngodly is d swift vpon the water: theyr portion shalbe curled in the earth, and he shal not beholde the way of the vineyardes.

19 As the drye ground and heate e consume the snowie waters: so shall the graue the sinners.

20 The f pitiful man shal forget hym, he shalbe sweete to the woormes, he shalbe no more remembred, and his wickednesse shalbe broken as a tree.

21 He hath oppressed the barren that can not beare, and vnto the wyddowe hath he doone no good.

22 He g drue the mightie after hym with his power, and when he was gotten vp, no man was sure of lyfe.

23 And though they gaue hym to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a litle, but shortly are gone, brought to pouertie, & taken out of the way, yea, and vtterly pluckt of as the eares of corne.

25 Is h it not so? who wyll then reprooue me as a lyer, and say that my woordes are nothyng worth?

c. Not only the tyrant, but also the adulterer escapeth free, & is not corrected.

d. He fleeth to the waters for his succour.

e. Although suche abominable sinners lyue vncorrected in this worlde, yet at the length shal destruction them sodenly.

f. Because they pitied not others, their shal not be pitied at all.

g. That is, when they haue plagued and ouerrunne the poore & weake, they wyll oppresse the strong & mighty also.

h. Then I lye not, and none of you can reproue me.

¶ The. xxv Chapter.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane, nor vvithout sinne before God.

THen aunsweared Bildad the Suhite, and sayde,

2 a Power and feare is with hym, vvho maketh peace in his hyghnesse.

3 Is there any number of his armies: and vpon whom shal not his lyght aryse?

4 But how may a man, compared vnto God, be iustifyed? or howe can he be cleane, that is borne of a woman?

5 Beholde, the moone * shineth not, and the starres are vncleane in his syght.

a. Bildad woulde proue here that God plagueth the iust, yet afterward he proueth more sharpely that God doth not so with Iob, he concluded that he was wicked.

* Compared vvith God

1. Iob sheweth that no man can helpe God, and prooueth it by his wonderful worckes.

IOb answeared, and sayde, a

2 Whom hast thou holpen? hym that is without strength? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength?

3 Where is the counsel that thou shouldest geue hym which hath no wysdome? hast thou taught him that is very wyse?

4 To whom hast thou spoken these woordes? who made the breath to come out of thy mouth?

5 b Are not dead thinges shapen vnder the waters, and in places neare vnto them?

6 Hel is naked before him, and destruction hath no couering.

7 He stretcheth out the North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothyng?

8 He bindeth the water in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them.

9 c He holdeth backe the face of his throne, and spreadeth his cloude before it.

10 He hath compassed the waters with certayne boundes, d vntyl the day and nyght come to an ende.

11 The e very pyllers of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 He stylleth the sea with his power, and through his wysedome smyteth he the strength thereof.

13 His spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath made the crooked serpent.

14 Loe, these are part of his wayes: but howe litle a portion heare we of him? who can understande the thunder of his power?

¶ The.xxvii. Chapter.

3. The constancie and perfectnesse of Iob.

13. The reuvarde of the wicked, and of the tyrantes.

AND Iob proceeded, and went forth in his parable, saying,

2 a As God lyueth, which hath taken away my iudgement, and the almightie that hath vexed my mynde:

3 Whyle the breath is in me, and the wynde that GOD hath geuen me is in my nosethrilles, 4 My lippes shall talke of no vanitie, and my tongue shal speake no deceyte.

5 God forbydde that I shoulde graunt your cause to be right: as for me, vntyl mine ende come, wyl b I neuer goe from myne innocencie.

6 My righteous dealing keepe I fast, whiche I wyl not forsake: my hart shal not reproue me c of my dayes.

7 Therefore d myne enimie shalbe founde as the vngodly, and he that taketh part agaynst me, as the vnrighteous.

8 For e what hope hath the hypocrite, though he be neuer so couetous, if God take away his soule?

9 Wyl f God heare his crye when trouble commeth vpon him?

10 Hath he such delight in the almightie, g that he dare alway cal vpon God?

11 I wyll teache you in the [o] name of God, and the thing of the almightie wyll I not keepe from you.

12 Behold, al ye your selues haue seene it, why then doo ye thus vanishe in vanitie?

13 Saying, This is the portion that the wycked haue of God, and the heritage that tyrantes shal receyue of the almightie.

14 If he haue many chyldren they shall perishe with the swoorde, and his posteritie shal haue scarsenesse of bread.

15 His remnant shalbe buried in death, and his wydowes shal not weepe.

16 Though he heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the claye:

17 He may wel prepare it, but the godly shal put it on, and the innocent shall deale out the siluer.

18 He buildeth his house as h the [o] moth, and as a booth that the watchman maketh.

19 When the ryche man sleepeth, he shal not be geathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrour taketh holde vpon hym as waters, and the tempest stealeth hym away in the nyght season.

21 A vehement east winde carryeth him hence, and he departeth, a storme hurleth him out of his place.

22 God shal cast vpon him suche thynges and not spare hym, he would fayne flee out of his hande.

23 Then shal men clap their handes at hym, and hysse hym out of his place.

1. Iob sheweth that the wysedome of God is vnsearchable.

THere is a place where siluer is brought out of, and where golde is tryed,

2 Where iron is dygged out of the grounde, and stones resolued into brasse.

3 God bringeth the darkenesse to an end, and searcheth out al perfection, the stones hydden in darkenesse, and in the deepe shadowe

a. Here Iob reprehendeth Eliphaz for that he speaketh not enough to Gods prayse, as he needeth not, mans worde neyther comforteth him beyng in the syde of contempt.

b. That is, such thinges as are in the waters without life, as mercals and such lyke, wherein is expressed Gods great power.

c. His throne or maiestie, whiche are the heauens, he couereth from vs.

d. That is, so long as the world endureth.

e. Not that the pillers hath feare, but by them he vnderstandeth the thynges vnder the heauen.

f. This was the order of the Hebrues to sweare.

g. That is, I will not consent that god iudgues me for the offence.

a. Of my former lyfe pasted. That is, because they reprehended me vnworthyly, they rather myght be accompted wicked, and the plague shall lyght on them, and be rydde from me.

b. What auaileth it a man yf he gayne al the worlde, & loose his owne soule?

c. We haue no greater gyft of God then the spirit of prayer, whereby yf we pray, god doeth heare vs.

d. The hypocrite neyther trusteth nor prayeth to god: yea though he pray, God wyll not heare him.

[o] Or, hande.

e. Whiche breedeth in an other mans garment, and is soone shaken out.

[o] Or, Spyder.

dowe.

4 The flooddes breake out agaynſt the inhabitantes, and the vvaters forgotten a of the foote, whiche were bygher then a man, are gone away.

5 b Out of the ſame earth commeth bread, & vnder it, as it were, fire is turned vp.

6 The c ſtones of it are a place of Saphires, and the duſt of it is golde.

7 There is a way that the birdes knowe not, that no Vultures eye hath ſeene:

8 Wherein the Lions whelpes walke not, and where no Lion commeth.

9 He d putteth his hande vpon the ſtonie rockes, & ouerthroweth the mountaynes by the rootes.

10 Ryuers flowe out of the rockes, and looke what is pleaſant his eye ſeeth it.

11 He bindeth the flooddes that they doo not ouerflowe: and the thing that is hyd bryngeth he to light.

12 Where then is wiſdome found? and e where is the place of vnderſtanding?

13 No man can tel howe f woorthie a thing it is, neyther is it founde in the lande of the lyuyng.

14 The deepe ſayth, It is not in me: the ſea ſayth, It is not with me.

15 It can not be gotten for golde, neither may p̄ price of it be bought with any ſiluer.

16 No gold of Ophir, no pretious Onyx ſtones, no Saphires may be valued with it.

17 No, neyther golde nor Diamonde ſhalbe equall vnto it, the exchange of it ſhal not be for the place of fine golde.

18 No mention ſhalbe made of Coral, nor of the Gabis: for wyſedome is more pretious then pearles.

19 The Topas of Ethiopia ſhal not be equall vnto it, neyther ſhal it be valued with pure golde.

20 Whence then commeth wyſedome, and where is the place of vnderſtanding?

21 It is hyd from the eyes of al men lyuyng, and hyd from the foules of the 'ayre.

22 Deſtruction and death ſay, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 GOD ſeeth the way thereof, and knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of p̄ world, and looketh vpon al that is vnder heauen.

25 When he waied the wyndes, and meaſured the waters,

26 When he made a decree for the rayne, and a way for the lightnings of the thunder:

27 Then did he ſee it, then declared he it, prepared it, and knewe it.

28 And vnto man he ſayde, g To feare the Lorde is wyſedome, and to forſake euyl is vnderſtandyng.

a. Which a man can not wade thorowe.

b. As the fruitful feeldes tylled and plowed bryngeth foorth corne: ſo it beyng deepely digged, there are founde ſtones, out of the which fire is ſtroken.

c. The Saphires do ſhine with golden poyntes, ſo that here by Saphires, is meant cloddes of golde. Al theſe thynges are founde, but Gods wiſdome who can reach?

d. Here he ſheweth Gods power, the earth may be dygged, hilles ouerthrowen, a fountaine made among ſtones, ryuers turned from theyr courſe, but Gods wyſdome is not to be founde.

e. Gods wyſdome is partly ſeene in theſe worldly things, but his heauenly wyſedome and ſecrete iudgement is hyd, and vnknowen to all men.

f. That is, it paſſeth mans capacitie to attayne to it.

'or, heauen.

g. Meaning by this, that man hath ſo muche of this excellent wyſedome of God as he doeth ſhewe in vertue of lyuyng, due obedience, and feare of hym.

The .xxix. Chapter.

1. Iob vvisheth the proſperitie of his tyme paſt. 7. He ſetteth foorth authoritie, 12. iuſtice, and equitie.

SO Iob proceeded and went fooyth in his ſparable, ſaying,

2 O that I were as I was in the monethes paſt, and in the dayes when GOD preſerued me:

3 When his a lyght ſhined vppon my head, when I went after the ſame lyght, and ſhyning euen thzough the darkeneſſe:

4 As it ſtoode with me when I was young, when God proſpered my houſe:

5 When the almightie was yet with me, when my chyldzen ſtoode about me:

6 When I waſhed my b ſteppes with butter, and when the ſtonie rockes gaue me ryuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement ſeate, and when I prepared my ſeate in the ſtreete:

8 The c young men ſawe me, and hyd themſelues, and the d aged aroſe, & ſtoode vp:

9 The e princes left of their talkyng, and layde their hande to their mouth:

10 The mightie kept ſtyll their voyce, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 When the eare hearde me, it bleſſed me: and when the eye ſawe me, it gaue witneſſe to me.

12 For I deliuered the poore when he cryed, and the fatherleſſe, and him that had none to helpe hym.

13 The bleſſyng of him that was redy to periſhe, came vpon me, and I cauſed the wydowes hart to reioyce.

14 I put vpon me ryghteouſneſſe, whiche couered me as a garment, and equitie was my crowne.

15 I was an eye to the blynde, and a foote to the lame.

16 I was a father to the poore: and when I knewe not the cauſe, I ſought it out diligently.

17 I brake the iawes of the vnryghteous man, & pluckt the ſpoyle out of his teeth.

18 Then I ſayde, I ſhal dye in my neſt and I ſhal multiplie my dayes as the ſande.

19 For my roote was ſpzead out by the waters ſide, and the deawe lay vpon my "cozne.

20 Mine honour encreaſed more and more, and my bowe was "euer the ſtronger in myne hande.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, me they regarded, and kept ſilence at my counſel.

22 After my woozdes they anſweared not, and my talke dzopped vpon them.

23 They

a. That is, when as his honour preſerued me.

b. That is, when I had all thinges moſt abundantly, for mylke and oyle ſignifie al plentifulneſſe: and here Iob deſcribeth his proſperitie in tymes paſt, to the encreaſe of his greefe.

c. As abaſhed at his countenance and aſtonied of their youthful lyghtneſſe,

d. Knowyng both his wyſedome and eſtimation.

e. Only to heare him, for the great wiſedome that appeared in hym excellyng them, caſed their tongues to be in ſilence.

"or, horne.

23 They f wayted for me as for the rayne, and gaped vpon me as the grounde doth to receiue the latter shewre.

24 When I laughed on them, they g beleeued it not, and the lyght of my countenance woulde they not put out.

25 I tryed out their way, I sate as cheefe, and dwelt as a kyng with his armie about hym: and when they were in heauines, I was their comforter.

f. That is, most swiftly.

g. It is the maner among the Hebrues to haue their garmentes sowed round in euery part: sauyng a hole only in the hyghest of it, to put foorth the necke.

¶ The. xxx. Chapter.

1. Iob complayneth that he is contemned of the vilest, 11. 21. because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23. Death is the house of al fleshe.

BUt a nowe they that are younger then I, haue me in derision: whose fathers I wouldе haue thought scorne to haue set with the dogges of my cattel.

2 Whereto myght the strength of b their handes profite me? for the tyme was but lost among them.

3 For very c miserie and hunger they fled into the wildernesse, a darke place, horrible, and wast, 4 Pluckyng vp " nettles among the bushes, and the Iuniper rootes for their meate.

5 And when they were dryuen foorth, men cryed after them, as it had ben after a theefe.

6 Their d dwelling was in the clyftes of brookes, yea in the caues and dennes of the earth.

7 Among the bushes went they about crying, and vnder the thornes they geathered them selues togeather.

8 They were the chyldren of fooles and villaynes, which are the vilest in the earth.

9 Nowe am I their song, and am become their iesting stocke.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and stayne my face with spittell.

11 Because God hath loosed my corde, and humbled me, they haue loosed the bridle before me.

12 Vpon my right hand ryse the young men against me, they haue hurt my feete, treadyng vpon me, as vpon the wayes which they wouldе destroy.

13 My pathes haue they cleane marred, it was so easie for them to do me harme, that they needed no man to helpe them.

14 They fel vpon me, as it had ben the breakyng in of waters, and came in by heapes to destroy me.

15 Feare is turned vpon me, and they pursue my soule as the winde, and my health passeth away as f a cloude.

16 Therefore is my soule nowe powred out vpon me, and the dayes of my trouble haue taken holde vpon me.

17 My bones are pearsed through in the myght season, and my sinowes take no rest.

18 For the vehemencie of sorowe is my garment changed, whiche compasseth me about, as the g coller of my coate.

19 He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become lyke ashes and dust.

20 When h I crye vnto thee, thou doest not heare me: and though I stande before thee, yet thou regardest me not.

21 Thou art become myne enimie, and with thy violent hande thou takest part against me.

22 In tymes past thou diddest i set me vp on hygh, to be caryed as it were aboue the wynde, but nowe hast thou geuen me a very sore fal.

23 Sure I am that thou wylt bring me vnto death, euen to the lodgyng that is due vnto all men lyuyng.

24 Notwithstandyng, thou wylt not stretche out thyne hande against hym that is in the graue, though men crye in his destruction.

25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? Had not my soule compassion vpon the poore?

26 Yet whereas I looked for good, euyl came vnto me: and k where I wayted for lyght, there came darknesse.

27 My bowelles seethe in me without rest, for the dayes of my trouble are come vpon me.

28 I went mournyng without heate, I stoode vp in the congregation, and cryed.

29 I am a brother of Dragons, and a felowe of Estriches.

30 My skin vpon me is turned to blacke, and my bones are brent with heate.

31 My harpe is turned to mournyng, and my instrumentes of musicke, into the voyce of them that weepe.

h. Iob sayth not this as blamyng God, but greeuous affliction mooued affection.

i. That is, thou diddest set me in hygh auctoritie, and suddenly thou puttest me downe.

k. In steade of comfort they gaue me mockes.

¶ The. xxxi. Chapter.

Iob rehearseth the innocencie of his lyuyng, and number of his vertues.

I Made a a couenant with myne eyes, that I wouldе not looke vpon a mayden.

2 For how great a portion shal I haue of God from aboue: and what inheritance of the almightie from an hygh?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked? and some strange thyng to the workers of iniquitie?

a. In this chapter Iob declareth his vpright lyuing, not to boast against God, but to refel the false slaunder of his aduersaries.

4 Doth

4 Dooth not he ſee my wayes, and tel al my goynges?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my feete haue runne to deceiue:

6 Let me be weyghed in an euen ballance, that God may ſee myne innocencie.

7 If my ſtep haue turned out of ỹ way, and myne hart walked after myne eyes, and if any blot haue cleaued to myne handes:

8 Then ſhall I ſowe, and another eate: yea my "posteritie ſhalbe cleane rooted out.

9 If my hart haue ben deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laid wayte at my neighbours dooze:

10 Then let my wyfe b grynd vnto another man, and let other men "lye with her.

11 For this is a wickednelle, and ſinne that is woozthy to be iudged:

12 Yea, a c fyre that vtterly ſhoulde conſume and roote out all my increaſe.

13 If I euer thought ſcorne to do right vnto my ſeruantes and maydens when they had any matter againſt me, 14 When God d wil ſit in iudgement, what ſhal I doo? and when he wyl viſite me, what aunſweare ſhall I geue hym?

15 He that e faſhioned me in my mothers wombe, made he not him alſo? were we not both ſhapen alike in our mothers bodies?

16 If I denied the pooze of their deſyre, or haue cauſed the eyes of the wyddowe to wayte in vayne:

17 If I haue eaten my f morſel alone, that the fatherleſſe hath not eaten therof:

18 (For from my youth mercy hath bzought me vp as a father, and hath guyded me from my mothers wombe.)

19 If I haue ſeene any periſh for want of clothyng, or any pooze lackyng rayment:

20 If his loynes haue not bleſſed me, becauſe he was warmed with the fleece of my ſheepe:

21 If I haue lyft vp mine hand againſt the fatherleſſe, when I ſawe that I myght helpe hym in the gate:

22 Then let myne arme fall from my ſhoulder, and myne arme be bzoken from the bone.

23 For I haue feared the vengeance of God, and knewe very wel that I was not able to beare his burden.

24 Haue I put my truſt in golde? or haue I ſayde to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence.

25 Haue I reioyced becauſe my power was great, & becauſe my hande gat ſo much?

26 Dyd I g beholde the ſunne when it ſhined? or the moone walkyng in her bzyghtneſſe?

27 Hath my hart ben ſecretly deceiued? or dyd I kyſſe myne owne hande?

28 (That were a wickednelle woozthy to be iudged: for then ſhoulde I haue denyed the God that is aboue.)

29 Haue I reioyced at the hurt of myne enimie? or was I glad that any harme happened vnto hym?

30 I neuer ſuffered my mouth to ſinne by willhyng a curſe to his ſoule.

31 Did not the men of mine owne houſholde ſay, Who ſhal geue vs of his fleſhe? we can not be ſatisfied.

32 The ſtranger dyd not lodge in the ſtreete, but I opened my doozes vnto hym that went by the way.

33 Haue I kept ſecrete my ſinne, & hyd myne iniquitie in my boſome, as Adam dyd?

34 If I feared a great multitude, or the deſpiſing of the meaneſt of a familie, I woulde haue kept ſcilence, and not gone out of the h dooze.

35 O that I had one whiche woulde heare me: behold my ſigne that the almightie wyl witneſſe for me, though myne aduerſarie write a booke againſt me.

36 Surely I wyll take it vpon my ſhoulder, and as a garlande bynde it about my head.

37 I wyl tel him the number of my goynges, and go vnto hym, as to a k prince.

38 If my lande l crye againſt me, or that the m forowes therof make any complaint:

39 If I haue eaten the fruites therof vnpayde for, yea if I haue greeued the ſoules of the "maiſters therof:

40 Then let thiſtles growe in ſteade of wheate, and cockle for barley.

Here ende the woordes of Iob.

¶ The.xxxii. Chapter.

6. Elihu reproueth them of folke. 8 Age maketh not a man vvyſe, but the ſpirite of God.

SO theſe three men ceaſſed to aunſweare Iob, a becauſe he helde him ſelfe a righteous man.

2 But Elihu the ſonne of Barachel the Buſite, of the kynred of Ram, was very ſore diſpleaſed at Iob, becauſe he called hym ſelfe iuſt before God.

3 And with Iobs three freendes he was angrie alſo, becauſe they had founde no aunſweare, and yet condemned Iob.

4 Nowe tarped Elihu tyll they had ended their communication with Iob: for they were elder then he.

5 So when Elihu ſawe that theſe three men were not able to make Iob aunſweare he was miſcontent.

6 Therefore Elihu the ſonne of Barachel or, plantes.

b. Let her be a bonde ſlaue to another man or, bowe downe vpon her.

c. Though mans puniſhment for adultrie be omitted, yet Gods plague wyll neuer reſt to conſume and roote it out.

d. That is, if I in lawe haue reiected the cõplaynt of my ſeruant, what ſhoulde I doo when God calleth me to law.

e. Iob expreſſeth the cauſe why he did pity his ſeruantes, for that they had one creator, and both made of the ſame ſubſtance.

f. Meaning that he hath ben beneficiall to the poore, to the fatherleſſe and widdowes.

g. Dyd I vſe to worſhyp the ſunne or moone, as other gentiles which were idolaters.

k. Meanyng that he dyd not hold his peace, or keepe at home in the iuſt ſuite or cauſe of any.

i. That is, I wyll cary the booke that the aduerſarie ſhall make vpon my ſhoulder, & wyl accept it for a great gyft, meanyng, he would confeſſe his fault yf he had offended.

k. That is with great reuerence.

l. That is, yf the hyrelyng that hath laboured in the lande, haue ben defrauded of his wages by me.

m. That is, yf I haue by violence expelled my lande to be eared, and haue geuen foode to the labourers.

or, husbandmen

a. The Hebrue reade, was iuſte in his owne eſtimation.

chel, the Buzite, answeared, and saide, I am young, and ye be men of age, I was afraide, and durst not shewe foorth my minde.
7 For I thought thus within mee selfe, a It becommeth olde men to speake, and the a aged to teache wysedome.
8 Euery man no doubt hath a minde, but it is the inspiration of the Almightie that geueth vnderstanding.
9 Great men are not alway wyse, neyther dooth euery aged man vnderstand a the thing that is lawfull:
10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I wyl shewe you also myne vnderstandyng.
11 For when I had wayted til ye made an ende of your talking, and heard your wysedome, b what argumentes ye made in your communication,
12 Yea when I had diligently pondred what ye saide, I founde not one of you that made any good argument against Iob, that could answeare his woordes.
13 Lest ye should say, We haue c found out wysedome, God shal cast him downe, and no man.
14 He hath not spoken vnto me, and I wyl not answeare him as ye haue doone.
15 For they were so abashed, that they coulde not make answeare, nor speake one woord.
16 When I had wayted (for they spake not, but stoode stil, and answeared no more.) 17 Then answeared I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.
18 For I am ful of a matter, and the spirite within me compelleth me.
19 Behold, my d belly is as the wine which hath no vent, like the newe bottels that burst.
20 Therefore wyl I speake, that I may take breath: I wyl open my lippes, & make answeare.
21 I wyl e regard no maner of person,
no man wyl I spare.
22 For yf I would goe about to f please men, I knowe not howe soone my maker would take me away.

¶ The xxxiii. Chapter.

5. Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14. He sheweth that GOD hath diuers meanes to instruct man, and to drawe him from sinne.

WHerefore heare my woordes, O Iob, and hearken vnto al that I wyl say:
2 Behold, I haue now opened my mouth, my tongue hath spoken in my throte.
3 My hart dooth order my woordes aright, and my lippes talke of pure wysdome.
4 The a spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almightie hath geuen me life.
5 If thou canst geue me answeare, prepare thee selfe, and stand before me.
6 Behold, b before God, I am euen as thou: for I am fashioned and made euen of the same moulde.
7 Behold, my terrour shal not feare thee, neither shal my hand be heauie vppon thee.
8 c Now hast thou spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy woordes:
9 I am cleane without any fault, I am innocent, and there is no wickednesse in me.
10 But loe, he hath picked a quarell against me, and taketh me for his enimie:
11 He hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narowly vnto all my pathes.
12 Behold, in this hast thou not doone right, I wyl make answeare vnto thee, that God is greater then man.
13 And why dooest thou then striue a-gaynst him? for he shall not geue thee ac-comptes of all his woordes.
14 For God speaketh d once or twyse, and yet man vnderstanderh it not.
15 In dreames and visions of the night, when slumbring commeth vpon men, that they fall a sleepe in their beds, 16 He openeth the eares of men, and correcteth them:
17 That he may withdraw man from his purposes, and deliuer him from e pride, 18 And keepe his soule from the graue,
and his lyfe from the swoord.
19 He chasteneth him with sickenesse vp-on his bedde, he layeth sore punishment vp-on his bones:
20 So that his f life may away with no breade, and his soule abhorreth to eate any daintie meate:
21 Insomuche that his flesche is cleane consumed away, and his bones are broken that they can not be seene.
22 His soule draweth vnto the graue,
and his lyfe to a death.
23 Nowe yf there be a messenger, one among a thousande, sent for to speake vnto man, and to shewe him the right way:
24 Then the Lorde is mercifull vnto him, and sayth, He shalbe deliuered, that he fall not downe to the graue: for I am sufficiently reconciled.
25 Then shal his flesche be as freshe as a childes, and shall returne, as in the dayes of his youth.
26 He shal pray vnto God, and he wyll be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy, for he wyl render vnto man his righteousnesse.
27 A respect hath he vnto men, let man

b Iob before desyred to pleade his cause before God without feare, therefore sayth Elihu, I am here in Gods steede, whom thou needest not to feare: for I am made of the matter that thou art.

c. I haue heard the boast of thy righteous lyfe, that thou art innocent and iust, therefore wyl I not proue thee wicked of thy former life, but by these thy woordes.

d God speaketh two maner of wayes vnto men, eyther by sleepes or by his rod of sickenesse and other plagues.

e. For to beate downe the pride of man, God sendeth his plagues.

f. That is, sickenesse that decayeth lyfe, can take no sustenance.

a or, to the buriers.

then ſay, I haue offended, I did vnrighteouſly, and it hath doone me no good:

28 He hath deliuered my ſoule from deſtruction, and g my life ſhall ſee the lyght.

29 Loe, all theſe woorketh God * alway with man:

30 That he bring backe his ſoule from the graue to the lyght, euen the light of the liuing.

31 Marke wel, O Iob, and heare me: holde thee ſtil, and I wyl ſpeake.

32 But yf thou haſt any thing to ſay, then h anſweare me, and ſpeake, for I deſyre to iuſtifye thee.

33 If thou haſt nothing, then heare me, and holde thy tongue, and I ſhal teache thee wyſedome.

Elihu chargeth Iob that he calleth hym ſelfe ryghteous.12. He ſheweth that God is iuſt in iudgementes.

ELihu anſweared, and ſaide,

2 Heare my woordes, O ye a wyſe men, hearken vnto me, ye that haue vnderſtanding:

3 For the eare diſcerneth woordes, and the mouth taſteth meates.

4 As for b iudgement let vs ſeeke it out among our ſelues, that we may knowe what is good.

5 For Iob hath ſaide, I am righteous, and God hath c taken away my iudgement.

6 In my right I muſt be a lyer: my wound is incurable without my fault.

7 Where is there ſuche a one as Iob, that d dzinketh vp ſcornefulneſſe like water,

8 Which goeth in the companie of wicked dooers, and walketh with vngodly men?

9 For he hath ſaide, It profiteth a man nothing that he ſhould walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me ye that haue vnderſtanding: farre be it from God that he ſhoulde meddle with wickednes, and farre be it from the almightie that he ſhould meddle with vnrighteous dealing.

11 For he ſhall rewarde man after his woorkes, and cauſe euery man to fynde accozding to his wayes.

12 Sure it is that God wyl not doo wickedly, neither wyll the almightie peruert iudgement.

13 Who ruleth the earth but he? oz who hath placed the whole worlde?

14 Yf he ſet his hart vpon man, and gather vnto him ſelfe his || ſpirite & his breath:

15 All fleſh ſhal come to nought at once, and man ſhall turne agayne vnto duſt.

16 If thou nowe haue vnderſtandyng, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my woordes:

17 May he be a e ruler that loueth not ryght? wylt thou iudge him wicked that is moſt iuſt?

18 Wylt thou ſay vnto a king, thou art wicked? oz to princes ye are vngodly.

19 || God hath no reſpect vnto the perſons of the princes, and regardeth not the riche more then the poore: for they be all the woorke of his handes.

20 In the f twinckling of an eye ſhal they dye, and the people ſhalbe troubled at midnight, and paſſe away, and the mightie ſhalbe taken away without hand.

21 For his eyes looke vppon the wayes of man, and he ſeeth al his goinges.

22 There is no darkneſſe nor ſhadowe of death, that can hide the wicked dooers from him.

23 For God wyll not lay vppon man more then he hath ſinned, that he ſhould enter into iudgement with him.

24 He ſhall deſtroy the mightie without ſeeking, and ſhall ſet other in their g ſteade.

25 Therefore ſhall he declare their woorkes: he ſhal h turne the night, and they ſhalbe deſtroyed.

26 The vngodly doth he puniſhe i openly.

27 Becauſe they turned backe from him, and would not conſyder all his wayes:

28 Inſomuch that they haue cauſed the voyce of the k poore to come vnto him, and nowe he heareth the complaint of ſuche as are in trouble.

29 When he geueth quietneſſe, who can make trouble? and when he hydeth his face, who can behold him? whether it be vpon nations, oz vpon one man only?

30 Becauſe the hypocrite dooth raigne, and becauſe the people are ſnared.

31 Surely of God onely it can be ſaide, I haue pardoned, I wyl not deſtroy.

32 If I haue gon amiſſe, enſourme thou me: yf I haue doone wrong, I wyll leaue of.

33 Wyl he perfourme the thing thzough thee? for thou haſt reprooued his iudgement, thine is the choyſe, and not myne: but ſpeake on what thou knoweſt.

34 Let men of vnderſtanding tell me, and let a wyſe man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not ſpoken of knowledge, neither were his woordes accozdyng to wyſdome.

36 O I father, let Iob be "wel tryed, becauſe he hath anſweared for wicked men:

37 Yea aboue his ſinne he dooth wickedly, triumpheth among vs, and multiplieth his woordes agaynſt God.

¶ The

a. Here Elihu proueth that God can not be vniuſt, becauſe he is the iudge of the worlde, the gouernour and creator of al.

b. Let vs ſcan the cauſe by reaſonyng vpryghtly.

c. That is, he hath not dealt with me accordyng to the equitie of my cauſe.

d. That is, for his fooliſhneſſe he beareth the ſcorneful reproſes of the mockers.

e. As though Elihu woulde ſay, is it meete that the vniuſt and wicked ſhalbe rulers, or innocentes commit wickednes, or inferiours to controle princes, or ſubiectes to reſiſt the king? howe much leſſe then ought ye thou to doo ſo to God the kyng of al kinges?

|| Rom. 2.11

f. That is, ſodainely before they are aware of it.

g. God exalteth one and humbleth an other, as the foure monarches of the worlde for example, that is, of the Aſſyrians, of the Perſians, of the Grecians, and of the Romanes: as God dooth mightily, ſo doth he iuſtly.

h. That is, he ſhal bring to light that which lay in darkneſſe.

i. That is, in the ſight of al men.

k. Through theyr cruel and vnmerciful handlyng of them.

l. Elihu dooth not wiſhe to Iob any euil, but deſireth god that he may acknowledge his offence: the whiche can not be brought to paſſe but by affliction.

" oz, vnto the ende.

¶ The.xxxv. Chapter.

6. Neyther doeth godlineſſe profite, or vngodlineſſe hurt God, but man. 18. The vvicked crye vnto God, and are not hearde.

EHihu a ſpake moreouer and ſayde,
2 Thinkeſt thou it ryght that thou ſayeſt, I am more ryghteous then God?
3 For thou ſayeſt, What aduantage wyl it be vnto thee, and what profite ſhal I haue yf I be cleanſed from my ſinne?
4 I wyl anſwere thee a woorde, and thy b companions with thee.
5 Looke vnto the heauen, and behold it, conſyder the c cloudes, whiche are hygher then thou.
6 If thou haſt d ſinned, what haſt thou done agaynſt him? yf thine offences be many, what haſt thou done vnto hym?
7 If thou be e ryghteous, what geueſt thou hym? or what wyl he receyue of thine hande?
8 Thy wickednesſe may hurt a man as thou art, and thy righteouſneſſe may profite the ſonne of man.
9 They which are oppreſſed crye out vpon the multitude, yea they crye out for the power of the mightie.
10 But none ſayth, Where is God that made me? and that geueth " vs occaſion to praiſe hym in the nyght?
11 Which teacheth vs more then the beaſtes of the earth, and geueth vs more wiſdome then the foules of heauen.
12 If any f ſuche complayne, no man geueth anſweare, and that becauſe of the wickednesſe of proude tyrantes.
13 For God wyl not heare vanitie, neyther wyl the almightie regarde it.
14 Although thou ſayeſt to God thou wylt not regarde it: yet iudgement is before hym, truſt thou in hym.
15 But nowe becauſe his anger hath not viſited, neyther called men to accompt with great extremitie:
16 Therefore doth Iob open his mouth in vayne, and he maketh many woordes without knowledge.

¶ The.xxxvi. Chapter.

1. Elihu ſheweth the power of God. 6. and his iuſtice, 9. and vvherefore he puniſheth. 13. The propertie of the vvycked.

ELihu alſo proceeded, and ſayde,
2 Holde thee ſtyl a litle, and I ſhall ſhewe thee what I haue yet to ſpeake on Gods behalfe.
3 I wyl open vnto thee yet farre hygher knowledge, and wyl aſcribe righteouſneſſe vnto my maker,
4 And truely my woordes ſhall not be vayne, ſeeing he is with thee that is a perfect in knowledge.
5 Beholde, the great God caſteth away no man, for he hym ſelfe is b mightie in power and wyſedome.
6 As for the vngodly, he ſhal not preſerue him, but ſhal helpe the poore to their ryght.
7 He ſhal not turne his eyes away from the ryghteous, but as c kynges ſhal they be in their throne, he ſhall ſtabliſhe them for euer, and they ſhalbe exalted.
8 But if they be layde in chaynes, or bounde with the bondes of trouble, 9 Then wyll he d ſhewe them their woorke, and their ſinnes whiche they haue committed ſtoutly.
10 He openeth their eare alſo to diſcipline, and warneth them to leaue of from their wyckednesſe.
11 If they nowe wyll take heede and ſerue hym, they ſhal weare out their dayes in proſperitie, and their yeeres in pleaſure.
12 But if they wyl not hearken, they ſhal goe through the ſwoorde, and peryſhe, or euer they be aware.
13 As for e hypocrites in hart, they ſhal heape vp wrath for them ſelues, for they cal not vpon him, though they be his pryſoners.
14 Thus ſhal their ſoule periſhe in " fooliſhneſſe, and their lyfe among the fornicatours.
15 The poore ſhal he delyuer out of his affliction, and " rounde them in the eare when they be in trouble.
16 Euen ſo woulde he take thee out of the ſtraite place, into a brode place in the which there is no straitneſſe: yea and make thy table quiet, repleniſhed with fatneſſe.
17 Neuertheleſſe, f thou haſt commended the iudgement of the vngodly, and euen ſuche a iudgement and ſentence ſhalt thou ſuffer.
18 And ſeeing there is g wrath vvith God beware leſt he take thee away in thy wealth, and all that thou haſt to redeeme thee, can not delyuer thee.
19 Thinkeſt thou that he wyl regarde thy rycheſſe? he ſhal not care for golde, nor for al them that excell in ſtrength.
20 Spende not the nyght in careſull thoughtes, howe he deſtroyeth the people out of their place.
21 Beware that thou turne not aſide to wickednesſe, whiche hytherto thou haſt choſen more then affliction, 22 Beholde, God is of a mightie high power: where is there ſuch a teacher as he?
23 Who wil reproue him of his way? who wyl ſay vnto him, Thou haſt done wrong?

a. Iob holding his peace, Elihu went on in his talke.

b. To ſuch as are lyke to thee in obſtinacie, not leauing thy great errour.

c. If the cloudes are higher then thou, howe muche more is God excellyng thee in al.

d. It doeth teache aduantage God whether we be good or euyl, or he needeth or mans helpe, he is moſt mightie, his maieſtie is moſt glorious.

e. As though we woulde ſay, we do good, it is our owne: we doo euyl, it is ours alſo.

" Or, tongues.

f. That is, God careth them not, becauſe they pray not earneſtly to hym in their ſayth.

a. And therefore credite my ſayinges, for I come to pleade for Gods cauſe.

b. And therefore he wyl not deſtroy the iuſt, the wyſe, and the godly, ſeeing they are therein lyke vnto hym.

c. So God doeth exalt the godly, and they that loue hym.

d. If he ſhal plague the ryghteous, he wyl declare the cauſe of the ſame.

e. Hypocrites that confeſſe God in their mouthes and not in their hartes, wyl not acknowledge their offence, and ſo runne into deſperation and confuſion.

" Or, youth.

f. Thou haſt alowed the counſel of the wycked, and layde aſyde the counſel of God as vniuſt.

g. Meanyng, thou ſhalt be in paynes which can not be releaſed for any price.

24 Remember that thou doo magnifie his woorke, which men dos prayſe.

25 Al men ſee it, yea men doo beholde it a farre of.

26 Beholde, ſo great is GOD, that he paſſeth our knowledge, h neyther can the number of his yeeres be ſearched out.

27 He turneth the water to ſmal drops, he dryueth his cloudes togeather to rayne:

28 Which rayne the cloudes doo drop, and let fal abundantly vpon men.

29 Who can conſyder the i ſpreadyng out of his cloudes, the coueringes of his tabernacle?

30 Behold, he doeth ſtretch his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the ſea.

31 For by theſe * gouerneth he his people, and geueth them abundance of meate.

32 With the cloudes he hideth the light, and at his commaundement it breaketh out.

33 Whiche daſhing vppon the next cloudes, ſhewe tokens of wrath.

h. For he is God from euerlaſting, without beginning or ending.

i. Gods maieſtie is wonderfully declared in his creatures.

* or, iudgeth.

¶ The. xxxvii. Chapter.

2. Elihu prooueth that the vnſearchable vviſdome of God is manifeſt by his vvorkes, 4. as by the thunder, 6. the ſnovve, 9. the vvhirle vvynde, 11. and the rayne.

AT a this alſo my hart is aſtonied, and moued out of his place.

2 Heare b then the ſounde of his voyce, and the noyſe that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, & his light vnto the endes of the worlde.

4 A roring voyce foloweth it: for his glorious maieſtie geueth a thunder clap, and he wyl not ſtay when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundereth marueylouſly with his voyce, great thinges doeth he, which we can not comprehende.

6 He commaundeth the ſnowe, and it falleth vpon earth: he geueth the rayne a charge, and the ſhewers haue their ſtrength and fal downe.

7 With the force of the rayne he ſhutteth men vp, that al men may knowe c his woorkes.

8 The beaſtes d creepe into their dennes, and remayne in theyr places.

9 Out of the ſouth commeth the tempeſt, and colde out from the north wynde.

10 At the e breath of God the hoare froſt is geuen, and the brode waters are froſen.

11 He maketh the cloudes to labour, in geuing moyſtneſſe, and agayne, with his lyght he dryueth away the cloude.

a. That is, at Gods wonderful creatures, as the thunder, and ſuch lyke.

b. As though he woulde ſay, the thunder is the dreadfull voyce of God.

c. Whiche woorkes are as it were a confirmation of gods maieſtie: for as ſoone as the thunder commeth, they flee for feare, wherin they ſhewe theyr owne weakneſſe, and doo witneſſe a maieſtie of god on hygh.

d. Not onely mā, but beaſtes alſo are witneſſes of Gods power and maieſtie, whē they runne to theyr dennes for feare of the thunder.

e. Meaning, the windes whiche are called the breath of God, whiche as they blowe hot or cold, ſo they freeſe or thawe the waters, making them leſſer and greater.

12 He turneth the heauens about by his gouernement, that they may doo what ſo euer he commaundeth them vpon the whole worlde.

13 He cauſeth rayne to come, whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or to doo good to them that ſecke hym.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob, ſtand ſtyl, and conſyder the wonderous woorkes of God.

15 Dydſt thou knowe when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the f light of his cloudes to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the varietie of the cloudes, and the woonderous woorkes of hym which is perfect in knowledge?

17 And howe thy clothes are warme, when the lande is ſtyll through the ſouth wynde?

18 Haſt thou helped him to ſpreade out the heauens, which are ſtrong, and bryght as a g moulten glaſſe?

19 Teache vs what we ſhall ſay vnto hym: for we are vnmeete to frame our talke, becauſe of h darkeneſſe.

20 Shall it be tolde him what I ſay? Shal man ſpeake when he ſhalbe deſtroyed?

21 For men ſee not the lyght that ſhyneth in the cloudes, but the wynde paſſeth and cleanſeth them.

22 The * fayre weather commeth out of the north, the prayſe thereof is to GOD, who is terrible.

23 It is the almightie, we can not finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iuſtice: he afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore i feare him: for there ſhal no man ſee him that is wyſe in his owne conceyte.

f. That is, the lyghtnyng.

g. For the clearenteſſe or bryghtneſſe of them.

h. That is, of our ignorance.

* Heb. cold.

i. Alludyng to Iob.

¶ The. xxxviii. Chapter.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the ignorance of man in the conſyderation of his creatures.

THen anſweared the Lorde vnto Iob out of the a whirle winde, and ſayde, 2 What is he that b darkeneth his counſel by woordes without knowledge?

3 Girde vp thy c loynes lyke a man: for I wyl queſtion with thee, geue me an anſweare.

4 Where d waſt thou when I layde the fundations of the earth? tel me, if thou haſt vnderſtanding.

5 Who hath meaſured it, knoweſt thou? or who hath ſpread the line vpon it?

6 Whereupon are the fundations ſet? or who layde the corner ſtone thereof?

a. To ſhewe his maieſty, and to inſtruct Iob, before whom he ſpake.

b. That ſpeaketh ſo courtely & obſcurely.

c. That is, prepare thee ſelfe to anſweare.

d. Inferring by this, that he coulde not conceyue Gods woonderfull woorkes, much leſſe his vnſearchable wiſdome.

7 VVhere vvast thou when the morning ſtarres prayſed me togeather, and all the chyldren of God reioyced triumphantly?

8 Who ſhut vp the ſea with doores, whē it brake foorth as out of the wombe?

9 When I made the cloudes a couering for it, and darkeneſſe as his ſwadlyng bande,

10 When I gaue it my commaundement, making doores and barres for it, 11 Saying, Hytherto ſhalt thou come, but no further, and here ſhalt thou lay downe thy proude waues?

12 Haſt thou geuen the morning his charge ſince thy dayes, and ſhewed the day ſpring his place, 13 That it might take holde of the "corners of the earth, and that the vngodly might be ſhaken out of it?

14 e They are faſhioned as is the clay to the ſeale, and ſhalbe as a garment.

15 The vngodly ſhalbe diſappoynted of their lyght, and "the arme of the proude ſhalbe broken.

16 f Cameſt thou euer into the "ground of the ſea, or walkedſt in the lowe ſteppes of the deepe?

17 Haue the gates of death ben opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſeene the doores of the ſhadowe of death?

18 Haſt thou alſo perceiued howe brode the earth is? Yf thou haſt knowledge of all this:

19 Then ſhew me the way where light dwelleth, and where is the place of darkneſs?

20 That thou ſhouldeſt receiue it in the boundes thereof, and knowe the pathes to their houſes?

21 Knoweſt thou afore thou waſt borne howe olde thou ſhouldeſt be?

22 g Wenteſt thou euer into the treaſures of the ſnowe, or haſt thou ſeene the ſecrete places of the hayle?

23 Whiche I haue "prepared againſt the tyme of trouble, againſt the tyme of battayle and warre?

24 By what way is the lyght parted? and into what lande breaketh the eaſt wynd?

25 Who diuideth the waters into diuers chanelles? or the way for the lyghtnyng, and thunder, 26 To cauſe it to rayne on the earth, where no man is, h in the wylderneſſe where none inhabiteth?

27 To ſatiſfie the deſolate and waſt grounde, and to cauſe the bud of the hearbe to ſpryng foorth?

28 Who is the b father of the rayne? or who hath begotten the droppes of the deaw?

29 Out of whoſe wombe came the yce? Who hath gendred the "coldnes of the ayre?

30 That the waters are "i hid as with a ſtone, and lye congeled about the deepe?

31 Canſt thou binde the ſeuen ſtarres togeather? or looſe the bandes of Orion?

32 Canſt thou bryng forth the morning ſtarre in his tyme? canſt thou alſo guyde "the euenyng ſtarre with his ſonnes?

33 Knoweſt thou the courſe of heauen, that thou mayeſt ſet vp the ordinance therof vpon the earth?

34 Canſt thou lyft vp thy voyce to the cloudes, that they may powre downe a great rayne vpon thee?

35 Canſt thou ſende the lyghtenynges, that they may go their way, ſaying vnto thee, Loe here are we?

36 Who hath put wiſdome in p reynes? or who hath geuen the hart vnderſtandyng?

37 Who numbreth the cloudes in wyſdome? who ſtylleth the vehement "waters of the heauen?

38 k To cauſe the earth to growe into hardneſſe, and the clottes to cleaue faſt togeather?

39 l Wylt thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fil the appetite of the lions whelpes?

40 When they couche in their places, and tarrie in the couert to lye in wayte?

41 Who prouideth meate for the Raue, when his young ones crye vnto God, and flee about for lacke of meate?

"Some reade, hyde.

i. They yce couered it, as though it were paued with ſtone.

"or, Arimmus.

k. For ſo groweth the earth by the want of rayne.

l. After he had ſhewed his marualyes aboue, he commeth to the earthly creatures, as though God woulde ſay, The thyngs on the cloudes are vnknowen vnto thee, yea euen things on earth thou durſt not do: how muche leſſe then durſt thou to reache to Gods ſecret wyſedome?

The. xxxix. Chapter.

God proceedeth in declaryng the ignorance of Iob, in the conſyderation of his marueylous vvorks, in beaſtes and fovvles.

KNoweſt thou the tyme when the wylde Goates bryng forth their young among the rockes? or a laieſt thou waite when the Hyndes vſe to calue?

a. He cheefly reciteth theſe beaſts, for they bryng foorth their younglinges with greateſt payne.

2 Canſt thou number the monethes that they go with young? or knoweſt thou the time when they bryng foorth?

3 They lye downe, they calue their young ones, and they are deliuered of their trauayle and payne:

4 Yet their young ones growe vp, and waxe fat through good feedyng with corne: they goe foorth, and returne not agayne vnto them.

5 Who letteth the wilde aſſe to go free? or who looſeth the bondes of the wylde aſſe?

6 Euen I whiche haue geuen the wyldernes to be their houſe, and the b barrayne lande to be their dwellyng.

b. Some reade, Salt places, meanyng, barrayne grounde.

7 He ſcorneth the multitude of the citie, neyther regardeth the crying of the driuer:

8 But ſeeketh his paſture about the mountaynes, and foloweth the greene graſſe.

9 Wyll

"or, vvinges.

e. Though the vngodly truſt in their eſtate to endure long, yet they ſhalbe as weake as clay, and as a garment ſhall ſoone periſhe.

"or, the hygh arme.

f. A iudge ought to be skylfull in the cauſe that he iudgeth: but ſeeyng thou knoweſt none of theſe things that are viſible, why wylt thou preſume to iudge of things inuiſible?

"or, bottome.

g. No man can goe in the place where the ſnowe is tendred: much leſſe may Iob clyme vp to attayne to know Gods ſecretes.

h. Meanyng God is the creator & maker of al things

"or, froſt of the heauen.

9 Wyll the c Unicorne do thee ſeruice, or abyde ſtyll by thy cribbe?

10 Canſt thou binde the yoke about the Unicorne in the forowe, to make hym plowe after thee in the valleyes?

11 Wayeſt thou truſt hym becauſe he is ſtrong, or commit thy labour vnto him?

12 Wayeſt thou beleeue hym that he wyl bryng home thy "corne, or cary it into thy barne?

13 Gaueſt thou the fayre wynges vnto the Pecockes, or wynges and feathers vnto the Eſtritche?

14 The Eſtritche leaueth her egges in the earth, and heateth them in the duſt.

15 She remembreth not that they might be troden with feete, or broken with ſome wylde beaſt.

16 So harde is ſhe vnto her young ones, as though they were not hers, and d laboureth in vayne without any feare.

17 And that becauſe God hath e taken wiſedome from her, and hath not geuen her vnderſtandyng.

18 When her time is that ſhe mounteth on hygh, ſhe careth neyther for the horſe, nor the rider.

19 f Haſt thou geuen the horſe his ſtrength? or learned him to ney courageouſly?

20 Canſt thou make hym afrayde as a graſſhopper? his ſtoute neying is fearefull.

21 He breaketh the grounde vvith the hooſes of his feete he reioyceth in his ſtrength, and runneth to meete the harueſt men.

22 He mocketh at feare, & is not afrayd, neyther ſtarteth he backe from the ſwoorde.

23 Though the quiuers rattle vpon him, though the ſpeare and ſhielde glyſter:

24 Yet ruſheth he in fiercely, beatyng the grounde, he regardeth not the noyſe of the trumpettes:

25 But when the trumpets make moſt noyſe, he ſayth, "Tuſhe, for he ſmelleth the battayle a farre of, the noyſe of the captaines, and the ſhowtyng.

26 Commeth it through thy wyſedome that the Goſhauke fleeth with her wynges towarde the g South?

27 Doeth the Eagle mount vp, & make his neſt on hygh at thy commaundement?

28 He abideth in ſtony rockes, and dwelleth vpon the hygh toppes of mountaynes:

29 From whence he ſeeketh his pray, and looketh farre about with his eyes.

30 His young ones alſo ſucke vp blood: and where any dead body lyeth, there is he.

¶ The. xl. Chapter.

God declareth the vveakeneſſe of Iob, by compa-ryng the ſame to his great vvoorke, and to the ſtrength of Behemoth.

MOreouer, the Lorde ſpake vnto Job, and ſayde,

2 Shall he whom the almyghtie wyll chaſten, contende with hym? Shoulde not he whiche diſputeth with God, geue hym an aunſweare?

3 Then Job a aunſweared the Lorde, ſaying,

4 Beholde, I am vyle, what ſhall I anſwere thee? therfore I wyl lay my hand vpon my mouth.

5 Once haue I ſpoken, but I wyll ſay no more: yea twyſe, but I wyll proceede no further.

6 Then aunſwered the Lorde vnto Job out of the whirle wynde, and ſayde, 7 Girde vp thy lopnes now lyke a man: I wyll demaunde of thee, and make thou anſweare.

8 Wylt thou b diſanul my iudgement? or wylt thou condemne me, that thou mayeſt be righteous?

9 Is thy "power then lyke the power of God? maketh thy voyce a ſound as his doth?

10 Decke thee ſelfe now with excellencie and maieſtie, and aray thee ſelfe c with beautie and glorie.

11 Caſt abrode the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proude, and abaſe hym:

12 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bryng hym lowe, and deſtroy the wicked in their place:

13 Hyde them in the duſt togeather, and couer their faces in d ſecret.

14 Then wyl I confeſſe vnto thee alſo, that e thyne owne right hand ſhal ſaue thee.

15 Behold the beaſt f Behemoth, whom I made with thee, whiche eateth hay as an oxe:

16 Loe howe his ſtrength is in his lopnes, and what power he hath in the nauell of his belly.

17 When he wyll, he ſpreadeth out his tayle lyke a Cedar tree, the ſinowes of his ſtones are knit togeather.

18 His bones are ſtrong as braſſe, yea, his bones are lyke ſtaues of iron.

19 He is the begynnyng of the wayes of GOD, he that made hym, wyll make his g ſwoorde to approche vnto hym.

20 Surely the mountaynes bryng hym fooyth graſſe, where al the beaſtes of the feeld take their paſtyme.

21 He reſteth hym in the ſhade, in the couert of the reede and fennes.

22 The trees couer hym with their ſhadowe, and the wyllowes of the brooke compaſſe hym about.

23 Beholde, he drynketh vp whole ryuers,

c. If thou cãſt not rule the Vnicorne, canſt thou knowe Gods ſecretes, or appoynt him to do thy wyll.

"or, ſeede.

d. The Eſtritch when ſhe hath layed her egges, hydeth them in the ſand, and by the heate of the ſunne, the yong are brought foorth, but ſhe leaueth the egs as careleſſe, forgetting the place where ſhe put them, and ſo her labour is vayne.

e. To be natural towarde her owne.

f. Thus in all creatures the glory of Gods maieſtie is declared.

"or, ha, ha.

g. That is, flee into the regiõs that are hot, when colde commeth.

a. Here Iob confeſſeth his offence, & dare not ſpeake: for when God doeth reprehend, who can aunſweare?

b. Meanyng that for a man to accompe him ſelfe iuſt, is to accuſe God for vniuſt.

"or, arme.

c. Whiche no man is able to doo, for theſe thynges are only parteynyng to God.

d. That is, cauſe them to dye, yf it lye in thy power.

e. Which God can only doo, & therefore truſtyng in thyne owne ſtrength thou compareſt with God.

f. The Hebrues ſay, Behemoth ſignifieth an Elephant, ſo called for his hugeneſſe, by the which may be vnderſtand the dewyll.

g. This beaſt is one of the cheefeſt works of God among the beaſtes, whom though no man dare come nere, yet God can kyll hym.

uers, and feareth not, he thinketh that he can drawe vp Iordane into his mouth.

24 He is h taken with his eyes, and the Hunter thrusteth him through the nose.

h. Some write, that when men purpose to take the Elephant, they make a hollowe place in the grounde where he vseth to haunt, and couereth the same with haye, or prouender, whiche so soone as the Elephant espieth, he runneth hastyly vnto it, and falleth into the pitte, and then the Hunter thrusteth him through the nose, because it is the tenderest part of hym.

¶ The. xli. Chapter.

God setteth foorth the malice, the members, the strength, and the pryde of Leuiathan.

CAnst thou draw out a Leuiathan with an hooke? or binde his tongue with a corde?

a. Leuiathan, is a Whale.

2 Canst thou put a hooke in the nose of him? or bore his iawe through with a naule?

3 Will he make many fayre woordes with thee, or flatter thee?

4 Will he make a couenant with thee? or wilt thou take him for a seruant for euer?

5 Wilt thou take thy pastime with him, as with a birde, wilt thou binde him for thy maidens?

6 That thy companions may make a banquet of him, or shall he be parted among the marchantes?

8 Lay thyne hand vpon him, b remember the battel, and doo no more.

b. For it is dangerous to trust satan in any thing, yea it is hurtful to touche him: for Leuiathan representeth satan.

9 Behold, his hope is in vayne: for shal not one perishe euen at the sight of him?

10 No c man is so fierce that dare stirre him vp: Who is able to stand before me?

c. If the creature can not be resisted, who can compare with the creatour?

11 Or who hath geuen me any thing afore hand, that I may reward him againe: All thynges vnder heauen are myne.

12 I wil not kepe secret his great strēgth, his power, nor his comely proporcion.

13 Who can discouer the d face of his garment? or who shal come to hym with a double bridle?

14 Who e shall open the doores of his face? for he hath horrible teeth round about.

e. That is, who are looke in his mouth?

15 His scales are as it were strong shieldes, so fastened togeather as if they were sealed:

17 One hangeth so vpon another, & sticketh so together, that they can not be sundred.

18 His f neesings make a glistring like light, and his eyes like the "morning shine.

" Or, eye lyddes like morning.

19 Out of his mouth goe torches, and sparkes of fyre leape out.

20 And out of his nosethrilles there goeth a smoke, like as out of an whot seething pot or caldron.

21 His breath maketh the coles burne, and the flame goeth out of his mouth.

22 In his necke there remayneth strength, & nothing is to labourous for hym.

23 The members of his flesshe are ioyned and cleaue fast togeather, and can not be moued.

24 His hart is as harde as a stone, and as fast as the "Stithie that the Smith smiteth vpon.

" Or, the neather mylstone.

25 When he moueth him selfe, the mightie are afrayde, and feare troubleth them.

26 If any man drawe out a swoorde at him, he wil not moue, neither for the speare, tauelyn, nor brestplate.

27 He setteth as much by iron, as by a strawe, and as much by brasse, as by a rotten sticke.

28 He starteth not away from the arrowe: and as for sling stones, they are as stubble vnto hym.

29 He counteth the dartes as strawe, he laugheth hym to scorne that shaketh the speare.

30 g Sharpe stones are vnder hym, and he lyeth vpon sharpe thynges, as vpon the soft myre.

g. For the hardnesse of his skin is suche, that he lyeth vpō it without payne, as in the soft myre.

31 He maketh the h deepe to boyle like a pot, and stirreth the sea togeather lyke an oyntment.

h. He spouteth out water in such sort, that the seas seeme to boyle.

32 He maketh the i path to shyne after hym, and he maketh the deepe to seeme all hoarie.

i. With a whyte froth vpō the water.

33 Upon earth there is no power lyke vnto his: for he is so mad that he feareth not.

34 He beholdeth all the hygh thinges, k he is a kyng ouer all the children of pryde.

¶ The. xlii. Chapter.

6. The repentance of Iob. 9. He prayeth for his freendes, 12. and his goodes are restored double vnto hym.

THen Iob answeared the Lorde, and sayde,

2 a I knowe that thou hast power ouer al thynges, and that there is no thought hyd vnto thee.

a. Iob confesseth the omnipotencie of God, and bewayleth his offence that he spake he wyst not what.

3 For who can keepe his owne counsaile so secrete, but it shalbe knowen: therfore haue I spoken that I vnderstoode not, euen the thynges that are to wonderfull for me, and passe myne vnderstandyng.

4 Heare b hearken thou vnto me also, and let me speake: aunswere vnto the thyng that I wyl aske thee.

b. Iob desireth to learne of God.

5 I haue heard of thee by the hearyng of the eare, but nowe myne eye c seeth thee.

c. He saw him not but by his worde, which he is the face and image of God.

6 Where-

6 Wherefore I geue myne owne selfe the blame, and take repentance in the dust and asshes.

7 Nowe when the Lorde hadde spoken these woordes vnto Iob, the Lorde saide to Eliphaz the Themanite, I am displeased with thee and thy two freendes: for ye haue not spoken of me the d thing that is ryght, like as my seruant Iob hath doone.

d. Ye tooke in hand an euyll cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions, and not comforted him with my mercies.

8 Therefore take you nowe seuen Oxen, and seuen Rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, & offer vp for your selues a whole burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shal pray for you: him wyl I accept, & not deale with you after your foolishnesse, in that ye haue not spoken of me the thing whiche is ryght, like as my seruant Iob hath doone.

9 So Eliphaz the Themanite, & Bildad the Suhite, and Sophar the Naamathite, went, and did according as the Lorde commaunded them: the Lorde also accepted the "person of Iob.

" or, the face.

10 And the Lord e turned the captiuitie of Iob when he prayed for his frendes: Yea, the Lord gaue Iob twise as much as he had before.

e. He rid hym from his troubles & plagues.

11 And then came there vnto hym f all his brethren, al his systers, and al they that had ben of his acquayntance g afore, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion on him, and comforted him ouer al the trouble that the Lord had brought vpon him: euery man also gaue him a certaine summe of money, and a " iewel of golde.

f. That is, al they that were of his kinrede.

g. Here is the exceeding blessynges of GOD towardes the godly, and they that vnfaynedly trust in him.

" or, an earyng.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the fyrst: for he had fourtiene thousand Sheepe, sixe thousand Cammels: a thousand yoke of Oxen, and a thousande shee Asses, 13 He had seuen sonnes also, and three daughters.

14 The first daughter called he h Iemima, the seconde, i Cezia, and the thyrde, k Cerenhaphuch.

h. Passing in beautie as the day, and long lyuyng.

i. As sweet as Cassia, or fine spices.

k. The chylde of beautie.

15 In all the lande were no women founde so fayre as the daughters of Iob: and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 After this, liued Iob an hundred and fourtie yeeres: so that he sawe his chyldren, and his chyldrens chyldren, into the fourth generation.

17 And so Iob dyed, beyng olde, and ful of dayes.

POnder my wordes, O Lorde: consyder my meditation.
2 O hearken thou vnto the voyce of my calling, my king and my God: for vnto thee wyl I make my prayer.
3 My voyce shalt thou heare betimes, O Lorde: early in the morning wyl I direct my prayer vnto thee, and wyl looke vp.
4 For thou art the god that hast no pleasure in wickednesse: neyther shal any euill dwel with thee.
5 Such as be foolishe shal not stande in thy syght: for thou hatest al them that worke vanitie.

3 He that hath vsed no deceipt in his tongue, nor done euyl to his neighbour: and hath not slaundered his neighbours.

4 He that setteth not by him selfe, but is lowly in his owne eyes: and maketh muche of them that feare the Lorde.

5 He that sweareth vnto his neighbour, and disapoynteth hym not: though it were to his owne hinderance.

6 He that hath not geuen his money vpon vsurie: nor taken rewarde agaynst the innocent.

7 Who so doth these thinges: shal neuer fall.

Conserua me. Psalme.xvi.

PReserue me, O God: for in thee haue I put my trust.

2 O my soule, thou hast sayde vnto the Lorde: thou art my God, my goodes are nothing vnto thee.

3 All my delight is vpon the saintes that are in the earth: and vppon such as excell in vertue.

4 But they that runne after another God: shal haue great trouble.

5 Their drunke offeringes of blood wyl I not offer: neither make mention of their names within my lippes.

6 The Lorde him selfe is the portion of myne inheritaunce, and of my cup: thou shalt maynteine my lot.

7 The lot is fallen vnto me in a fayre ground: yea, I haue a goodly heritage.

8 I wyll thanke the Lorde for geuing me warning: my reynes also chasten me in the nyght season.

9 ||I haue set God alwayes before me: ||Act.2.25.

holy one to see corruption.

12 Thou shalt shewe me the path of lyfe, in thy presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hande there is pleasure for euermore.

Exaudi domine iustitiam. Psalme.xvii.

HEare the right, O Lorde, consyder my complaynt: and hearken vnto my prayer, that goeth not out of faigned lippes.

2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence: and let thine eyes looke vpon the thing that is equal.

3 Thou hast proued and visited myne hart in the night season, thou hast tryed me, and shalt fynde no wickednesse in me: for I am vtterly purposed that my mouth shal not offende.

4 Because of mens workes that are done agaynst the wordes of my lippes: I haue kept me frō the waies of the destroyer.

5 O holde thou vp my goynges in thy pathes: that my footesteppes slip not.

6 I haue called vpon thee, O God, for thou shalt heare me: encline thyne eare to me, and hearken vnto my wordes.

7 Shewe thy marueylous louyng kindnesse, thou that art the sauiour of them whiche put their trust in thee: from such as resist thy ryght hande.

8 Keepe me as the apple of an eye: hyde me vnder the shadowe of thy wynges.

9 From the vngodly that trouble me: mine enimies compasse me rounde about, to take away my soule.

10 They are enclosed in their owne fat: and their mouth speaketh proude thinges.

11 They lye wayting in our way on euery syde: turning their eyes downe to the grounde.

12 Lyke as a Lion that is greedy of his pray: and as it were a Lions whelpe lurkyng in secrete places.

13 Vp Lord, disapoynt him, and cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the vngodly which is a sworde of thine.

14 From the men of thy hand, O Lord, from the men, I say, and from the euil world: which haue their portion in this lyfe, whose bellies thou fyllest with thy hyd treasure.

15 They haue children at their desyre: and leaue the rest of their substance for their babes.

16 But as for me, I wyll beholde thy presence in ryghteousnesse: and when I awake vp after thy lykenesse, I shalbe satisfied with it.

Diligam te. Psalme. xviii.

Euenyng prayer.

I Wyl loue thee (O Lorde) my strength, the Lorde is my stonie rocke and my defence: my ‖ sauiour, my God, and my myght, in whom I wyll trust, my buckler, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge. ‖ Heb. 2. 13

2 I wyl cal vppon the Lorde, whiche is worthy to be prayed: so shall I be safe from myne enimies.

3 The sorowes of death compassed me: and the ouerflowynges of vngodlynesse made me afrayde.

4 The paynes of hell came about me: the snares of death ouertooke me.

5 In my trouble I will call vpon the Lord: and complaine vnto my God.

6 So shall he heare my voyce out of his (holy) temple: and my complaynt shal come before hym, it shal enter euen into his eares.

7 The earth trembled and quaked: the very fundations also of the hilles shooke, and were remooued, because he was wroth.

8 There went a smoke out of his presence: and a consumyng fyre out of his mouth, so that coales were kindled at it.

9 He bowed the heauens also, and came downe: and it was darke vnder his feete.

10 He rode vppon the Cherubims, and dyd flee: he came fleeyng vpon the wynges of the wynde.

11 He made darknesse his secret place: his pauilion rounde about hym, with darke water and thicke cloudes to couer hym.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes remooued: haylestones, and coales of fyre.

13 The Lord also thundred out of heauen, and the highest gaue his thunder: haylestones and coales of fyre.

14 He sent out his arrowes, and scattered them: he cast forth lightninges, and destroyed them.

15 The springes of waters were seene, and the fundations of the rounde worlde were discouered at thy chydyng, O Lorde: at the blastyng of the breath of thy displeasure.

16 He shal send downe from the high to fetche me: and shall take me out of many waters.

17 He shall deliuer me from my strongest enimie, and from them which hate me: for they are to mightie for me.

18 They preuented me in the day of my trouble: but the Lorde was my vpholder.

19 He brought me forth also into a place of libertie: he brought me forth, euen because he had a fauour vnto me.

20 The Lorde shall reward me after my ryghteous dealyng: according to the cleannesse of my handes shal he recompence me.

21 Because I haue kept the wayes of the Lorde: and haue not forsaken my God as the wicked doeth.

22 For I haue an eye vnto al his lawes: and wyl not cast out his commaundementes from me.

23 I was also vncorrupt before him: & eschewed myne owne wyckednesse.

24 Therefore shal the Lord reward me after my ryghteous dealyng: and according vnto the cleannesse of my handes in his eye syght.

25 With the holy, thou shalt be holy, and with a perfect man, thou shalt be perfecte.

26 With the cleane, thou shalt be cleane

and

and with the frowarde, thou shalt learne frowardnesse.

27 For thou shalt saue the people that are in aduersitie: and shalt bring downe the high lookes of the proude.

28 Thou also shalt lyght my candle: the Lorde my God shal make my darkenesse to be lyght.

29 For in thee I shal discomfite an hoast of men: and with the helpe of my God I shal leape ouer the wal.

30 The way of God is an vndefyled way, the worde of the Lorde also is tryed in the fire: he is the defender of all them that put their trust in hym.

31 For who is God, but the Lorde: or who hath any strength, except our God?

32 It is God that gyrdeth me with strength of warre: & maketh my way perfect.

33 He maketh my feete lyke Hartes feete: and setteth me vp on hygh.

34 He teacheth my handes to fight: and mine armes shal breake euen a bow of steele.

35 Thou hast geuen me the defence of thy saluation: thy ryght hande also shal holde me vp, and thy louyng correction shall make me great.

36 Thou shalt make roome ynough vnder me for to goe: that my footesteppes shal not slyde.

37 I wyl folowe vppon myne enimies, and ouertake them: neyther wyl I turne agayne tyl I haue destroyed them.

38 I wyl smyte them, that they shal not be able to stande: but fall vnder my feete.

39 Thou hast gyrded me with strength vnto the battayle: thou shalt throwe downe myne enimies vnder me.

40 Thou hast made myne enimies also to turne their backes vpon me: and I shal destroye them that hate me.

41 They shal crye, but there shalbe none to helpe them: yea euen vnto the Lord shal they crye, but he shal not heare them.

42 I wil beate them as smal as the dust before the wynd: I wyl cast them out as the claye in the streetes.

43 Thou shalt deliuer me from the strivinges of the people: and thou shalt make me the head of the heathen.

44 A people whom I haue not knowen: shal serue me.

45 As soone as they heare of me, they shal obey me: but the strange children shal dissemble with me.

46 The strange children shal fayle: and be afrayde out of their prisons.

47 The Lord lyueth, and blessed be my strong helper: and praysed be the God of my saluation.

48 Euen the God whiche seeth that I be auenged: and subdueth the people vnto me.

49 It is he that deliuereth me from my (cruel) enimies, and setteth me vp aboue mine aduersaries: thou shalt ryd me from the wicked man.

6 It goeth forth from the vttermost part of the heauen, and runneth about vnto the ende of it agayne: and there is nothyng hyd from the heate thereof.

7 The lawe of the Lord is an vndefiled lawe, conuertyng the soule: the testimonie of the Lorde is sure, and geueth wysedome vnto the simple.

8 The statutes of the Lorde are ryght, and reioyce the hart: the commaundement of the Lorde is pure, and geueth light vnto the eyes.

9 The feare of the Lorde is cleane, and endureth for euer: the iudgementes of the Lorde are true, and righteous altogether.

10 More to be desired are they then golde, yea then much fine golde: sweeter also then hony, and the hony combe.

11 Moreouer, by them is thy seruant taught: & in keping of them there is great reward.

12 Who can tell how oft he offendeth? O cleanse thou me from my secret faultes.

3 For thou shalt preuent hym with the blessinges of goodnesse: and shalt set a crowne of pure golde vpon his head.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gauest hym a long lyfe: euen for euer and euer.

5 His honour is great in thy saluation: glory and great worshyp shalt thou laye vpon hym.

6 For thou shalt geue hym euerlastyng felicitie: and make hym glad with the ioy of thy countenance.

7 And why? because the king putteth his trust in the Lord: and in the mercy of the most hyghest, he shal not miscary.

8 Al thyne enimies shal feele thy hande: thy ryght hand shal fynde out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fierie Ouen in tyme of thy wrath: the Lorde shall destroy them in his displeasure, and the fire shal consume them.

10 Their fruite shalt thou roote out of the earth: and their seede from among the children of men.

11 For they intended mischeefe agaynst thee: and imagined such a deuice as they are not able to perfourme.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them to flight: and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make redy against the face of them.

3 Thou lord hast brought my soule out of hel: thou hast kept my life from them that goe downe to the pyt.

4 Syng prayses vnto the lorde (O ye sayntes of his:) and geue thankes vnto hym for a remembrance of his holynesse.

5 For his wrath endureth but the twinkyng of an eye, & in his pleasure is life: heauinesse may endure for a nyght, but ioy commeth in the mornyng.

6 And in my prosperitie I sayd, I shall neuer be remooued: thou lorde of thy goodnesse hadst made my hyl so strong.

7 Thou diddest turne thy face (fro me:) and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, O lorde: and gate me vnto my lorde ryght humbly.

9 What profite is there in my blood: when I goe downe to the pyt?

10 Shall the dust geue thankes vnto thee: or shal it declare thy trueth?

11 Heare, O lorde, and haue mercy vpon me: lorde be thou my helper.

12 Thou hast turned my heauinesse into ioy: thou hast put of my sackcloth, and gyrded me with gladnesse.

13 Therefore shal euery good man syng of thy prayse without ceassyng: O my God, I wyl geue thankes vnto thee for euer.

In te domine speraui. Psalm.xxxi.

IN thee, O lorde, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be put to confusion, deliuer me in thy righteousnesse.

2 Bowe downe thyne eare to me: make haste to deliuer me.

3 And be thou my strong rocke, and the house of defence: that thou mayest saue me.

4 For thou art my strong rocke, and my castle: be thou also my guyde, and leade me for thy names sake.

5 Drawe me out of the net that they haue layde priuily for me: for thou art my strength.

||Luk.23.46 6 ||Into thy handes I commende my ſpirite, for thou haſt redeemed me, O Lorde, thou God of trueth.

7 I haue hated them that hold of ſuperſtitious vanities: and my truſt hath been in the Lorde.

8 I wyl be glad, and reioyce in thy mercy: for thou haſt conſydered my trouble, and haſt knowen my ſoule in aduerſities.

9 Thou haſt not ſhut me vp into the hande of the enimie: but haſt ſet my feete in a large roome.

10 Haue mercy vppon me, O Lorde, for I am in trouble: & myne eye is conſumed for very heauyneſſe, yea my ſoule, and my bodye.

11 For my life is waxen olde with heauineſſe: and my yeeres with mournyng.

12 My ſtrength fayleth me, becauſe of mine iniquitie: and my bones are conſumed.

13 I became a reproofe among all mine enimies, but ſpecially among my neyghbours: and they of myne acquaintance were afrayde of me, and they that dyd ſee me without, conueighed them ſelues from me.

14 I am cleane forgotte as a dead man out of mynde: I am become lyke a broken veſſel.

15 For I haue heard the blaſphemie of the multitude: & feare is on euery ſide, while they conſpyre togeather againſt me, and take theyr counſaile to take away my lyfe.

16 But my hope hath been in thee, O Lorde: I haue ſayde, thou art my God.

17 My tyme is in thy hande, deliuer me from the hande of myne enimies: and from them that perſecute me.

18 Shewe thy ſeruant the lyght of thy countenance: & ſaue me for thy mercyes ſake.

19 Let me not be confounded, O Lord, for I haue called vpon thee: let the vngodly be put to confuſion, and be put to ſilence in the graue.

20 Let the lyeing lyppes be put to ſilence: whiche cruelly, diſdainefully, and deſpitefully ſpeake againſt the righteous.

21 O howe plentifull is thy goodneſſe which thou haſt layde vp for them that feare thee: and that thou haſt prepared for them that put theyr truſt in thee, euen before the ſonnes of men?

22 Thou ſhalt hyde them preuyly by thine owne preſence, from the prouokyng of al men: thou ſhalt keepe them ſecretely in thy tabernacle, from the ſtrife of tongues.

23 Thankes be to the Lord: for he hath ſhewed me marueylous great kyndneſſe in a ſtrong citie.

24 And when I made haſte, I ſayde: I am caſt out of the ſyght of thyne eyes.

25 Neuertheleſſe, thou heardeſt the voyce of my prayer: when I cryed vnto thee.

26 O loue the Lord al ye his ſaintes: for the Lorde preſerueth them that are faithful, and plenteouſly rewardeth the proude doer.

27 Be ſtrong, and he ſhal ſtablyſhe your harte: al ye that put your truſt in the Lorde.

12 Blessed are the people whose God is the Lord Iehouah: and blessed are the folke that haue chosen him to be their inheritance.

3 O prayse the Lorde with me: and let vs magnifie his name together.

Iudica domine nocentes. Psalm.xxxv.

PLeade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: and fyght thou against them that fyght against me. Mornyng prayer.
2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler: and stand vp to helpe me.
3 Bring forth the speare, & stop the way against agaynst them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to shame that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mischiefe for me.

5 Let them be as the dust before the wynde: and the angel of the Lorde scatteryng them.

6 Let theyr way be darke and slipperie & let the angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For they haue priuily laid their net to destroy me without a cause: yea euen without a cause haue they made a pytte for my soule.

8 Let a sodayne destruction come vpon hym vnawares, and his net that he hath laid priuyly, catche hym selfe: that he may fall into his owne mischeefe.

9 And my soule be ioyful in the Lorde: it shal reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my bones shal say, Lorde, who is lyke vnto thee, whiche delyuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him: yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him.

11 False witnesse did ryse vp: they laid to my charge thynges that I knewe not.

12 They rewarded me euil for good: to the great discomfort of my soule.

13 Neuertheles, when they were sicke, I put on sackcloth, and humbled my soule with fastyng: and my prayer shall turne into myne owne bosome.

14 I behaued mee selfe as though it had been my freende or my brother: I went heauyly, as one that mourneth for his mother.

15 But in myne aduersitie they reioyced, & geathered them togeather: yea, the very abiectes came togeather agaynst me vnawares, makyng mowes at me, & ceassed not.

16 With the flatterers were busie mockers: whiche gnashed vppon me with their teeth.

17 Lorde, howe long wylt thou looke vpon this: O delyuer my soule from the calamities whiche they bryng on me, and my darlyng from the Lions.

18 So wyl I geue thee thankes in the great congregation: I wyl prayse thee among much people.

19 O let not them that are mine enimies triumphe ouer me vngodly: || neyther let them wincke with theyr eies that hate me without a cause. ||Ioh.15.25.

20 And why? theyr communyng is not for peace: but they imagine deceytful woordes agaynst them that are quiet in the lande.

21 They gaped vppon me with their mouthes, and sayde: fye on thee, fye on thee, we sawe it halfe our eyes.

22 This thou hast seene, O Lord: hold not thy tongue then, goe not farre fro me, O Lorde.

23 Awake and stande vp to iudge my quarel: auenge thou my cause, my God and my Lorde.

24 Iudge me, O Lorde my God, accordyng to thy ryghteousnesse: and let them not triumphe ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their hartes, there, there, so wouldе we haue it: neyther let them say, we haue deuoured him.

26 Let them be put to confusion and shame togeather that reioyce at my trouble: let them be clothed with rebuke and dishonour, that boaste them selues agaynst me.

27 Let them be glad and reioyce that fauour my ryghteous dealyng: yea let them say alway, blessed be the Lorde, whiche hath pleasure in the prosperitie of his seruant.

28 And as for my tongue, it shalbe talkyng of thy ryghteousnesse: and of thy praise al the day long.

Dixit iniustus. Psalm.xxxvi.

MY hart sheweth me the wickednesse of the vngodlye: that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

2 For he flattereth him self in his owne syght: vntyl his abominable synne be found out.

3 The woordes of his mouth are vnryghteous, & full of decepte: he hath left of to behaue him selfe wysely, and to doo good.

4 He imagineth mischefe vpon his bed, and hath set him selfe in no good way: neyther doeth he abhorre any thyng that is euil.

5 Thy mercy, O Lorde, reacheth vnto the heauen: and thy faythfulnesse vnto the cloudes.

6 Thy ryghteousnesse standeth lyke the strong mountaynes: thy iudgementes are lyke the great deepe.

7 Thou Lorde shalt saue both man and beast, howe excellent is thy mercy, O God: and the chyldren of men shall put their trust vnder the shadowe of thy wynges.

8 They shalbe satisfied with the plenteousnesse of thy house: and thou shalt geue them drynke of thy pleasures, as out of the ryuer.

9 For with thee is the well of lyfe: and in thy lyght shal we see lyght.

10 O continue forth thy louyng kyndnesse vnto them that knowe thee: & thy righteousnesse vnto them that are true of hart.

11 O let not the foote of pryde come against me: & let not the hand of the vngodly cast me downe.

12 There are they fallen (al) that worke wickednesse: they are cast downe, and shal not be able to stande.

Noli emulari. Psal. xxxvii.

Lamyng prayer. ‖Psa.23.17. and 24.1.

FRet ‖ not thee selfe because of the vngodly: neither be thou enuious against the euyl doers.

2 For they shall soone be cutte downe like the grasse: and be withered euen as the greene herbe.

3 Put thou thy trust in the Lord, and be doyng good: dwell in the lande, and verily thou shalt be fedde.

4 Delight thou in the Lord: and he shal geue thee thy hartes desyre.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lorde, and put thy trust in hym: and he shall bryng it to passe.

6 He shall make thy righteousnesse as cleare as the lyght: and thy iust dealyng as the noone day.

7 Holde thee styll in the Lorde, and abyde paciently vpon hym: but greeue not thee selfe at hym whose way doth prosper, agaynst the man that dooth after euil counsayles.

8 Leaue of from wrath, and let goe displeasure: fret not thee selfe, els shalt thou be moued to do euil.

9 Wicked doers shalbe rooted out: and they that patiently abide the Lorde, those shal inherite the lande.

10 Yet a litle whyle, and the vngodlye shalbe cleane gone: thou shalt looke after his place, and he shalbe away.

11 But the meeke spirited shal possesse the earth: and shalbe refreshed in the multitude of peace.

12 The vngodly seeketh counsayle agaynst the iust: and gnasheth vpon him with his teeth.

13 The Lord shal laugh him to scorne: for he hath seene that his day is comming.

14 The vngodly haue drawen out the swerde, and haue bended theyr bowe: to cast downe the poore and needie, and to slay suche as be of a right conuersation.

15 Theyr sword shal goe through their owne hart: and theyr bowe shalbe broken.

16 A smal thing that the righteous hath: is better then great riches of the vngodly.

17 For the armes of the vngodly shalbe broken: and the Lorde vpholdeth the righteous.

18 The Lord knoweth the dayes of the godly: and theyr inheritance shal endure for euer.

19 They shal not be confounded in the perillous tyme: and in the dayes of dearth they shal haue ynough.

20 As for the vngodly they shal perishe, and the enimies of the Lord shal consume as the fat of lambes: yea euen as the smoke shal they consume away.

21 The vngodly borroweth, and payeth not agayne: but the righteous is mercyfull and liberal.

22 Such as be blessed of God, shal possesse the lande: and they that be cursed of hym, shalbe rooted out.

23 The Lorde ordereth a good mans goeyng: and maketh his way acceptable to hym selfe.

24 Though he fal, he shal not be cast away: for the Lord vpholdeth him with his hande.

25 ‖ I haue ben young, and nowe am olde: and yet sawe I neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging theyr bread. ‖ Eccl. 2.15.

26 The righteous is euer merciful and lendeth: and his seede is blessed.

27 Flee from euyll, and doo the thing that is good: and dwel for euermore.

28 For the Lord loueth the thing that is right: he forsaketh not his that be godly, but they are preserued for euer.

29 The righteous shalbe punished: as for the seede of the vngodly, it shalbe rooted out.

30 The righteous shal inherite the lande: and dwel therein for euer.

31 ‖ The mouth of the righteous is exercised in wisdome: and his tongue wil be talking of iudgement. ‖ Esai. 51.7.

32 The lawe of his God is in his hart: and his goeyng shal not slide.

33 The vngodly seeth the righteous: and seeketh occasion to slea him.

34 The Lorde wil not leaue him in his hand: nor condemne him when he is iudged.

35 Hope thou in the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shal promote thee, that thou shalt possesse the land: when the vngodly shal perishe, thou shalt see it.

36 I mee selfe haue seene the vngodly in great power: and flourishing lyke a greene bay tree.

37 And I went by, & loe he was gone: I sought him, but his place could no where be founde.

38 Keepe innocencie, and take heede vnto the thing that is right: for that shall bring a man peace at the last.

39 As for the transgressours, they shall perishe together: and the ende of the vngodly is, they shalbe rooted out at the last.

40 But the saluation of the righteous commeth of the Lorde: whiche is alſo their ſtrength in the time of trouble.

41 And the Lorde ſhall ſtande by them, and ſaue them: he ſhal deliuer them from the vngodly, and ſhall ſaue them, becauſe they put their truſt in him.

Domine ne in furore. Pſal. xxxviii.

Mornyng prayer.

PUT me not to rebuke (O Lorde) in thine anger: neither chaſten me in thy heauie diſpleaſure.

2 For thine arrowes ſticke faſt in me: and thy hand preſſeth me ſore.

3 There is no health in my fleſh, becauſe of thy diſpleaſure: neyther is there any reſt in my bones, by reaſon of my ſinne.

4 For my wickednesſes are gone ouer my head: and are like a ſore burden to heauie for me to beare.

5 My woundes ſtynke and are corrupt: through my fooliſhneſſe.

6 I am brought into ſo great trouble and miſerie: that I goe mourning all the day long.

7 For my loynes are filled with a ſore diſeaſe: & there is no whole part in my body.

8 I am feeble and ſore ſmitten: I haue rored for the very diſquietneſſe of my hart.

9 Lorde thou knoweſt al my deſyre: and my groning is not hid from thee.

10 My hart panteth, my ſtrength hath fayled me: and the light of mine eyes is gone from me.

11 My louers and my neighbours dyd ſtand loking vpon my trouble: and my kinſmen ſtoode a farre of.

12 They alſo that ſought after my life, laide ſnares for me: and they that went about to doo me euill, talked of wickednesſe, and imagined deceyt al the day long.

13 As for me, I was like a deafe man, and hearde not: and as one that is dumbe, whiche doth not open his mouth.

14 I became euen as a man that heareth not: & in whoſe mouth are no reproofes.

15 For in thee, O Lord, haue I put my truſt: thou ſhalt anſweare for me, O Lorde my God.

16 I haue required that they (euen myne enimies) ſhoulde not triumph ouer me: for when my foote ſlypt, they reioyced greatly againſt me.

17 And I truely am ſet in the plague: and my heauineſſe is euer in my ſyght.

18 For I wyl confeſſe my wyckednesſe: and be ſory for my ſinne.

19 But mine enimies liue and are mighty: and they that hate me wrongfully are many in number.

20 They alſo that reward euil for good, are againſt me: becauſe I followe the thing that good is.

21 Forſake me not, O Lorde my God: be not thou farre from me.

22 Haſte thee to helpe me: O Lorde God of my ſaluation.

Dixi, cuſtodiam. Pſal. xxxix.

I Sayde, I wil take heede to my wayes: that I offende not in my tongue.

2 I wil keepe my mouth (as it were with a bridle) whyle the vngodly is in my ſyght.

2 I helde my tongue & ſpake nothing: I kept ſilence, yea euen from good wordes, but it was paine and greefe to me.

4 My hart was hot within me, & whyle I was thus muſing, the fire kindled: and at the laſt I ſpake with my tongue.

5 Lorde let me knowe mine ende, and the number of my dayes: that I may be certified howe long I haue to liue.

6 Beholde, thou haſt made my dayes as it were a ſpan long, and mine age is euen as nothing in reſpect of thee: and verily euery man liuing is altogether vanitie.

7 For man walketh in a vaine ſhadowe and diſquieteth him ſelfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and can not tell who ſhall gather them.

8 And nowe Lorde what is my hope? truely my hope is euen in thee.

9 Deliuer me from all mine offences: and make me not a rebuke vnto the fooliſhe.

10 I became dumbe and opened not my mouth: for it was thy doing.

11 Take thy plague away from me: I am euen conſumed by the meanes of thy heauie hande.

12 When thou with rebukes doeſt chaſten man for ſinne, thou makeſt his beautie to conſume away lyke as it were a moth fretting a garment: euery man therfore is but vanitie.

13 Heare my prayer, O Lorde, & with thine eares conſyder my calling: holde not thy peace at my teares.

14 For I am a ſtranger with thee, and a ſoiourner: as al my fathers were.

15 Oh ſpare me a litle, that I may recouer my ſtrength: before I goe hence, and be no more ſeene.

Expectans expectaui. pſal. xl.

I Waited patiently for the Lorde: and he enclined vnto me, and hearde my calling.

2 He brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the myre and clay: and set my feete upon the rocke, & ordered my goinges.

3 And he hath put a newe song in my mouth: euen a thankesgeuing vnto our god.

4 Many shal see it, and feare: and shall put their trust in the Lorde.

5 Blessed is ỹ man that hath set his hope in the Lord: and turned not vnto the proude, and to such as goe about with lyes.

6 O Lord my God, great are thy wonderous woorkes which thou hast done: lyke as be also thy thoughtes which are to vs warde, and yet there is no man that ordereth them vnto thee.

7 If I would declare them, and speake of them: they should be moe then I am able to expresse.

8 ‖ Sacrifice and meate offering thou wouldest not haue: but myne eares thou hast opened. ‖ Heb. 10. 5.

9 Burnt offeringes and sacrifices for sinne hast thou not required: then sayd I, loe I come.

10 In the volume of the booke it is written of me, that I should fulfyl thy will, O my God: I am content to doo it, yea, thy lawe is within my hart.

11 I haue declared thy righteousnesse in the great congregatiõ: loe I will not refraine my lippes, O Lord, and that thou knowest.

12 I haue not hid thy righteousnesse within my hart: my talkyng hath been of thy trueth, and of thy saluation.

13 I haue not kept backe thy louyng mercy & trueth from the great congregation.

14 Withdraw not thou thy mercie from me, O Lord: let thy louyng kindnesse and thy trueth alway preserue me.

15 For innumerable troubles are come about me, my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea they are moe in number then the heares of myne head, and my hart hath fayled me.

16 O Lord, let it be thy pleasure to deliuer me: make haste (O Lorde) to helpe me.

17 Let them be ashamed and confounded together, that seeke after my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward, and put to rebuke that wysshe me euyl.

18 Let them be desolate and rewarded with shame, that say vnto me: fye vpon thee, fye vpon thee.

19 Let al those that seeke thee, be ioyful and glad in thee: and let such as loue thy saluation, say alway, the Lorde be praised.

20 As for me, I am poore and needy: but the Lorde careth for me.

21 Thou art my helper and redeemer: make no long tarying, O my God.

Beatus qui intelligit. Psalm. xli.

BLessed is he that considereth the poore (and needy) the Lorde shall deliuer hym in the time of trouble. Euenyng prayer.

2 The Lord preserue him and keepe him alyue: that he may be blessed vpon earth: and deliuer not thou him into the wyl of his enimies.

3 The Lorde comfort him when he lyeth sicke vpon his bed: make thou al his bed in his sickenesse.

4 I sayde, Lorde be merciful vnto me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Myne enimies speake euil of me: when shal he dye, and his name perishe?

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh vanitie: and his hart conceyueth falsehood within him selfe, and when he commeth foorth, he telleth it.

7 All myne enimies whisper together against me: euen against me doo they imagine this euil.

8 Let the sentence of giltinesse proceede against him: and nowe that he lyeth, let him ryse vp no more.

9 ‖ Yea, euen myne owne familyer frend (whom I trusted:) which did also eate of my bread, hath layde great wayte for me. ‖ Ioh. 13. 18. Act. 1. 16.

10 But be thou merciful vnto me, O Lorde: rayse thou me vp agayne, and I shal reward them.

11 By this I know thou fauourest me: that myne enimie doth not triumphe against me.

12 And when I am in my health, thou vpholdest me: and shalt set me before thy face for euer.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel world without ende, Amen.

Quemadmodum. Psalm. xlii.

LYke as the hart desyreth the water brookes: so longeth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule is athirst for God, yea euen for the lyuing God: when shal I come to appeare before the presence of God?

3 My teares haue been my meate day and night: whyle they dayly say vnto me, where is nowe thy God?

4 Nowe when I thinke therevpon, I powre out my hart by me selfe: for I went with the multitude, and brought them forth into the house of God.

5 In the voyce of prayse and thankesgeuing: among such as keepe holy day.

6 Why art thou so full of heauinesse (O my ſoule:) and why art thou ſo vnquieted within me?

7 Put thy truſt in God: for I will yet geue him thankes for the helpe of his countenaunce.

8 My God, my ſoule is vexed within me: therefore will I remember thee concerning the land of Iordane, and the litle hill of Hermon.

9 One deepe calleth an other, because of the noyſe of the water pipes: all thy wawes and ſtormes are gone ouer me.

10 The Lorde hath graunted his louing kindeneſſe on the day time: and in the night ſeaſon did I ſing of him, and made my prayer vnto the God of my life.

11 I will ſay vnto the God of my ſtrength, why haſt thou forgotten me: why goe I thus heauily while the enimie oppreſſeth me?

12 My bones are ſmitten aſunder, as with a ſwoorde: whyle myne enimies (that trouble me) raſt me in the teeth.

13 Namely, whyle they ſay dayly vnto me: where is nowe thy God?

14 Why art thou ſo vexed, (O my ſoule:) and why art thou ſo diſquieted within me?

15 O put thy truſt in God: for I will yet thanke him, whiche is the helpe of my countenance, and my God.

Iudica me deus. Pſalme.xliii.

GEue ſentence with me, O God, and defende my cauſe againſt the vngodly people: O deliuer me from the deceitful and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my ſtrength, why haſte thou put me from thee: and why goe I ſo heauyly, whyle the enimie oppreſſeth me?

3 Oh ſend out thy lyght and thy trueth, that they may leade me: and bryng me vnto thy holy hyl, and to thy dwellyng.

4 And that I may goe vnto the aulter of God, euen vnto the God of my ioye and gladneſſe: and vppon the Harpe wyl I geue thankes vnto thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou ſo heauie O my ſoule: and why art thou ſo diſquieted within me?

6 O put thy truſt in God: for I will yet geue him thankes, which is the helpe of my countenaunce and my God.

Mornyng prayer.

WE haue hearde with our eares, O GOD, our fathers haue tolde vs: what thou haſt done in their time of olde.

2 Howe thou haſt dryuen out the heathen with thy hande, and planted them in: howe thou haſt deſtroied the nations, and caſt them out.

3 For they gate not the lande in poſſeſſion through their owne ſwoorde: neyther was it their owne arme that helped them.

4 But thy right hande and thine arme, and the lyght of thy countenaunce: because thou haddeſt a fauour vnto them.

5 Thou art my king (O God:) ſende helpe vnto Iacob.

6 Through thee wyll we ouerthrowe our enimies: and in thy name wyl we treade them vnder that ryſe vp agaynſt vs.

7 For I wyl not truſt in my bowe: it is not my ſwoorde that ſhal helpe me.

8 But it is thou that ſaueſt vs from our enimie: and putteſt them to confuſion that hate vs.

9 We make our boaſt of God all day long: and wyl prayſe thy name for euer.

10 But nowe thou art farre of, and putteſt vs to confuſion: and goeſt not forth with our armies.

11 Thou makeſt vs to turne our backes vpon our enimies: ſo that they which hate vs, ſpoyle our goodes.

12 Thou letteſt vs be eaten vp like ſheepe: and haſt ſcattered vs among the heathen.

13 Thou ſelleſt thy people for nought: and takeſt no money for them.

14 Thou makeſt vs to be rebuked of our neyghbours: to be laughed to ſcorne, and had in deryſion of them that are rounde about vs.

15 Thou makeſt vs to be a bywoorde among the heathen: and that the people ſhake their heades at vs.

16 My confuſion is dayly before me: and the ſhame of my face hath couered me.

17 For the voyce of the ſlaunderer and blaſphemer: for the enimie and auenger.

18 And though all this be come vpon vs, yet doo we not forgeat thee: nor behaue our ſelues frowardly in thy couenant.

19 Our hart is not turned backe: neyther our ſteppes gone out of thy way.

20 No not when thou haſt ſmitten vs into the place of Dragons, and couered vs with the ſhadowe of death.

21 If we haue forgotten the name of our god, & holden vp our handes to any ſtrang God: ſhal not God ſearch it out? for he knoweth the very ſecretes of the harte.

23 Vp Lord, why ſleepeſt thou: awake & be be not absent from vs for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face: and forgettest our misérie and trouble?

25 For our soule is brought lowe, euen vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the grounde.

26 Aryse and helpe vs: and delyuer vs for thy mercies sake.

Eructauit cor meum. Psal. xlv.

MY hart is inditing of a good matter: I speake of the thynges which I haue made vnto the kyng.

2 My tongue is the penne: of a redye wryter.

3 Thou art fayrer then the chyldren of men: full of grace are thy lyppes, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

4 Gyrde thee with thy sworde vpon thy thygh, O thou most mightie: accordyng to thy worshyp and renowme.

5 Good lucke haue thou with thyne honour: ride on, because of the word of trueth, of meekenesse, and righteousnesse, & thy right hande shal teache thee terrible thynges.

6 Thine arrowes are very sharpe, and the people shalbe subdued vnto thee: euen in the middes among the kinges enimies.

‖Deb. 11. 8. 7 ‖ Thy seate (O GOD) endureth for euer: the scepter of thy kyngdome is a ryght scepter.

8 Thou hast loued ryghteousnesse, and hated iniquitie: wherefore God (euen thy God) hath annoynted thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy felowes.

9 All thy garmentes smell of Myrrhe, Aloes, and Cassia: out of the Ivorie palaces, whereby they haue made thee glad.

10 Kinges daughters were among thy honourable women: vpon thy right hande dyd stande the Queene in a vesture of golde (wrought about with diuers colours.)

11 Hearken (O daughter) and consyder, encline thyne eare: forget also thyne owne people, and thy fathers house.

12 So shall the kyng haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lorde (God) and worshyp thou hym.

13 And the daughter of Tyre shalbe there with a gift: like as the riche also among the people shall make theyr supplication before thee.

14 The kinges daughter is al glorious within: her clothing is of wrought golde.

15 She shalbe brought vnto the kyng in rayment of needle worke: the virgins that be her felowes shal beare her company, and shalbe brought vnto thee.

16 With ioy and gladnesse shal they be brought: & shal enter into the kyngs palace.

17 In steade of thy fathers thou shalt haue children: whom thou mayest make princes in al landes.

18 I wyl remember thy name from one generation vnto another: therefore shal the people geue thankes vnto thee world without ende.

Deus noster refugium. Psal. xlvi.

GOD is our hope and strength: a very present helpe in trouble.

2 Therfore will not we feare though the earth be moued: and though the hilles be caried into the middes of the sea.

3 Though the waters thereof rage and swell: and though the mountaynes shake at the tempest of the same.

4 The riuers of the flood thereof shal make glad the citie of God: the holy place of the tabernacle of the most highest.

5 God is in the middest of her, therefore shall she not be remoued: God shal helpe her, and that right early.

6 The heathen make much a doo, & the kyngdomes are moued: but God hath shewed his voyce, and the earth shall melt away.

7 The Lorde of hostes is with vs: the God of Jacob is our refuge.

8 O come hither, and beholde the workes of the Lorde: what destruction he hath brought vpon the earth.

9 He maketh warres to cease in al the world: he breaketh the bowe, and knappeth the speare in sunder, and burneth the charriotes in the fyre.

10 Be stil then, and knowe that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I wyl be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Jacob is our defence.

5 Whiche refuſeth to heare the voice of the charmer: charme he neuer ſo wyſely.

6 Breake their teeth (O God) in their mouthes, ſmyte the chawe bones of the Lions, O Lorde: let them fal away lyke water that runneth apace, and when they ſhoote their arrowes, let them be rooted out.

7 Let the conſume away like a ſnayle, & be be lyke the vntymely fruite of a woman: and let them not ſee the ſunne.

8 Or euer your pottes be made hot with thornes: ſo let indignation vexe hym, euen as a thyng that is rawe.

9 The ryghteous ſhall reioyce when he ſeeth the vengeance: he ſhal waſh his foote-ſteppes in the blood of the vngodly.

10 So that a man ſhal ſay, verily there is a rewarde for the ryghteous: doubtleſſe there is a God that iudgeth the earth.

Eripe me Deus. Pſalm.lix.

Euenyng prayer.

DEliuer me from mine enimies (O God:) defende me from them that ryſe vp agaynſt me.

2 O deliuer me from the wicked doers: and ſaue me from the blood thirſtie men.

3 For loe, they lye waiting for my ſoule: the myghty men are geathered agaynſt me, without any offence or fault of me, O Lorde.

4 They runne and prepare them ſelues without my fault: ariſe thou therefore to helpe, and beholde.

5 Stande vp (O Lorde God of hoaſtes) thou God of Iſrael, to viſite al the heathen: and be not mercyfull vnto them that offende of malicious wickednesse.

6 They goe to and fro in the euening: they gryn like a dog, & runne about thorough the citie.

7 Behold, they ſpeake with their mouth, and ſwoordes are in theyr lyppes: for who dooth heare?

8 But thou, O Lorde, ſhalt haue them in deriſion: and thou ſhalt laugh all the heathen to ſcorne.

9 My ſtrength wyl I aſcribe vnto thee: for thou art the God of my refuge.

10 God ſheweth me his goodneſſe plenteouſly: and God ſhal let me ſee my deſire vpon myne enimies.

11 Slaye them not, leaſt my people forgeate it: but ſcatter them abrode among thy people, and put them downe, O Lorde, our defence.

12 For the ſynne of theyr mouth, and for the woordes of their lippes, they ſhalbe taken in their pride: and why? their preaching is of curſyng and lyes.

13 Conſume them in thy wraeth, conſume them that they may perihe: and knowe that it is God whiche ruleth in Iacob, and vnto the endes of the worlde.

14 And in the euening they wyl returne: and grin like a dog, and wyl goe about the citie.

15 They wyll runne here and there for meate: and grudge if they be not ſatisfied.

16 As for me, I wyl ſyng of thy power, and wyll praiſe thy mercy betimes in the morneyng: for thou haſt been my defence, and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Vnto thee (O my ſtrength) wyll I ſyng: for thou, O God, art my refuge, and my mercyful God.

Deus repuliſti nos. Pſalm.lx.

O God, thou haſt caſt vs out, and ſcattered vs abrode: thou haſt alſo been diſpleaſed, O turne thee vnto vs againe.

2 Thou haſt mooued the lande, and diuided it: heale the lores thereof, for it ſhaketh.

3 Thou haſt ſhewed thy people heauie thynges: thou haſt geuen vs a drinke of deadly wyne.

4 Thou haſt geuen a token for ſuche as feare thee: that they may triumphe because of the trueth.

5 Therefore were thy beloued deliuered: helpe me with thy right hand, and heare me.

6 God hath ſpoken in his holineſſe, I wyl reioyce and diuide Sichem: and meate out the valley of Sueoth.

7 Gilead is mine, & Manaſſes is mine: Ephraim alſo is the ſtrength of my head, Iuda is my lawe geuer.

8 Moab is my waſhpot, ouer Edom wyl I caſt out my ſhoe: Philiſtia be thou glad of me.

9 Who wyll leade me into the ſtrong citie: who wyl bring me into Edom?

10 Haſt thou not caſt vs out, O GOD: wylt not thou, O GOD, goe out with our hoaſtes?

11 O be thou our helpe in trouble: for vayne is the helpe of man.

12 Thorough God we ſhall doo great actes: for it is he that ſhall treade downe our enimies.

HEare my crying, O God: geue eare vnto my prayer.

2 From the endes of the earth wyl I call vnto thee: when my hart is in heauineſſe.

3 Oh ſet me vp vppon the rocke that is higher then I: for thou haſt been my hope, and a ſtrong towre for me againſt the enimie.

4 I will dwel in thy tabernacle for euer: and my truſt ſhalbe vnder the couering of thy winges.

5 For thou, O Lorde, haſt hearde my deſires: and haſt geuen an heritage vnto thoſe that feare thy name.

6 Thou ſhalt graunt the king a long lyfe:

lyfe: that his yeeres may endure throughout all generations.

7 He ſhal dwel before God for euer: O prepare thy louyng mercy and faithfulneſſe, that they may preſerue him.

8 So wyl I alway ſyng praiſe vnto thy name: that I maye dayly perfourme my vowes.

Mornyng prayer.

MY ſoule truely wayteth ſtyll vpon God: for of him commeth my ſaluation.

2 He verily is my ſtrength & my ſaluation: he is my defence, ſo that I ſhal not greatly fal.

3 Howe long wyl ye imagine miſcheefe agaynſt euery man, ye ſhalbe ſlayne all the ſorte of you: yea as a totteryng wall ſhall ye be, and lyke a broken hedge.

4 Their deuice is only howe to put him out whom God wyll exalte: their delyght is in lyes, they geue good woordes with their mouth, but curſe with their hart.

5 Neuertheleſſe, my ſoule wayte thou ſtyl vpon God: for my hope is in him.

6 He truely is my ſtrength & my ſaluation: he is my defence, ſo that I ſhal not fal.

7 In God is my healthe and my glorye: the rocke of my myght, and in God is my truſt.

8 O put your truſt in him alway (ye people:) powre out your hartes before him, for God is our hope.

9 As for the chyldren of men, they are but vayne, the chyldren of men are deceyteful vpon the weyghtes: they are altogether lyghter then vanitie it ſelfe.

10 O truſt not in wrong and robberie, geue not your ſelues vnto vanitie: yf riches encreaſe, ſet not your hart vpon them.

11 God ſpake once and twyſe: I haue alſo heard the ſame, that power belongeth vnto God.

12 And that thou Lorde art mercifull: ‖ for thou rewardeſt euery man accordyng to his woorke.

3 Thus haue I looked for thee in holyneſſe: that I myght beholde thy power and glory.

4 For thy louyng kyndeneſſe is better then the lyfe it ſelfe: my lyppes ſhall praiſe thee.

5 As long as I lyue wyll I magnifie thee on this maner: and lyft vp my handes in thy name.

6 My ſoule ſhalbe ſatiſfied euen as it were with marowe and fatneſſe: when my mouth praiſeth thee with ioyful lyppes.

7 Haue I not remembred thee in my bedde: and thought vpon thee when I was wakyng?

8 Becauſe thou haſt been my helper: therefore vnder the ſhadowe of thy wynges wyl I reioyce.

9 My ſoule hangeth vppon thee: thy ryght hande hath vpholden me.

10 Thoſe alſo that ſeeke the hurt of my ſoule: they ſhal goe vnder the earth.

11 Let them fall vppon the edge of the ſwoorde: that they may be a portion for Foxes.

12 But the kyng ſhall reioyce in God: al they alſo that ſweare by him, ſhalbe commended: for the mouth of them that ſpeake lyes ſhalbe ſtopped.

HEare my voyce, O GOD in my prayer: preſerue my lyfe from feare of the enimie.

2 Hyde me from the gatheryng together of the frowarde: and from the inſurrection of wicked doers.

3 Whiche haue whet their tongue lyke a ſwoord: and ſhoote out their arrowes, euen bytter woordes.

4 That they may priuily ſhoote at him whiche is perfect: ſodainly doo they hit him, and feare not.

5 They courage them ſelues in myſcheefe: and commune among them ſelues howe they may laye ſnares, and ſay that no man ſhal ſee them.

6 They imagine wickednеſſe, and practiſe it: that they keepe ſecrete among them ſelues euery man in the deepe of his hart.

7 But God ſhal ſodainly ſhoote at them with a ſwyfte arrowe: that they ſhalbe wounded.

8 Yea their owne tongues ſhall make them fal: inſomuch that who ſo ſeeth them, ſhal laugh them to ſcorne.

9 And al men that ſee it, ſhal ſay, this hath God doone: for they ſhal perceyue that it is his woorke.

10 The ryghteous ſhall reioyce in the Lorde, and put his truſt in him: and al they that are true of hart ſhalbe glad.

Euenyng prayer.

Te decet hymnus. Psalm.lxv.

THou, O God, art prayed in Sion: and vnto thee shal the vowe be performed in Hierusalem.

2 Thou that hearest the prayer: vnto thee shal al flesh come.

3 My mysdeedes preuayle agaynst me: oh be thou mercyfull vnto our synnes.

4 Blessed is the man whom thou choosest and receyuest vnto thee: he shal dwell in thy court, and shalbe satisfied with the pleasures of thy house, euen of thy holy temple.

5 Thou shalt shew vs wonderful thinges in thy rygh teousnesse, O God of our saluation: thou that art the hope of al the endes of the earth, and of them that remaine in the broue sea.

6 Which in his strength setteth fast the mountaynes: and is gyrded about with power.

7 Which stylleth the ragyng of the sea, and the noyse of his waues: and the madnesse of his people.

8 They also that dwel in the vttermost partes of the earth, shalbe afrayde at thy tokens: thou that makest the outgoynges of the morning and euening to prayse thee.

9 Thou visitest the earth, and blessest it: thou makest it very plenteous.

10 The ryuer of God is full of water, thou preparest their corne: for so thou prouidest for the earth.

11 Thou waterest her forowes, thou sendest rayne into the litle valleyes thereof: thou makest it soft with the droppes of raine, and blessest the encrease of it.

12 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse: and thy cloudes drop fatnesse.

13 They shal drop vpon the dwellynges of the wyldernesse: and the litle hylles shall reioyce on euery syde.

14 The foldes shalbe ful of sheepe: the valleyes also shal stand so thicke with corne, that they shal laugh and syng.

Iubilate deo. Psalm.lxvi.

OBe ioyful in God al ye landes: syng prayses vnto the honour of his name, make his prayse to be glorious.

2 Say vnto God, O howe wonderfull art thou in thy workes: through the greatnes of thy power shal thine enimies be found lyers vnto thee.

3 For al the worlde shal worshyp thee: syng of thee, and prayse thy name.

4 O come hyther, and behold the workes of God: howe wonderfull he is in his dooyng, towarde the chyldren of men.

5 He turned the sea into dry lande: so that they went through the water on foote, there dyd we reioyce thereof.

6 He ruleth with his power for euer, his eyes beholde the people: and suche as wyll not beleeue, shall not be able to exalte themselues.

7 O prayse our GOD (ye people:) and make the voyce of his prayse to be harde.

8 Which holdeth our soule in lyfe: and suffereth not our feete to slyp.

9 For thou (O God) hast proued vs: thou also hast tried vs, like as syluer is tried.

10 Thou broughtest vs into the snare: and layedst trouble vpon our loynes.

11 Thou suffredst men to ryde ouer our heades, we went through fyre and water, and thou broughtest vs out into a wealthie place.

12 I wyl goe into thy house with burnt offeryngs: and wyl pay thee my vowes whiche I promysed with my lyppes, and spake with my mouth when I was in trouble.

13 I wyll offer vnto thee fatte burnt sacrifices, with the incense of Rammes: I wyl offer Bullockes and Goates.

14 O come hyther and hearken, all ye that feare God: and I wyll tel you what he hath doone for my soule.

15 I called vnto him with my mouth: and gaue him prayses with my tongue.

16 If I enclyne vnto wickednesse with my hart: the Lorde wyl not heare me.

17 But God hath heard me: and consydered the voyce of my prayer.

18 Praysed be God, whiche hath not caste out my prayer: nor turned his mercye from me.

Deus misereatur. Psalm.lxvii.

4 O let the nations reioyce and be glad, for thou shalt iudge the folke rygh teously: and gouerne the nations vpon earth.

5 Let the people prayse thee, O God: let al the people prayse thee.

6 Then shal the earth bryng forth her encrease: and God, euen our owne God, shal geue vs his blessyng.

Exurgat

Morning prayer.

Exurgat Deus. Psalm. lxviij.

LEt God aryse, and let his enimies be scattered: let them also that hate him, flee before hym.

2 Lyke as the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou dryue them away: and like as waxe melteth at the fyre, so let the vngodly perishe at the presence of God.

3 But let the ryghteous be glad and reioyce before God: let them also be mery and ioyful.

4 O syng vnto God, and sing prayses vnto his name: magnifie hym that ryseth vpon the heauens, as it were vpon an horse, prayse him in his name, yea and reioyce before hym.

5 He is a father of the fatherlesse, and defendeth the cause of the wydowes: euen God in his holy habitation.

6 He is the God that maketh men to be of one mynd in an house, and bringeth the prisoners out of captiuitie: but letteth the runagates continue in scarcenesse.

7 O God, when thou wentest forth before the people: when thou wentest through the wyldernesse.

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of God: euen as Sinai also was moued at the presence of God, whiche is the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sendedst a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance: and refreshedst it when it was weery.

10 Thy congregation shal dwel therin: for thou, O God, hast of thy goodnesse prepared for the poore.

11 The Lorde gaue the worde: great was the companie of the preachers.

12 Kynges with their armies dyd flee, and were discomfited: & they of the housholde diuided the spoyle.

13 Though ye haue lien among the pots, yet shal ye be as the wynges of a Doue: that is couered with syluer wynges, and her feathers lyke golde.

14 When the almightie scattered kings for their sake: then were they as white as snowe of Salmon.

15 As the hyl of Basan, so is Gods hil: euen an high hyl, as the hyl of Basan.

16 Why hoppe ye so, ye high hyls, this is gods hil, in the whiche it pleaseth hym to dwel: yea, the Lord wyl abyde in it for euer.

17 The charres of god are twentie thousand, euen thousands of angelles: & the Lord is among the, as in the holy place of Sinai.

18 ‖ Thou art gone vp an high, thou hast led captiuitie captiue, & receiued gyftes for men: yea, euen for thyne enimies, that the lorde god might dwel among them.

‖ Ephes. 4. 8.

19 Praysed be the lorde daily: euen the god whiche helpeth vs, and powreth his benefites vpon vs.

20 He is our god, euen the god of whome commeth saluation: god is the lorde by whom we escape death.

21 God shall wounde the heau of his enimies: and the heary scalpe of such a one as goeth on styl in his wickednesse.

22 The lorde hath sayde, I wyl bryng my people againe, as I dyd from Basan: mine owne wyl I bryng againe, as I dyd sometyme from the deepe of the sea.

23 That thy foote may be dipped in the blood of thine enimies: and that the tongue of thy dogges may be red therough the same.

24 It is wel seene, O god, how thou goest: howe thou my god and kyng goest in the sanctuarie.

25 The singers goe before, the minstrelles folowe after: in the middest are the damoselis playing with the tymbrelles.

26 Geue thankes O Israel, vnto god the lord in the congregations: frō the ground of the hart.

27 There is litle Beniamin their ruler, and the princes of Iuda their counsaile: the princes of Zabulon, and the princes of Nepthali.

28 Thy God hath sent forth strength for the: stablishe the thing, O God, that thou hast wrought in vs.

29 For thy temples sake at Hierusalem so shal kynges bryng presentes vnto the.

30 When the companie of the spearemen, and multitude of the mightie, are scattered abrode among the beastes of the people (so that they humbly bring peces of syluer) and when he hath scattered the people that delight in warre.

31 Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: the Morians lande shal soone stretche out her handes vnto God.

32 Syng vnto god, O ye kingdomes of the earth: O sing prayses vnto the lord.

33 Whiche ryteth in the heauens ouer al from the beginning: loe, he doth send out his voyce, yea, and that a mightie voyce.

34 Ascribe ye the power to god ouer Israel: his worship & strength is in the cloudes.

35 O God, wonderfull art thou in thy holy places: euen the God of Israel, he wyl geue strength and power vnto his people, blessed be god.

Saluum me fac Deus. Psalm. lxix.

Fuenyng prayer.

SAue me O God, for the waters are come in, euen vnto my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no ground is: I am come into deepe deepe waters, so that the floods ran ouer me.

3 I am wery of my crying, my throte is dryed: myne eyen fayleth me for waiting so long vpon my God.

4 They that hate mee without a cause, are more then the heares of my head: they that are myne enimies, and would destroy me guyltlesse, are mighty.

5 I payde them the thynges that I neuer tooke. God, thou knowest my simplenes, and my faultes are not hyd from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O lord God of hostes, be ashamed for my cause: let not those that seeke thee be confounded through me, O Lorde God of Israel.

7 And why? for thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren: euen an aliant vnto my mothers chyldren.

‖Joh.2.18. ‖Rom.15.3. 9 ‖For the zeale of thine house hath euen eaten me: & the ‖rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

11 I put on a sakcloth also: and they iested vppon me.

12 They that syt in the gate, speake agaynst me: and the drunkardes make longues vpon me.

13 But Lorde, I make my prayer vnto thee: in an acceptable tyme.

14 Heare me, O God, in the multitude of thy mercy: euen in the trueth of thy saluation.

15 Take me out of the myre, that I synke not: oh let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

16 Let not the water floodde drowne me, neyther let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pyt shut her mouth vppon me.

17 Heare me, O Lorde, for thy louyng kindnesse is comfortable: turne thee vnto me, according to the multitude of thy mercies.

18 And hyde not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: oh haste thee, and heare me.

19 Drawe nigh vnto my soule, and saue it: oh deliuer me, because of mine enimies.

20 Thou hast knowen my reproofe, my shame, and my dishonour: mine aduersaries are al in thy sight.

21 Thy rebuke hath broken my hart, I am ful of heauinesse: I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was no man, neyther found I any to comfort me.

24 Let their eyes be dimmed, that they see not: & euer bow thou downe their backes.

25 Powre out thyne indignation vpon them, and let thy wrathful displeasure take holde of them.

‖Actes.1.20. 26 ‖Let their habitation be voyde: and no man to dwel in their tentes.

27 For they persecute hym whom thou hast smitten: and they talke howe they may vexe them whom thou hast wounded.

28 Let them fall from one wickednesse to an other: and not come into thy rygh teousnesse.

29 Let them be wyped out of the booke of the lyuyng: and not be written among the rygh teous.

30 As for me, when I am poore, and in heauinesse: thy helpe (O God) shal lyfte me vp.

31 I wyl prayse the name of God with a songue: and magnifie it with thankesgeuyng.

32 This also shall please the Lorde better then a Bullocke that hath hornes and hooues.

33 The humble shal consyder this, and be glad: seeke ye after God, and your soule shal lyue.

34 For the Lord heareth the poore: and despiseth not his prisoners.

35 Let heauen and earth prayse hym: the sea and al that moueth therein.

36 For God wyl saue Sion, and buylde the cities of Juda: that men may dwel there, and haue it in possession.

37 The posteritie also of his seruantes shal inherite it: and they that loue his name, shal dwel therein.

3 Let them (for their rewarde) be soone brought to shame: that crye ouer me, there, there.

4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyful and glad in thee: and let al such as delyght in thy saluation, say alway, the Lorde be praysed.

Morning prayer.

IN thee, O Lorde, haue I put my trust, let me neuer be put to confusion: but rydde me, & deliuer me in thy ryghteousnesse, encline thine eare vnto me, and saue me.

2 Be thou my strong holde (whereunto I may alway resorte:) thou hast promysed to helpe me, for thou art my house of defence, and my castle.

3 Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hande of the vngodly: out of the hand of the vnryghteous and cruel man.

4 For thou, O Lorde God, art the thing that I long for: thou art my hope, euen from my youth.

5 Through thee haue I been holden vp euer since I was borne: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers wombe, my prayse shal alway be of thee.

6 I am become as it were a monster vnto many: but my sure trust is in thee.

7 O let my mouth be fylled with thy prayse: (that I maye syng of thy glory) and honour all the day long.

8 Caste me not away in the tyme of age: forsake me not when my strength fayleth me.

9 For mine enimies speake against me, and they that laye wayte for my soule, take their counsayle togeather, saying: God hath forsaken him, persecute him, and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.

10 Goe not farre fro me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.

11 Let them be confounded and perishe, that are agaynst my soule: let them be couered with shame and dishonour, that seeke to doo me euyl.

12 As for me, I wyll patiently abyde alway: and wyl prayse thee more and more.

13 My mouth shall dayly speake of thy ryghteousnesse and saluation: for I know no ende therof.

14 I wyll goe forth in the strength of the Lorde God: and wyll make mention of thy ryghteousnesse onely.

15 Thou, O God, hast taught me from my youth vp vntyll nowe: therefore wyll I tel of thy woonderous woorkes.

16 Forsake me not, O God, in mine old age, when I am gray headed: vntyl I haue shewed thy strength vnto this generation, and thy power to all them that are yet for to come.

17 Thy ryghteousnesse, O God, is very hygh: and great thynges are they that thou hast doone, O God, who is lyke vnto thee?

18 O what great troubles and aduersities hast thou shewed me, and yet dydst thou turne and refreshe me: yea, and broughtest me from the deepe of the earth agayne.

19 Thou hast brought me to great honour: and comforted me on euery syde.

20 Therfore wyl I prayse thee and thy faythfulnesse (O God) playing vpon an instrument of musicke: vnto thee wyll I syng vpon the Harpe, O thou holy one of Israel.

21 My lyppes wyl be fayne when I syng vnto thee: and so wyl my soule whom thou hast deliuered.

17 His name ſhall endure for euer, his name ſhall remayne vnder the ſunne among the poſteritieſe which ſhalbe bleſſed thorough him, and all the heathen ſhal prayſe him.

18 Bleſſed be the Lorde God, euen the God of Iſrael, whiche onely doeth wonderous thynges.

Quam bonus Iſrael. Pſalm.lxxiij.

TRuely God is louyng vnto Iſrael euen vnto ſuche as are of a cleane hart.

2 Neuertheleſſe, my fete were almoſte gone: my treadynges had welnygh ſkypt.

3 And why? I was greeued at the wicked: I doo alſo ſee the vngodly in ſuch proſperitie.

4 For they are in no peryl of death: but are luſty and ſtrong.

5 They come in no myſchyefe lyke other folke: neyther are they plagued lyke other men.

6 And this is the cauſe that they be ſo holden with pryde: and ouerwhelmed with crueltie.

7 Their eyes bwel with fatneſſe: and they doo euen what they luſt.

8 They corrupt other, and ſpeake of wicked blaſphemie: their talkyng is againſt the moſt hygheſt.

9 For they ſtretche fooryth their mouth vnto the heauen: and their tongue goeth thorowe the worlde.

10 Therfore fal the people vnto them: and thereout ſucke they no final aduantage.

11 Tuſhe (ſay they) howe ſhoulde God perceyue it: is there knowlenge in the moſt hygheſt?

12 Loe, theſe are the vngodly, theſe proſper in the worlde, & theſe haue richeſſe in poſſeſſion: and I ſayd, then haue I cleanſed my hart in vayne, and waſhed my handes in innocencie.

13 All the day long haue I been punyſhed: and chaſtened euery morneyng.

14 Yea and I had almoſt ſayde euen as they: but loe, then ſhoulde I haue condemned the generacion of thy chyldren.

15 Then thought I to vnderſtand this: but it was too harde for me.

16 Vntyl I went into the ſanctuary of God: then vnderſtood I the end of theſe men.

17 Namely, howe thou doeſt ſet them in ſlipperie places: and caſteſt them downe, and deſtroyeſt them.

18 O howe ſodainly doo they conſume: peryſhe, and come to a fearefull ende.

19 Yea, euen lyke as a dreame when one abuaketh: ſo ſhalt thou make their image to vaniſhe out of the citie.

20 Thus my hart was greeued: and it went euen thorough my reynes.

21 So foolyſhe was I and ignorant: euen as it were a beaſt before thee.

22 Neuertheleſſe, I am alway by thee: for thou haſt holden me by my ryght hande.

23 Thou ſhalt guyde me with thy counſel: & after that receyue me with glory.

24 Whom haue I in heauen but thee: and there is none vpon earth that I deſyre in compariſon of thee.

25 My fleſhe and my hart fayleth: but God is the ſtrength of my hart, and my portion for euer.

26 For loe, they that forſake thee, ſhall peryſhe: thou haſt deſtroyed all them that commit fornication againſt thee.

27 But it is good for me to hold me faſt by God, to put my truſt in the Lorde God: and to ſpeake of al thy woorkes (in the gates of the daughter of Sion.)

Vt quid deus. Pſalm. lxxiiij.

O God, wherefore art thou abſent from vs ſo long: why is thy wrath ſo hot againſt the ſheepe of thy paſture?

2 O thinke vpon thy congregation whom thou haſt purchaſed and redeemed of olde.

3 Thinke vpon the tribe of thyne inheritance: and mount Sion wherein thou haſt dwelt.

4 Lyft vp thy feete, that thou mayeſt vtterly deſtroy euery enimie: whiche hath doone euyl in thy ſanctuarie.

5 Thyne aduerſaries roare in the myddes of thy congregations: and ſet vp their bannners for tokens.

6 He that hewed timber afore out of the thycke trees: was knowen to bryng it to an excellent woorke.

7 But nowe they breake downe all the carued woorke thereof: with axes and hammers.

8 ‖ They haue ſet fyre vpon thy holye places: and haue defyled the dwelling place of thy name, euen vnto the grounde. ‖ 2.Ma.25.8

9 Yea, they ſayde in their hartes, let vs make make hauocke of them altogether: thus haue they burnt vp all the houſes of God in the lande.

10 We ſee not our tokens, there is not one prophet more: no not one is there among vs that vnderſtandeth any more.

11 O God, howe long ſhall the aduerſarie do this diſhonour: howe long ſhall the enimie blaſpheme thy name, for euer?

12 Why withdraweſt thou thy hande: why pluckeſt not thou thy ryght hande out of thy boſome to conſume the enimie?

Luke.1.70. 13 ‖ For god is my king of old: the helpe that is done vpon earth, he doth it him ſelfe.

14 Thou didſt diuide the ſea through thy power: thou brakeſt the heades of the dragons in the waters.

15 Thou ſmoteſt the heades of Leuiathan in peeces: and gaueſt hym to be meate for the people in the wyldernesſe.

16 Thou broughteſt out fountaines and waters out of the harde rockes: thou dryedſt vp mightie waters.

17 The day is thine, & the night is thine: thou haſt prepared the light and the ſunne.

18 Thou haſt ſet al the borders of the earth: thou haſt made ſommer and wynter.

19 Remember this, O Lorde, howe the enimie hath rebuked: and howe the fooliſhe people haue blaſphemed thy name.

20 O deliuer not the ſoule of thy turtle doue vnto the multitude of the enimies: and forgeat not the congregation of the poore for euer.

21 Looke vpon the couenant: for al the earth is ful of darkneſſe & cruel habitations.

22 Oh let not the ſimple goe away aſhamed: but let the poore and needie geue praiſe vnto thy name.

23 Ariſe, O God, maintein thyne owne cauſe: remember howe the fooliſh man blaſphemeth thee dayly.

24 Forgeat not the voyce of thyne enimies: the preſumption of them that hate thee, encreaſeth euer more and more.

5 I ſaid vnto the fooles, deale not ſo madly: and to the vngodly, ſet not vp your horne.

6 Set not vp your horne on high: and ſpeake not with a ſtiffe necke.

7 For promotion commeth neyther from the Eaſt nor from the Weſt: nor yet from the South.

8 And why? God is the iudge: he putteth downe one, and ſetteth vp another.

9 For in the hande of the Lorde there is a cuppe, and the wine is red: it is ful mixt, and he powreth out of the ſame.

10 As for the dregges therof: al the vngodly of the earth ſhal drinke them, and ſucke them out.

11 But I wil talke of the GOD of Jacob: and praiſe hym for euer.

2 In the time of trouble I ſought the Lord: my ſore ranne and ceaſſed not, in the night ſeaſon my ſoule refuſed comfort.

3 When I am in heauinesse, I wyll thinke vpon God: when my hart is vexed, I will complayne.

4 Thou holdest myne eyes waking: I am so feeble that I can not speake.

5 I haue considered the dayes of olde: and the yeeres that are past.

6 I cal to remembraunce my song: and in the night I commune with mine owne hart, and searche out my spirites.

7 Will the Lorde absent him selfe for euer: and will he be no more entreated?

8 Is his mercie cleane gone for euer: and is his promise come vtterly to an ende for euermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to be gracious: and will he shut vp his louing kyndnesse in displeasure?

10 And I sayde, it is mine owne infirmitie: but I will remember the yeeres of the right hande of the most highest.

11 I will remēber the works of the lord: and cal to minde thy wonders of olde time.

12 I will thinke also of al thy workes: and my talking shalbe of thy doing.

HEare my lawe, O my people: encline your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth.

2 ‖ I wyll open my mouth in a parable: I will declare darke sentences of olde.

3 Which we haue heare and knowen: and such as our fathers haue tolde vs.

4 That we should not hide them from the children of the generations to come: but to shewe the honour of the Lorde, his mighty and wonderful workes that he hath done.

5 He made a couenant with Jacob, and gaue Israel a lawe: which he commaunded our forefathers to teache their children.

6 That their posteritie might know it: and the children which were yet vnborne.

7 To the intent that when they came vp: they might shew their children the same.

8 That they myght put their trust in God: and not to forget the workes of God, but to kepe his commaundementes.

9 And not to be as their forefathers, a faithlesse & stubborne generation: a generation that set not their hart aright, & whose spirite cleaueth not stedfastly vnto God.

10 Like as the children of Ephraim: which being harnessed & carying bowes, turned them selues backe in the day of battaile.

11 They kept not the couenant of God: and would not walke in his lawe.

12 But forgate what he had done: and the wonderful worke that he had shewed for them.

13 Marueylous thinges did he in the sight of our forefathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the feelde of Zoan.

16 ‖ He claue the harde rockes in the wildernesse: and gaue them drinke therof, as it had ben out of the great deapth. ‖ Exod.17.6. Num.20.10

17 He brought waters out of the stonie rocke: so that it gushed out lyke the ryuers.

18 Yet for all this they sinned more against him: and prouoked the most highest in the wyldernesse.

19 They tempted God in their hartes: and required meate for their lust.

20 ‖ They spake against god also, saying: shal God prepare a table in the wildernesse? ‖ Num.11.1

21 ‖ He smote the stony rocke in deede that the water gushed out, and the streames flowed withal: but can he geue bread also, or prouide flesh for his people? ‖ Exod.17.6. Num.20.11.

22 ‖ When the Lord heard this, he was wroth: so þ fire was kindled in Jacob, & there came vp heauie displeasure against Israel. ‖ Num.11.1.

23 Because they beleeued not in God: and put not their trust in his helpe.

33 Therfore their daies did he conſume in vanitie: and their yeeres in trouble.

34 When he ſlue them, they ſought him: & turned them early and enquired after God.

35 And they remembred that God was their ſtrength: and that the high God was their redeemer.

36 Neuertheleſſe, they did but flatter him with their mouth: and diſſembled with him in their tongue.

50 He caſt vpon them the furiouſneſſe of his wrath, anger, diſpleaſure, and trouble: and ſent euyl angels among them.

51 He made away to his indignation, and ſpared not their ſoule from death: but gaue their lyfe ouer to the peſtilence.

52 ||And ſmote all the fyrſt borne in Egypt: the moſt principall and mightyeſt in the dwellynges of Ham. ||Exod.12.29

53 ||But as for his owne people, he led them forth like ſheepe: and carped them in the wyldernеſſe lyke a flocke. ||Exo.13.18

54 He brought them out ſafely, that they ſhould not feare: and ouerwhelmed their enimies with the ſea.

56 ||He caſt out the heathen alſo before them: cauſed their land to be diuided among them for an heritage, and made the tribes of Iſrael to dwel in their tentes. ||Ioſ.13.7

57 So they tempted and diſpleaſed the moſt high God: and kept not his teſtimonies.

58 But turned their backes, and fell away like their forefathers: ſtarting aſide like a broken bowe.

59 For they greeued him with their hie auiters: and prouoked him to diſpleaſure with their images.

60 When God heard this, he was wroth: and tooke ſore diſpleaſure at Iſrael.

61 ||So that he forſooke the tabernacle in Silo: euen the tent that he had pitched among them. 1.Reg.4.

65 Their prieſtes were ſlaine with the ſwoorde: and there were no wydowes to make lamentation.

66 So the Lorde awaked as one out of ſleepe: & like a Giaunt refreſhed with wine.

67 He ſmote his enimies in the hinder partes: and put them to a perpetual ſhame.

68 He refuſed the tabernacle of Joſeph: and choſe not the tribe of Ephraim.

69 But choſe the tribe of Iuda: euen the hil of Sion which he loued.

70 And there he builded his temple on high: and laide the fundation of it, like the ground which he hath made continually.

71 ||He choſe Dauid alſo his ſeruant: & ||1.Re.16.12.

O God, the heathen are come into thyne inheritaunce: thy holy temple haue they defyled, and made Hierusalem an heape of stones.

2 The dead bodies of thy seruantes haue they geuen to be meat vnto the fowles of the ayre: and the flesh of thy saintes vnto the beastes of the lande.

3 Their blood haue they shed like water on euery syde of Hierusalem: and there was no man to bury them.

10 Wherefore doo the heathen saye: where is nowe their God?

11 O let the vengence of thy seruantes blood that is shed: be openly shewed vpon the heathen in our syght.

12 O let the sorowfull syghing of the prisoners come before thee: accordyng to the greatnesse of thy power preserue thou those that are appoynted to dye.

OHowe amiable are thy dwellinges: thou Lord of hoſtes?

2 My ſoule hath a deſyre and longyng to enter into the courtes of the Lorde: my hart and my fleſhe reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea the ſparowe hath founde her an houſe, and the ſwalowe a neſt, where ſhe may lay her young: euen thyne aulters, O Lord of hostes, my king and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwel in thy house: they wil be alway praysing thee.

5 Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee: in whose hart are thy wayes.

6 Which going through the vale of miserie vse it for a well: and the pooles are filled with water.

7 They wil go frō strength to strength: and vnto the God of gods appeareth euery one of them in Sion.

8 O Lorde God of hostes heare my prayer: hearken O God of Jacob.

9 Beholde, O God our defender: and loke vpon the face of thine anoynted.

10 For one day in thy courtes: is better then a thousand.

11 I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God: then to dwel in the tentes of vngodlynesse.

12 For the Lord God is a light and defence: the Lorde wil geue grace and worshipp, and no good thing shal he withholde from them that liue a godly lyfe.

13 O Lord God of hostes: blessed is the man that putteth his trust in thee.

Benedixisti domine. Psal.lxxxv.

LOrd thou art become gratious vnto thy land: thou hast turned away the captiuitie of Jacob.

2 Thou hast forgeuen the offence of thy people: and couered al their sinnes.

3 Thou hast taken away al thy displeasure: and turned thee selfe from thy wrathful indignation.

4 Turne vs then, O God our sauiour: and let thine anger cease from vs.

5 Wilt thou be displeased at vs for euer: and wilt thou stretch out thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe & quicken vs: that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercie, O lord: & graunt vs thy saluation.

8 I wil hearken what the Lorde God wil say concerning me: for he shal speake peace vnto his people, & to his saintes, that they turne not againe.

9 For his saluation is nigh them that feare him: that glory may dwel in our lande.

10 Mercy & trueth are met togeather: righteousnes & peace haue kissed eche other.

11 Trueth shal florishe out of the earth: and righteousnesse hath loked downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shal shew louing kyndnesse: and our land shal geue her encrease.

13 Righteousnesse shal goe before him: and he shal direct his goeing in the way.

Inclina domine. Psal.lxxxvi.

BOwe downe thine eare, O Lorde, and heare me: for I am poore and in miserie. Mornyng prayer.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am holy: my God saue thy seruant that putteth his trust in thee.

3 Be merciful vnto me, O Lord: for I wil cal dayly vpon thee.

4 Comfort the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee (O Lord) do I lift vp my soule.

5 || For thou Lord art good & gratious: and of great mercy vnto al them that cal vpon thee. [|| Joel.2.13.]

6 Geue eare Lord vnto my prayer: and ponder the voyce of mine humble desyres.

7 In the time of my trouble I wil call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the goddes there is none lyke vnto thee (O Lord:) there is not one that can do as thou doest.

9 Al nations whom thou hast made, shal come and worshipp thee, O Lorde: and shall glorifie thy name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wonderous thinges: thou art God alone.

11 Teache me thy way (O Lord) and I wyl walke in thy trueth: O knit my hart vnto thee, that I may feare thy name.

12 I wil thanke thee, O Lord my God, with al my hart: and will praise thy name for euermore.

13 For great is thy mercy towarde me: and thou hast deliuered my soule from the neathermost hel.

14 O God, the proude are risen against me: and the congregations of naughtie men haue sought after my soule, and haue not set thee before their eyes.

15 But thou (O Lorde God) art full of compassion and mercy: long suffering, plenteous in goodnesse and trueth.

16 O turne thee then vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: geue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and helpe the sonne of thine handmayde.

17 Shew some good token vpon me for good, that they whiche hate me may see it, and be ashamed: because thou Lorde hast holpen me, and comforted me.

Fundamenta eius. Psal.lxxxvii

HEr fundations are vpon the holy hyls: the lord loueth the gates of Sion, more then al the dwellinges of Jacob.

2 Very excellent thinges are spoken of thee: thou citie of God.

3 I will thinke vpon Rahab and Babylon: with them that knowe me.

4 Beholde ye the Philistines also: and they of Tyre, with the Mozians, loe, there was he borne.

5 And of Sion it shall be reported that he was borne in her: and the most high shal stablishe her.

6 The Lorde shall rehearse it when he writeth vp the people: that he was borne there.

7 The syngers also and trumpetters shal be rehearsed: al my freshe springes shalbe in thee.

Domine deus. Psal. lxxxviii.

O Lorde God of my saluation, I haue cryed day and night before thee: O let my prayer enter into thy presence, encline thyne eare vnto my calling.

2 For my soule is ful of trouble: and my life draweth nigh vnto hel.

3 I am counted as one of them that goe downe vnto the pit: and I haue ben euen as a man that hath no strength.

4 Free among the dead, like vnto them that be wounded and lye in the graue: which be out of remembrance, and are cut away from thy hande.

5 Thou hast laide me in the lowest pit: in a place of darkenesse, and in the deepe.

6 Thine indignation lyeth hard vpon me: and thou hast vexed me with al thy stormes.

7 Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me: and made me to be abhorred of them.

8 I am so fast in prison: that I can not geat foorth.

9 My sight faileth for very trouble: Lord I haue called dayly vppon thee, I haue stretched out my handes vnto thee.

10 Doest thou shewe woonders among the dead: or shall the dead rise vp agayne and prayse thee?

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse be shewed in the graue: or thy faithfulnesse in destruction?

12 Shall thy woonderous workes be knowen in the darke: and thy righteousnesse in the land where al thynges are forgotten?

13 Unto thee haue I cried, O Lorde: and early shal my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord, why abhorrest thou my soule: and hidest thou thy face from me?

15 I am in miserie, and like vnto him that is at the point to die: (euen from my youth vp) thy terrours haue I suffered with a troubled minde.

16 Thy wrathfull displeasure goeth ouer me: & the feare of thee hath vndone me.

17 They came rounde about me dayly like water: and compassed me togeather on euery syde.

18 My louers and frends hast thou put away from me: and hid myne acquaintance out of my sight.

Misericordias domini. Psal. lxxxix.

Euenyng prayer.

My song shalbe alway of the louing kindnesse of the Lord: with my mouth wyll I euer be shewing thy trueth, from one generation to another.

2 For I haue sayd, mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou stablishe in the heauens.

3 I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue || swoorne vnto Dauid my seruant. || 2. Re. 7. 12

4 Thy seede will I stablishe for euer: and set vp thy throne from one generation to another.

5 O Lorde, the very heauens shal praise thy wonderous workes: and thy trueth in the congregation of the saintes.

6 For who is he among the cloudes: that shalbe compared vnto the Lorde?

7 And what is he among the goddes: that shalbe like vnto the Lorde?

8 God is very greatly to be feared in the counsel of the saintes: and to be had in reuerence of al them that are about him.

9 O Lorde God of hoastes, who is like vnto thee: thy trueth (most mighty Lorde) is on euery syde.

10 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: thou stillest the waues thereof when they arise.

11 Thou hast subdued Egypt, and destroyed it: thou hast scattered thyne enimies abrode with thy mighty arme.

12 ||The heauens are thine, and the earth is thine: thou hast layde the fundation of the rounde worlde, and al that therin is.

13 Thou hast made the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shal reioyce in thy name.

14 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thy hande, and high is thy right hande.

15 Righteousnesse and equitie is the habitation of thy seate: mercie and trueth shal goe before thy face.

16 Blessed is the people (O Lord) that can reioyce in thee: they shal walke in the light of thy countenance.

17 Their delight shalbe dayly in thy name: and in thy righteousnesse shall they make their boast.

18 For thou art the glory of their ſtrength: and in thy louyng kindeneſſe thou ſhalt lyft vp our hornes.

19 For the Lorde is our defence: the holy one of Iſrael is our king.

2 O let me haue vnderstandyng: in the way of godlynesse.

3 When wylt thou come vnto me: I wyl walke in my house with a perfect hart.

4 I wyl take no wicked thyng in hand, I hate the synnes of vnfaythfulnesse: there shal no suche cleaue vnto me.

5 A frowarde hart shal depart from me: I wyl not knowe a wicked person.

6 Whoso priuily slaundreth his neyghbour: him wyl I destroy.

7 Who so hath also a proude looke, and hygh stomacke: I wyl not suffer him.

8 Mine eyes loke vnto such as be faithful in the land: that they may dwel with me.

9 Who so leadeth a godly lyfe: he shalbe my seruant.

10 There shal no deceitful person dwel in my house: he that telleth lyes, shall not tarrie in my syght.

11 I shal soone destroy all the vngodly that are in the lande: that I maye roote out al wicked doers from the citie of the Lorde.

Domine exaudi. Psalm. Cii.

Morning prayer.

HEare my prayer, O Lord: and let my crying come vnto thee.

2 Hyde not thy face from me in the tyme of my trouble: enclyne thine eares vnto me when I call, O heare me, and that syght soone.

3 For my dayes are consumed awaye lyke smoke: and my bones are brent vp as it were a fyre brande.

4 My hart is smytten downe & withered like grasse: so that I forget to eate my bread.

5 For the voyce of my groning: my bones wyl scarse cleaue to my flesh.

6 I am become lyke a Pellican in the wyldernesse: and lyke an Owle that is in the desart.

7 I haue watched, and am euen as it were a Sparowe: that sytteth alone vpon the house top.

8 Myne enimies reuyle me all the day long: and they that are mad vpon me, are swoorne together agaynst me.

9 For I haue eaten asshes as it were bread: & mingled my drynke with weeping.

10 And that because of thyne indignation and wrath: for thou hast taken me vp, and cast me downe.

11 My dayes are gone lyke a shadowe: and I am wythered lyke grasse.

12 But thou (O Lord) shalt endure for euer: and thy remembraunce throughout al generations.

13 Thou shalt aryse, and haue mercy vpon Sion: for it is tyme that thou haue mercy vpon her, yea the tyme is come.

14 And why? thy seruantes thynke vpon her stones: and it pitieth them to see her in the dust.

15 The heathen shall feare thy name, O Lorde: and al the kyngs of the earth thy maiestie.

16 When the Lorde shal buyld vp Sion: and when his glory shal appeare.

17 When he turneth him vnto the prayer of the poore destitute: and despyseth not their desyre.

18 This shalbe wrytten for those that come after: and the people whiche shalbe borne, shal prayse the Lorde.

19 For he hath looked downe from his sanctuarie: out of the heauen dyd the Lorde behold the earth.

20 That he myght heare the mournynges of suche as be in captiuitie: and deliuer the chyldren appoynted vnto death.

21 That they may declare the name of the Lorde in Sion: and his worshyp at Hierusalem.

22 When the people are geathered together: and the kyngdomes also to serue the Lorde.

23 He brought downe my strength in my iourney: and shortned my dayes.

24 But I sayde, O my God, take me not away in the myddes of myne age: as for thy yeres they endure throughout all generations.

Iped.1.10. 25 ‖ Thou Lord in the beginnyng hast layde the fundation of the earth: and the heauens are the woorke of thy handes.

26 They shal perishe, but thou shalt endure: they al shal waxe old, as doth a garmẽt.

27 And as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shalbe changed: but thou art the same, and thy yeeres shal not fayle.

28 The chyldren of thy seruantes shal continue: and their seede shal stand fast in thy sight.

Benedic anima mea. Psal Ciii.

PRaise the Lord, O my soule: and al that is within me prayse his holy name.

2 Prayse the Lorde, O my soule: and forgeat not al his benefites.

3 Whiche forgeueth al thy synne: and healeth al thyne infirmities.

4 Whiche saueth thy lyfe from destruction: and crowneth thee with mercy and louyng kyndnesse.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good thynges: makyng thee young and lustie as an Eagle.

6 The Lorde executeth ryghteousnesse and iudgement: for al them that are oppressed with wrong.

7 He shewed his wayes vnto Moses: his woorkes vnto the chyldren of Israel.

1Ma.14.18. 8 ‖ The Lorde is ful of compassion and mercy: long suffering, and of great goodnes.

9 He wyl not alway be chyding: neither keepeth he his anger for euer.

10 He hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes: nor rewarded vs accordyng to our wickednesse.

11 For looke howe hygh the heauen is in comparison of the earth: so great is his mercy also toward them that feare hym.

12 Locke howe wyde also the East is from the West: so farre hath he set our synnes from vs.

13 Yea, lyke as a father pytieth his owne chyldren: euen so is the Lorde mercyful vnto them that feare hym.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are but as grasse: for he flourisheth as a flowre of the feelde.

16 For assoone as the wynde goeth ouer it, it is gone: and the place thereof shal knowe it no more.

17 But the mercyful goodnesse of the Lorde endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare hym: and his ryghteousnesse vpon chylders chyldren.

18 Euen vpon suche as keepe his couenant: and thynke vpon his commaundementes to doo them.

19 The Lorde hath prepared his seate in heauen: and his kyngdome ruleth ouer al.

20 O prayse the Lord, ye angels of his, ye that excel in strength: ye that fulfyl his commaundement, and hearken vnto the voyce of his woordes.

21 O prayse the Lorde, al ye his hoste: ye seruantes of his that doo his pleasure.

22 O speake good of the Lorde al ye woorkes of his, in al places of his dominion: prayse thou the Lorde, O my soule.

PRaise the Lord, O my soule: O Lord my God, thou art become exceedyng glorious, thou art clothed with maiestie and honour. Euenyng prayer.

2 Thou deckest thee selfe with lyght, as it were with a garment: and spreadest out the heauens lyke a curtayne.

7 At thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they are afrayde.

8 They goe vp as hygh as the hylles, and downe to the valleys beneath: euen vnto the place whiche thou hast appoynted for them.

9 Thou hast set them their bounds whiche they shal not passe: neyther turne agayne to couer the earth.

25 So is the great and wyde ſea alſo: wherein are thynges creeping innumerable, both ſmal and great beaſtes.

26 There goe the ſhyppes, and there is that Leuiathan: whom thou haſt made to take his paſtime therein.

27 Theſe wayte al vpon thee: that thou mayeſt geue them meate in due ſeaſon.

28 When thou geueſt it them, they gether it: and when thou openeſt thine hande, they are filled with good.

29 When thou hydeſt thy face, they are troubled: whē thou takeſt away their breath, they dye, and are turned agayne to their duſt.

30 When thou ſendeſt thy breath goe forth, they ſhalbe made: and thou ſhalt renue the face of the earth.

34 And ſo ſhal my woordes pleaſe hym: my ioy ſhalbe in the Lorde.

‖Deu.13.21. O Geue ‖thanks vnto the Lord, for he is gratious: and his mercy endureth for euer.

2 Let them geue thankes whom the Lorde hath redeemed: and delyuered from the hande of the enimye.

3 And gathered them out of the landes, from the Eaſt and from the Weaſt: from the North, and from the South.

4 They went aſtray in the wyldernes out of the way: & founde no citie to dwel in.

5 Hungry and thyrſtie: their ſoule fainted in them.

6 So they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble: and he delyuered them from their diſtreſſe.

7 He led them forth by the ryght way: that they myght goe to the citie where they dwelt.

8 O that men would therefore prayſe the Lord for his goodnes: & declare the wonders that he doeth for the chyldren of men.

9 For he ſatiſfieth the emptie ſoule: and fylleth the hungry ſoule with goodneſſe.

10 Such as ſyt in darkneſſe and in the ſhadowe of death: beyng faſt bound in miſerie and iron.

13 So when they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble: he delyuered them out of their diſtreſſe.

15 O that men would therfore prayſe the Lord for his goodnes: & declare the wonders that he doeth for the chyldren of men.

19 So when they cryed vnto the Lorde in their trouble: he delyuered them out of their diſtreſſe.

20 He ſent his woord and healed them: and they were ſaued from their deſtruction.

21 O that men would therfore prayſe the Lord for his goodnes: & declare the wonders that he doeth for the children of men.

22 That they would offer vnto him the ſacrifice of thankes geuyng: and tel out his woorkes with gladneſſe.

and downe agayne to the deepe: theyr ſoule melteth away, becauſe of the trouble.

27 They reele to & fro, and ſtagger like a dronken man: and are at theyr wits ende.

28 So when they crye vnto the Lorde in theyr trouble: he deliuereth them out of theyr diſtreſſe.

29 For he maketh the ſtorme to ceaſſe: ſo that the waues thereof are ſtyl.

30 Then are they glad, becauſe they be at reſt: & ſo he bringeth them vnto the hauen where they woulde be.

31 O that men would therfore prayſe the Lord for his goodneſſe: and declare the wonders that he doth for the childzen of men.

32 That they woulde exalt hym alſo in the congregation of the people: and prayſe him in the ſeate of the elders.

33 Whiche turneth the flooddes into a wylderneſſe: & dryeth vp the water ſprings.

34 A fruiteful lande maketh he barren: for the wyckednеſſe of them that dwel therein.

35 Agayne, he maketh the wyldernеſſe a ſtandyng water: and water ſprynges of a dry grounde.

36 And there he ſetteth the hungry: that they may builde them a citie to dwel in.

37 That they may ſowe theyr land, and plant vineyardes: to yeelde them fruites of increaſe.

38 He bleſſeth them, ſo that they multiplie exceedingly: and ſuffreth not theyr cattel to decreaſe.

39 And agayne, when they are miniſhed and brought lowe: through oppreſſion, through any plague or trouble.

40 Though he ſuffer them to be euyll entreated through tyrantes: & let them wander out of the way in the wyldernеſſe.

11 Let there be no man to pitie hym: nor to haue compaſſion vpon his fatherleſſe chyldren.

12 Let his posteritie be destroyed: and in the next generation let his name be cleane put out.

13 Let the wickednes of his fathers be had in remembrance in the sight of the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away.

14 Let them alway be before the Lord: that he may roote out the memorial of them from of the earth.

15 And that because his minde was not to do good: but persecuted the poore helpelesse man, that he might slea him that was vexed at the hart.

16 His delite was in cursing, and it shal happen vnto him: he loued not blessyng, therefore shal it be farre from hym.

17 He clothed him selfe with cursing, like as with a rayment: and it shal come into his bowels like water, and lyke oyle into his bones.

18 Let it be vnto him as the cloke that he hath vpon him: and as the gyrdle that he is alway gyrded withal.

19 Let it thus happen from the Lorde vnto mine enimies: and to those that speake euil agaynst my soule.

20 But deale thou with me (O Lorde God) accordyng vnto thy name: for sweete is thy mercy.

21 O deliuer me, for I am helpeleſſe and poore: and my hart is wounded within me.

22 I goe hence like the shadowe that departeth: and am driuen away as the grasshopper.

23 My knees are weake through fasting: my flesh is dryed vp for want of fatnesse.

24 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heades.

25 Helpe me (O Lord my GOD:) oh saue me according to thy mercy.

26 And they shal knowe howe that this is thy hande: and that thou Lorde hast done it.

27 Though they curse, yet blesse thou: and let them be confounded that ryse vp against me, but let thy seruant reioyce.

28 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame: and let them couer them selues with their owne confusion, as with a cloke.

29 As for me, I wil geue great thankes vnto the Lorde with my mouth: and praise him among the multitude.

30 For he shal stande at the right hande of the poore: to saue his soule from vnrighteous iudges.

7 He shal drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shal he lift vp his head.

Confitebor tibi. Psal. Cxi.

I Wyl geue thankes vnto the Lorde with my whole hart: secretely among the faythful, and in the congregation.

2 The woorkes of the Lord are great: sought out of al them that haue pleasure therein.

3 His woorke is worthy to be praysed, and had in honour: and his righteousnes endureth for euer.

4 The mercyful & gratious Lorde hath so done his marueylous woorkes: that they ought to be had in remembraunce.

5 He hath geuen meate vnto them that feare hym: he shal euer be mindful of his couenaunt.

6 He hath shewed his people the power of his woorkes: that he may geue them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The woorkes of his handes are veritie and iudgement: al his commaundementes are true.

8 They stand fast for euer and euer: and are done in trueth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commaunded his couenant for euer, holy and reuerent is his name.

4 Unto the godly there ariseth vp light in the darknesse: he is mercifull, louyng, and ryghteous.

5 A good man is mercifull and lendeth: and wil guide his wordes with discretion.

6 For he shal neuer be moued: and the righteous shalbe had in an euerlastyng remembrance.

7 He wil not be afrayd for any euyl tydinges: for his hart standeth fast and beleeueth in the Lorde.

2 Mine eyes long sore for thy word, saying: O when wilt thou comfort me?

3 For I am become like a bottel in the smoke: yet do I not forget thy statutes.

4 Howe many are the dayes of thy seruant: when wilt thou be auenged of them that persecute me?

5 The proude haue digged pyttes for me: which are not after thy lawe.

6 Al thy commaundementes are true: they persecute me falsly: O be thou my helpe.

7 They had almost made an end of me vpon vpon earth: but I forsoke not thy commaundementes.

8 O quicken me after thy louyng kindnesse: and so shal I keepe the testimonies of thy mouth.

Quomodo dilexi.

LOrde, what loue haue I vnto thy law: al the day long is my studie in it.

2 Thou through thy commaundementes hast made me wiser then mine enimies: for they are euer with me.

3 I haue more vnderstanding then my teachers: for thy testimonies are my studie.

4 I am wiser then the aged: because I kepe thy commaundementes.

5 I haue refrained my feete from euery euil way: that I may keepe thy worde.

6 I haue not shronke from thy iudgementes: for thou teachest me.

7 O howe sweete are thy wordes vnto my throate: yea, sweeter then hony vnto my mouth.

8 Through thy commaundementes I get vnderstanding: therfore I hate al wicked wayes.

7 Thy testimonies haue I claimed as mine heritage for euer: and why? they are the very ioy of my hart.

8 I haue applied mine hart to fulfyll thy statutes alway: euen vnto the ende.

Iniquos odio habui.

I Hate them that imagine euil things: but thy lawe doo I loue.

8 Therefore hold I straight al thy commaundementes: and al false wayes I vtterly abhorre.

Mirabilia.

THy testimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my soule keepe them.

2 When thy worde goeth forth: it geueth light and vnderstanding vnto the simple.

3 I opened my mouth and drewe in my breath: for my delight was in thy commaundementes.

4 O looke thou vpon me, and be mercyfull vnto me: as thou vsest to doo vnto those that loue thy name.

5 Order my steppes in thy woorde: and so shall no wickednesse haue dominion ouer me.

6 O deliuer me from the wrongful dealinges of men: and so shall I keepe thy commaundementes.

7 Shew the light of thy countenaunce vpon thy seruaunt: & teach me thy statutes.

Iustus es domine.

RIghteous art thou, O Lorde: and true is thy iudgement.

2 The testimonies that thou hast cõmaunded: are exceeding righteous and true.

3 My zeale hath euen consumed me: because mine enimies haue forgottē thy woords.

4 Thy word is tryed to the vttermost: and thy seruant loueth it.

5 I am smal and of no reputation: yet doo not I forgeat thy commaundementes.

6 Thy righteousnesse is an euerlasting righteousnesse: and thy lawe is the trueth.

7 Trouble and heauinesse hath taken holde vppon me: yet is my delight in thy commaundements.

4 Mine eyes preuent the night watches: that I might be occupied in thy woordes.

5 Heare my voyce (O Lorde) according vnto thy louyng kindnes: quicken me according as thou art woont.

6 They drawe nigh that of malice persecute me: and are farre from thy lawe.

7 Be thou nigh at hande, O Lorde: for all thy commaundementes are true.

OConsider myne aduersitie, and deliuer me: for I doo not forgeat thy lawe.

2 Auenge thou my cause, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy woorde.

3 Health is farre from the vngodly: for they regarde not thy statutes.

4 Great is thy mercy, O Lord: quicken me as thou art woont.

5 Many there are that trouble me, and persecute me: yet doo I not swarue from thy testimonies.

6 It greeueth me when I see the transgressours: because they keepe not thy lawe.

8 Thy woorde is true from euerlasting: all the iudgementes of thy righteousnesse endure for euermore.

Principes persecuti sunt.

PRinces haue persecuted me without a cause: but my hart standeth in awe of thy woordes.

2 I am as glad of thy woorde: as one that fyndeth great spoyles.

3 As for lies I hate and abhorre them: but thy lawe doo I loue.

4 Seuen times a day doo I prayse thee: because of thy righteous iudgementes.

5 Great is the peace that they haue which loue thy lawe: and they are not offended at it.

6 Lorde I haue looked for thy sauing health: and doone after thy commaundementes.

7 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: and loued them exceedyngly.

8 I haue kept thy commaundementes and testimonies: for all my wayes are before thee.

Appropinquet deprecatio.

LEt my complaynt come before thee, O Lorde: geue me vnderstandyng according to thy woorde.

2 O let my supplication come before thee: deliuer me according to thy woorde.

3 My lippes shall speake of thy prayse: when thou hast taught me thy statutes.

4 Yea, my tongue shal sing of thy word: for all thy commaundementes are righteous.

5 Let thine hande helpe me: for I haue chosen thy commaundementes.

6 I haue longed for thy sauing health, O Lorde: and in thy lawe is my delight.

7 Oh let my soule liue, and it shal praise thee: and thy iudgementes shal helpe me.

8 I haue gone astray like a sheepe that is lost: Oh seeke thy seruant, for I doo not forgeat thy commaundementes.

Ad dominum. Psalm. cxx.

Mornyng prayer.

WHEN I was in trouble, I called vppon the Lorde: and he hearde me.

2 Deliuer my soule, O Lorde, from lying lippes: & from a deceitful tongue.

3 What reward shalbe geuen or doone vnto thee thou false tongue: euen mighty and sharpe arrowes, with hot burnyng coales.

4 Woe is me, that I am constrained to dwel with Mesech: and to haue mine habitation among the tentes of Cedar.

5 My soule hath long dwelt among them: that be enimies vnto peace.

6 I labour for peace: but when I speake vnto them thereof, they make them redy to battayle.

Leuaui oculos. Psalm. cxxi.

I Will || lyft vp mine eyes vnto the hylles: || 2. Ch. 20. 37.
from whence commeth my helpe.

2 My helpe commeth euen from the Lorde: which hath made heauen and earth.

3 He wyl not suffer thy foote to be moued: and he that keepeth thee wyl not sleepe.

4 Beholde, he that keepeth Israel: shall neyther slumber nor sleepe.

5 The Lord hym selfe is thy keeper: the Lorde is thy defence vpon thy ryght hande.

6 So that the sunne shal not burne thee by day: neyther the moone by night.

7 The Lorde shal preserue thee from al euyl: yea, it is euen he that shall keepe thy soule.

8 The Lorde shall preserue thy goeyng out, and thy comming in: from this time forth for euermore.

Letatus sum. Psal. cxxii.

I Was glad when they sayde vnto me: we wyl goe into the house of the Lorde.

2 Our feete shall stande in thy gates: O Hierusalem.

3 Hierusalem is buylded as a citie: that is at vnitie in it selfe.

4 For thither the tribes goe vp, euen the tribes of the Lorde: to testifie vnto Israel, to geue thankes vnto the name of the Lorde.

5 For there is the seate of iudgement: euen the seate of the house of Dauid.

6 O pray for the peace of Hierusalem: they shal prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy walles: and plentifulnesse within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren & companions sakes: I wyl wyshe thee prosperitie.

9 Yea, because of the house of the Lorde our God: I wyl seeke to doo thee good.

Ad te leuaui. Psal. cxxiii.

VNto thee lyft I vp mine eyes: O thou that dwellest in the heauens.

2 Behold, euen as the eyes of seruantes looke vnto the hand of their maisters, and as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hande of her maistresse: euen so our eyes waite vpon the Lorde our God, tyll he haue mercy vpon vs.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercy vpon vs: for we are vtterly despised.

4 Our soule is filled with the scornefull reproofe of the wealthy: and with the despitefulnesse of the proude.

Nisi quia. Psal. cxxiiii.

IF the Lorde hym selfe had not been on our side (nowe may Israel say:) if the Lorde hym selfe had not been on our side when men rose vp agaynst vs.

2 They hadde swallowed vs vp quicke: whē they were so wrathfully displeased at vs.

3 Yea, the waters had drowned vs: and the streame had gone ouer our soule.

4 The deepe waters of the proude: had gone euen ouer our soule.

5 But praysed be the Lorde: which hath not geuen vs ouer for a pray vnto their teeth.

6 Our soule is escaped, euen as a byrd out of the snare of the fowler: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.

7 Our helpe standeth in the name of the Lorde: whiche hath made heauen and earth.

Qui confidunt. Psalm. cxxv.

THey that put their trust in the Lorde, shalbe euen as the mount Sion: whiche may not be remooued, but standeth fast for euer.

2 The hylles stand about Hierusalem: euen so standeth the Lorde rounde about his people, from this tyme forth for euermore.

3 For the rod of the vngodly commeth not into the lot of the righteous: lest the righteous put their hand vnto wickednesse.

4 Doo wel, O Lorde: vnto those that be good and true of hart.

5 As for such as turne backe vnto theyr owne wickednesse: the lord shal lead thē forth with yeuil doers, but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

In conuertendo. Psal. cxxvi.

WHen the Lorde turned againe the captiuitie of Sion: then were we like vnto them that dreame. Euenyng prayer.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter: & our tongue with ioy.

3 Then said they among the heathen

the Lorde hath done great thynges for them.

4 Yea, the Lord hath done great thinges for vs alredy: whereof we reioyce.

5 Turne our captiuitie, O Lorde: as the ryuers in the South.

6 They that sowe in teares: shal reape in ioy.

7 He that nowe goeth on his way weepyng, & beareth forth good seede: shal doubtlesse come agayne with ioy, and bryng his sheaues with hym.

Nisi Dominus. Psalm. Cxxvij.

EXcept the Lorde buylde the house: they labour is but lost that buylde it.

2 Except the Lorde keepe the citie: the watchman waketh but in vayne.

3 It is but lost labour that ye haste to ryse vp early, and so late take rest, & eate the bread of carefulnesse: for so he geueth his beloued sleepe.

4 Loe children, and the fruite of the wombe: are an heritage and gyft that commeth of the Lorde.

5 Lyke as the arrowes in the hand of the Giant: euen so are the young children.

6 Happy is the man that hath his quyuer full of them: they shall not be ashamed when they speake with their enimies in the gate.

Beati omnes. Psal. Cxxviij.

BLessed are all they that feare the Lorde: and walke in his wayes.

2 For thou shalt eate the labours of thine handes: O wel is thee, and happy shalt thou be.

3 Thy wyfe shalbe as the fruitful vine: vpon the walles of thine house.

4 Thy children like the Olive braunches: rounde about thy table.

5 Loe, thus shal the man be blessed: that feareth the Lorde.

6 The Lorde from out of Sion shall so blesse thee: that thou shalt see Hierusalem in prosperitie al thy lyfe long.

7 Yea, that thou shalt see thy children's children: and peace vpon Israel.

Sepe expugnauerunt. Psal. Cxxix.

MAny a tyme haue they fought against me from my youth vp: (may Israel nowe saye.)

2 Yea, many a tyme haue they vexed me from my youth vp: but they haue not preuayled agaynst me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe: and made long forowes.

4 But the righteous Lorde: hath hewen the snares of the vngodly in peeces.

5 Let them be confounded and turned backwarde: as many as haue euyl will at Sion.

6 Let them be euen as the grasse growing vpon the house toppes: which withereth afore it be plucked vp.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand: neither he that byndeth vp the sheaues, his bosome.

8 So that they which goe by, saye not so muche as the Lorde prosper you: we wishe you good lucke in the name of the Lorde.

De profundis clamaui. Psal. Cxxx.

OVT of the deepe haue I called vnto thee (O Lorde:) Lord heare my voyce.

2 Oh let thine eares consyder wel: the voyce of my complaint.

3 If thou Lorde wylt be extreeme to marke what is doone amysse: oh Lorde who may abyde it.

4 For there is mercy with thee: therefore shalt thou be feared.

5 I looke for the Lorde, my soule doth waite for hym: in his woorde is my trust.

6 My soule fleeth vnto the Lorde: before the morning watch, I say, before the morning watche.

7 O Israel trust in the Lorde, for with the Lorde there is mercy: and with him is plenteous redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel: from all his sinnes.

Domine, non est. Psal. Cxxxi.

LOrde, I am not high minded: I haue no proude lookes.

2 I do not exercise me selfe in great matters: whiche are to high for me.

3 But I refrayne my soule, and keepe it low, like as a child that is weaned from his mother: yea, my soule is euen as a weaned childe.

4 O Israel trust in the Lorde: from this tyme forth for euermore.

Memento Domine. Psal. Cxxxii.

LOrde remember Dauid: and all his trouble. Morning prayer.

2 Howe he sware vnto the Lord: and vowed a vowe vnto the almightie God of Jacob.

3 I wyll not come within the tabernacle of my house: nor clymbe vp into my bed.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy names ſake: and for thy righteouſneſſe ſake bryng my ſoule out of trouble.

12 And of thy goodneſſe ſlea mine enimies, and deſtroy al them that vexe my ſoule: for I am thy ſeruant.

Benedictus Dominus. Pſal. Cxliii.

Mornyng prayer.

BLeſſed be the Lorde my ſtrength: whiche teacheth my handes to warre, and my fingers to fight.

2 My hope and my forteſſe, my caſtle and deliuerer, my defender in whom I truſt: which ſubdueth my people that is vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou haſt ſuch reſpect vnto hym: or the ſonne of man that thou ſo regardeſt hym?

4 Man is lyke a thing of nought: his tyme paſſeth away lyke a ſhadowe.

5 Bow thy heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touche the mountaynes, and they ſhal ſmoke.

6 Caſt forth the lightning and teare them: ſhoote out thine arrowes, and conſume them.

7 Sende downe thyne hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great waters, from the hand of ſtrange children.

8 Whoſe mouth talketh of vanitie: and their right hande is a right hande of wickedneſſe.

9 I will ſing a newe ſonge vnto thee, O God: and ſyng prayſes vnto thee vppon a ten ſtrynged Lute.

10 Thou that geueſt victory vnto kinges and haſt deliuered Dauid thy ſeruant from the peryl of the ſwoorde.

11 Saue me and deliuer me from the hande of ſtrange children: whoſe mouth talketh keth of vanitie, and their ryght hande is a ryght hande of iniquitie.

12 That our ſonnes may growe vp as the young plantes: and that our daughters may be as ꝓ pulliſhed cozners of the temple.

13 That our garners maye be full and plenteous with all manner of ſtoze: that our theepe may bryng fooꝛth thouſandes, and ten thouſandes in our ſtreetes.

14 That our Oxen may be ſtrong to labour, that there be no decaye: no leadyng into captiuitie, and no complaynyng in our ſtreetes.

15 Happy are the people that be in ſuch a caſe: yea, bleſſed are the people which haue the Lozde foꝛ their God.

Exaltabo te deus. Pſalm. Cxlv.

I Wyll magnifie thee, O God my kyng: and I wyll ꝓayſe thy name foꝛ euer and euer.

2 Euery day wyll I geue thankes vnto thee: and ꝓayſe thy name foꝛ euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lozde, and marueylous wooꝛthie to be ꝓayſed: there is no end of his greatneſſe.

4 One generation ſhal ꝓayſe thy wooꝛkes vnto an other: and declare thy power.

5 As foꝛ me, I wyll be talkyng of thy wooꝛſhyp: thy glozye, thy ꝓayſe, and wonderous wooꝛkes.

6 So that men ſhal ſpeake of the might of thy marueylous actes: and I wyl alſo tel of thy greatneſſe.

7 The memoꝛiall of thyne abundant kyndeneſſe ſhalbe ſhewed: and men ſhal ſyng of thy ryghteouſneſſe.

8 The Lozd is gracious and mercifull: long ſufferyng, and of great goodneſſe.

9 The Lozd is louyng vnto euery man: and his mercy is ouer al his wooꝛkes.

10 Al thy wooꝛkes ꝓaiſe thee, O Lozd: and thy ſaintes geue thankes vnto thee.

11 They ſhewe the glozye of thy kyngdome: and talke of thy power.

12 That thy power, thy glozy, & mygh-tineſſe of thy kyngdome: myght be knowen vnto men.

13 Thy kyngdome is an euerlaſtyng kyngdome: and thy dominion endureth thoꝛowout al ages.

14 The Lozd vpholdeth al ſuch as fal: and lyfteth vp al thoſe that be downe.

15 The eyes of al wayte vpon thee, O Lozde: and thou geueſt them their meate in due ſeaſon.

16 Thou openeſt thyne hande: and fylleſt all thynges lyuyng with plenteouſneſſe.

17 The Lozde is ryghteous in all his wayes: and holy in al his wooꝛkes.

18 The Lozd is nigh vnto al them that cal vpon him: yea al ſuche as cal vpon him faythfully.

19 He wyl fulfyl the deſyze of them that feare him: he alſo wyl heare their crye, and wyl helpe them.

20 The Lozd ꝓeſeꝛueth all them that loue him: but ſcatteꝛeth abꝛode all the vngodly.

21 My mouth ſhal ſpeake the ꝓayſe of the Lozd: and let al fleſhe geue thankes vnto his holy name foꝛ euer and euer.

Lauda anima mea. Pſalm. Cxlvi.

PRayſe the Lozde, O my ſoule, whyle I lyue wyl I ꝓayſe the Lozde: yea as long as I haue any beyng, I wyl ſyng ꝓayſes vnto my God.

2 O put not your truſt in ꝓinces, noꝛ in any chylde of man: foꝛ there is no helpe in them.

3 Foꝛ when the bꝛeath of man goeth fooꝛth, he ſhal turne agayne to his earth: and then all his thoughtes peryſhe.

4 Bleſſed is he that hath the GOD of Jacob foꝛ his helpe: and whoſe hope is in the Lozde his God.

5 ‖ Whiche made heauen and earth, the ſea, and al that therein is: whiche keepeth his ꝓomiſe foꝛ euer. ‖ Act. 14.25. Apoca. 14.7.

6 Whiche helpeth them to ryght that ſuffer wꝛong: which feedeth the hungry.

7 The Lozd looſeth men out of pꝛyſon: the Lozde geueth ſyght to the blynde.

8 The Lozde helpeth them that are fal-len: the Lozde careth foꝛ the ryghteous.

9 The Lozde careth foꝛ the ſtrangers, he defendeth the fatherleſſe and wyddowe: as foꝛ the way of the vngodlye, he turneth it vpſyde downe.

10 The Lozde thy God, O Sion, ſhal-be kyng foꝛ euermoꝛe: and thꝛoughout al ge-nerations.

Laudate dominum. Pſalm. Cxlvii.

O ꝓayſe the Lozde, foꝛ it is a good thyng to ſyng ꝓayſes vnto our God: yea a ioyfull and pleaſaunt thyng is it to be thankful. Euenyng prayer.

2 The Lozde doeth build vp Hieruſalem: and geather toge-ther the outcaſtes of Iſrael.

3 He healeth thoſe that are bꝛoken in hart: and geueth medicine to heale their ſickeneſſe.

4 He telleth the number of the ſtarres: and calleth them al by their names.

5 Great is our Lozde, and great is his power: yea, and his wyſedome is infinite.

6 The Lozde ſetteth vp the meeke: and bꝛyngeth the vngodly downe to the ground.

7 O ſyng

7 O syng vnto the Lorde with thankes geuyng: syng prayse vppon the Harpe vnto our God.

8 Whiche couereth the heauen with cloudes, & prepareth rayne for the earth: and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaynes, and herbe for the vse of men.

9 Whiche geueth fodder vnto the cattell: ‖ and feedeth the young Rauens that cal vpon him. ‖ Iob. 39. 3.

10 He hath no pleasure in the strength of an horse: neyther delyghteth he in any mans legges.

11 But the Lordes delyght is in them that feare him: and put their trust in his mercy.

12 Prayse the Lorde, O Hierusalem: prayse thy God, O Sion.

13 For he hath made fast the barres of thy gates: and hath blessed thy chyldren within thee.

14 He maketh peace in thy borders: and fylleth thee with the floure of wheate.

15 He sendeth foorth his commaundement vppon earth: and his woorde runneth very swyftly.

16 He geueth snowe lyke wooll: and scattereth the hoare frost lyke ashes.

17 He casteth foorth his yce lyke morsselles: who is able to abyde his frost?

18 He sendeth out his woorde, and melteth them: he bloweth with his wynde, and the waters flowe.

19 He sheweth his woorde vnto Jacob: his statutes and ordinances vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with any nation: neyther haue the heathen knowledge of his lawes.

Laudate dominum. Psalm. Cxlviii.

O Prayse the Lorde of heauen: prayse him in the heyght.

2 Praise him al ye angels of his: prayse him al his host.

3 Prayse him Sunne & Moone: prayse him al ye starres and lyght.

4 ‖ Prayse him all ye heauens: and ye waters that be aboue the heauens. ‖ Dani. 3. 60. Gene. 1. 7.

5 Let them praise the name of the lord: for he spake the woorde, and they were made, he commaunded, and they were created.

6 He hath made them fast for euer and euer: he hath geuen them a lawe, which shal not be broken.

7 Prayse the Lorde vpon earth: ye dragons, and al deepes.

8 Fyre and hayle, snowe and vapours: wynde and stormes, fulfyllyng his woorde.

9 Mountaynes and al hylles: fruiteful trees, and al Cedars.

10 Beastes and all cattel: wormes, & feathered foules.

11 Kynges of the earth, and al people: princes, and al iudges of the worlde.

12 Young men and maydens, olde men and chyldren, prayse the name of the Lorde: for his name only is excellent, and his prayse aboue heauen and earth.

13 He shal exalt the horne of his people, al his saintes shal prayse him: euen the chyldren of Israel, euen the people that serueth him.

Cantate domino. Psalm. Cxlix.

O Sing vnto the Lorde a newe song: let the congregation of saints prayse him.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that made him: and let the chyldren of Sion be ioyfull in their kyng.

3 Let them prayse his name in ỹ dauncer let them syng prayses vnto him with Tabret and Harpe.

4 For the Lorde hath pleasure in his people: and helpeth the meeke harted.

5 Let the saintes be ioyful with glory: let them reioyce in their beddes.

6 Let the prayses of GOD be in their mouth: and a two edged swoorde in their handes.

7 To be auenged of the heathen: and to rebuke the people.

8 To bynde their kynges in chaynes: and their nobles with lynkes of iron.

9 That they may be auenged of them, as it is wrytten: suche honour haue all his saintes.

Laudate dominum. Psalm. Cl.

O Prayse God in his holynesse: prayse him in the firmament of his power.

2 Prayse him in his noble actes: prayse him accordyng to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Prayse him in the sound of the trumpet: prayse him vpon the Lute and Harpe.

4 Prayse him in the Cymbales & dauncers: prayse him vpon the strynges and pype.

5 Praise him vpon the wel tuned Cymbales: prayse him vpon the loude Cymbales.

6 Let euery thyng that hath breath: prayse the Lorde.

Here endeth the Psalmes of Dauid.

¶ The Prouerbes of Solomon.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. The power of the worde of God. 7. Of the feare of God, and knowledge of his worde. 10. We may not conſent to the entiſinges of ſinners. 20. Wiſedome complayneth that ſhe is contemned. 24. The puniſhment of them that contemne her.

THE Prouerbes of Solomon the ſonne of Dauid kyng of Iſrael:

2 To learne wiſedome and inſtruction, and to perceiue the wordes of vnderſtandyng,

3 To receiue the inſtruction of wyſedome, iuſtice, iudgement, and equitie:

4 To geue wytte vnto the ſymple, and that the yonng men might haue knowledge and vnderſtandyng.

5 The wiſe man wil geue eare, and wil come by more wyſedome, and he that is endued with vnderſtandyng, ſhal atteyne vnto wiſe counſayles.

6 To vnderſtande a parable, and the interpretation thereof, the wordes of the wyſe, and theyr darke ſpeaches.

‖Eccle. 1.16 Pſal. 110.10

7 ‖ The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles deſpiſe wiſedome and inſtruction.

8 My ſonne, heare thy fathers doctrine, and forſake not the * lawe of thy mother:

* or, inſtruction.

9 For they ſhalbe an increaſe of grace vnto thy head, ‖ as a chaine about thy necke.

* or, leade thee out of the way.

10 My ſonne, if ſinners * entice thee, conſent not vnto them.

11 If they ſay, Come with vs, let vs lay wayte for blood, and lurke priuily for the innocent without a cauſe,

12 Let vs ſwalowe them vp lyke the graue quicke and whole, as thoſe that goe downe into the pyt:

13 So ſhal we finde al manner of coſtly riches, and fil our houſes with ſpoyles:

14 Caſt in thy lot among vs, and let vs al haue one purſe.

15 My ſonne, walke not thou with them, refrayne thy foote from theyr wayes.

‖Pſal. 59.7. Rom. 3.15.

16 ‖ For theyr feete runne to euyll, and are haſtie to ſhed blood.

17 But as in vayne the nette is layde forth before the birdes eyes:

18 So theſe lay wayte for the blood of them, and lye priuily for theyr lyues.

19 Suche are the wayes of euery one that is greedie of gaine, who taketh away the life of the owner thereof.

20 Wiſdome crieth without, and putteth forth her voyce in the ſtreetes:

21 She calleth before the congregation in the open gates, and ſheweth her wordes through the citie, ſaying, 22 O ye children, howe long wil ye loue childiſhneſſe? how long wil the ſcorners delite in ſcorning, and the vnwyſe hate knowledge?

‖Eſai. 65.12 Ierem. 7.13.

23 ‖ O turne you at my correction: loe, I wil expreſſe my minde vnto you, and make you vnderſtande my wordes.

24 Becauſe I haue called, and ye refuſed, I haue ſtretched out my hande, and no man regarded.

25 But al my counſailes haue ye deſpiſed, and ſet my correction at nought:

26 Therefore wyl I alſo laugh at your deſtruction, and mocke you, when the thing that ye feare commeth vpon you,

27 Euen when the thyng that ye be afraide of falleth in ſodainly like a ſtorme, and your miſerie like a tempeſt, yea when trouble and heauineſſe commeth vpon you.

28 Then ſhal they cal vpon me, but I wil not anſweare: they ſhal ſeeke me early, but they ſhal not finde me:

29 And that becauſe they hated knowledge, and dyd not chooſe the feare of the Lorde, 30 They wouldne none of my counſaile, but deſpiſed al my correction.

31 Therfore ſhal they eate of the fruite of theyr owne way, and be fylled with theyr owne inuentions.

32 For the turning away of the vnwiſe ſhall ſlay them, and the proſperitie of fooles ſhal deſtroy them.

33 But who ſo hearkeneth vnto me, ſhal dwell ſafely, and be ſure from any feare of euil.

Iob. 19.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

1. Wiſedome exhorteth to obey her. 5. She teacheth the feare of God. 6. She is geuen of God. 10. She preſerueth from wickednes.

My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my woordes, and lay vp my commaundementes within ther,

2 That thou wilt incline thine eares vnto wysedome, apply thine hart then to vnderstandyng.

3 For if thou crpest after wisedome, and crpest for knowledge:

4 If thou seekest for her as for siluer, and searchest for her as for treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lorde, and fynde the knowledge of God.

6 For the Lorde geueth wisedome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstandyng.

7 He stirreth vp health for the righteous: & defendeth thē that walke vprightly,

8 That they may keepe the right path: & he preserueth the way of such as doo serue him with godlynesse.

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnesse, and iudgement, and equitie, yea & euery good path.

10 When wysedome entreth into thine hart, and thy soule delighteth in knowledge:

11 Then shal counsel preserue thee, and vnderstanding shal keepe thee,

12 That thou mayest be deliuered from the euil way, and from the man that speaketh frowarde thinges:

13 From suche as leaue the wayes of righteousnes, to walke in the wayes of darknesse:

14 Which reioyce in dooing nought, & delight in the wickednesse of the euil:

15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they frowarde in their pathes.

16 That thou mayest be deliuered also from the strange woman, and from her that is not thine owne, whiche geueth sweete woordes, 17 Forsaketh the husband of her youth, and forgeatteth the couenant of her God.

18 For her house is enclined vnto death, and her pathes vnto hel.

19 All they that goe in vnto her, come not agayne, neyther take they holde of the way of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the way of such as be vertuous, and keepe the pathes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwel in the lande, and they that be perfect, shal remayne in it.

Iob.19.17 22 ‖ But the vngodly shalbe cut of from the earth: and the wicked doers shalbe rooted out of it.

The.iii Chapter.

1. The vvord of God geueth life. 5. Trust in God. 7. Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11. Suffer his correction. 22. To them that folowe the vvord of God, al thinges shal succede vvell.

My sonne, forgeat not thou my lawe, ‖ but see that thine hart keepe my commaundements. ‖ Deut.8.1. and.30.16.

2 ‖ For they shal prolong the dayes and yeeres of thy life, and bring ther peace.

3 Let mercy and faithfulnesse neuer goe from ther: bynde them about thy necke, and write them in the tables of thyne hart:

4 So shalt thou fynde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and men.

5 Put thy trust in God with all thine hart: and leane not vnto thine owne wit.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shal order thy goynges.

7 ‖ Be not wyse in thine owne conceyt: but feare the Lorde, and depart from euil: ‖ Rom.12.16

8 So shal thy a mauil be whole, and thy bones strong. a. That is, thy whole body.

9 ‖ Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the fyrstlinges of thine encrease: ‖ Tobi.4.7. Luk.14.13.

10 So shal thy barnes be filled with plenteousnesse, and thy presses shall flowe ouer with sweete wine.

11 ‖ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lorde, neither faynt when thou art corrected of him. ‖ Heb.12.5. Apoc.3.17.

12 For whom the Lorde loueth, him he chasteneth, & yet delighteth in him, euen as a father in his owne sonne.

13 Wel is him that findeth wisedome, and geatteth vnderstanding:

14 For the marchandise of it, is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then golde.

15 She is more worthy then pretious stones: & all the things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 In her right hande is long lyfe, and in her left hand riches and honour.

17 Her wayes are pleasant wayes, and al her pathes are peaceable.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay holde vpon her: and blessed is he that keepeth her fast.

19 With wisdome hath the Lord laide the fundation of the earth, and through vnderstanding hath he stablished the heauens.

20 Through his knowledge the deapthes are broken vp, and the cloudes droppe downe the deawe.

21 My sonne, let not these thinges depart from thine eyes, but keepe wisedome and vnderstanding:

22 So they shal be life vnto thy soule, and grace vnto thy mouth.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely in thy way, and thy foote shal not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraide: but shalt take rest, and sleepe sweetly.

25 Thou shalt not be afraide of any sodaine feare, neither for the violent rushing in of the vngodly when it commeth.

26 For the Lord shal stande by thy side, and keepe thy foote that thou be not taken.

27 Withdraw no good thing from them that haue neede, so long as thyne hande is able to doo it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe thy way and come againe, and to morowe wil I geue thee: where as thou hast nowe to geue him.

29 Intende no hurt agaynst thy neighbour, seeing he hopeth to dwell in rest by thee.

30 Striue not with any man without a cause, where as he hath done thee no harme.

[Psal.36.1] 31 || Folowe not a wicked man, and choose none of his wayes:

32 For the Lord abhorreth ꝑ froward: but his *counsell is among the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lorde is in the house of the vngodly: but he blesseth the dwellinges of the righteous.

34 As for the scornefull, doeth he not laugh them to scorne? but he geueth grace vnto the lowly.

35 The wyse shall haue honour in possession: but shame is the promotion that fooles shal haue.

¶ The .iiii. Chapter.

1. VVysedome and her fruites ought to be searched. 14. The vvay of the vvicked must be refused. 20. By the vvoorde of GOD, the hart, eyes, and course of lyfe muste be guyded.

HEare O ye children a fatherly instruction, and take good heede, that ye may learne vnderstanding.

2 For I haue geuen you a good doctrine, forsake not ye my lawe.

3 For when I mee selfe was my fathers deare sonne, and tenderly beloued of my mother:

4 He taught me also, and saide vnto me, Let thine hart receiue my wordes, keepe my commaundementes, and thou shalt lyue.

5 Geat thee wisedome, and geat thee vnderstandyng: forgeat not the woordes of my mouth, and shrinke not from them.

6 Forsake her not, and she shal preserue thee, loue her, and she shal keepe thee.

7 The cheefe poynt of wysedome, is to possesse wysedome: and before al thy goodes, to geat thee vnderstanding.

8 Make muche of her, and she shal promote thee, yea if thou embrace her, she shal bring thee vnto honour:

9 She shal beautifie thy head with manyfolde graces, and garnishe thee with a crowne of glory.

10 Heare my sonne, & receiue my woords, and the yeeres of thy lyfe shalbe many.

11 I haue shewed thee the way of wisedome, and led thee into the right pathes.

12 So that if thou goest in them, there shal no straightnesse hinder thee: and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fal.

13 Take fast holde of doctrine, and let her not goe: keepe her, for she is thy lyfe.

14 Come not in the path of the vngodly, and walke not in the way of the wicked.

15 Abhorre it, and goe not therein, depart aside, and passe ouer by it.

16 For they sleepe not except they haue done mischeefe: & sleepe is taken from them, vntyl they haue done harme.

17 For they eate the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of robberie.

18 The path of the righteous shineth, as the light that is euer brighter and brighter vnto the perfect day.

19 But the way of the vngodly is as the darknesse, they know not where they fal.

20 My sonne marke my woordes, and encline thyne eare vnto my sayinges:

21 Let them not depart from thyne eyes, but keepe them euen in the middes of thyne hart:

22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their bodies.

23 Keepe thine hart with al diligence, for out of it issueth life.

24 Put away from thee a frowarde mouth: & let the lippes of slaunder be farre from thee.

25 Let thyne eyes beholde that thing that is right: and let thine eye lidde looke straight before thee.

26 Ponder the path of thy feete, and let al thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not aside neither to the right hande nor to the leaft: but withholde thy foote from euil.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

3. VVhordome forbidden. 9. and prodigalitie. 15. He vvylleth a man to lyue on his labour, and to helpe others. 18. To loue his vvyfe. 22. The vvycked taken in their owne vvyckednesse.

MY sonne geue heede vnto my wysedome, and bowe thine eare vnto my *prudence:

2 That thou mayeſt regarde good counſel, and that thy lyppes may keepe knowledge.

3 For the lyppes of a ſtrange woman are a dropping hony combe, and her throte is more glittring then oyle:

4 But at the laſt ſhe is as bitter as wormewood, and as sharpe as a two edged ſwoorde.

5 Her feete goe downe vnto death, and her ſteppes pearce through vnto hel.

6 Perchaunce thou wilt ponder the path of her life: ſo vnſtedfaſt are her wayes, that thou canſt not knowe them.

7 Heare me nowe therefore, O ye children, and departe not from the wordes of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not nigh the doores of her houſe.

9 That thou geue not thy honour vnto other, and thy yeeres vnto the cruel:

10 That other men be not fylled with thy vertues, and that thy labours come not in a ſtrange houſe.

11 Yea that thou mourne not at the laſt, when thou haſt ſpent thy body and luſty youth, and then ſay, 12 Alas, why hated I nurture? why did my hart deſpiſe correction?

13 Wherefore was I not obedient vnto the voyce of my teachers, and hearkened not vnto them that enſourmed me?

14 I was come almoſt into al miſfortune, in the middeſt of the multitude and congregation.

a. Content thee ſelfe with thine owne wyfe, & deſire not other.

16 Let thy welles flowe out abrode, that there may be riuers of waters in the ſtreetes:

17 But let them be only thine owne, and not ſtrangers with thee.

18 Let thy wel be bleſſed, and be glad with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her be as the louing Hinde and pleaſaunt Roe: let her breaſtes alway ſatiſfie thee, and hold thee euer content with her loue.

20 Why wilt thou my ſonne haue pleaſure in a ſtrange woman? and embrace the boſome of a ſtranger?

‖ Iob.34.21. 21 ‖ For euery mans wayes are open in the ſight of the Lord, and he pondereth al their goinges.

MY ſonne, yf thou be ſuretie for thy neighbour, and haſt faſtened thine hande for another man,

2 Thou art" bound with thine owne wordes, and taken with thine owne ſpeache. " or, ſnared.

3 Therefore my ſonne do this, and thou ſhalt be diſcharged: When thou art come into thy neighbours danger, goe thy wayes then ſoone, humble thee ſelfe, and with thy frendes intreate (thy " creditour.) " or, neighbour.

4 Let not thine eyes ſleepe, nor thine eye lyddes ſlumber.

5 Saue thee ſelfe as a Doe from the hande of the hunter, and as a birde from the hande of the fowler.

6 Goe to the Emmet thou ſluggarde, conſyder her wayes, and learne to be wiſe:

7 She hath no guide, nor ouerſeer, nor ruler.

8 Yet in the ſommer ſhe prouideth her meate, and gathereth her foode togeather in the haruelt.

9 ‖ Howe long wilt thou ſleepe, thou ſluggiſhe man? When wilt thou ariſe out of thy ſleepe? ‖ Pro.24.32.

10 Yea ſleepe on ſtyl a litle, ſlumber a litle, folde thine handes togeather yet a litle, that thou mayeſt ſleepe.

11 So ſhall pouertie come vnto thee as one that trauayleth by the way, and neceſſitie lyke a weaponed man.

12 An vngodly perſon, a wicked man, goeth with a frowarde mouth.

13 He winketh with his eyes, he tokeneth with his feete, he teacheth with his fingers, 14 He is euer imagining miſchiefe and frowardneſſe in his hart, and cauſeth diſcorde.

15 Therefore ſhal his deſtruction come haſtily vpon him, ſodaynly ſhal he be al to broken, and not to be healed.

16 Theſe ſixe thinges doth the Lorde hate, and the ſeuenth he vtterly abhorreth:

17 A proude looke, a lying tongue, handes that ſhedde innocent blood,

18 An hart that goeth about wicked imaginations, feete that be ſwift in running to miſchiefe, 19 A falſe witneſſe that bringeth vp lyes, and him that ſoweth diſcorde among brethren.

20 My ſonne, keepe thy fathers commaundement, and forsake not the lawe of thy mother.

21 Tye them continually in thine hart, and binde them about thy necke.

22 That shal leade thee when thou goest, preserue thee when thou art asleepe, and when thou awakest talke with thee.

23 For the commaundement is a lanterne, and the lawe a light, yea chastenyng and nurture is the way of lyfe:

24 That they may keepe thee from the euyl woman, and from the flatteryng tongue of the strange woman.

25 Lust not after her beautie in thyne hart, lest thou be taken with her faire lokes.

26 By an harlot a man is brought to beg his bread, and a woman wyl hunt for the precious lyfe of man.

27 May a man take fyre in his bosome, and his clothes not be brent?

28 Or can one goe vpon whot coales, and his feete not be brent?

29 Euen so, whosoeuer goeth in to his neyghbours wife and toucheth her, can not be vngyltie.

30 Men doo not vtterly despise a theefe that stealeth to satisfie his soule when he is hungry:

31 But if he may be gotten, he restoreth againe seuē times as much, or els he maketh recompence with al the good of his house.

32 But who so committeth adulterie with a woman, lacketh vnderstandyng: and he that doth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He getteth him selfe a plague, & dishonour, & his reproch shal neuer be put out:

34 For the iealousie and wrath of the man wyl not be entreated, 35 No though thou wouldest offer him great gyftes to make amendes, he wyll not receiue them.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

1. An exhortation to vvisdome, & to the vvord of God. 5. VVhich vvil preserue vs from the harlot, 6. vvhose manners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my wordes, and lay vp my commaundementes by thee.

2 Keepe my commaundementes and my lawe, euen as the apple of thine eye, and thou shalt lyue.

3 Bynde them vpon thy fyngers, and wryte them in the table of thyne hart.

4 Say vnto wysdome, thou art my syster, and cal vnderstanding thy kinswoman:

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, and from the forraine woman, which geueth sweete wordes.

6 For at the windowe of my house I loked through the windowe,

7 And behelde among the simple people, and among the children, a young man voyde of wyt,

8 Going ouer the streete by the corner in the way towarde her house,

9 In the twilight of the euenyng, when it began nowe to be night and darke:

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with open tokens of an harlot, only her hart was hyd:

11 She was ful of loude wordes and redy to dallye, whose feete coulde not abyde in the house:

12 Nowe is she without, nowe in the streetes, and lyeth in wayte at euery corner.

13 She caught him, and kyssed him, and was not ashamed, saying,

14 I had a vowe of peace offeringes to pay, and this day I performe it:

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face, & so haue I found thee.

16 I haue decked my bedde with couerings of tapestarie, and clothes of Egypt.

17 My bed haue I made to smel of Myrrhe, Aloes, and Cynamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fyl of loue vntyl the morning, and let vs solace our selues with the pleasures of loue.

19 For the good man is not at home, he is gone farre of.

20 He hath taken the bagge of money with him, and wil returne at the appoynted soleume feast.

21 Thus with many sweete wordes she ouercame him, & with her flattering lippes she entised him.

22 Sodainly he folowed her, as it were an oxe led to the slaughter, & like as it were a foole that laugheth when he goeth to the stockes to be punished, 23 So long tyll she had wounded his liuer with her darte: lyke as yf a byrde hasted to the snare, not knowing that the perill of his lyfe lyeth thereupon.

24 Heare me nowe therefore, O my childe, and marke the wordes of my mouth:

25 Let not thine hart wander in her wayes, & be not thou deceiued in her pathes.

26 For many one hath she wounded and cast downe, yea many a strong man hath ben slayne by the meanes of her.

27 Her house is the way vnto hel, and bring men downe into the chambers of death.

Doth not wysedome crye? doth not vnderstanding put foorth her voyce?

2 She standeth in the toppe of high places by the way, in the place of the paths:

3 She crieth at the gates of the citie, at the entrie of the doores.

4 Vnto you O ye men sayth she whom I call, vnto the children of men doo I lyfte vp my voyce.

5 Take heede vnto knowledge, O ye ignorant, be ye wyse in hart, O ye fooles.

6 Geue eare, for I wyl speake of great matters, and open my lippes to tel thinges that be right:

7 For my mouth shalbe talking of the trueth, and my lippes abhorre vngodlynesse.

8 All the woordes of my mouth are ryghteous, there is no frowardnesse nor falshood in them.

9 They are al plaine to suche as wyl vnderstande, and right to them that fynde knowledge.

10 Receyue my doctrine and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fyne golde:

‖Prou.3.13. 11 ‖For wysedome is more woorth then pretious stones, yea all thinges that thou canst desire may not be compared vnto it.

12 I wisedome dwel with counsel, and fynde out knowledge and vnderstanding.

13 The feare of the Lorde abhorreth wickednesse, pryde, disdayne, and the euyll way, and a mouth that speaketh wicked thinges I vtterly abhorre.

14 Counsell is mine, and direction, I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

15 Through me kinges raigne, & princes make iust lawes.

16 By me princes beare rule, and noble men doo iudge the earth.

17 I am louing vnto those that loue me: and they that seeke me early, shal fynd me.

18 Riches and honour are with me, yea durable riches and righteousnesse.

19 My fruite is better then golde and pretious stones, & mine encrease more woorth then fyne siluer.

20 I wil guyde thee in the way of righteousnesse, and in the middest of the pathes of iudgement:

21 That I may stablish the inheritaunce of them that loue me, and encrease their treasure.

‖Sapi.9.9. 22 ‖The Lord him selfe had me in possession in the beginning of his wayes, or euer he began his woorkes afore time.

‖Ecc.24.14. 23 ‖I haue been ordeyned from euerlasting, and from the beginning or euer the earth was made.

24 When I was borne, there were neither deapthes nor springes of water.

25 Before the fundations of the mountaines were layde, yea before all hilles was I borne.

26 The earth, & al that is vpon the earth was not yet made, no not the dust it selfe.

27 For when he made the heauens, I was present, when he compassed the deapthes about:

28 When he hanged the cloudes aboue, when he fastened the springes of the deepe:

29 When he shut the sea within certaine bondes, that the waters should not goe ouer their markes that he commaunded: when he laide the fundations of the earth,

30 I was with him "ordering al thinges, delighting dayly and reioycyng alway before him. "or, as a nourisher.

31 As for the rounde compasse of this worlde I make it ioyful: for my delite is to be among the children of men.

32 Therefore hearken vnto me, O ye children, blessed are they that kepe my waies.

33 O geue eare vnto nurture, be wise, and refuse it not: Blessed is the man that heareth me, watchyng dayly at my gates, and geuyng atendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For who so fyndeth me, fyndeth life, and shal obtayne fauour of the lorde.

35 But who so offendeth agaynst me, hurteth his owne soule: and they that hate me, are the louers of death.

3 She hath sent foorth her maidens to crye vpon the highest place of the citie,

4 Who so is without knowledge, let him come hither: And to the vnwise she said,

5 O come on your way, eate my bread, and drinke my wine which I haue powred out for you.

6 Forsake foolishnesse, and ye shal liue: and see that ye goe in the way of vnderstanding.

7 Who so reproueth a scorneful person, getteth him selfe dishonour: and he that rebuketh the vngodly, staineth him selfe.

8 Reproue not a scorner, lest he owe thee euil wil: but rebuke a wise man, and he wil loue thee.

9 Geue a discrete man but an occasion &

¶ The.x. Chapter.

In this chapter, and all that folowe vnto the thirtieth, the wyſe man exhorteth by diuers ſentences, which he calleth parables, to folowe vertue and flee vice, and ſheweth alſo what profyte commeth of wyſedome, and what hynderance procedeth of foolyſhneſſe.

A Wyſe ſonne maketh a glad father: but an vndiſcrete ſonne is an heauyneſſe vnto his mother.

2 Treaſures that are wickedly gotten, profite nothing: but righteouſneſſe deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord wil not let the ſoule of the righteous ſuffer hunger: but he taketh away the riches of the vngodly.

4 An idle hande maketh poore: but a quicke labouring hande maketh riche.

5 Who ſo gathereth in ſommer is wiſe: but he that is ſluggiſhe in harueſt, bringeth him ſelfe to confuſion.

6 Bleſſinges are vppon the head of the righteous: and the mouth of the vngodly keepeth miſcheefe in ſecrete.

7 The memorial of the iuſt ſhal haue a good report: but the name of the vngodly ſhal ſtincke.

8 A wyſe man wil receiue [a] warning: but a prating foole ſhalbe pounyſhed.

14 Wyſe men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the fooliſhe is nigh deſtruction.

15 The riche mans goods are his ſtrong holde: but the neede of the poore is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to lyfe: but the fruites of the vngodly to ſinne.

17 Nurture keepeth the way of life: but he that refuſeth to be nurtured, deceyueth him ſelfe.

18 He that hideth hatred with lying lippes, and he that ſpeaketh ſlaunder, is a foole.

19 Where much babling is, there muſt needes be offence: and he that refrayneth his lippes, is wyſe.

[b] Or, an innocent tongue is a noble treaſure.

20 [b] The tongue of the iuſt man is as tryed ſiluer: but the hart of the vngodly is a thing of nought.

21 The lippes of the righteous feede a whole multitude: but fooles ſhal die in their owne folly.

22 The bleſſing of the Lorde maketh riche: & bringeth no ſorowe of hart with it.

23 A foole dooth wickedly: and maketh but a ſport of it, but wiſdome ruleth the man that hath vnderſtanding.

24 The thing that the vngodly is afraid of, ſhall come vpon him: but the righteous ſhal haue their deſire.

25 As the tempeſt, ſo paſſeth away the vngodly, & is not: but the righteous remaineth ſure for euer.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, & as ſmoke is vnto the eyes: euen ſo is a ſluggiſhe perſon to them that ſendeth him worth.

27 The feare of the Lorde maketh a long life: but the yeeres of the vngodly ſhalbe ſhortened.

28 The pacient abyding of the righteous ſhalbe turned to gladneſſe: but the hope of the vngodly ſhal periſhe.

29 The way of the Lorde geueth courage vnto the godly: but it is a feare for wicked doers.

30 The righteous ſhall neuer be ouerthrowen: but the vngodly ſhall not remaine in the lande.

31 The mouth of the iuſt wyl be talking of wiſedome: but the tongue of the froward ſhal [a] be cut out.

10 When it goeth wel with the righteous, the citie is mery: and when the vngodly perishe, there is gladnesse.

11 In the blessyng of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is ouerthrowen by the mouth of the wicked.

12 A foole slaundereth his neygbour: but a wyse man holdeth his peace.

17 He that is mercifull, doeth hym selfe a benifite: but who so hurteth his neighbour, is a tyrant.

18 The vngodly worketh deceitful workes: but he that soweth righteousnesse, shal receiue a sure rewarde.

26 Who so hoordeth vp his corne, shalbe cursed among the people: but blessing shal light vpon his head "that geueth foode. "Or, selleth it.

27 He that searcheth for good thinges, fyndeth fauour: but who so seeketh after mischeefe, it shal happen vnto hym.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shal haue a fal: but the righteous shal florish as greene leafe.

29 Who so maketh disquietnesse in his owne house, he shal haue d wynde for his heritage: and the foole shalbe seruant to the wyse. d. He shalbe poore & needy.

23 Diuers weyghtes are an abomination vnto the Lorde, and a false ballance is not good.

24 The Lord ordereth euery mans goinges: howe can a man then vnderstande his owne way?

25 It is a snare for a man to deuoure that whiche is holy, and after the vowe to make inquyrie.

26 A wyse

26 A wyse king disperseth the vngodly, and bryngeth the wheele ouer them.

27 The lanterne of the Lorde is the breath of man, searching al the inward parts of the body.

28 Mercy and trueth preserueth the kyng: and with louyng kyndenesse his seate is holden vp.

29 The strength of young men is their worshyp, and a gray head is an honour vnto the aged.

30 Blewe woundes dryue away euyl, & strypes in the inwarde partes of the body.

¶ The.xix. Chapter.

THE kynges hart is in the hande of the Lorde, lyke as the ryuers of water, he may turne it whither so euer he wyl.

2 Euery mans way seemeth ryght in his owne eyes: but the Lorde pondereth the hart.

3 To doo ryghteousnesse & iudgement, is more acceptable to the Lord the sacrifice.

4 An hygh looke, a proud hart, [a] and the plowyng of the vngodly, is synne.

5 The deuises of one that is diligent, bryng plenteousnesse: but he that is vnadui-sed, commeth vnto pouertie.

6 To hoorde vp rychesse with a deceyt-full tongue, is vanitie tossed too and fro of them that seeke death.

7 The robberies of the vngodly shalbe their owne destruction: for they wyl not doo the thyng that is ryght.

8 The way of the vngodly is frowarde and strange: but of the pure man his woorke is ryght.

9 ‖ It is better to dwell in a corner on the house top, then with a brawlyng woman in a wyde house.

10 The soule of the vngodlye wysheth euyl, and his neyghbour fyndeth no fauour in his eyes.

11 ‖ When the scornefull is punyshed, the ignorant taketh the better heede: and when the wyse is instructed, he wyll receyue vnderstandyng.

12 The ryghteous man wysely consy-dereth the house of the wicked, and for their wickednesse God ouerthroweth the vngodly.

13 Who so stoppeth his eares at the crying of the poore: he shall crye him selfe, and not be heard.

14 A priuie rewarde pacifieth displea-sure: and a gyfte in the bosome stilleth furi-ousnesse.

15 The iust delyghteth in dooyng the thyng that is ryght: but destruction shalbe to the woorkers of wickednesse.

16 The man that wandreth out of the way of wysedome, shall remayne in the con-gregation of the dead.

17 [a] He that hath pleasure in bankets, shalbe a poore man: and who so delighteth in wyne and [a] delicates shal not be ryche.

18 ‖ The vngodly shalbe a ransome for the ryghteous, and the wicked for the iust.

19 ‖ It is better to dwel in the wylder-nesse, then with a chydyng and an angry woman.

20 In a wise mans house there is great treasure and oyle, but a foolyshe body spen-deth vp al.

21 Who so loueth ryghteousnesse and mercy, fyndeth both lyfe, ryghteousnesse, and honour.

22 A wyse man scaleth the citie of the myghtie, and ouerthroweth the strength wherein they trusted.

23 Who so kepeth his mouth and his tongue, the same kepeth his soule from trou-bles.

24 He that is proude and arrogant, is called a scorner, which in his wrath worketh presumptuously.

25 The desyre of the slouthfull kylleth him: for his handes wyl not labour.

26 He coueteth greedily all day long: but the ryghteous geueth, and spareth not.

27 ‖ The sacrifice of the vngodly is a-bomination: [a] how much more when they of-fer the thing that is gotten with wickednes?

28 A false witnesse shall perishe: but a good man speaketh constantly that he hath heard.

29 An vngodly man hardneth his face: but the iust reformeth his owne way.

30 There is no wysedome, there is no vnderstandyng, there is no counsayle against the Lorde.

31 The horse is prepared agaynst the day of battel: [a] but the Lord geueth victory.

¶ The.xxii. Chapter.

4 By humilitie and the feare of the Lord: commeth ryches, honour, and lyfe.

5 Thornes and snares are in the way of the frowarde: but he that doeth keepe his soule, wyl flee farre from them.

¶ The. xxv. Chapter.

These are also parables of Solomon, which the men of Hezekia king of Iuda copied out.

IT is the glory of God to keepe a thing secrete: but the kinges honour is to search out a thing.

2 The heauen is high, the earth is deepe: and the kinges hart is vnsearcheable.

3 Take the drosse from the siluer, and there shalbe a vessel for the fyner.

4 Take away the vngodly from the king, & his seat shalbe stablished with righteousnesse.

5 Put not forth thee selfe in the presence of the king, and * preasse not into the place of great men:

6 ‖ For better is it that it be saide vnto thee, Come vp hither: then thou to be put lower in the presence of the prince whom thou seest with thine eyes.

7 Be not * hastie to goe to law: lest haply thou knowest not what to doo when thy neighbour hath confounded thee.

8 Handle thy matter with thy neyghbour him selfe, and discouer not thy secrete to another:

9 Lest he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamie doo not ceasse.

10 A word spoken in due season, is like apples of gold in a graued worke of siluer.

11 Who so reprooueth a wise man that hath an obedient eare, is as a golden earing, and an ornament of fyne golde.

11 The riche man thinketh him selfe to be wise: but the poore that hath vnderstanding [a] can pereeiue him wel ynough. [a] or, can trye him.

12 When righteous men doo reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wycked come vp, the man is tryed.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shal not prosper: but who so knowledgeth them and forsaketh them, shal haue mercy.

14 Well is him that standeth alway in awe: as for hym that hardeneth his hart, he shal fal into mischiefe.

15 As a roaring Lion and an hungry Beare, so is an vngodly prince ouer the poore people.

16 Where the prince is without vnderstanding, there is great oppression and wrong: but if he hateth couetousnesse, he shal long raigne.

17 He that by violence sheddeth any mans blood, shalbe a runnagate vnto his graue, & no man shalbe able to succour hym.

18 Who so leadeth an innocent lyfe, shalbe saued: but he that goeth frowarde wayes, shal once haue a fal.

19 ‖ He that tylleth his land shal haue plenteousnesse of breed: but he that folloeweth idle persons, shall haue pouertie ynough. ‖Pro.12.11. Eccle.20.30

20 A faythful man shalbe fylled with blessinges: ‖ and he that maketh haste to be rich, shal not be vngyltie. ‖Prou.13.11

21 To haue respect of persons in iudgement is not good, for that man wil do wrong, yea euen for a peece of breed.

22 He that wil be riche al to soone, hath an euyl eye, and considereth not that pouertie shall come vpon him.

23 He that folowing my precepts rebuketh a man, shal find more fauour at the last then he that flattereth hym.

24 Who so robbeth his father and mother, and sayth it is no sinne: the same is the companyon of a [a] destroyer. [a] or, of a murderer.

25 He that is of a proude stomacke styreth vp strife: but he that putteth his trust in the Lorde, shalbe wel fedde.

26 He that trusteth in his owne hart is a foole: but he that dealeth wisely shalbe safe.

27 He that geueth vnto the poore shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes from them, shal haue many a curse.

28 When the vngodly are come vp, men are faine to hide them selues: but when they perishe, the righteous encrease.

The. xxix. Chapter.

HE that is stifnecked and will not be reformed, shal sodaynly be destroyed [a] without any helpe. [a] or, and not be cured.

2 When the righteous are in authoritie, the people do reioyce: but when the wicked beare rule, the people mourne.

3 Who so loueth wisedome, maketh his father a glad man: ‖ but he that kepeth company with harlots, spendeth away [a] that he hath. ‖Luk.15.13 [a] or, his substaunce.

4 With true iudgement the kyng stablisheth the lande: but if he be a man that oppresse the people with great heringes, he turneth it vtterly downe.

5 Who so flattereth his neighbour, layeth a net for his feete.

6 The sinne of the wicked is his owne snare, but the righteous doth sing & reioyce.

7 The righteous considereth the cause of the poore: but the vngodly regarde no vnderstandyng.

8 Scornefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contendeth with a foole: whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 The bloodthirstie hate the righteous: but the iust a seeke his soule.

a. That is, deliuer his soule: or saue his lyfe.

11 A foole vttereth al his mind at once: but a wise man kepeth it in til afterwarde.

12 If a prince delight in lyes, al his seruantes are vngodly.

13 The poore and the *lender meete together, and the Lorde lyghteneth both their eyes.

14 The feare of the king that *faithfully iudgeth the poore, shall continue sure for euermore.

15 The rodde and correction geueth wisedome, but a childe left to his owne wyll, bringeth his mother to shame.

16 When the vngodly are multiplied, wickednesse encreaseth: but the righteous shal see their fall.

17 Nurture thy sonne with correction, and thou shalt be at rest: yea he shall do thee good at thine hart.

18 Where the word of God is not preached, the people perishe: but wel is him that kepeth the lawe.

19 A *stubborne seruant wyl not be the better for wordes: for though he vnderstand, yet wil he not regarde them.

20 Seest thou a man that is hastie to speake vnadui sedly? there is more hope in a foole then in hym.

21 He that delicately bringeth vp his *seruant from a childe, shall make hym his maister at length.

*or, his sonne.

22 An angry man stirreth vp strife, and he that beareth euil wyll in his mynde doth muche euil.

23 || *After pride commeth a fall: but a lowly spirit bringeth great worship.

|| Iob.22.29.

*or, a mans pride shal bring hym lowe.

24 Who so is partener with a theefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth *blasphemie, and telleth it not foorth.

25 He that feareth men shal haue a fal: but who so putteth his trust in the Lord, *is without danger.

*or, shalbe exalted.

26 Many there be that seeke the princes fauour: but euery mans iudgement commeth from the Lorde.

27 The righteous abhorreth the vngodly: and the wycked hateth hym that is in the right way.

1 THE wordes of king [a] Lammuel, and the lesson that his mother taught him.
What my sonne? what the sonne of my body? & what O my deare beloued sonne?
3 Geue not ouer thy strength and waies vnto women, which are the destruction euen of kinges.
4 O Lammuel, it is not for kinges, it is not I say for kinges to drinke wine, nor princes strong drinke,
5 Lest they by drinking forget the [a] lawe, and peruert the iudgement of al [b] poore mens children.
6 Geue strong drinke vnto such as are redy to perish, & wine vnto those that mourne:
7 That they may drinke it, and forget their miserie and aduersitie.
8 Be thou an aduocate for the dumbe, to speake in the cause of al such as be succourlesse in this transitory worlde.
9 Open thy mouth, defende the thyng that is lawful and right, and the cause of the poore and helpelesse.
10 Who so findeth an honest faithful woman, she is much more worthy then pearles.

12 She wil doo him good, and not euil,

13 She occupieth wooll and flaxe, and 15 She is vp in the night season, to pro-uide meate for her housholde, and foode for 16 She consydereth lande, and byeth it:

and with the fruite of her handes she plan-teth a vineyarde:
17 She girdeth her loynes with strength, and fortifieth his armes.
18 And if she perceiueth that her huswiferie dooth good, her candel goeth not out by night.
19 She layeth her fingers to the spindle, and her hande taketh hold of the distaffe.
20 She openeth her hands to the poore,

21 She feareth not that the colde of tes, her clothing is white silke and purple.

24 She maketh cloth of silke, and selleth it: and deliuereth girdles vnto the marchant.

and in the latter dayes she shal reioyce.
26 She openeth her mouth with wise-dome, and in her tongue is the lawe of grace.

a. Lammuel signifieth god with him, or with them. For when Solomon builded the temple to god, & promoted his honour, God was with him and the Israelites: Neyther is it any strange thing in the scriptures, one man to haue manye names.

28 Her children arise vp & call her blessed: and her husbande shall * make much of her.

29 Many daughters there be that gather richesse togeather: but thou goest aboue them all.

30 As for fauour it is deceytfull, and beautie is a vayne thing: but a woman that feareth the Lorde, shalbe praysed.

31 Geue her of the fruite of her handes: and let her owne woorkes prayse her in the gates.

The ende of the Prouerbes of Solomon.

The booke of the preacher, otherwise called Ecclesiastes, which is Solomon the king.

For Solomon is called in scripture by three sundry names. The one, Solomon, that is, the maker of Peace. The seconde Idida, that is, beloued of God. The thirde Ecclesiastes, that is, a preacher, teaching that true and eternal felicitie consysteth not in any worldly wysedome or abundance of riches, or in carnal pleasure, which all be but vayne and transytory: but he prooueth that true felicitie consysteth in a whole ioyning our selues to God by pure religion, that is, with a synceere fayth and the feare of God, obseruyng his commaundementes.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. All thinges in this vvorlde are full of vanitie and of none indurance. 13. All mens vvysedome is but follie and greefe.

THe woordes of the preacher the sonne of Dauid king of Hierusalem.

2 a All is but moste vayne vanitie, sayth the preacher, and all is most vayne I say and but playne vanitie.

a. He doth not condemne the creatures and gyftes of god as euyll: but the careful seeking of them, and the pride and truste that man hath in worldly thinges.

3 For what els hath a man of al the labour that he taketh vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth away, another commeth: but the earth abideth stil.

5 The sunne ariseth, the sunne goeth downe, and returneth to his place, that he may there ryse vp agayne.

6 The winde goeth towarde the south, & turneth vnto the north, fetcheth his compasse, whirleth about, and goeth forth, and returneth againe to his circuites from whence he did come.

¶ Eccl. 40. 11

7 || All flooddes runne into the sea, and yet is the sea it selfe not fylled: for looke vnto what place the waters runne, thence they come to flowe againe.

8 All things are so harde to be knowen, that no man can expresse them: the eye is not satisfyed with syght, the eare is not fylled with hearing.

9 The thing that hath been, commeth to passe agayne, and the thing that hath ben done, shalbe done againe: there is no newe thing vnder the sunne.

10 Is there any thing wherof it may be said, Loe, this is newe? for it was long agoe in the times that haue been before vs.

11 The thing that is past is out of remembrance: euen so the thinges that are for to come, shall no more be thought vppon among them that come after.

12 I mee selfe the preacher was king of Israel at Hierusalem.

13 And did applie my mind to seeke out and searche for the knowledge of all thinges that are done vnder heauen: (Suche trauayle and labour hath God geuen vnto the children of men, to exercise them selues therein.)

14 Thus haue I considered all these thinges that come to passe vnder the sunne: and loe, they are al but vanitie and vexation of mynde.

15 b The crooked can not be made straight, nor the imperfection of thinges can be numbred.

b. Man is not able of his owne power to reformme that is amisse, and to ryse vp from sinne, nor to know his imperfection and weakneste, to doo any thing that is good, without the grace of God.

16 I communed with mine owne hart, saying, Loe, I am come to great estate, and haue gotten more wysedome then all they that haue been before me in Hierusalem.

17 Yea my hart had great experience of wysedome and knowledge: for therevnto I applyed applyed my mynde, that I myght knowe what were wysedome and vnderstandyng, what were errour and foolishnesse: and I perceiued that this was also but a vexation of mynde.

18 For where much wysedome is, there is also great trauayle and disquietnesse: and the more knowledge a man hath, the more is his care.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

1. Pleasures, sumptuous buyldinges, ryches, and possessions are but vanitie. 14. The wyse and the foole hath both one ende touchyng the bodyly death.

THen sayd I thus in my hart, Nowe goe to, a I wyll take myne ease, and haue good dayes: but loe, that is vanitie also.

2 Insomuche that b I sayde vnto the man geuen to laughter, Thou art mad: and to myrth, What dooest thou?

3 c So I thought in my hart to geue my flesshe vnto wyne, and agayne to apply my mynde vnto wisedome, and to comprehende foolishnesse: vntyll the tyme that among all the thinges whiche are vnder the sunne, I myght see what were best for men to doo so long as they lyue vnder heauen.

4 d I made gorgeous fayre woorkes: I buylded my house, and planted vineyardes.

5 I made me Orcharddes and Gardens of pleasure, planted trees in them of al maner of fruites.

6 I made pooles of water, to water the greene and fruitfull trees withal.

7 I bought seruantes and maidens, and had a great household: as for cattel and sheepe I had more substance of them, then all they that were before me in Hierusalem.

8 I geathered together syluer and gold, and the cheefe treasures of kings and landes: I haue prouided me men syngers and women syngers, and the delightes of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was greater and in more worthyp then all my predecessours in Hierusalem, for wisedome remayned with me.

10 And looke what so euer my eyes desyred, I let them haue it: and where in so euer my hart delyghted or had any pleasure, I withheld it not from it: Thus my hart reioyced in al that I dyd, and this was my portion of al my trauayle.

11 But when I consydered al the woorkes that my handes had wrought, and al the labour that I had taken therein: loe, al was but vanitie and vexation of mynde, and nothyng of any value vnder the sunne.

12 e Then turned I me to consyder wisedome, errour, and foolishnesse (for what is he among men that myght be compared to me the kyng in suche woorkes?)

13 And I sawe that wisedome excelleth foolishnesse, as farre as lyght dooth darknesse.

14 ‖ For a wise man hath his eyes in his head, but the foole goeth in darknesse: I perceyued also that they both f had one ende.

15 Then thought I in my mynde, if it happen vnto the foole as it dooth vnto me, what needeth me then to labour any more for wisedome? So I confessed within my hart that this also was but vanitie.

16 For the wyse are euer as litle in remembrance as the foolishe: for the dayes shal come g when al shal be forgotten: yea, the wise man dyeth as wel as the foole.

17 Thus began I to be weery of my lyfe, insomuche that I coulde away with nothyng that is doone vnder the sunne: for al was but vanitie and vexation of minde.

18 h Yea, I was weery of my labour whiche I had taken vnder the sunne, because I shoulde be fayne to leaue them vnto another man that commeth after me.

19 i And who knoweth whether he shalbe a wise man or a foole? and yet shall he be lorde of all my labours, whiche I with suche wisedome haue taken vnder the sunne: This is also a vayne thing.

20 So I turned me to refrayne my mind from al suche trauayle as I tooke vnder the sunne, 21 For as much as a man shoulde weery him selfe with wisedome, with vnderstanding and opportunitie, & yet be fayne to leaue his labours vnto another that neuer sweat for them: This is also a vayne thing, and great miserie.

22 For what geatteth a man of all the labour and trauayle of his mynd, that he taketh vnder the sunne?

23 But heauinesse, sorow, and disquietnesse all the dayes of his life, insomuche that his hart can not rest in the night: This is also a vayne thing.

24 Is it not better then for a man to eate and drinke, and his soule to be meery in his labour: yea, I sawe that this also is a gift of God.

25 For who wyl eate, or goe more lustily to his woorke then I?

26 And why? God geueth to the man that is good before him, wisedome, vnderstanding, and gladnesse: but vnto the sinner he geueth weerinesse, that he may geather & heape togeather the thing that afterwarde shalbe geuen vnto him whom it pleaseth God:

He proueth by foure reasons, that true felicitie consisteth not in any worldely pleasure.

a. 1. There is no long contentation in any ease or pleasure in this life.

b. The mother of vayne pleasure and much laughter, is foolishnesse.

c. 3. He that applyeth hym selfe to the study of godly wysedome, may not haue to muche pleasure in drynkyng of wyne.

d. 4. The more plentie of gorgeous buylding, apparel, riches, or worldlye pleasure, the more vexation of mynde: and al are but vanitie in comparison of godly felicitie, as Solomon affirmeth of his owne experience.

e. God hath appoynted that man shoulde be obedient to godly reason, as to his kyng: and not to be led with carnal affection.

‖ Pro. 17. 24.

f. They both suffer like aduersitie in this worlde, or as touchyng the corruption of the body, they dye both alike.

g. Meanyng in this worlde.

h. That he might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

i. He rebuketh men that maketh careful prouidence to enrich theyr heyres by vnlawful meanes, to theyr owne damnation, not knowyng who or what they shalbe, eyther good or euyl.

God: This is nowe a vayne thyng, yea, a very disquietnesse and vexation of mynde.

¶ The iii. Chapter.

1. All thynges haue theyr tyme. 14. The vvorkes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare hym. 17. GOD shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

a. Although true felicitie is not to be put in any worldly thing, yet God hath appoynted al necessarye thynges to be doone in due tyme, order, & measure.

EVery a thyng hath a tyme, yea, al that is vnder the heauen hath his conuenient season.

2 There is a tyme to be borne, and a tyme to dye: there is a tyme to plant, and a time to plucke vp the thing that is planted.

3 A tyme to slaye, and a tyme to make whole: a tyme to breake downe, and a tyme to buyld vp.

4 A tyme to weepe, and a tyme to laugh: a time to mourne, and a tyme to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to geather stones togeather: a tyme to imbrace, & a time to refraine from imbracyng.

6 A tyme to wynne, and a tyme to loose: a tyme to spare, and a tyme to spende.

7 A tyme to cut in peeces, and a tyme to sowe togeather: a tyme to keepe silence, and a tyme to speake.

8 A tyme to loue, and a tyme to hate: a tyme of warre, and a tyme of peace.

9 What hath a man els that dooth any thyng, but weerinesse and labour?

b. God hath appoynted that euerye man should diligently trauayle and take paynes in his vocation, to the ende he woulde haue him humble and feare God.

10 b For as touchyng the trauayle and carefulnesse whiche God hath geuen vnto men, I see that he hath genen it them to be exercised in it.

11 Al thynges hath he made beautifull in theyr tyme, yea, further then this, he hath planted the worlde in theyr hartes, that man may not comprehend the worcke that GOD maketh from the begynnyng to the ende.

12 So I perceiued that in those things there is nothyng better for a man, then to be meery, and to doo well as long as he liueth.

13 For all that a man eateth and drinketh, yea, what so euer a man enioyeth of all his labour: that same is a gyft of God.

14 I conspyered also, that what so euer God dooth, it continueth for euer: and that nothing can be put vnto it, nor taken from it, and that God dooth it, to the intent that men shoulde feare hym.

15 The thing that hath been, is nowe: and the thyng that is for to come, hath been afore time: for God restoreth againe the thing that was past.

16 Moreouer, I sawe vnder the sunne vngodlynesse in the steede of iudgement, and iniquitie in the steede of ryghteousnesse.

17 Then thought I in my minde, God shal separate the righteous from the vngodly: and then shalbe the tyme and iudgement of al counselles and woorkes.

18 I communed with mine owne hart also concernyng the chyldren of men, howe God hath chosen them, and yet letteth them appeare as though they were beastes.

19 c For it happeneth vnto men, as it dooth vnto beastes, euen one condition vnto them both: as the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: yea, they haue both one manner of breath: so that in this, a man hath no preheminence aboue a beast, but are al subdued vnto vanitie.

20 They goe all vnto one place: for as they be all of dust, so shal they al turne vnto dust agayne.

21 d Who knoweth the spirite of [a] man that goeth vpwarde: and the breath of the beast that goeth downe to the earth?

22 Wherefore I perceiue that there is nothing better for a man, then to be ioyful in his labour, for that is his portion: but who wyl bryng hym to see the thyng that shall come after hym?

c. There is no difference betwixt a man & a beast as touching the body, which of them both dyeth but the soule of man lyueth immortally, and the bodye of man ryseth vp agayne by the mightye power of the [illegible] God.

d. The immortalitie of the soule is not knowen by carnal reason or sense: but by the woorde and spirite of God.

[a] Or, of the children of men.

¶ The iiii. Chapter.

1. The innocent are oppressed. 4. Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9. Mans societie is necessarie. 13. A young man poore and wyse, is to be preferred before an olde king that is a foole.

SO I turned me, and conspyered al the violent wrong that is vnder the sunne: and beholde the teares of suche as were oppressed, and there was no man to comforte them, or that would deliuer and defend them from the violence of theyr oppressours.

2 Wherefore I [a] iudged those that are dead, to be more happie then those that be alyue:

[a] Or, praysed.

3 a Yea, hym that is yet vnborne, to be better at ease then they both: because he seeth not the miserable woorkes that are done vnder the sunne.

a. He speaketh here according to the iudgement of the flesshe, which can not wel abide persecution and trouble.

4 b Agayne, I sawe that al trauayle and diligence of labour that euery man taketh in hande, was doone of enuie agaynst his neighbour: This is also a vayne thing, and a vexation of mynde.

This is alſo a vayne and miſerable thyng.

9 d Therefore two are better then one, for they may well enioy the profyte of their labour: for yf one of them fal, his companion helpeth him vp agayne.

10 But woe is him that is alone, for yf he fal, he hath not an other to helpe him vp.

11 Agayne, when two ſleepe togeather, they are warme: but howe can a body be warme alone?

12 One may be ouercome, but two may make reſiſtaunce: a three folde gable is not lyghtly broken.

13 A poore chylde beyng wyſe, is better then an olde kyng that doteth, *and can not beware in tyme to come.

14 Some one commeth out of pryſon, & is made a kyng, and an other which is borne in the kyngdome, commeth vnto powertie.

15 And I perceyued that al men liuing vnder the Sunne e goe with the ſeconde chyld, that ſhal ſtande vp in the ſteade of the other.

16 As for the people that haue been before him, and that come after him, they are innumerable, and they that come f after him ſhall not reioyce of him: This is alſo a vayne thyng, and vexation of mynde.

17 When thou commeſt into the houſe of God, kepe thy foote, and drawe nygh, that God which is at hande may heare, that thou geue not the g offerynges of fooles: for they knowe nought but to doo euyl.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

1. Not to ſpeake lyghtly, cheefely in Gods matters. 6. The couetous can neuer haue ynough.

BE a not haſtie with thy mouth, and let not thyne hart ſpeake any thyng raſhely before God, for God is in heauen, and thou vpon earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe.

2 For where much carefulneſſe is, there are many dreames: and where many wordes are, there men may heare fooles.

3 ||If thou make a vowe vnto God, be not ſlacke to performe it: as for foolyſhe vowes, he hath no pleaſure in them: yf thou promyſe any thyng, pay it.

4 b For better is it that thou make no vowe, then that thou ſhouldeſt promyſe, and not pay.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to cauſe thy fleſhe for to c ſinne, neyther ſay thou before the angel, that it is thy ignorance: for then God wyl be angry at thy voyce, and deſtroy al the worke of thyne handes.

6 d And why? wheras are many dreames, & many wordes, there are alſo diuers vanities, but looke that thou feare God.

7 If thou ſeeſt the poore to be oppreſſed, & wrongfully dealt withall, ſo that equitie and ryght of the lawe is wreſted in the lande, marueyle not thou at ſuche a thyng: for he that is e hygher then the hygheſt, regardeth, and there be hygher then they.

8 f The encreaſe of the earth vpholdeth al thyng: yea the kyng him ſelf is maintayned by huſbandry.

9 He that loueth money, wyll neuer be ſatiſfied with money: and he that loueth richeſſe, ſhalbe without the fruite thereof: This is alſo a vayne thyng.

10 Whereas much richeſſe is, there are many alſo that ſpende them away: and what pleaſure more hath he that poſſeſſeth them, ſauyng that he may looke vppon them with his eyes?

11 A labouryng man ſleepeth ſweetly, whether it be litle or muche that he eateth: but the abundance of the ryche wyl not ſuffer him to ſleepe.

12 g Yet is there a ſore plague which I haue ſeene vnder the Sunne, namely, rycheſſe kept || to the hurt of him that hath them in poſſeſſion:

13 For oft tymes they peryſhe with his great miſerie and trouble: and yf he haue a chylde, it geatteth nothyng.

16 h All the dayes alſo of his lyfe he dyd eate in the darke with great carefulneſſe, ſickeneſſe, and ſorowe.

17 Therefore me thynke it a better and a fayrer thyng a man to eate and drynke, and to be refreſhed of all his labour that he taketh vnder the Sunne, all the dayes of his lyfe whiche God geueth him: for this is his portion.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath geuen richesse, and not the grace to vse them.

THere is yet a plague vnder the Sunne, and it is a generall thyng among men: when GOD geueth a man richesse, goodes, and honour, so that he wanteth nothyng of al that his hart can desyre, and yet GOD geueth him not leaue to enioye the same, but an other man spendeth them: This is a vayne thyng, and a miserable plague.

2 If a man begeat a hundred chyldren, and lyue many yeeres, so that his dayes are many in number, and yet can not enioye his good, a neyther be buried, as for him, I say, that vntymely byrth is better then he.

3 For he commeth to nought, and spendeth his tyme in darknesse, and his name is forgotten.

4 Moreouer, he seeth not the Sunne, & knoweth not of it: and yet hath he more rest then the other.

5 Yea though he lyued two thousande yeeres, yet hath he no good lyfe: Come not al to b one place?

6 All the labour that a man taketh, is for him a selfe, and yet his desyre is neuer filled after his mynde.

7 For what hath the wyse more then the foole? what helpeth it the poore that c he knoweth to walke with fooles before the lyuyng?

8 The d cleare syght of the eye is better then that the soule should walke after desyres of the lust: Howbeit, this is also a vaine thyng, and a disquietnesse of mynde.

9 The thyng that hath been, is named alredie, and knowen that it is euen man him selfe: neyther maye he goe to lawe with him e that is myghtier then he.

10 Many thyngs there be that encrease vanitie, and what hath a man els?

11 For who knoweth what is good for man lyuyng in the dayes of his vayne lyfe, whiche is but a shadowe? Or who wyl tell a man what shal happen after him vnder the Sunne?

¶ The.vii. Chapter.

Diuers preceptes to folowe that whiche is good, and to auoyde the contrary.

A Good name is more worth then precious oyntment: and the a day of death, is better then the day of byrth.

2 ‖ b It is better to goe into an house of mourning, then into a banquetting house: For there is the ende of al men, and he that is lyuyng, taketh it to hart.

3 c Grauitie is better then to laugh: for when the countenaunce is heauy, the hart is reformed.

4 The hart of the wyse is in the mournyng house: but the hart of the foolyshe is in the house of myrth.

5 It is better to geue eare to the chastening of a wyse man, then to heare the songue of fooles.

6 For the laughing of fooles is like the d crackyng of thornes vnder a pot: and that is but a vayne thyng.

7 The wyse man hateth wrong dealing, and abhorreth the harte that coueteth rewardes.

8 Better is it to consyder the ende of a thyng then the beginning: the patient of spirite is better then the high mynded.

9 Be not hastyly angry in thy mynd: for wrath resteth in the bosome of fooles.

10 e Say not thou, What is the cause that the dayes of the olde tyme were better then they that be nowe? for that were no wyse question.

11 Wysdome with inheritance is good, yet better is it with them that without care may beholde the Sunne:

12 For wysedome defendeth as well as money, and the excellent knowledge & wysedome geueth lyfe vnto him that hath it in possession.

13 Consyder the woorke of God, howe that no man can make the thyng strayght, whiche he maketh crooked.

14 Vse wel the tyme of prosperitie, and remember the tyme of misfortune: for God doeth so temper the one and the other, that a man f can fynde nothyng els.

15 Al thyngs haue I consydered in the tyme of my vanitie: that the g iust man perysheth for his ryghteousnesse sake, and the vngodly lyueth in his wickednesse.

16 Therefore be thou neyther to ryghteous, nor ouer wyse, that thou perysshe not.

17 Be neither too vnrighteous also, nor too foolysshe, lest thou dye before thy tyme.

18 It is good for thee to h take hold of this, and not to let that goe out of thy hande: For he that feareth God, commeth forth with them al.

21 ||Take no heede vnto euery woorde that is spoken, lest thou heare thy seruant curse thee: for thine owne hart knoweth that thou thee selfe also hast oft times spoken euil by other men.

22 All these thinges haue I proued in wysedome, for I thought to be wyse, but shee went farther from me then she was before: yea, and so deepe, that I might not reache vnto her.

23 I applyed my mind also vnto knowledge, and to seeke & searche out science, wisedome, and vnderstandyng, to knowe the foolishnesse of the vngodly, and the errour of dotyng fooles.

24 And I found that a woman is bitterer then death, the whiche hath cast abroode her hart as a net that men fishe with, and her handes are chaynes. i Who so pleaseth God, shal escape from her, but the sinner wil be taken with her.

3 b Be not hasty to goe out of his sight, and see thou continue in no euyll thing: for what so euer it pleaseth him, that doeth he.

b. Withdrawe not thy selfe lyghtly from the kynges obedience.

4 Like as when a king geueth a charge, his cõmaundement is mighty: euen so, who may saye vnto hym, What doest thou?

5 Who so keepeth the commaundement, shall feele no harme: but a wise mans hart discerneth the tyme and iudgement.

6 For euery thing wil haue opportunitie and iudgement: and this is the thing that maketh men full of carefulnesse and sorow.

7 And why? a man knoweth not what is for to come: for who can tel when it shalbe?

8 Neyther is there any man that hath power ouer the spirit, to keepe stil the spirit, nor to haue any power in the tyme of death, nor that can make an ende of the battayle, neyther may vngodlynesse deliuer them that meddle withal.

9 Al these thynges haue I considered, and applyed my mynde vnto euery woorke that is vnder the sunne, howe one man hath lordshyp vpon another to c his owne harme.

c. As commeth often tymes to tyrantes and wicked rulers.

10 For I haue seene often the vngodly brought to their graues, d and yet they haue returned into the citie agayne: and e came from the place of holy men, whiche in the citie were growen out of memorie, as were those also that lyued well: This is also a vayne thyng.

d. That is, the vngodly hath ben praysed after their burial.

e. That is, the holy men after theyr burial growe out of memorie.

11 f Because nowe that euill woorkes are not hastily punished, the hart of man geueth hym selfe ouer vnto wickednesse.

f. Where iustice is delaied: there sinne raigneth.

12 Because an euil person offendeth an hundred tymes, and God deferreth, geuing hym long lyfe: therefore am I sure that it shal goe wel with them that feare God, whiche haue hym before theyr eyes.

13 Againe, as for the vngodly, it shal not be wel with hym, neither shal he prolong his dayes, but euen as a shadow: so shall he be that feareth not God.

14 Yet is there a vanitie vppon earth: There be iust men vnto whom it happeneth as though they had the woorkes of the vngodly: Agayne, there be vngodly, with whom it goeth as though they had the woorkes of the righteous: This haue I called also a vayne thyng.

15 Therefore I commende gladnesse, because a man hath no better thyng vnder the sunne, then to eate and drinke, and to be merry: g for that shall he haue of his labour al the dayes of his lyfe, whiche God geueth hym vnder the sunne.

g. This he speaketh in the person of a carnal man.

16 And so I applied my mynd to learne wysedome, and to knowe the trauayle that is in the worlde, and that of such a fashion, that I suffered not myne eyes to sleepe, neyther day nor nyght.

17 I vnderstoode of all the woorkes of God, but it is not possible for a man to attepne vnto the woorkes that are doone vnder the sunne: and though he bestowe his labour to seeke them out, yet can he not reach vnto them: yea, though a wyse man woulde vndertake to knowe them, yet shal he not finde them.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

1. Byno outvvarde thyng can man knovve vvhom God loueth or hateth. 11. No man knovveth his ende. 19. VVysedome excelleth strength.

I For

FOR all these thinges purposed I in my mynde to seeke out: The ryghteous and wyse, yea, and theyr seruantes also are in the hande of God, a any there is no man that knoweth eyther loue or hate, but all thynges are before them.

2 It happeneth vnto one, as vnto another, it goeth with the ryghteous, as with the vngodly, b with the good and cleane, as with the vncleane: with hym that offereth, as with hym that offereth not: like as it goeth with the vertuous, so goeth it also with the sinner: as it happeneth vnto the periured, so happeneth it also to him that is afrayd to be forswone.

3 Among all thynges that come to passe vnder the sunne, this is a miserie, that it happeneth vnto al alike: This is the cause also, that the hartes of men are ful of wickednesse, and madde foolishnesse is in theyr hartes, as long as they lyue, vntyl they dye.

4 And why? as long as a man lyueth, he hath an hope: for c a quicke dog saye they is better then a dead Lion.

5 For they that be lyuyng, knowe that they shal dye: but d they that be dead, knowe nothyng, neyther deserue they any more, for theyr memorial is forgotten.

6 Also theyr loue and theyr hatred, and theyr enuie is nowe perished, neyther haue they any more part in the worlde in al that is doone vnder the sunne.

7 e Goe thou thy way then, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a glad hart, for thy woorkes please God: Let thy garmentes be alwayes white, and let thy head lacke no ountment.

8 Use thee selfe to lyue ioyfully with thy wyfe whom thou louest, al the dayes of thy lyfe, whiche is but vayne, that God geueth thee vnder the sunne al the dayes of thy vanitie: for that is thy portion in this lyfe of al thy labour and trauayle that thou takest vnder the sunne.

9 What so euer thou takest in hande to doo, that doo with all thy power: for in the graue that thou goest / vnto, there is neither woorke, counsayle, knowledge, nor wysedome.

10 So I turned me vnto other thinges vnder the sunne, and I sawe that in rumnyng it helpeth not to be swift, in battayle, it helpeth not to be strong, to feedyng, it helpeth not to be wyse, to riches, it helpeth not to be a man of muche vnderstandyng, to be had in fauour, it helpeth not to be cunnyng: g but that al lyeth in tyme and fortune.

11 For a man knoweth not his tyme: but lyke as the fyshes are taken with the angle, and as the byrdes are caught with the snare: euen so are men taken in the perilous tyme, when it commeth sodaynely vppon them.

12 h This wysedome haue I seene also vnder the sunne, and mee thought it a great thyng.

13 There was a litle citie, g a fewe men within it: so there came a great kyng and besieged it, and made great bulwarkes against it.

14 And in the citie there was founde a poore man, but he was wyse, which with his wisedome deliuered the citie, yet was there no body that had any respect to suche a simple man.

15 Then sayde I, Wysedome is better then strength: neuertheless, a simple mans wysedome is despised, and his woordes are not hearde.

16 A wyse mans counsaile that is "followed in silence, is farre aboue the crying of a captaine among fooles.

17 ||For wisedome is better then harnesse: but one sinner alone destroyeth muche goodnesse.

a. By any outwarde thyng in this lyfe, no man knoweth whether he is loued or hated of God.

b. prosperitie & aduersitie commeth in this lyfe, as wel to the godly, as to the wicked.

c. This prouerbe is the saying of the Epicures, the whiche beleeueth not the Immortalitie of the soule.

d. Repentance after this lyfe, is too late, and vnprofitable.

e. The wicked flatter them selues to be in gods fauour, what so euer they doo, for that they doo abound in prosperitie.

f. There is no time of woorkyng, or repentance after this lyfe.

g. Thus the wicked worldlynges are deceiued, attributing to fortune, that whiche is ordered by the secrete prouidence of God, for that the reward according to mens doings is not in this life, but cheefely in the lyfe to come.

9 All is but vanitie (sayth the preacher) all is but playne vanitie.

10 The preacher was yet more wyse, & taught the people knowledge, he gaue good heede, sought out the grounde, and set forth many parables: His diligence was to fynde out acceptable woordes, ryght scripture, and the woordes of trueth.

11 For the woordes of the wise are lyke pyckes and nayles that goe through, of the x auctheurs of geatherynges, vvhiche are geuen of one Shepheard.

x. Auctheurs of geatherynges he calleth wyse men, because they gether the sayinges of the wisest sort of men in their bookes.

12 Therefore beware my sonne of that doctrine that is beside this: for to make many bookes, it is an endlesse woorke: and too muche studie weerieth the body.

13 Let vs heare the conclusion of all thynges, Feare God, and keepe his commaundementes: for that toucheth all men. For God shall iudge all woorkes and secrete thynges, whether they be good or euyl.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The familier talke and mysticall communication of the spiritual loue betvvene Iesus Christe and his Churche. 6. The domesticall enimies that persecute the Churche.

a. The church desyreth the peace of Christ

THAT a he woulde kysse me with the kysses of his mouth: for thy loue is more pleasaunt then wyne, and that because of the good & pleasaunt sauour of thy moste precious baulmes.

b. Christes mercye is set forth by preachyng.
c. The maydens, that is, they that are pure in hart.
d. Blacke, thorowe the spots of sinne & persecution.
e Fayre, thorowe fayth in the blood of Christe.

2 b Thy name is a sweete smellyng ointment when it is shedde foorth, therefore doo the c maydens loue thee.

3 Drawe thou me vnto thee, we wyll runne after thee. The kyng hath brought me into his priuie chambers: We wyll be glad and reioyce in thee, we thynke more of thy loue, then of wyne: they that be ryghteous loue thee.

4 d I am blacke (O ye daughters of Hierusalem) but yet e fayre and wel fauoured, lyke as the tentes of the Cedarenes, and as the hangynges of Solomon.

5 Marueyle not at me that I am so blacke, for why? the Sunne hath shyned vppon me: my mothers chyldren haue euyll wyll at me, they made me the keeper of the vineyardes, but myne owne vineyarde haue I not kept.

6 Tell me, O thou whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest thy sheepe, where thou makest them rest at the noone day? for why shall I be lyke him that goeth wrong about the flockes of thy companions?

7 If thou knowe not thee selfe (O thou fayrest among women) then goe thy waye foorth after the f footesteppes of the sheepe, and feede thy goates beside the Shepheardes tentes.

f. After the doctrine of the apostles.

8 Vnto the host of Pharaos charrettes haue I compared thee, O my loue.

9 Thy cheekes and thy necke is beautiful as the turtles, and hanged with spanges and goodly iewelles, a necke bande of golde wyl we make thee, with syluer buttons.

10 g Whē the king sitteth at the table, he shal smel my Nardus ra bundel of Myrrhe is my loue vnto me, he wyl lye betwixt my brestes: a cluster of Camphire in the vineyardes of Engaddi is my loue vnto me.

g. So long as the Church fasteneth Christ, she shall not erre from the true fayth of saluation.

11 Oh how fayre art thou my loue, Oh howe fayre art thou: thou hast doues eyes. O howe fayre art thou my beloued, howe well fauoured fauoured art thou?

12 Our bed is deckt with flowres, the feelinges of our house are of Cedar tree, and our crosse ioyntes of Cypresse.

¶ The .ii. Chapter.

3. The Churche desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christe. 8. She heareth his voyce. 14. She is compared to the doue. 15. And the enimies to the foxes.

I Am the Rose of the feelde, and Lyllie of the valleys.

a. Christ amõg his enimies.

2 a As the Lyllie among the thornes: so is my loue among the daughters.

b. The loue of the churche towarde Christe.

3 b Like as the apple tree among the trees of the wood: so is my beloued among the sonnes.

4 My delight is to sit vnder his shadow, for c his fruite is sweete vnto my throte.

c. His fruite, that is, his worde.

5 He bringeth me into his owne seller, his banner spread ouer me, which is his loue.

6 Set about me cuppes of wine, comfort me with apples, for I am sicke of loue.

7 His left hande lyeth vnder my head, and his right hande shal imbrace me.

d. Christ chargeth the rulers of the churche as it were by an othe, that they trouble not the quietnesse therof.

8 d I charge you (O ye daughters of Hierusalem) by the Roes and Hindes of the feeld, that ye wake not vp my loue, nor touch her, tyl she be content her selfe.

9 Me thinke I heare the voyce of my beloued: loe, there commeth he hoppyng vpon the mountaynes, and leaping ouer the litle hilles.

e. His deuinitie was hydden vnder our flesh.

10 My beloued is like a Roe or a young Hart: beholde he standeth behynde e our wall, he looketh in f at the wyndowe, and peepeth through the grate.

f. We can not knowe hym in this lyfe perfectly.

11 My beloued answeared and said vnto me, O stand vp my loue, my beautiful, and goe to thine owne: g for loe the wynter is nowe past, the rayne is away and gone.

g. That is, sinne and infidelitie is put away by Christ.

12 h The flowres are come vp in the feelde, the time of the byrdes synging is come, and the i voyce of the turtle doue is heard in our lande.

h. Good workes.

i. The voice of the holy ghost.

13 The sygge tree bringeth forth her sygges, and the vines beare blossomes, and haue a good smel.

14 O stand vp then, and come my loue, my beautiful, and come I say, O my doue, out of the caues of the rockes, out of the holes of the wal, O let me see thy countenance and heare thy voyce: for sweete is thy voyce, and fayre is thy face.

Suppresse heretikes at their beginnyng, lest they preache false doctrine.

15 Geat vs k the foxes, yea the litle foxes that hurt the vines: for our vines beare blossomes.

16 My loue is mine, & I am his, which feedeth among the Lyllies vntyll the day breake, and tyl the shadowes be gone:

17 l Come agayne, O my beloued, and be lyke a Roe or a young Harte vpon the wide mountaynes.

l. The church prayeth Christe to be a present helpe alwaies in time of neede.

The. iii. Chapter.

1. The churche desireth to be ioyned inseperably to Christe her husbande. 6. Her deliuerance out of the vvilderneſſe.

BY a night in my bedde I sought hym whom my soule loueth: yea diligently sought I him, but I founde him not.

a. Christe is not founde by carnal reason, but by the scripture.

2 I wil geat vp thought I, b and goe about the citie, in the wayes in al the streetes wyll I seeke hym whom my soule loueth: but when I sought him, I founde him not.

b. We must continue in prayer, though we feele no comfort at the first.

3 The watchmen also that goe about the citie founde me to vvhom I sayd, Sawe ye not him whom my soule loueth?

4 So when I was a little past them, I founde him whom my soule loueth, I haue gotten holde vpon him, and wyl not let hym goe, vntyl I bring hym into my mothers house, and into her chamber that bare me.

5 I charge you, O ye daughters of Hierusalem, by the Roes and Hindes of the feelde, that ye wake not vp my loue, nor touch her, tyl she be content her selfe.

6 Who is this that commeth vp out c of the wildernesse like vapours of smoke, as it were a smel of Myrrhe, Frankencense, and al manner spices of the Apotecarie?

c. By this is vnderstanded the chyldren of Israel, which in the wildernesse dyd folowe Christe.

7 Beholde, about d Solomons bedsteede there stande threescore valiant, of the most mightie in Israel: they holde swordes euery one, and are experte in warre.

d. By Solomons bedsteede, is vnderstanded the temple of Solomon, the whiche is defended by the sword, that is, by the worde.

8 Euery man also hath his sword vpon his thigh, because of feare in the night.

9 Kyng Solomon had made him selfe a palace of the wood of Libanus, the pillers are of siluer, " the couering of golde, the seate of purple, the grounde is pleasaunt lye paued with loue for the daughters of Hierusalem.

" some reade, the pauement of golde, the couering of purple.

10 Goe forth (O ye daughters of Sion) and beholde kyng Solomon in the crowne wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his hart.

The. iiii. Chapter.

1. The prayses of the churche. 7. She is without blemishe in his sight. 9. The loue of Christ towarde her.

a. Chriſt praiſeth his church, wherin he hath great delyght.
b. A ſymple faith & ſincere.

f. The two breaſtes ſignifie the two teſtamentes.
g. The preaching of the Goſpel bryngeth forth much conſolation and profite.
h. The church is defended by Chriſte.
i. He prayeth for the grace of the holy ghoſt towarde the church, without the which nothyng can proſper in it.

O howe a fayre art thou my loue, howe fayre art thoue thou haſt b doues eyes, beſide that whiche lyeth hid within: c thy hearie lockes are lyke the wooll of a flocke of goates that be ſhoyne vpon mount Gilead.

2 d Thy teeth are lyke a flocke of ſheepe of the ſame bygneſſe whiche went vp from the waſhing place, where euery one heareth two twinnes, and not one vnfruiteful among them.

3 Thy lyppes are lyke a Roſe coloured ribande, thy wordes are louely, thy cheekes are like a peece of a Pomegranate within thine heares.

4 Thy e necke is like the towre of Dauid, builded with coſtly ſtones lying out on the ſydes, whereupon there heng a thouſande ſhieldes, yea al the weapons of the Giantes.

5 f Thy two breaſtes are like two twins of young Roes, whiche feede among Roſes.

6 O that I might goe to the mountaine of Myrrhe, and to the hyll of Frankencenſe, tyll the day breake, and tyll the ſhadowes be paſt away.

7 Thou art al fayre (O my loue) and no ſpot is there in thee.

8 Come to me from Libanus (O my ſpouſe) come to me from Libanus: looke from the top of Amana, from the top of Sanir and Hermon, from the Lions dennes, and from the mountaynes of the Leopardes.

9 Thou haſt with loue bewitched my hart, O my ſiſter, my ſpouſe, thou haſt bewitched my hart with one of thine eyes, & with one chayne of thy necke.

10 O howe fayre are thy breaſtes, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe: Thy breaſtes are more pleaſant then wine, and the ſmell of thyne oyntmentes paſſeth al ſpices.

11 g Thy lippes, O my ſpouſe, droppe as the hony combe, yea milke and honie is vnder thy tongue, and the ſmell of thy garmentes is like the ſmel of Libanus.

12 h A garden wel locked is my ſyſter, my ſpouſe: a garden wel locked, and a ſealed well.

13 The fruites that are planted in thee, are like a very paradiſe of Pomegranates with ſweete fruites, as Camphire, Nardus, and Saffron, Calamus, Cynamom, with al ſweete ſmellyng trees, Myrrhe, Aloes, and al the beſt ſpices, a wel of gardens, a well of liuing waters whiche runne downe from Libanus.

14 i Vp thou north winde, come thou ſouth winde, and blow vpon my garden, that the ſmell thereof may be caried on euery ſide: yea that my beloued may come into his garden, and eate of the ſweete fruites that growe therein.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

1. Chriſte calleth his churche to the participation of al his treaſures. 2. she heareth his voyce. 6. she confeſſeth her nakednesse. 10 she prayſeth Chriſt her huſbande.

I Am a come into my garden, O my ſiſter, my ſpouſe, I haue geathered my Myrrhe with my ſpice: I haue eaten hony with my hony combe, I haue dronken my wine with my milke: Eate, O ye frendes, drinke and be mery, O ye beloued.

a. The garden ſignifieth the church of God, in the whiche Chriſt beſtoweth his ſingular benefites.

2 I am a ſleepe, but my hart is waking: I heare the voyce of my beloued when he knocketh, ſaying, Open to me, O my ſiſter, my loue, my doue, my darlyng: for my head is ful of deawe, and the lockes of my heare are ful of the night droppes.

3 I haue put of my coate, howe can I do it on agayne? I haue waſhed my feete, howe ſhal I ſyle them agayne?

4 My loue put in his hande at the hole, and my hart was moued within me.

5 I ſtoode vp to open vnto my beloued, and my handes dropped with Myrrhe, and the Myrrhe ranne downe my fyngers vpon the locke.

6 I opened vnto my beloued, but he was departed & gone his way: Nowe when he ſpake, my hart was gone: b I ſought him, but I could not finde him: I cryed vpon him, neuertheleſſe he gaue me no anſwere.

b. Chriſt doth leaue his for a time, for that he would hym vp in them a greater deſyre of hym.

7 So the watchemen that went about the citie founde me, ſmote me, and wounded me: yea they that kept the walles tooke away my kerchiffe from me.

8 I charge you therefore, O ye daughters of Hieruſalem, if ye finde my beloued, that ye tel him howe that I am ſicke for loue.

9 What manner of man is thy loue aboue other louers, O thou fayreſt among women? Or what can thy loue do more then other louers, that thou chargeſt vs ſo straightly?

10 As for my loue, he c is white and redde coloured, a goodly perſon among ten thouſande.

c. The church ſetteth foorth Chriſte to be of moſt perfection & comelyneſſe.

11 His head is as the moſt fine golde, the lockes of his heare are buſhed, and blacke as a crowe.

12 His eyes are as the eyes of doues by the water brookes, as though they were waſhed with milke, * and are ſet like pearles in golde.

* ſome read and renne the ful wel ſet.

13 His cheekes are like a garden bedde wherein the Apothecaries plant al maner of ſweete sweete thinges.

14 His lippes are lyke Lilies that drop sweete smelling Myrrhe: his handes are like golde ringes, hauing inclosed the pretious stone of Tharsis.

15 His body is as the pure Iuorie, deckt ouer with Saphires: his legges are as the pillers of Marble set vpō sockettes of gold.

16 His face is as Libanus, and as the beautie of the Cedar trees.

17 The words of his mouth are sweete, yea he is altogeather louely: Such a one is my loue, O ye daughters of Hierusalem, such a one is my loue.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

1. The Churche asswreth her selfe of the loue of Christ. 3. The prayse of the Churche. 8. She is but one and vndefiled.

WHyther is thy loue gone then, O thou fayrest among women? whyther is thy loue departed, and we wil seeke him with thee?

2 a My loue is gone downe into his garden vnto the sweete smelling beddes, that he may refresh him selfe in the garden and gather Lilies,

3 My loue is mine, and I am his, whiche feedeth among the Lilies.

4 Thou art beautiful, O my loue, as is the place Thirza, thou art fayre as Hierusalem, fearefull as an armie of men with their banners.

5 Turne away thyne eyes from me, for they " haue set me an fyre: thy heary lockes are like a flocke of Goates shorne vppon the mount of Gilead.

6 Thy teeth are like a flocke of shorne sheepe, which goe out of the washing place, where euery one beareth twinnes, and not one vnfruiteful among them.

7 Thy cheekes are like a peece of a pomegranate within thy lockes of heare.

8 b There are threescore queenes, fourescore wiues, and damsels without number.

9 c One is my doue, one is my darling, she is the onely beloued of her mother, and deare vnto her that bare her: When the daughters sawe her, they said she was blessed, yea the queenes and wyues praysed her.

10 What is she this that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, cleare as the sunne, and fearefull as an armie of men with their banners?

11 d I went downe into the nut garden, to see what grewe by the brookes, & to looke if the vineyarde flourished, or if the Pomegranates were not forth.

12 I knew not that my soule had made me the chariot of the people that be vndertribute.

13 Turne againe, turne againe, O thou perfect one, turne againe, turne againe, and we wyl looke vpon thee: What wil ye see in the e Sulamite? She is like men of warre synging in a company.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

1. The beautie of the Churche in al her members. 10. She is assured of Christes loue towardes her.

OHowe pleasant are thy treadings with thy shoes, thou princes daughter: the ioyntes of thy thighes are like a fayre iewel, which is wrought by a cunning workmaister.

2 Thy a nauil is like a rounde goblet, which is neuer without drinke.

3 Thy b wombe is like a heape of wheat that is set about with Lilies.

4 c Thy two breastes are like two twinnes of young Roes.

5 d Thy necke is as it were a towre of Iuorie: thine e eyes also are like the water pooles that are in Hesebon, beside the port of Bathrabbim, thy f nose is like the towre of Libanus, whiche looketh towarde Damascus.

6 Thy head that standeth vpon thee is like Carmel: & the heare of thy head is like purple, and like a king dwelling among many water conduites.

7 O howe fayre and louely art thou my darling in pleasures?

8 Thy stature is like a g Paulme tree, and thy breastes like the grapes.

9 I said, I wil climbe vp into the Paulme tree, and take holde of his high branches.

10 Thy breastes also shalbe as the wine clusters, the smel of thy nosethrilles like as the smel of apples.

11 And thy rooffe of thy mouth like the best wine, whiche is meete for my best beloued, pleasant for his lippes, and for his teethe to chawe.

12 I am my belouedes, and he shal turne him vnto me.

13 O come on my loue, we will goe foorth into the fielde, and take our lodging in the villages.

14 h In the morning wil we goe see the vineyarde, we wyl see if the vine be sprong foorth, if the grapes be growen, and if the Pomegranates be shut out.

15 i There wyl I geue thee my breastes: the Mandragoras geue their sweete smel, & c. The Churche deſyreth to be ioyned vnto Chriſt by the ſeale of the holy ghoſt.

6 c O ſet me as a ſeale vpon thine hart, and as a ſeale vppon thine arme: foꝛ loue is mygbtie as the death, and ielouſie as the hell.

7 Her coales are coales of fyꝛe, and a veꝛy vehement flame of the Lorde, ſo that many waters are not able to quenche loue, neither may the ſtreames dꝛowne it: yea yf a man woulde geue all the good of his houſe foꝛ loue, he ſhoulde count it nothing.

16 ‖ Washe you, make you cleane, put away your euyl thoughtes out of my sight: ceasse from doing of euyl,

‖ 1. Pet. 3. 18

17 Learne to do wel, apply your selues to equitie, deliuer the oppressed, helpe the fatherlesse to his right, let the widdowes complaynt come before you.

18 And then goe to, sayth the Lorde, let vs talke togeather: though your sinnes be as redde as skarlet, they shalbe as white as snowe: and though they were lyke purple, they shalbe as white as wooll.

19 If ye be willing and obedient, ye shal eate the good of the lande:

20 But yf ye be obstinate & rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the swoorde: for the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

21 Howe happeneth it then that the faythful citie, whiche was ful of equitie, is become vnfaythful as a whoore? Righteousnesse dwelt in it, but nowe murderers.

22 Thy syluer is turned to drosse, and thy wine mixt with water.

23 Thy princes are wicked and companions of theeues: they loue giftes altogether, and gape for rewardes, ‖ As for the fatherlesse they helpe him not to his right, neyther wyl they let the widowes causes come before them.

24 Therefore ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, the mightie one of Iſrael: Ah I muſt eaſe me of mine enimies, and auenge me of mine aduerſaries.

25 And I ſhal lay my hande vpon thee, and purely purge away thy droſſe, and take away al thy tinne:

26 And ſet thy iudges agayne as they were ſometyme, and thy ſenatours as they were from the begynning: and then thou ſhalt be called the righteous citie, the fayth-ful citie.

27 Sion ſhalbe redeemed with equitie, and her conuertes with righteouſneſſe.

28 But the tranſgreſſours, and the vngodly, and ſuche as forſake the Lorde, ſhall altogeather be vtterly deſtroyed.

29 For ye ſhalbe confounded for the trees which ye haue deſyred: and ye ſhalbe aſhamed of the gardens that ye haue choſen.

30 For ye ſhalbe as a tree whoſe leaues are fallen away, and as a garden that hath no moyſtneſſe.

31 And the very ſtrong one of your idols ſhalbe as towe, and the maker of it as a ſparke of fyre, and they ſhal both burne togeather, and no man quenche them.

The.ii. Chapter.

1. A propheſie of Chriſte and his kingdome. 12. Pryde, couetouſneſſe, ſuperſtition, and idolatrie are reproued, 17. Gods terrible iudgement agayniſt theſe.

THE ſelfe ſame worde that Eſai the ſonne of Amos ſawe vpon Iuda and Hieruſalem.

‖ Mich.4.2. a. Chriſt, his churche and his worde.

2 ‖ And this ſhal come to paſſe in the latter dayes, The a hyl of the Lordes houſe ſhalbe prepared in the height of the mountaynes, and ſhalbe higher then the hilles, and al nations ſhal preaſſe vnto hym.

3 And a multitude of people ſhal goe, ſpeakyng thus one to another, Come, let vs attende to the hyl of the Lorde, to the houſe of the God of Iacob, and he wil inſtruct vs of his wayes, and we wyl walke in his pathes: for out of Sion ſhal come a lawe, and the worde of the Lorde from Hieruſalem

4 And ſhal geue ſentence among the heathen, and ſhal reſourme the multitude of people: they ſhal breake their ſwordes alſo into mattockes, and their ſpeares to make ſithes: And one people ſhall not lyft vp a weapon againſt another, neyther ſhal they learne to fight from thencefoorth.

5 Come ye, O houſe of Iacob, and let vs walke in the lyght of the Lorde:

6 For thou haſt forſaken thy people the houſe of Iacob, b becauſe they be replenished with euils from the eaſt, and with ſoothſayers lyke the Philiſtines, and in ſtrange children they thinke them ſelues to haue ynough.

b. The cauſe why God forſaketh his people is, idolatrie, heathenyſhe ſuperſtition, couetouſneſſe, & truſt in other thinges then in God alone.

7 Their lande is full of ſyluer & golde, neyther is there any ende of their treaſure: their lande is alſo ful of horſes, and no ende is there of their charrets.

8 Their lande is alſo ful of vaine gods, and before the workes of their owne handes they haue bowed them ſelues, yea euen before the thyng that their owne fyngers haue made.

9 There kneeleth the man, there falleth the man downe before them: therefore forgeue them not.

10 Get thee into the rocke, and hide thee in the ground, for feare of the Lord, and for the glory of his maieſtie.

11 The high lookes of man ſhalbe brought lowe, & the hautineſſe of men ſhalbe bowed downe: and the Lorde alone ſhalbe exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lorde of hoſtes ſhalbe vpon al the proude, loftie, and vpon all that is exalted, and he ſhalbe brought lowe.

13 And vpon al high and ſtout Cedar trees of Libanus, and vpon al the Okes of Baſan.

14 And vpon al the high mountaynes, and vpon al the high hylles,

15 And vpon euery high towre, and vpon euery fenced wal,

16 And vpon al the ſhyppes of Tharſis, and vpon al pictures of pleaſure.

17 And the pride of man ſhalbe brought downe, and the lofтineſſe of men ſhalbe made lowe, and the Lorde alone ſhalbe exalted in that day.

18 As for the idols he ſhal vtterly abolyſhe:

19 ‖ And they ſhal creepe into holes of ſtone, and into caues of the earth, for feare of the Lorde, and for the glory of his maieſtie, when he ariſeth to deſtroy the wicked ones of the earth.

‖ Luk.23.30. Apoc. 6.16. Dict.10.8.

20 In the ſelfe ſame day ſhal man caſt away his goddes of ſiluer, and his goddes of golde, into the holes of Molules & Backes, which he neuertheleſſe had made to him ſelfe to honour them.

21 And they ſhal creepe into the cleftes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the harde ſtones, for feare of the Lorde, and for the glory of his maieſtie, when he ariſeth to destroy the wicked out of the earth.

22 Ceasse therefore from man, in whose nostrylles there is wrath: for wherin is he to be accompted of?

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

1. The mischeefes that God sendeth on common weales for the contempt of his worde. 14. The couetousnesse of rulers reproued. 16. The proude nicenesse of women punished to their shame.

FOr loe, the Lorde God of hostes dooth take away from Hierusalem and Iuda all maner of stay, all stay of meate and drynke.

2 The captayne & the souldier, the iudge and the prophete, the a prudent and the aged man, a. The prudent, that is, suche as can foresee by their prudencie thinges to come.

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honorable, the senatour, the cunning artificer, and the eloquent oratour.

4 And I shall geue children to be their princes, and babes shal rule ouer them.

5 And the people shal eche one of them violently oppresse another, and euery one agaynst his neighbour: The boy shall presume agaynst the elder, and the person of lowe degree agaynst the honorable.

6 Yea one shal take a frend of his owne kinrede by the bosome, and say, Thou haste clothing, thou shalt be our head, & stay this ruine with thy hande.

7 Then shall he sweare and say, I can not helpe you: there is neither meat nor clothing in my house, make me no ruler of the people.

8 For Hierusalem and Iuda must decay: because that both their woordes and counsels are agaynst the Lorde, to prouoke the presence of his maiestie to anger.

9 Their very countenaunce bewrayeth thē, yea they declare their owne sinnes them selues as Sodome, they hide it not: Wo be to their owne soules, for they haue rewarded euil vnto them selues.

10 Say to the righteous that it shal goe wel with them: for they shal eate the fruite of their owne studies.

11 But wo be vnto the wicked, for it shalbe euil with him: for he shalbe rewarded after his owne woorkes.

12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women rule ouer them: O my people, thy leaders deceiue thee, and corrupt the way of thy footesteppes.

13 The Lorde is heere to commune of the matter, and standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shal enter into iudgement with the elders and princes of his people, and shal say to them, It is ye that haue burnt vp my vineyarde, the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

15 What meane ye that ye bray as in a morter my people, & grinde the faces of the poore, sayth the Lord God of hostes?

16 Moreouer, the Lord hath sayd, Seeing the daughters of Sion are waxen proud, and walke with stretched foorth neckes, and wanton lookes, going and tripping nicely, and tinckling with their feete:

17 Therefore shal the Lorde shaue the heads of the daughters of Sion, and shal discouer their filthinesse.

18 In that day shall the Lorde take away the gorgiousnesse of the attyre about their feete, and the cawles, and the rounde tyres after the fashion of the Moone,

19 The sweete perfumes, and the bracelets, and the muffelers,

20 The bonnettes, and the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tablets, and the eareringes,

21 And rynges, and nose iewls,

22 The costly apparel: and the vailes, and the wymples, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses, and the fine linnin, and the hoodes, and the lawnes.

24 And in steede of good smel, there shalbe stinke, and in steede of their girdle, a rent: and for wel set heare, there shalbe baldnesse, in steede of a stomacher, a sackcloth, and sunne burnyng for beautie.

25 Thy men shal perish with the swoord, and thy valiant souldiers in the battayle O Hierusalem.

26 And her gates shal mourne and bewayle: and she beyng desolate, shal syt vpon the grounde.

¶ The.iiii. Chapter.

1. The miserie of the stubburne. 3. A promise of Gods fauour to the residue.

IN that day seuen women shal take holde of one man, sayeing, We wyl fynde our selues meate and apparel: onely let vs be called by thy name, to take our shameful reproche from vs.

2 a In that day shal the budde of the Lord be beautiful & glorious, and the fruite of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

a. The incarnation of Christ, is the ioy of the faythful.

3 Then shal the remnaunt in Sion, and the remnaunt at Hierusalem be called holy: namely, al such as are written among the liuyng in Hierusalem.

4 b After that the Lord hath washt away the filthynesse of the daughters of Sion, and hath purged the blood out from Hierusalem

b. They are saued whose sinnes are remitted & washt away with the blood of Christ.

salem in the spirite of iudgement, and in the spirite of fyre.

5 And vppon all the dwellinges of the hilles of Sion, & vpon her congregations, the Lord shall create a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fyre by nyght: for al the c glory shalbe preserued.

c. Christe wyl preserue and defende the glory, that is, the faythful in al troubles and temptation.

6 And there shalbe a tabernacle for a shadowe in the day tyme from the heate, and a safe place and refuge from weather and rayne.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

1. Of Christe and his vineyarde, 8. with an execration of couetousnesse, 11. drunkennesse, 19. and contempt of Gods worde.

NOwe wyll I syng, my beloued freend, a song of my freende touchyng his vineyarde. || My beloued freend hath a vineyarde in a very fruitefull plenteous grounde.

|| Iere. 2. 21 Matth. 21. 33.

2 This he hedged, and geathered out the stones from it, and planted it with the chyefest vine: In the middest of it builded he a towre, also made a vine presse therein: a and he looked that it should bring him grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

a. God looketh to receyue of his people the thankful fruites of fayth, and not the vnpleasant woorkes of faithlesse ingratitude.

3 Nowe, O citizen of Hierusalem, and man of Iuda, iudge, I pray thee, betwixt me and my vineyarde.

4 What more could haue been doone for it, that I haue not done? Wherefore then hath it geuen wilde grapes, where I looked to haue had grapes of it?

5 Wel, nowe I shal tel you howe I wil doo with my vineyard: I wel take the hedge from it, that it may perishe, & breake downe the wall thereof, that it may be troden vnder foote.

6 I wil lay it waste, it shal neuer be digged nor cut, but heare thornes and bryers: I will also forbid the cloudes that they shal not rayne vpon it.

7 As for the vineyarde of the Lorde of hoastes, it is the house of Israel: and the man of Iuda, the plant of his pleasure: Of these he looked for equitie, but see there is oppression for righteousnesse, and lae it is a crying.

8 Wo vnto them that ioyne one house to another, and bring one lande to nygh vnto another, that there is no more place: Will ye be placed alone in the middest of the earth?

9 These thinges are in the eares of the Lorde of hoastes: of a trueth great and fayre houses shalbe without any dweller in them.

10 And tenne acres of vines shal geue but a quart, and thirtie bushelles of seede shall geue but an Epha.

11 Wo be vnto them that rise vp early to folowe drunkennesse, continuing until night, tyl they be set on fyre with wine.

12 In their feastes are Harpes & Lutes, Tabrettes and Pipes, and wine: but they regarde not the woorke of the Lord, and consider not the operation of his handes.

13 Therefore commeth my folke into captiuitie, because they haue no vnderstanding: b Their glory is famished with hunger, and their multitude dryed vp with thirste.

b. Their glory, they r noble & honorable personages.

14 Therefore gapeth hell, and openeth her mouth marueylous wide, that their glory, multitude, and wealth, with such as reioyce in her, may discende into it.

15 Thus hath man a fall, & is brought lowe, and the high looke of the proude shalbe layde downe.

16 But the Lorde of hoastes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and God that is holy, is sanctified in righteousnesse.

17 Then shall the sheepe eate as they were wont, and the riche mens wastes shall c strangers deuoure.

c. Gods children, as though they were strangers, miserably dealt withal by the oppression of the couetous, shal after a time repossesse and enioy the landes and goods, which the couetous oppressours shalbe constrayned to forsake and leaue as waste.

18 Wo be vnto them that draw wickednesse with cordes of vanitie, and sinne as it were with a cart rope:

19 Whiche vse to speake on this maner, Let him make speede, and hasten his woorke, that we may see it: let the counsel of the holy one of Israel come & drawe nigh, that we may knowe it.

20 Wo be vnto them that call euyll good, and good euyl, which make darknesse lyght, and light darknesse, that make sowre sweete, and sweete sowre.

21 || Wo be vnto them that are wise in their owne syght, and thinke them selues to haue vnderstanding.

|| Prou. 3. 7. Rom. 12. 16.

22 Wo be vnto them that are strong to suppe out wine, and experte men to set vp drunkennesse.

23 Wo be vnto them that geue sentence with the vngodly for rewardes, but condemne the iust cause of the righteous.

24 Therefore like as fyre licketh vp the strawe, & as the flame consumeth the stubble, euen so their roote shalbe as corruption, and their blossome shal vanishe away lyke dust: for they haue cast away the lawe of the Lorde of hoastes, and dispised the woorde of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kyndled agaynst his people, and hath stretched forth his hande vppon them, yea he hath smytten them: and the hilles dyd tremble, and their carkases did lye dorne in the open streetes: and in all this the wrath of of God hath not ceassed, but his hande stretched out styl.

26 And he shal geue a token to a people of a farre countrey, and shall hysse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shal come hastily with speede.

27 There shall not be one saynt nor feeble among them, no not a sluggish or sleepie person: there shal not one of them put of his gyrdle from his loynes, nor loose the latchet of his shoe.

28 His arrowes are sharpe, and al his bowes bent: his horse hookes are as flynt, and his cart wheeles like a whyrle wynde.

29 His crye is as it were of a Lion, and he roareth like Lions whelpes: they shall roare and hantche vp the pray, and no man shal recouer it, nor geat it from them.

30 In that day he shalbe so fierce vpon hym, as the ragyng of the sea: then one shal beholde the d lande, and loe, darkenesse and sorow, and the light is darkened in the heauens thereof.

d. The land of Iuda shalbe ouerwhelmed with miserable affliction.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

1 Esai sawe the glory of the Lorde. 9. And was sent to propheſie the desolation of Iury.

IN the yeere that king Oziah dyed, I sawe also the Lorde sytting vpon an high and glorious seate, and his trayne filled the temple.

2 And about hym stoode Seraphims, whereof one had sixe winges, with twayne ech couered his face, with twaine his feete, and with twaine dyd he flee.

3 They cryed also eche one to another on this maner: || Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes, the whole earth is ful of his glory. ||Apoca.4.8.

4 And the lyntles of the doore chekes mooued at his crye, and the house was ful of smoke.

5 Then sayde I, Woe is me, for I am lost, in as muche as I am a man of vncleane lyppes, and dwel among people that hath vncleane lippes also: for mine eyes haue seene the king the Lorde of hostes.

6 Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me, hauing a hot coale in his hand, whiche he had taken from the aulter with the tongues,

7 And layd it vpon my mouth, and sayd, loe, this hath touched thy a lyppes, and thine vnrighteousnesse shalbe taken away, and thy sinne forgeuen.

a. Gods sacramentes are not bare signes: but with the signe and the woorde, the matter signified, is exhibited to the faythful.

8 Also I hearde the voyce of the Lorde on this maner, Whom shal I sende, and who wyl be our messenger? Then I sayde, Here am I, sende me.

9 And he sayde, Goe and tel this people: || Heare in deede, yet vnderstande not: see plainely, and yet perceyue not. ||Mat.13.14 Mark.4.12. Luk.8.10. Joh.12.40.

10 Harden the hart of this people, stop their eares, and shut their eyes: lest they see with their eyes, heare with their eares, and vnderstande with their hartes, and conuert, and be healed.

11 Then spake I, Lorde, how long? he answeared, Until the cities be vtterly wasted without inhabitantes, & the houses without men, and til the land be also vtterly desolate.

12 For the Lord shal put the men farre away, and there shalbe great wast in the middest of the lande.

13 Yet in it shall succeede ten kinges, and it shal returne, and be afterward wasted: But as the Teyle tree, and the Oke in the fal of their leaues, haue yet the sappe remaynyng in them, euen so, the holy seede shalbe the itape thereof. b. Christ dwellyng by fayth in his electe, who seeme as dead in the stormy tymes of this worlde, is to the vnlyfe and slay that they perishe not.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

The Syrians moue battayle agaynst Hierusalem. 14. A virgin shal beare a childe.

IT || happened in the tyme of Ahaz the sonne of Iotham, whiche was the sonne of Uziah kyng of Juda, that Razin the king of Syria, and Pecah the sonne of Romeliah kyng of Israel, went vp toward Hierusalem to beseige it: but Razin was not able to wyn it. ||4.king.16.5

2 Now when the a house of Dauid heard word thereof, that Syria and Ephraim was confederate togeather, his hart quaked, yea, & the hartes also of his people, lyke as when the trees of the wood are mooued with the wynde. a. Dauids house, that is, Ahaz.

3 Then sayd God vnto Esai, Goe meete Ahaz, thou, and thy sonne Sear Iasub, at the head of the ouer poole, in the foote path by the Fullers grounde,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede vnto thee selfe, and be styl, feare not, neyther be faynt harted: for these two tayles, that is, for these two smokyng fyrebrandes, the wrath and furiousnesse of Razin the Syrian and Romelies sonne.

5 Because that the Syrian, Ephraim, and Romelies sonne, haue wickedly conspired against thee,

6 Saying, We wyl goe vp agaynst Iuda, vexe them, and bring them vnder vs, and set a kyng there, euen the sonne of Tabel:

7 Thus sayth the Lord God thereto. It shall not so goe foorth, neyther so come to passe:

8 For the head citie of the Syrians, is Damascus, Damaſcus, but the head of Damaſcus is Razin: and after threeſcore and fiue yeeres, ſhal Ephraim be no more a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, but the head of Samaria is Romelies ſonne: yf ye beleeue not, ſurely ye ſhal not be eſtabliſhed.

10 * Moreouer, God ſpake agayne vnto Ahaz, ſaying,

11 Requyre to thee ſelfe a token of the Lorde thy God, whether it be towarde the depth beneath, or towarde the height aboue.

12 Then ſaid Ahaz, I will require none, neyther wyl I tempt the Lorde.

13 The prophete anſwered, Then heare ye of the houſe of Dauid: Is it not yenough for you that ye be greeuous vnto men, but ye muſt greeue my God alſo?

14 Therefore the Lorde hym ſelfe ſhal geue you a token: || Beholde, a virgin ſhall conceiue and beare a ſonne, and ſhal cal his name Emmanuel.

|| Math. 1. 23. Luk. 1. 31.

17 The Lorde alſo ſhal ſend a tyme vpon thee, vpon thy people, & vppon thy fathers houſe, ſuch as neuer came ſince the time that Ephraim departed from Juda, namely, through the kyng of the Aſſyrians.

18 For at the ſame tyme ſhal the Lorde hyſſe for the flyes that are about the water of Egypt, and for the bees in the Aſſyrians lande.

19 Theſe ſhal come, and ſhal lyght al in the deſolate valleyes, in the holes of ſtones, and vpon al thornie and buſhie places.

20 At the ſame tyme ſhall the Lorde ſhaue the b heare of the head, and the feete, and the beарde cleane of, with the || raſor that he ſhal hyre beyond the waters: namely, with the kyng of the Aſſyrians.

b. The heare of the head, and the beарde, the princes, & men of auctthoritie, the feete, the common ſort of people.

|| 4. Re. 19. 35

21 At the ſame time ſhal a man nouriſh a young cowe, and two ſheepe.

22 Then becauſe of the abundance of milke that they geue, he ſhal eate butter: ſo that euery one which remayneth in the land, ſhal eate butter and hony.

23 At the ſame tyme al vineyards wherein there ſhalbe a thouſande vines, wooyth a thouſande ſyluerlynges, ſhalbe turned to bryers and thornes.

24 They ſhal come into the lande with arrowes and bowes, becauſe al the lande ſhal become bryers and thornes.

25 As for all hylles they ſhalbe digged with the mattocke, there ſhal not come vpon them any feare of bryers and thornes: but the cattel ſhalbe driuen thither, & the ſheepe ſhal feede there.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

The deliuerance of the lande by Emmanuel. 14. The ſtone of offence, at whiche many ſhal ſtomble.

MOreouer, the Lorde ſayde vnto me, Take thee a great roule, and write in it, as men dooth with a pen, Make haſte ſpeede to rob, and haſt to the ſpoyle.

2 And I called vnto me faythful witneſſes to recorde, Uriah the prieſt, and Zacharias the ſonne of Barachias.

3 After that, went I vnto the prophetiſſe, and ſhe conceiued, and bare a ſonne: Then ſayde the Lorde to me, Geue him his name, A ſpeedy robber, An haſtie ſpoyler.

4 For why? or euer the childe ſhal haue knowleuge to crie my father and mother, ſhal the richeſſe of Damaſcus, and the ſpoyle of Samaria be taken away before the kyng of the Aſſyrians.

5 The Lord ſpake alſo vnto me againe, ſaying,

6 For ſo muche as this people refuſeth the ſtil running water of Silo, and put their delight in Razin and Romelies ſonne:

7 Beholde, the Lorde ſhal bryng mightie and great flooddes of water vpon them, namely, the king of the Aſſyrians with all his power, which ſhal climbe vp vpon al his floods, and runne ouer al his banckes,

8 And ſhal breake in vpon Juda, he ſhal flowe and paſſe through, tyl he come vp to the necke thereof: he ſhal fil alſo the wyderneſſe of thy lande with his winges, O Emmanuel.

9 Breake downe, O ye people, a and ye ſhalbe broken downe, hearken to, all ye of farre countreyes, muſter you, and you ſhalbe broken downe, prepare you, and you ſhalbe torne in peeces.

a. Mans policie and deuice without God, preuaileth not.

10 Take your counſaile togeather, yet ſhal your counſaile come to nought: determine the matter, yet ſhal it not proſper: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lorde ſpake thus to me in a mightie propheſie, b and warned me that I ſhoulde not walke in the way of this people, ſaying,

b. Affiance is to be put in God, and not in mans policie or helpe.

12 Ye ſhall not ſpeake vvoordes of Conſpiracie, in al thinges when this people ſhall ſay, Conſpiracie: feare them not, neither be afrayde of them.

13 But ſanctifie the Lord of hoſtes, let

14 For he shalbe the holy place to flee to, ||and a stone to stumble at, the rocke to fal vpon, a snare and net to both the houses of Israel, and the inhabiters of Hierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble and fall, and be broken, yea they shalbe snared and taken.

16 c Binde vp the testimonie, seale the lawe in my disciples.

17 And I will wayte vpon the Lorde that hydeth his face from the house of Iacob, and I wyl looke for him.

18 ||But loe, as for me & the children which the Lord hath geuen me, we are to be a token and a wonder in Israel from the Lorde of hostes, whiche dwelleth vpon the hyll of Sion.

19 And yf they say vnto you, Aske counsel at the Soothsaiers, Witches, Charmers, and Coniurers: then make them this answere, Is there a people any where that asketh not counsel at his God? shoulde men runne vnto the dead for the lyuyng?

20 Geat thee to the d lawe, the testimonie: and yf they speake not after this woorde, there is no lyght in them.

21 And they shall wander through this lande hardly bestead and hungrye, and when they suffer hunger, they wyll be out of patience, and curse their kyng and their God, and shal looke vpwarde and downewarde to the earth.

22 And beholde, there is trouble and darknesse, dymnesse is round about him, and he shalbe driuen into darknesse.

23 Neuertheless, the darknesse shall not be suche as was in her vexation, when at the first he lyghtly afflicted the lande of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthali, and afterwarde dyd more greeuously afflict her by the way of the sea beyond Iordane in Galilee of the heathen.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

He prophecieth of Christes nativitie and dominion.

THE people that walked in darknesse haue seene a great lyght: As for them that dwel in the lande of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the lyght shyned.

2 Thou hast multiplied the people, and not encreased their ioy: they reioyce before thee, euen as men make mery in haruest, and they be ioyfull, as men that doo diuide the spoyle after the victorie.

3 For thou hast broken the yoke of his burden, the staffe of his shoulder, and the rodde of his oppressour, ||as in the day of Madian.

4 And truely euery battayle that the warrier maketh, is doone with confused noyse, and defyling their garmentes with blood, but this battayle shalbe with burnyng and consumyng of fyre.

5 For vnto vs a a chylde is borne, and vnto vs a ||sonne is geuen, vppon his shoulder doeth the rule lie, and he is called with his owne name, Woonderful, The geuer of counsel, The mightie God, The euerlasting father, The prince of peace.

7 The Lord sent a woorde into Iacob, the same is come into Israel.

8 And all the people of Ephraim shall knowe, and they that dwel in Samaria that say with pryde and hygh stomackes on this maner, 9 The tyle woorke is fallen downe, but we wyl buylde it vp with squared stones: the Mulberie tymber is broken, but we wyl set it vp agayne with Cedar.

10 But the Lorde shall strengthen the enimies of Razin, and ioyne his aduersaries togeather agaynst him.

12 For the people turneth not vnto him that chastiseth them, neyther doo they seeke the Lorde of hostes.

13 Therefore hath the Lord rooted out of Israel both head and tayle, bough, and reede in one day.

14 By the head, is vnderstande the Senatour and honourable man, and by the tayle, the Prophete that preacheth lyes.

15 For the guydes of this people are deceyuers, and those that be gouerned, are vtterly lost.

¶ The x. Chapter.

1. He threateneth the oppressours of the poore.
12. And prophecieth agaynst Sennacherib.

WOE be vnto them that make vnryghteous lawes, and that causeth their actuaries to write greuousnes,

2 Wherthrough the poore are put from their ryght, and my seely people robbed of iudgement, that widdowes maye be their pray, and that they maye rob the fatherlesse.

3 What wyl ye doo in the tyme of visitation, and when destruction shal come from farre? to whom wyl ye runne for helpe? and where wyl ye leaue your glory?

4 That when I withdrawe my hande, ye come not among the prysoners, nor lye among the dead? After all this doeth not the wrath of the Lorde ceasse, but yet is his hand stretched out styl.

5 O Assur whiche art the staffe of my wrath, in whose hande is the rod of myne indignation,

6 I wyll sende him among these hypocritishe people: among the people that haue deserued my displeasure wyll I sende him: that he vtterly rob them, spoyle them, and treade them downe lyke the myre in the streete.

7 Howbeit, his meanyng is not so, neyther thynketh his harte on this fashion: but he imagineth howe he may roote out and destroy muche people.

8 For he sayth, Are not my princes all kynges?

9 Is not Chalno as easte to wynne, as Charchamis? Is it harder to conquer Hamath then Arphad? or is it lyghter to ouercome Damascus, then Samaria?

10 As who say, I were able to wynne the kyngdomes of the wolaters and their goddes, but not Hierusalem and Samaria.

11 Shall I not doo vnto Hierusalem and her images, as I did vnto Samaria and her idolles?

12 Wherfore it shal come to passe, that as soone as the Lorde hath performed his whole worke || vpon the hyll of Sion and Hierusalem, then wyll I visite the fruite of the stout hart of the kyng of Syria, with his proude lookes. ||4. Re. 19. 33

13 For he standeth thus in his owne conceyte. This doo I through my wysedome: for I am wyse, I am he that remoueth the landes of the people, I rob their treasure, and haue pulled downe the inhabitantes lyke a valiant man.

14 My hande hath founde out the strength of the people as it were a nest: and lyke as egges that were layde here & there are geathered togeather, so doo I geather all countreyes, and there was none so bolde as to moeue the wyng, that dare open his mouth, or once whysper.

15 Shall the axe boaste it selfe agaynst him that heweth therewith? or shal the sawe make any braggyng agaynst him that ruleth it? That were euen lyke as yf the rod dyd exalt it selfe agaynst him that beareth it, or as though the staffe shoulde magnifie it selfe, as who say, it were no wood.

16 Therfore shal the Lorde the God of hostes send among his fatlynges leannesse, & burne vp his glory as it were with a fyre.

17 And the lyght of Israel shalbe that fyre, and his holy one shalbe the flambe: and it shall kyndle and burne vp as thornes and bryers in one day.

18 Yea all the glory of his woodes and feeldes shalbe consumed with body & soule, and they shalbeas an host of men, whose standerde bearer fayleth.

19 The trees also of his wood whiche remayne, shalbe of suche a number, that a chylde may tel them.

20 After that day, shall the remnant of Israel, and suche as are escaped out of the house of Jacob, seeke no more comforte at him that smote them: but vnfaignedly shal they trust vnto the Lorde, the holy one of Israel.

21 || The remnant, euen the posteritie of Jacob, shal conuert vnto God the mightie one. ||Rom. 9. 27

22 For thoughe thy people, O Israel, be as the sande of the sea, yet shal the remnant of them conuert vnto him: the decreed consumption ouerfloweth with righteousnesse.

31 Madmena shall tremble for feare, but the citizens of Gabim are manly.

He propheſieth the deſtruction of Babylon, the captiuitie and the commyng agayne of the people.

a. Burden, that is, the prophecie.

THis is the a burden of Babylon, which Eſai the ſonne of Amos dyd ſee.

2 Lift vp the banner vpon the high hyl, call vnto them, wagge your hande, that they may goe into the gates of the princes.

3 I haue commaunded my ſanctified, I haue alſo called my valiant ones, ioying in my honour to execute my wrath.

4 There is a noiſe of a multitude in the mountaynes, lyke as of a great people, a ruſhyng as though the kyngdomes of the nations came together: the Lorde of hoſtes muſtereth his armie to battayle.

5 They come out of a farre countrey from the ende of the heauen, euen the Lorde hym ſelfe, with the miniſters of his wrath, to deſtroy the whole lande.

BVT the Lorde wyll be mercyfull vnto Iacob, & wyll yet choose Israel agayne, and set them in their owne lande, strangers shall cleaue and geat them to the house of Iacob.

2 The people shal take them, and carry them home to their owne land: and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the lande of the Lorde, that they may be seruauntes and handmaydens: and they shal take those prysoners, whose captiues they had been before, and rule those that had oppressed them.

3 When the Lorde nowe shall bryng thee to rest from thy trauayle, feare, & harde bondage that thou wast laden withal:

4 Then shalt thou vse this mockage vpon the kyng of Babylon, and say, Howe happeneth it that the oppressour leaueth of? Is the golden tribute come to an ende?

5 The Lorde hath broken the scepter of the vngodly, and the rod of the lordly.

6 Which rod in anger smyteth the people with continual strokes, and in wrath raigneth ouer the nations persecuted without compassion.

7 And therefore the whole worlde is nowe at rest and quietnesse, and men sing for ioye.

9 Hell also beneath trembleth to meete thee at thy commyng, and for thy sake hath rayled his dead, al myghtie men, and princes of the earth, al kynges of the earth stand vp from their seates,

10 That they may al answere & speake vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? Art thou become lyke vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe and thy pryde is layde downe into the pyt, and so is the melodie of thy instrumentes. Woormes be layde vnder thee, and woormes be thy couerynge.

12 Howe art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, thou fayre morynyng chyld? How hast thou gotten a fall, euen to the grounde, whiche dyddest weaken the nations?

13 For thou saydest in thyne harte, I wyll clymbe vp into heauen, and exalte my throne aboue beside the starres of God, I wyl syt also vppon the mount of the congregation towarde the north.

14 I wyl climbe vp aboue the cloudes, and wyl be lyke the hyghest of al.

15 Yet thou shalt be brought downe to the deepe of hel, to the sydes of the lake.

16 They that see thee, shall narowly looke vppon thee, and thynke in them selues, saying, Is this the man that brought al landes in feare, & made the kyngdomes afrayd?

17 Is this he that made the worlde in a maner waste, & laid the cities to the ground, whiche let not his pryseners goe out?

18 The kynges of the nations lye euery one in his owne house with worshyp.

19 And thou art cast out of thy graue lyke a fylthie abominable branche, lyke as dead mens rayment that are shot through with the swoorde, & goe downe to the stones of the deepe, as a dead coarse that is troden vnder feete.

20 Thou art not buryed with them, euen because that thou hast wasted thy land, and destroyed thy people: the generation of the wicked shalbe out of memorie for euer.

21 Let there a way be sought to destroy their chyldren that be in their fathers wickednesse, that they come not vp agayne to possesse the lande, and fyl the world ful of enimies.

22 I wyl stand vp agaynst them, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and roote out the name & remnant, sonne, and sonnes sonne, of Babylon, sayth the Lorde.

23 I wyll geue it to the Otters, & wyll make water puddels of it, and I wyl sweepe them out with the besome of destruction, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath swoorne an othe, saying, It shal come to passe as I haue determined, and shalbe fulfylled as I haue deuised.

25 So that the Assyrian shal I destroye in my lande, and vpon my mountaynes wyll I treade him vnder foote, wherethrough his yoke shall come from them, and his burden shalbe taken from their shoulder.

26 This deuice hath God taken throwe the whole worlde, and this his hande is stretched out ouer al people.

27 For yf the Lord of hostes determine a thyng, who is able to disanul it? And yf he stretche foorth his hande, who may turne it agayne?

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

A prophecie agaynst Moab.

THIS is the burden vpon Moab: Ar of Moab was destroyed and ouerthrowen in the nyght season, Kir also in Moab was destroyed and perished in the nyght.

2 Moab went vp to the idolles house, euen to Dibon to the hygh places to weepe: for Neba and Moab shall mourne for Medeba. Al their heades were balde, and al their beardes shauen.

||Iere.48.38 Ezech.7.18. 3 ||In her stretes are they gyrded about with sackcloth: in all the toppes of her houses & streetes shalbe nothyng but mournyng and weepyng.

4 Hesbon and Eleale shall crye, that their voyce shalbe heard vnto Jahaz: and therefore the armed souldiers also of Moab shal bleate out and crye for very sorowe of their myndes.

5 Woe shal my hart be for Moabs sake, they shal flee vnto the citie of Zoar, whiche is lyke a fayre young bullocke of three yeres olde, for they shall all goe vp to Luith weepyng: euen so by the way towarde Horonaim they shall make lamentation for their vtter destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shalbe dried vp, by reason whereof the grasse is withered, the hearbes destroyed, and the greene thynges gone.

7 Therfore the goodes that remayneth in Moab, and the richesse thereof, they shal carrie to the brooke of wyllowes.

8 For the cry went ouer the whole land of Moab, vnto Eglaim, & vnto Beer-Elim was there nothyng but mournyng.

9 Because the waters of Dimon were ful of blood, I wyl adde more vpon Dimon: and Lions vpon the remnant of the land, and on them that are escaped from Moab.

¶ The.xvi. Chapter.

The destruction of Moab.

SEnde the Lorde of the worlde a Lambe from the rocke that lyeth toward the desart, vnto the hyll of the daughter Sion.

2 For as for the daughters of Moab they shalbe as a a tremblyng byrde that is put out of her nest: for they shal carrie them vnto Arnon.

3 Geather your counsayle, come together in iudgement, couer vs with your shadowe in the mydday, as the nyght doth hyde the chased, & bewraye not them that are fled.

4 Let my persecuted people dwell among you, Moab be thou their refuge agaynst the destroyer: for the aduersarie is brought to nought, the robber is vndoone, the tyrant is walked out of the lande.

5 And in mercy shall the seate be prepared, and he shal syt vppon it in the trueth in the tabernacle of David, iudgyng & seekyng iudgement, and makyng haste vnto righteousnesse.

6 We haue heard of the pryde of Moab, he is very proude, presumptuous, arrogant, and full of indignation, and vayne are his lyes.

||Iere.48.29. 7 ||Therefore shal Moab make lamentation, because of the Moabites that shalbe slayne, yea they shal wayle togeather: because of the fundations of the citie that is made of brycke shal ye complayne, euen ye lame people that are left onely behynde.

8 For the vines of Hesbon are cutte downe: as for the vine of Sibma, the lordes of the heathen haue broken downe her principal branches, they are come euen vnto Jazer, they went on wanderyng vnto the wyldernesse, her goodly branches were throwen downe as they went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wyll I mourne for Jazer, and for the vine of Sibma, I wyl powre my teares vppon thee, O Hesbon and Eleale: for the cry of thyne enimies is fallen vppon thy Sommer fruites, and vppon thy haruest.

||Iere.48.33. 10 ||The myrth and cheare is taken away out of the plentifull feelde, and in the vineyardes there shalbe no ioy nor gladnesse: the treader shall treade out no wyne in their pressles, the songue of their mery cheare haue I layde downe.

b. The hypocritious & idolaters haue most trust in one: & in some one place then in another: but all vayne.

11 b Wherefore my bowels shall rumble lyke an Harpe for Moabs sake, & myne inwarde partes for the cities sake that is made of brycke.

c. Not be able through weakenesse, or it shall not profite him.

12 And it shal come to passe, that when it is seene that Moab shalbe made weery of his hyll chappelles, he shall come to his temple to praye, c but he shall not be able.

13 So then, this is the saying that the Lorde hath spoken concernyng Moab since that tyme.

14 But nowe the Lorde hath spoken, saying,

a. The carelesse & obstinate despisers of timely repentance, moued by the preachyng of Gods word, shall repent when it is too late.

saying. In three yeeres, whiche shalbe as the yeeres of an hyred seruant, shal the glory of Moab be turned into contempt throughout all his multitude, whiche is very great: and that whiche remayneth, shalbe very small and feeble.

The .xvii. Chapter.

A prophesie against Damascus.

THis is the burden vpon Damascus: beholde, Damascus is taken away to be no more a citie, but shalbe an heape of broken stones.

2 The waste cities of Aroer shalbe foldes for cattell whiche shal lye there, and there shalbe none to fraye them away.

3 Ephraim also shal no more be strong, & Damascus shal no longer be a kyngdome, and the remnant of Syria shalbe as the glory of the children of Israel, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

4 And in that day it shal come to passe, that the glory of Iacob shalbe made very thinne, and the fatnesse of his flesh shal waxe leane.

5 And he shalbe as one that gathereth vp corne in harueste, euen like him whose arme reapeth the eares of corne: he shalbe also like him that gathereth eares of corne in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Some gathering in deede shal there be left in it, euen as in the shakyng of an Oliue tree there remayne two or three berries in the top of the vppermost bough, and foure or fiue in the brode fruitfull branches therof, sayth the Lorde God of Israel.

7 Then shal man turne agayne to his maker, and his eyes shal haue respect to the holy one of Israel.

8 As for the alters, which are his owne handy worke, he shal not regarde them, and the thinges that his fingers hath made, as graues and images, those shall he not caste his eyes vnto.

9 In that day shall their strong cities be as the forsaken shrubbes and branches, whiche they left because of the children of Israel, and the lande shalbe desolate.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not ben myndful of thy strong rocke: therefore shalt thou set pleasaunt plantes, & shalt graffe the branche of another mans vine.

11 In that day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and early in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to florishe: the harueste shalbe gone in the day of inheritance, and there shalbe sorowe without hope of comfort.

12 Woe, shalbe to the multitude of much people, which shal make a sounde like to the noyse of the sea, and the violence of the nations, which shal rage lyke the rushyng in of many waters.

13 Euen like many waters shal the people rage, God shal rebuke them, and he shall flee farre of, & shalbe chased away like as dye straw vpon the mountaines before the winde, and lyke a thing that turneth before the storme.

14 At euen beholde there is trouble, and or euer it be morning loe it is gone: this is the portion of them that oppresse vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

The .xviii. Chapter.

1. An exortation to the Ethiopians and the countreys nigh adioyning to them. 7. The vocation of the Gentiles.

O That land that trusteth vnder the shadowe of winges, that lande which is beyonde the waters of Ethiopia,

2 Sending messengers by the sea, euen in besselles of reedes ouer the water, Geate you hence ye speedy messengers, to a nation that is scattered abrode, and robbed of that they had, a fearefull people from their beginnyng hytherto, a nation troden downe by lytle and litle, whose lande the floodes haue spoyled.

3 All the inhabitours of the worlde, and indwellers of the earth, looke vp when he setteth vp a token in the mountaynes, & hearken when he bloweth with the trumpe.

4 For so the Lorde sayde vnto me, as for me, I wil take my rest, and loke vpon the matter in my habitations, like a fayre heate after the rayne, and lyke a cloude of dewe in the heate of harueste.

5 For afore the harueste when the branch is growen, there shal come ripe fruite of the floure: & he shal cut downe the increase with sithes, and the branches shal he take away with hookes.

6 Thus shal they be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, & to the beastes of the earth: for in sommer the byrdes shall remayne vpon it, and euery beast of the land shalbe vpon it in winter.

7 In that time shal there a present be brought vnto the Lorde of hostes, euen a people that is scattered abrode and robbed of that they had, that same people which haue ben fearefull from their beginnyng hytherto, a nation troden downe by lytle and litle, whose lande the floodes haue spoyled, to the place of the name of the Lorde of hostes, euen to the mount Sion.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

1. He propheſieth agaynſt Egipt, 18. and the vocation of the Gentiles to Chriſte.

THE burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lorde rideth vpon a ſwift cloude, and ſhal come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt ſhal tremble at the preſence of hym, and the harte of Egypte ſhal quake in the middeſt of her.

2 And I wil ſet the Egyptians one agaynſt another, ſo that one brother ſhal fight agaynſt another, and one neighbour agaynſt another, citie agaynſt citie, and realme agaynſt realme.

3 The mind alſo of Egypt ſhalbe cleane without counſayle within it ſelfe, and the deuice that they take wyl I deſtroye: and they ſhal ſeeke counſayle at idols, and at ſoꝛcerers, at wooꝛkers with ſpirites, and at ſoothſayers.

4 And the Egyptians wyl I geue ouer into the hande of a marueylous cruel lorde, and a mightie kyng ſhal haue dominion ouer them, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes.

5 The waters of the ſea ſhal fayle, and the riuers ſhal decreaſe and be dried vp.

6 The waters ſhalbe drawne out, the riuers of Egypt ſhalbe emptied and dried vp, the reedes and flagges ſhalbe cut downe.

7 The graſſe in the riuer and by the riuers banke, & al that groweth by the riuer, ſhal wither away, & be brought to nought.

8 The fiſhers alſo ſhal mourne, and al they that caſt angle into the water ſhal make lamentation, and they that lay foꝛth theyꝛ net beſide the waters, ſhalbe rooted out.

9 Moꝛeouer, they that wooꝛke in flaxe, and make fine wooꝛks, ſhalbe confounded, and ſo ſhal they that weaue open wooꝛkes.

10 Foꝛ their open wooꝛkes ſhal euen be deſtroyed, and al they that make pondes and ſlues foꝛ fiſhe, ſhal come to nought.

11 But you fooliſhe princes of Zoan, ye wiſe counſellers of Pharao, whoſe wit is turned to fooliſhneſſe, howe ſay ye vnto Pharao, I am come of wiſe men, and of auncient kinges?

12 Where are thy wiſe men? Let them tel thee if they can, what the Lorde of hoſtes hath deuiſed vpon Egypt.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles, the princes of Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen they that were taken foꝛ the chiefe ſtay thereof.

14 In the middeſt of it hath the Lorde powred the ſpirite of wickednes: and they haue deceiued Egypt in euery wooꝛke thereof, euen as a dronken man ſtaggereth in his vomite.

15 Neyther ſhal the a head oꝛ tayle, the branche oꝛ reede, be able to do any wooꝛke in Egypt.

16 In that day ſhal Egypt be lyke vnto women: it ſhalbe afrayde and ſtand in feare at the motion of the hande of the Lorde of hoſtes, which he ſhaketh ouer it.

17 And Egypt ſhalbe afraid of the land of Iude: ſo that euery one that maketh mention of it ſhalbe afrayd thereat, becauſe of the counſayle of the Lorde of hoſtes which he deuiſed foꝛ it.

18 In that day ſhall fyue cities in the lande of Egypt ſpeake the language of Chanaan, and ſweare by the Lorde of hoſtes: the citie of deſolation ſhalbe called one of them.

19 In that day ſhall the aulter of the Lord be in the middeſt of the land of Egypt, and this title beſide it, Vnto the Lorde.

20 And it ſhalbe a token and a wytneſſe vnto the Lorde of hoſtes in the lande of Egypt: foꝛ they ſhal crye vnto the Lorde, becauſe of ſuche as trouble them, and he ſhall ſende them a ſauiour and a great man to deliuer them.

21 And the Lorde ſhalbe knowen in Egypt, and the Egyptians ſhall knowe the Lord in that day, and do ſacrifice and oblation, yea they ſhal vow a vowe vnto the Lorde, and perfourme it.

22 The Lorde alſo ſhall ſmyte Egypt ſoꝛe, and heale them agayne: and they ſhalbe conuerted vnto the Lorde, and he ſhalbe entreated of them, and ſhal heale them.

23 In that day ſhal there be a common way out of Egypt into Aſſyria, and Aſſyria ſhal come into Egypt, and Egypt into Aſſyria: ſo that the Egyptians and the Aſſyrians ſhal ſerue the Lorde togeather.

24 In that day ſhal the nation of Iſrael be the thirde with Egypt and Aſſyria: and they ſhalbe bleſſed in the middeſt of the lande, 25 Whiche lande the Lorde of hoſtes hath bleſſed, ſaying, Bleſſed is my people of Egypt, Aſſur alſo is the wooꝛke of my hands, and Iſrael is mine inheritance.

a. By the head and branch are meant the honourable and cheefeſt of the lande: by the taile and reede, the multitude and lower ſort of people.

¶ The. xx. Chapter.

Agaynſt Egipt and Ethiopia.

IN the yeere that Tharthan came vnto Aſdod, when Sargon the kyng of Aſſyria had ſent hym, and had fought againſt Aſdod, and taken it:

2 At the ſame time ſpake the Lorde by the hande of Eſai the ſonne of Amos, ſaying, Goe & take of the ſackcloth from thy loynes, and put of thy ſhoe from thy foote. And he did ſo, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And

3 And the Lorde sayde, Like as my seruant Esai hath walked naked and barefoote, for a signe and woonder three yeeres vppon
Egypt and Ethiopia:

4 Euen so shal the kyng of Assyria take away out of Egypt and Ethiopia chyldren and olde men naked and barefoote, with theyr loynes vncouered, to the great shame of Egypt.

5 They shalbe brought in feare also, and be ashamed of Ethiopia theyr hope, and of Egypt, wherein they are woont to glory.

6 And they that dwel in the same Ile shal say in that day, Beholde, such is our hope, whyther shal we flee for helpe, that we may be deliuered from the kyng of Assyria?
and howe shal we escape?

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

Againſt Babylon, Idumea, and Arabia.

a. The wast sea is Babylon or Chaldee.

THe burden of the a wast sea. Euen as the stormie weather passeth through at the noone day from the wildernesse, so shal it come from the terrible lande.

2 A greeuous vision was shewed vnto me: let one deceytful offendour come againſt another, and one destroyer againſt another:
vp Elam, lay siege thou of Midia, al theyr groning haue I layde downe.

3 Therefore are my loynes filled with sorowe, heauinesse hath taken hold vpon me, as the panges of a woman that is trauay-lyng: it made me stoupe when I hearde it, and it vexed me when I sawe it.

4 My hart panted, fearefulnesse came vppon me: the night of my voluptuousnesse hath he turned againſt me into feare.

5 Whyle they garnished the table, the watchman looked: and while I was eating and drinking, it was said, Vp ye captaynes, take you to your shielde.

6 For thus hath the Lorde sayde vnto me, Goe and set a watchman to tell what he seeth.

7 And he sawe a charret whiche two horsemen sate vpon, with the carriage of an asse, and the carriage of a cammel: so he looked, and tooke diligent heede.

Psalm. 2. 1. 8 ||And he cryed, A Lion, my Lorde, I stand continually vpon the watche towre in the day tyme, and am appoynted to keepe my watche euery nyght.

9 And beholde, here commeth a charet of men, with two horsemen, and he answea-red and sayde, ||Babylon is fallen, it is fallen, and al the images of her goddes hath he smitten downe vnto the grounde.

Iere. 51. 8. Apoc. 14. 8.

10 Thou art he whom I must threshe, and thou belongest to my corne floore: this that I hearde of the Lorde of hostes the GOD of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 The burden of Duma. He calleth to me out of Seir: Watchman what hast thou espied by nyght, watchman what hast thou espied by nyght?

12 The watchman sayde, The mornyng commeth, and so doth the nyght: if ye wyl aske me any question, then aske it, returne and come agayne.

13 The burden concernyng Arabia. In the woods of Arabia shall ye tary al nyght, euen in the streetes of Dedanim.

14 The inhabitours of the land of The-ma brought foorth water to hym that was thirstie, they preuented hym that was fledde away with theyr bread.

15 For because of swoordes they are become fugitiue, euen for the drawen swoord, and for the bent bowe, and because of the greeuousnesse of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lorde sayde vnto me, There is yet a yeere, according to the yeeres of an hyred seruant, and al the glory of Cedar shal fayle.

17 And the number of them that shal escape from the bowes, shalbe minished by the mightie chyldren of Cedar: for the Lord
God of Israel hath spoken it.

¶ The. xxii. Chapter.

A prophecie againſt Hierusalem.

THe burden of the a valleye of vision.
What hast thou to doo heere, that thou clymest to the house toppes?

a. Hierusalem is ment by the valley of vision.

2 Thou that art ful of tumultuousnesse, thou troublesome and proud citie: thy slaine men are neyther put to death with the swoorde, nor dead in battayle.

3 Al thy captiues are fugitiue togeather, the archers haue taken them prisoners:
al they I saye that are founde in thee, are in captiuitie togeather, and they also that fled farre of.

4 Therfore sayde I, Let me alone, and I wyll make lamentation: ye shall not be able to comfort me, because of the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For this is a day of trouble, of ruyne, and of destruction, that the Lorde the God of hostes wyll bryng to passe in the valley of vision, breakyng downe the citie, and crying vnto mountaynes.

6 Elam bare the quyuer with a charret of footemen and horsemen, and the citie of Cir shewed the shielde open.

7 The cheefe valleye also was full of charrets, and the horsemen set theyr faces directly towarde the gate.

8 And in that day dyd the enimie take away the couer of Juda, and then didst thou looke towarde the b armour of the house of the forrest.

b. The armourie that Solomon made and furnished with munition. 1.kyng.7

9 Ye haue seene also the broken places of the citie of Dauid, how that they are many, and ye gathered togeather the waters of the lower poole.

10 As for the houses of Hierusalem, ye haue numbred them, and the houses haue ye broken downe, to make the wal strong.

11 A pit also haue ye made betweene the two walles for the waters of the olde poole, c and haue not regarded the maker thereof, neyther had respect vnto hym that fashioned it long agoe.

c. The Lord doth not forbyd to make prouision of sure defence agaynst the enimies, so that our trust bee put in hym, and not in our forteresses and strong holdes. ‖1.Co.15.12

12 And in that day dyd the Lorde God of hostes call men vnto weepyng and mourning, to baldnesse and gyrdyng about with sackecloth.

13 And behold, they haue ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen, and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine: ‖ let vs eate and drinke, for to morowe we shal dye.

14 And it came to the eares of the Lorde of hostes, This iniquitie shal not be purged from you till ye die, saith the Lorde God of hostes.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Goe ye vnto pouder treasurer, euen vnto Sebna, which is the ruler of the house.

16 What hast thou to doo heare? and whom hast thou heare? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as it were one that heweth him out a sepulchre on high, or that graueth an habitation for him selfe on an harde rocke?

17 Beholde, O thou man, the Lord shal cary thee away into captiuitie, and shal surely couer thee with confusion.

18 The Lorde shal turne thee ouer like a ball with his handes and shal sende thee into a farre countrey: there shalt thou die, and there in stede of the charrets of thy pompe, shal the house of the Lorde haue confusion.

19 I will driue thee from thy place, and out of thy dwelling shal he ouerthrowe thee.

20 And in that day shall I call my seruant Eliacim the sonne of Helcia:

21 And with thy garmentes will I clothe him, and with thy girdle wyll I strengthen him: thy power also wyll I commit into his hande, and he shalbe a father of such as dwel in Hierusalem, and in the house of Iuda.

‖Iob.12.14. ¶ apoc.3.7.

22 ‖ And the key of the house of Dauid wyll I lay vpon his shoulder: so that he shal open, and no man shut, he shal shut, and no man open.

23 And I wyll fasten him as a nayle in a sure place, and he shalbe the glorious seate of his fathers house.

24 Moreouer, all generations and posterities shall hang vpon him all the glory of their fathers house, al vessels both great and small, and al instrumentes of measure and musicke.

25 In that day, saith the Lorde of hostes, shal the nayle that is fastened in the sure place, depart and be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpon it shalbe pluckt away, for so the Lorde hath spoken.

¶ The xxiii. Chapter.

1. A propheſie againſt Tyrus, 17. and a promiſe that it ſhalbe reſtored againe.

THe burden of Tyre. Mourne ye shippes of Tharsis, for there commeth suche destruction, that ye shall not haue an house to enter into, and that there shalbe no trafficke out of the lande of Citim, they haue knowledge of this plague.

2 Be still ye that dwell in the Ile, the marchantes of Sidon, & suche as passe ouer the sea, haue made thee plentyous.

3 The corne that groweth by the great waters of Nilus, & the fruites of the riuer, were her victualles, so that it became a common mart of nations.

4 Be ashamed thou Sidon: for the a sea, euen the strength of the sea, hath spoken, saying, I haue not trauayled nor brought foorth children, nor nourished vp young men, or brought vp virgins.

a. By the sea & the strength of the sea is meant Tyrus.

5 When tydynges commeth to the Egyptians, they shalbe sorie for the rumour of Tyre.

6 Goe you to Tharsis, mourne you that dwel in the Ile.

7 Is not this that glorious citie of yours, whiche hath ben of olde antiquitie? her owne feete shall carye her foorth, to be a sojourner into a farre countrey.

8 Who hath deuised this against Tyre that b crowneth her selfe? whose marchantes are princes, and whose factours are honourable in the worlde.

b. That crowneth her selfe, that is, whiche boasteth her selfe to be as it were the Quene of all cities on the sea coastes.

9 Euen the Lorde of hostes hath deuised this, to put downe the pryde of all suche as be glorious, and to minishe al them that be honde vpon the earth.

10 Goe thee out of thy lande lyke a flood vnto the daughter of Tharsis, for thou hast no more strength.

11 He that smote the kyngdomes together, hath cast out his hand ouer the sea: euen the Lord him selfe hath geuen a commaundement benient against the same common place of marchandise, that they shal vtterly destroy the myght thereof.

12 And he sayd, Make no more thy boast, O virgin, thou daughter Sidon, thou shalt be brought downe: vp, goat thee ouer vnto Cittim, where neuertheless thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Beholde, this people came not of the Chaldees, but Assur made them strong with great shippes: they set vp the strong holdes thereof, and destroyed his palaces: and he brought it in decay.

14 Mourne ye shippes of Tharsis, for your strength is brought downe.

15 And in that day shal Tyre be forgotten seuentie yeeres, according to the yeeres of one kyng, & after the ende of seuentie yeeres shal Tyre sing as doth an harlot.

16 Take an Harpe, and goe about the citie, thou harlot that hast ben forgotten, make sweete melodie, sing mo songes, that thou mayest be had in remembrance.

17 And after the ende of the seuentie yeeres, shal the Lorde visite Tyre, and she shal conuert vnto her reward, and shal commit fornication with al the kingdomes of the earth that are in the worlde.

18 Their occupying also and their reward shalbe holy vnto the Lorde: their gaynes shal not be layde vp nor kept in store, but it shalbe theirs that dwel before the Lorde, that they may eate enough, and haue clothing sufficient.

¶ The. xxiiii. Chapter.

A prophesie of tribulation to come vpon the worlde, because of sinne.

BEholde, the Lorde maketh the earth waste and emptie, he turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abrode the inhabitours thereof.

‖Deut.4.9. 2 ‖And the priest shalbe as the people, and the maister as the seruant, the maistresse like the mayde, the seller lyke the byer, he that lendeth vpon vsurie, like him that borroweth vpon vsurie, the creditour as the debtour.

3 The land shalbe cleane walled, & vtterly spoyled: for so the Lorde hath spoken.

4 The earth is sory & consumeth away, the worlde is feeble & perisheth, the proude people of the earth are come to nought.

5 The earth also is become vnpossible vnder the inhabitours thereof, whiche haue transgressed the lawes, chaunged the ordinaunce, broken the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the curse consumed the earth, and they that dwel therein are fallen into twispalte: Therefore the inhabiters of the earth are perished with drought, and fewe men are left behinde.

7 The wine fayleth, the vine hath no might, al they that haue ben merry of hart are come to mourning.

8 The myrth of tabrets is laide downe, the noyse of such as haue made merry is ceassed, the ioy at the harpe is at an ende.

9 They shal drinke no more wine with myrth, strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of vanitie is broken downe, euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 In the streetes is there a crying, because of wine, al cheare is vanished away, the myrth of the lande is gone.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 For in the middes of the lande, euen among the people, it shall come to passe as at the shaking of Olines, and as the grapes are when the wine haruest is doone.

14 They shall lyft vp their voyce, and make a merry noise, and in magnifying of the Lorde shal they crye out of the west.

15 Wherefore prayse ye the Lord in the valleys, euen the name of the Lorde God of Israel in the Iles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth haue we heard prayses and myrth, because of the righteous: and I said, I know a thing in secrete, I knowe a thing in secrete, woe is me: the transgressours haue offended, the transgressours haue greeuously offended.

17 Fearefulnesse, the pyt, and the snare are vpon thee, O thou that dwellest on the earth.

18 ‖It wyl come to passe, that whosoeuer escapeth the fearefull noyse, shal fall into the pyt, and he that commeth vp out of the pyt, shalbe taken with the snare: for the windowes from an high are open, and the foundations of the earth are moued. ‖Jere.48.44

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe, the earth hath a sore ruine, the earth quaketh exceedyngly.

20 The earth shal reele to and fro lyke a drunkard, and shalbe remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie therof shalbe heauie vpon it, it shal fal, and not rise vp agayne.

21 And in that day shal the Lorde visite the host aboue that is on high, and the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shalbe gathered together as they that be in prison, and they shalbe shut vp inwarde, and after many dayes shal they be visited.

23 The moone shalbe abashed, and the ſunne aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſtes ſhal raigne in mount Sion and in Hieruſalem with worſhip, and in the ſyght of ſuche as ſhalbe of his counſel.

¶ The.xxv. Chapter.

A thankeſgeuing to God for his woorkes.

THou art my Lorde my God, I wil magnifie thee, I wil geue thankes vnto thy name, for thou haſt brought wonderfull thinges to paſſe, accordyng to thine olde counſel, truely and faythfully.

2 Thou haſt made a citie an heape of ſtones, and brought a ſtrong towne into decay: the habitation of ſtrangers haſt thou made to be no citie, neither ſhal it be builded any more.

3 Therfore ſhal the mightie people geue glory vnto thee, the citie of the valiant heathen ſhal feare thee.

4 For thou haſt ben a ſtrength vnto the poore, and a ſuccour for the needie in his trouble, a refuge agaynſt euil weather, a ſhadow agaynſt the heat: for the blaſt of raging men is lyke a ſtorme that caſteth downe a wall.

5 Like as the heate in a dry place waſteth al thinges: ſo ſhalt thou ſuppreſſe the noyſe of aliantes, the heate is abated with the ſhadowe of the cloude, euen ſo ſhal God aſſwage the noyſe of the cruel tyrantes.

6 And in this mountayne ſhal the Lord of hoſtes make vnto al people a feaſt of plenteous and delicate thinges, euen of moſte pleaſant and dayntie diſhes.

7 And in this mountayne ſhal the Lorde deſtroy the couering that al people are wrapped in, and the hanging that is ſpread vpon al nations.

8 As for death he hath deſtroyed it for euer, and the ‖ Lorde God ſhall wype away teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people ſhal he take away out of al the earth, for ſo the Lorde hath ſayde.

‖ Apoc. 7.17. and.21.4.

9 And in that day it ſhalbe ſayde, Loe this is our God, we haue waited for hym, and he ſhal ſaue vs, this is the Lord in whom we haue hoped, we wyl be merry, and reioyce in the ſaluation that commeth of hym.

10 For in this mountayne ſhal the hand of the Lord ceaſſe, and Moab ſhalbe threſhed vnder him, euen as ſtrawe is troden to donge on the dounghyl.

11 And he ſhal ſtretche out his hande in the myddes of them, as he that ſwymmeth caſteth out his handes to ſwymme: and with the ſtrength of his handes ſhall he bryng downe their pryde, 12 The ſtrong holde alſo and defence of thy walles hath he ouerthrowen and caſt downe, and brought them to the grounde, euen vnto duſt.

¶ The. xxvi. Chapter.

A ſong of deliuerance of the people.

IN that day ſhal this ſong be ſong in the lande of Juda, We haue a ſtrong citie, ſaluation ſhal God appoynt in ſteade of walles and bulwarkes.

2 Open ye the gates, that the righteous people which keepeth the trueth may enter in.

3 By an aſſured purpoſe wilt thou preſerue perfect peace, becauſe they put their truſt in thee.

4 Put ye your truſt alway in the Lorde for in the lord God there is ſtrength for euermore.

5 For he hath brought downe the high minded citizens: as for the proude citie he hath brought it lowe, euen to the grounde ſhal he caſt it downe, and bring it vnto duſt.

6 The foote, euen the foote of the poore, and the ſteppes of ſuch as be in neceſſitie ſhal treade it downe.

7 The path of equitie wylt thou graunt vnto the iuſt, O thou moſt righteous, thou ſhalt order the path of hym that is righteous.

8 Yea in the way of thy iudgementes, O lord, haue we put our truſt in thee: thy name alſo & the remembrance of thee, is the thing that our ſoule longeth for.

9 My ſoule hath longed for thee al the night, and with my ſpirite which is within me wil I ſeeke thee early in the morning: for when thy iudgementes are in the earth, the inhabitours of the worlde ſhall learne righteouſneſſe.

10 Shall the vngodly man be fauoured, whiche hath not learned righteouſneſſe, but doth wickedly in the earth, where no thyng ought to be doone but that whiche is righteous: he ſhal not ſee the glory of the Lorde.

11 Lorde, when thy hande is lyfte vp to ſtrike, they ſee it not, but they ſhal ſee it, and be confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fyre that conſumeth thyne enimies ſhal deuoure them.

12 Lorde vnto vs thou ſhalt promise peace: for thou alſo haſt wrought al our woorkes in vs.

13 O Lord our God, other lords beſides thee haue had dominion vs: but we wyl be mynde ful only of thee, and of thy name.

14 The dead wyl not lyue, they that be out of lyfe wyl not riſe agayne, therefore haſt thou thou vtterly and rooted them out, and destroyed all the memorie of them.

15 Thou hast increased the people, O Lorde, thou hast increased the people, thou art glorious, thou hast sent them farre of vnto all the coastes of the earth.

16 Lorde, in trouble haue they visited thee, they powred out their prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe that draweth nygh towardes her trauayle, is sory and cryeth in her paines: euen so haue we ben in thy syght, O Lorde.

18 We haue ben with childe and suffered payne, as though we had brought forth winde: for there is no saluation in the earth, neither doo the inhabiters of the worlde submit them selues.

19 Thy dead men shal lyue, euen as my body shal they ryse agayne: awake and syng ye that dwel in dust, for thy deawe is euen as the deawe of herbes, and the earth shal cast out them that be vnder her.

20 Come my people, enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores about thee, hyde thee selfe for a litle while, vntyl the indignation be ouerpast.

Miche. 1. 3. 21 ‖ For beholde, the Lord is comming out of his place, to visite the wickednesse of such as dwel vpon earth: the earth also shall disclose her bloodes, and shal no more hyde them that are slayne in her.

¶ The. xxvii. Chapter.

A prophesie of the comming of Christe, and destruction of idolatrie.

IN that day the Lord with his sore, great, and mightie swoorde, shal visite a Leuiathan the fugitiue serpent, euen Leviathan that crooked serpent, and he shal slay the dragon that is in the sea.

a By Leuiathan the greatest of fishes in the sea, is ment the kingdome of Satan, and the mightie tyrantes of the world, enimies to Christ, and persecutours of his religion.

2 In the day se that ye syng of the congregation, whiche is the vineyard that beareth fourth the best wine:

3 Euen I the Lord doo keepe it, in due seasons shal I water it: and lest the enimie doo it any harme, I wyl both nyght and day preserue it.

4 There is no displeasure in me, els when the vineyard bringeth me forth briers and thornes, I would goe through it by warre, and burne it vp together.

b God calleth his woorde his strength, because thereby he winneth men, and bindeth them vnto him selfe.

5 Let it take hold of my b strength, and it shalbe at one with me, euen at one shal it be with me.

6 The dayes are comming that Jacob shal take roote, Israel shalbe greene and florishe, and the world shalbe filled with fruite.

7 Hath he smitten hym as sore as he dyd the other that smote hym? Or is he slayne with so soare a slaughter as they that slue hym?

8 Thou wylt punish it in the branches, yet not beyonde measure: for in the day that the east wynde bloweth sore, it taketh away the fruites.

9 By this meanes therefore shal the iniquitie of Jacob be purged, and this is al the fruite namely the c takyng away of his sinne, if he make al the stones of the aulter of idols, as chalke stones that are beaten in sunder, that theyr groues and images ryse not vp agayne.

c. God vseth afflictions, as meanes to call men to repentance, wherevpon foloweth forgeuenesse of sinnes.

10 Els shal the strong citie be desolate, and the habitation forsaken and left lyke a wyldernesse: there shal the Calfe feede, and there shal he lye, and eate vp the graffes thereof.

11 When the branches of it are drye, they are broken of, and the women come and set them on fyre: for it is a people of no vnderstanding, and therfore he that made them, shall not fauour them, and he that created them, shal geue them no grace.

12 And in that day shal the Lord make a threshing from the middes of the riuer Euphrates, vnto the ryuer of Egypt, and ye children of Israel shalbe geathered togeather one to another.

13 In that day shal the great trumpe be blowen, so that they whiche were lost in the lande of Assyria, and they that were banished in the lande of Egypt, shal come and woorshyp the Lorde in the holye mount of Hierusalem.

¶ The. xxviii. Chapter.

1. Against the pride of Ephraim, 9. and against false preastes and preachers.

WO be vnto the crowne of pryde, euen vnto the drunken people of Ephraim, whose great pompe is as a floure that fadeth away vpon the head of the valley of suche as be in wealth, and are ouerlayen with wyne.

2 Beholde, there commeth a vehement and sore nay from the Lorde, lyke an vnmeasurable hayle and perillous tempest, euen lyke the force of mighty and horrible waters that violently beareth downe al thynges.

3 The crowne of the pryde of the drunken Ephraimites shalbe troden vnder foote.

4 So that the floure of his fatnesse and beautie, whiche is in the head of the valley of fatnesse, shal fade away as sooth an vntymely rype fygge before harueste: whiche when a man espieth, he looketh vpon it, and whyle it is yet in his hande he eateth it vp.

5 In that day ſhal the Lorde of hoſtes be the crowne of glory & diamonde of beautie vnto the reſidue of his people.

6 He will be alſo a ſpirit of perfect knowledge to him that ſitteth in iudgement, and ſtrength vnto them that turne awaye the battell to the gate of the enimies.

7 But they are out of the way by reaſon of wyne, yea farre out of the waye are they thorowe ſtrong drinke: the prieſt alſo and the prophete are gone aſtray by the meanes of ſtrong drinke, they are dronken with wine, they goe amiſſe through ſtrong drinke, they fayle in prophelying, and ſtumble in iudgement.

8 For al tables are full of vomit and fylthyneſſe, that no place is cleane.

9 Whom then ſhal ſuch one teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to vnderſtande the thing that he heareth? for they are as ignorant as young children that are taken from the milke, and are weaned.

10 For they that be ſuch, muſt take after one leſſon, another leſſon, after one commaundement, another commaundement, for one rule, another rule, after one inſtruction, another inſtruction, there a litle, and there a litle.

11 ‖For he that ſpeaketh vnto this people, is euen as one that vſeth rudeneſſe of ſpeache, and a ſtraunge language. ‖1. Cor. 14. 21

12 If any man ſay vnto them, Loe, this is the reſt wherewith ye may eaſe him that is weery, this is the refreſhing: they wil not hearken.

13 Therefore ſhall the woorde of the Lorde be vnto them leſſon vpon leſſon, commaundement vpon commaundement, rule vpon rule, inſtruction vpon inſtructiō, there a litle, and there a litle: that they may goe on, and fall backwarde, be bruiſed, tangled, and ſnared.

‖Mat. 21. 4.

14 Therefore heare the woorde of the Lorde ye mockers, ye that haue rule of this people which is at Hieruſalem.

a. Who ſo through fayth dooth ſtay hym ſelfe vpon Chriſt, in haſty goyng forward, ſhal not fal: that is, ſhal not fayle of that he hopeth to obtaine.

15 Becauſe ye haue ſaid, We haue made a couenant with death, and with hel are we at agreement: and though there goe forth a ſore plague, it ſhal not come vnto vs, for we haue made falſehood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hyd.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, ‖Beholde, I lay in Sion for a fundation a ſtone, euen a tryed ſtone, a pretious corner ſtone, a ſure fundation: who ſo beleeueth, let hym not be to a haſtie.

b. The Goſpel is compared to haile and flood, des. for that it breketh downe and carieth a way idolatrie & ſuperſtition, wherein men do truſt in vayne.

17 Iudgement alſo wyl I lay to the rule, and righteouſnes to the ballance, ſo that the b hayle ſhall sweepe away as a broome your vayne confydence, and the pryuie place of your refuge ſhall the waters runne ouer.

18 And thus the couenant that ye make with death, ſhalbe diſannulled, & your agreement that ye made with hel, ſhal not ſtande, yea when the ſore plague goeth forth, ye ſhalbe troden downe vnder it.

19 From the time that it goeth forth, it ſhal take you away: for early in the morning euery day, yea both day and night, ſhal it goe through, and when the noyſe thereof is perceyued, it ſhal gender veration.

20 For the bed is narow, and not large, and the couering ſo ſmal, that a man can not wynde hym ſelfe vnder it.

21 ‖For the Lord ſhal ſtand as in mount Perazim, and ſhalbe wroth lyke as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may doo his worke, his ſtrange woorke, and bring to paſſe his acte, his ſtrange acte. ‖1. Re. 5. 20. 1. Chr. 24. 11 Ioſ. 10. 12.

22 Nowe therfore ſee that ye be no mockers, leſt your punihment encreaſe: for I heard of the Lorde of hoſtes, that there ſhal come a ſhort ende vpon the whole earth.

23 Heare ye then, and hearken vnto my voyce, conſyder and ponder my ſpeache.

24 Doth not the huſbandman plowe al the day, and openeth and breaketh the clots of his grounde, that he may ſowe?

25 When he hath made it playne, wyl he not ſpreade abroade the fitches, and ſowe commin, and caſt in wheate by meaſure, and the appoynted barlye and rye in theyr place?

26 God wyl inſtruct hym to haue diſcretion, euen his God wyl teache hym.

27 For fitches ſhal not be threaſhed with an harowe, neyther ſhal a cart wheele be brought through the commin: but the fitches are beaten out with a ſtaffe, and commin with a rodde.

28 But the ſeede that breed is made of is threaſhed, though it be not alway a threaſhyng, and the carte wheele muſt be brought ouer it, leſt he grynde it with his teeth.

‖Mat. 15. 8. Mar. 7. 6.

29 This alſo commeth of the Lorde of hoſtes, whiche woorketh with woonderful wyſedome, and bringeth excellent woorkes to paſſe.

¶ The. xxix. Chapter.

1. A propheſie againſt Hieruſalem, and againſt the vayne traditions of men.

WOe vnto thee, O Ariel, Ariel, thou citie that Dauid dwelt in: Goe on from yeere to yeere, & let the lambes be ſlayne.

2 I wyl laye ſiege vnto Ariel, ſo that there ſhalbe heauines and ſorowe in it: and it ſhalbe shalbe vnto me euen an aulter of slaughter.

‖1. Cor. 1. 19.

3 I wyl besiege thee rounde about, and wyl syght against thee through a bulwarke, and wyl reare vp ditches against thee.

4 Thou shalt be brought downe, and shalt speake out of the ground, & thy speache shal goe lowe out of the dust:

5 Thy voyce also shall come out of the grounde, like the voyce of a witche, and thy talkyng shal whysper out of the dust.

6 Moreouer, the noyse of the strange enimies shalbe lyke thinne dust, and the multitude of tyrantes shalbe as drye strawe that cannot tarry: euen sodainely and in halte shal their blast goe.

7 Thou shalt be visited of the Lorde of hostes, with thunder, earthquake, and with a great noyse, with storme and tempest, and with the flambe of a consumyng fyre.

8 And the multitude of all nations that sight against Ariel, shalbe as a meame scene by night: euen so shall they be that make warre against it, and strong holdes to ouercome it, and that laye any siege vnto it.

9 In conclusion, it shalbe euen as when an hungry man dreameth that he is eatyng, and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie, or as when a thirstie man dreemeth that he is drinkyng, when he awaketh he is yet faynt, and his soule hath appetite: euen so shal the multitude of al nations be that sighteth against mount Sion.

10 Ponder these thinges once in your mindes, and wonder: Blinded are they themselues, and the blynde guydes of other, they are dronken, but not with wyne: they are vnstable, but not through strong drinke, 11 For the Lord hath couered you with a slumbryng spirite, and hath closed your eyes: your prophetes also and rulers that should see, them hath he couered.

12 And the vision of al the prophetes, is become vnto you as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, whiche men deliuer to one that is learned, saying, Reade thou in it: and he sayth, I can not, for it is sealed.

13 And the booke is geuen to hym that is not learned, saying, Reade thou in it: and he sayth, I am not learned.

14 Therefore thus hath the Lord said, ‖ For as much as this people, when they be in trouble, doo honour me with theyr mouth, and with theyr lippes, but theyr hart is farre from me, and the feare which they haue vnto me, proceedeth of a commaundement that is taught of men:

15 Therefore wyll I doo marueyles among this people, euen marueylous thinges I say and a wonder: ‖ for the wisedome of theyr wyse men shal perishe, and the vnderstandyng of theyr wytty men shall hyde it selfe.

16 ‖ Woe vnto them that keepe secrete their thoughtes, to hide theyr counsaile from the Lorde, and to doo their woorkes in darkenesse, saying, ‖ Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

17 Doubtlesse your destruction is in reputation as the Potters claye: and doth the woorke say of him that made it, He made not me? And dooth an earthen vessel saye of hym that fashioned it, He had no vnderstandyng?

18 Is it not harde at hande that Libanus shalbe turned into a lowe feelde, and that the lowe feelde shalbe taken as the woode?

19 And in that day shal deafe men heare the woordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shal see euen out of the cloude, and out of darkenesse.

20 The meeke spirited also shalbe merry in the Lorde, and the poore among them that be lowly shal reioyce in the holy one of Israel:

21 For he that vsa violence is brought to nought, and the scorneful man is cõsumed, and they rooted out that made haste earely to vnrighteousnesse,

22 Making a man to sinne in the woord, and that tooke him in a snare, whiche reproued them in the open place, and they that haue turned the cause of the righteous to nought.

23 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde to the house of Iacob, euen thus sayth he that redeemed Abraham, Iacob shal not nowe be confounded, nor his face pale.

24 But when he seeth his children the woorke of my handes in the middes of hym, they shal sanctifie my name, and praise the holy one of Iacob, and feare the GOD of Israel.

25 They also that haue been of an erronious spirite, shal come to vnderstandyng, & they that haue ben scorneful, shal learne doctrine.

¶ The. xxx. Chapter.

1. Against them that forsake the counsayle of GOD, and cleaue to the counsayle of men.
3. The prophete also threatneth the remnant of the people, that after the destruction of Hierusalem went into Egypt.

ALas for those vnobedient children, saith the Lorde, that they wyll take counsaile, and not of me, that they wyll take a secrete aduise, and not out of my spirite, and therefore adde they synne vnto sinne.

‖ Eccl. 23. 19

2 Euen they that walke to goe downe into Egypt, & haue aſked no queſtion at my mouth, but ſeeke ſtrength in the might of Pharao, and truſt in the ſhadowe of Egypt.

3 Therefore ſhal the ſtrength of Pharao be your confuſion, and the truſt in the ſhadowe of Egypt your ſhame.

4 For his captaines were at Zoan, and his embaſſadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They were aſhamed of the people that couldе doo them no good, and that might not helpe them, nor ſhewe them any profite, but were their confuſion and rebuke.

6 The burden of the beaſtes of the South. In a lande of trouble and anguiſhe, from whence ſhall come the young and olde Lion, the Aſper, and fierce ſerpent, that fleeth againſt them that vpon coltes beare their riches, and vpon Camels their treaſures, to a people that can doo them no good.

7 For vayne and nothing worth ſhall the helpe of the Egyptians beſides haue I cried vnto Hieruſalem, they ſhall haue ſtrength enough, if they will ſettle their mindes in quietneſſe.

8 Nowe therefore goe thy way, and write this before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may finally remayne and be kept ſtyl for euer.

9 For this is an obſtinate people, and diſſembling children, children that refuſe to heare the lawe of the Lorde.

10 For they ſay vnto the ſeers, See not: and to them that be cleare of iudgement, Looke not out right things for vs: but ſpeake fayre woordes vnto vs, looke out errours, 11 Geat you out of this way, depart out of this path, and turne the holy one of Iſrael from vs.

12 Wherfore thus ſaith the holy one of Iſrael, Becauſe your harts riſe againſt this woorde, and becauſe you truſt in wrong dealing, and peruerſe iudgement, and put your confydence therein:

13 Therefore ſhal ye haue this miſchefe for your deſtruction and fal, like as an high wal that falleth becauſe of ſome rift or blaſt, whoſe breakyng commeth ſodaynely.

14 And the hurte thereof is lyke an earthen veſſel which breaketh without helpe, ſo that in the burſtyng of it, there is not founde one ſheuer to fetche fiere in, or to take water withal out of the pyt.

15 For thus ſayth the Lorde God, euen the holy one of Iſrael, In repentance, and in reſt ſhal ye be ſafe, in quietneſſe and ſure confydence ſhalbe your ſtrength, but ye haue had no luſt thereto.

16 For ye haue ſayde, No, but we wyl eſcape through horſes, therefore ſhall ye flee, and we wyll geat vs vp vppon ſwyft beaſtes, and therefore ſhal your perſecutours be ſwifter.

17 A thouſand ſhal flee at the rebuke of one, & at the rebuke of fyue, ſhal ye al flee, tyl ye be left as a ſhyp maſte vppon the toppe of a mountayne, and as a beakon vppon an hyll.

18 Therefore dooth the Lorde cauſe you to wayte, that he may haue mercy vppon you, to the intent that he may haue the preheminence when he is gratious vnto you: for the Lorde is the GOD of iudgement, Bleſſed are al they that hope in hym.

19 If the people remayne in Sion, and at Hieruſalem, thou ſhalt not be in heauineſſe: but at the voyce of thy complaint ſhall he haue mercy vppon thee, and when he heareth it, he ſhall gene thee an anſweare.

20 And though the Lorde gene you the bread of trouble, and the water of anneritie, thy rayne ſhalbe no more ſo ſcant, but thyne eyes ſhal ſee thy rayne, 21 Yea, and thine eare ſhal heare the talking of hym that dooth ſpeake behind thee: This is the way, walke ye in it, turne not aſyde neyther to the right hande, nor to the leaſt.

22 Ye ſhal deſtroy alſo the couering of your ſyluer images, and the decking of your golden Idolles, euē as fylthineſſe ſhalt thou put them away, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto it, Geat thee hence.

23 Then ſhall God gene rayne vnto thy ſeede that thou ſhalt ſow the ground withal, and bread of the encreaſe of the earth, which ſhalbe fat and very plenteous: in that day alſo ſhal thy cattayle be fedde in large paſtures.

24 The Oxen likewiſe, and the yonng aſſes that eare the grounde, ſhall eate cleane prouender, whiche is purged with the winde and the fanne.

25 Finally, vpon euery high mountaine and hil ſhal there be riuers, and ſtreames of waters in the day of the great ſlaughter when the towres fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the Moone ſhalbe as the light of the Sunne, and the Sunne light ſhalbe ſeuen folde, and haue as muche ſhine as in ſeuen dayes beſide, when the Lorde bindeth vp the ſore of his people, and healeth the ſtroke of their wounde.

27 Beholde, the fame of the Lord commeth from farre, and his preſence is ſo hotte, that no man is able to abide: his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a conſuming fyre.

28 His breath is a vehement flood of water that reacheth vp to the necke: that he may lyft away the heathen in the Syue of vanitie, and his breath is a bridle of errour in the iawes of the people.

29 And ye shal syng lyke as in the night when the holy solemnitie begynneth, and ye shal haue gladnesse of hart, lyke as when one commeth with a ppe vnto the hyll of the Lord, and to the most myghtie one of Israel.

30 And the Lorde shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shal declare his stretched out arme with a terrible countenance, and with a flame of a consuming fyre, with noysome lyghtnyng, with a shewre, and with haylestones.

31 For through the voyce of the Lorde shall Assur be destroyed, whiche smote other men with the rod.

32 And it shall come to passe, that whyther so euer he goeth, the rod shal cleaue vnto him, which the Lord shal lay vpon him, with Tabrets and Harpes: and with great warre shal he fyght agaynst his host.

33 For the fyre of hel is ordeyned from the begynnyng, yea euen for the kyng is it prepared: this hath the Lord set in the deepe, and made it wyde, the burnyng whereof is fyre and much wood: the breath of the Lord, whiche is lyke a ryuer of brymstone, doeth kyndle it.

¶ The.xxxi. Chapter.

He curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOE be vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, & trust in horses, and put their confidence in charets, because they be many, and in horsemen, because they be lustie and strong: but they regarde not the holy one of Israel, and they aske no question at the Lorde.

2 And he neuertheless is wyse, and wyl plague the wicked, and goeth not from his woorde, he wyll aryse agaynst the housholde of the froward, and agaynst the helpe of euyl doers.

3 Nowe the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesshe, and not spirite: and as soone as the Lord stretcheth out his hande, then shall the helper fall, and he that shoulde haue been helped, and they shal altogeather be destroyed.

4 For thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto me, Lyke as the Lion and Lions whelpe roreth vpon the pray that he hath gotten, and is not afrayde though the multitude of shepheardes crye out vpon him, neyther abashed for al the heape of them: so shall the Lorde of hostes come downe to fight for mount Sion, and defende his hyl.

5 Lyke as the byrdes flutter about their nestes: so shall the Lorde of hostes keepe, saue, defende, and delyuer Hierusalem.

6 Therefore, O ye children of Israel, turne agayne vnto him whom you haue oftymes forsaken.

7 For in that day euery man shall caste out his idols of syluer, and his idols of gold, whiche ye haue made with your owne hands vnto your synne.

8 Assur also shalbe slayne with the swoorde, not with a mans swoorde, neyther shal the swoord of any man deuoure him, and he shal flee from the slaughter, and his choise young men shalbe discomfited.

9 He shal goe for feare to his strong holdes, and his princes shall flee from his standarde, sayth the Lorde, whose fyre is in Sion, and his furnace in Hierusalem.

¶ The.xxxii. Chapter.

The conditions of good rulers and officers.

BEholde, a kyng shall gouerne after the rule of ryghteousnesse, and the princes shal rule accordyng vnto the ballance of equitie.

2 And that man shalbe vnto men as a defence for the wynde, and as a refuge for the tempest, lyke as a ryuer of water in a thirsty place, and the shadowe of a great rocke in a dry lande.

3 The eyes of the seeyng shall not be dymme, and the eares of them that heare shal take diligent heede.

4 The hart of the vnwyse shall atteyne to knowledge, and the vnperfect tongue shal speake playnely and distinctly.

5 Then shal the foolyshe nygarde be no more called gentle, nor the churle liberal.

6 But the nygarde wyl speake nygardly, and his hart wyll woorke euyll, and play the hypocrite, and imagine abominations agaynst God, to make the hungry leane, and to withholde drynke from the thirsty.

7 The weapons of the churlyshe are euyl, he deuiseth noysome deuises, that he may beguyle the poore with deceitfull woordes, yea euen there as he shoulde geue sentence with the poore.

8 But the liberal person imagineth honest thynges, and commeth vp for liberalitie vnto promotion.

6 And a ſure ſtablyſhyng of the tymes, of him that tared our fayreſt houſes? ‖ 1. Cor. 1. 19

19 There ſhalt thou not ſee a cruel people of a ſtrange tongue, to haue ſo defuſed a language that it may not be vnderſtanden, neyther ſo ſtraunge a ſpeach but it shalbe per-ceyued.

20 Looke vpon Sion, the head citie of our solemne feastes: thyne eyes shal see Hierusalem that glorious habitation, the tabernacle that neuer shal remoone, whose nayles shal neuer be taken out worlde without ende, whose cordes euery one shal neuer corrupt.

21 For the glorious maiestie of the Lord shall there be present among vs, as a place where fayre broade ryuers and streames are, through the which, shal neither Galley row, nor great shyp saile.

22 For the Lord is our iudge, the Lord is our lawe geuer, the Lord is our kyng, and he him selfe shalbe our sauiour.

23 Thy tackling is loosed, therefore it can not make fast the mast, nor spread the saile: then there is deuided great spoyle, yea, lame men runne after the pray.

24 There lyeth no man that sayth, I am sicke: but all euil is taken away from the people that dwel there.

¶ The.xxxiiii. Chapter.

The last destruction of the synagogue, in whiche the kingdome and priesthood of the people was translated to the Churche and congregation of Christe.

COme ye heathen, and heare, take heede you people: hearken thou earth, and al that is therein, thou rounde compasse, and al that dwelleth thereupon.

2 For the Lorde is angrie with all people, and his displeasure is kindeled against al the multitude of them, he hath destroyed them, and delinered them to the slaughter.

3 So that their slayne shalbe cast out, and their bodies shal stinke, that euen the very hilles shalbe wet with the blood of them.

4 All the starres of heauen shall waste, and the heauens shall folde togeather as a roule, and al the starres thereof shal fal, like as the leaues fall from the vines and figge trees.

5 For my swoorde shalbe bathed in heauen, & shal immediatly come downe to iudgement vppon Idumea, and vppon the people which I haue cursed.

6 And the Lords swoorde shalbe full of blood, and be ruddie with the fatnesse & blood of lambes and goates, with the fatnesse of the kidneyes of weathers: For the Lorde shal kyl a great offering in Bozra, and a great slaughter in the lande of Idumea.

7 There shal the Unicornes fal with them, and the Bulles with the Giantes, and their land shalbe throughly soked with blood, and their grounde corrupt with fatnesse.

8 For it is the a day of Gods vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the reuenge of Sion.

9 And his floods shalbe turned to pitch, and his earth to brymstone, and therewith shal the lande be kyndeled.

10 So that it shal not be quenched day nor nyght, but smoke euermore, and so foorth lye waste: and no man shal goe through it for euer.

11 ||But Pellicanes, Stockes, great Owles, and Rauens, shall haue it in possession, and dwel therein: for God shal spread out the lyne of desolation vpon it, and the stones of emptinesse. || Gen. 2. 14

12 Her nobles shal call, and there is no kyngdome: and all her princes shalbe nothyng.

13 Thornes shall growe in their palaces, nettles & thistles in their strong holdes, that the Dragons may haue their pleasure therein, and that they may be a court for Estriches.

14 There shal strange bisures and monsterous beastes meete one another, and the wylde keepe company togeather, there shall the Lamia lye and haue her lodgyng.

15 There shal the Owle make her nest, bryng, be there at home, and bryng forth her young ones: there shal the Kites come togeather, euery one to his lyke.

16 Seeke through the booke of the Lord, and reade it: there shal none of these things be left out, there shal not one nor suche lyke fayle: for his mouth commaundeth, and that same booth his spirite geather togeather, or fulfyl.

17 He hath cast the lot for them, and to those beastes hath his hand diuided it by the lyne: therefore those shal possesse it for euer, from generatiõ to generation shal they dwel therein.

¶ The.xxxv. Chapter.

Of the tyme and kingdome of Christe.

BVT a the desart and wyldernesse shall reioyce, the waste grounde shalbe glad, and floryshe as the Lilie.

a. The barren nature of mankynd to al goodnesse, shalbe made fruitful by grace promised in Christ. Deut. 28. and. 31.

2 She shal florishe pleasantly, and be ioyful, and euer be geuing thankes more and more: For the glory of Libanus, the beautie of Charmel and Saron, shalbe geuen her: These shal knowe the honour of the Lorde, and the maiestie of our God.

3 And therefore b strength the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees.

‖ Mat.15.30 5 ‖ Then shall the eyes of the blynde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe opened.

6 Then shal the lame men leape as an Hart, and the dumbe mans tongue shal geue thankes: for in the wyldernesse there shall welles spring, and floodes of water in the desart.

7 The dry ground shal turne to riuers, and the thirstie to springs of water: whereas Dragons dwelt afore, there shal grow sweete flowres and greene rushes.

8 There shalbe foote pathes, and common streetes, this shalbe called the holy way, no vncleane person shal goe through it, for the Lorde him selfe shal goe with them that way, and the wayfayrer nor ignorant shal not erre.

9 There shalbe no Lion, and no rauenyng beastes shal come therein, nor be there, but men redeemed shall goe there free and safe.

10 And the redeemed of the Lord, I say, shal conuert, and come to Sion with thankesgeuyng: euerlastyng ioy shal they haue, pleasure and gladnesse shalbe among them, and as for all sorowe and heauinesse, it shal vanishe.

¶ The.xxxvi. Chapter.

Hierusalem is besieged by Sennacherib, in the tyme of king Ezecias.

¶4.kin.18.13 2.Chro.32.1. IF the fourteenth yeere of kyng Ezecias, came Sennacherib kyng of the Assyrians downe, to laye siege vnto al the strong cities of Juda, to conquer them.

2 And the kyng of the Assyrians sent Rabsaceh from Lachis towarde Hierusalem, against Ezecias, with an exceeding host, whiche set hym by the conduit of the ouer poole, in the way that goeth through the Fullers laude.

3 And so there came foorth vnto hym Eliacim, Helcias sonne, the cheefe ouer the household, Sobna the scribe, and Joah Asaphs sonne, the secretarie.

4 And Rabsaceh sayde vnto them, Tel Ezecia that the great kyng sayth thus vnto him, What presumption is this that thou trustest vnto?

5 I saide surely that thou trustest in vaine woordes, when counsaile & strength are necessarie to battaile: but nowe whereto trustest thou, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou puttest thy trust in a broken staffe of reede, I meane Egypt, whiche he that leaneth vppon, it goeth into his hande, and thooteth it through: euen so is Pharao the kyng of Egypt, vnto al them that trust in hym.

7 But if thou wouldest saye vnto me, We trust in the Lorde our God: Is not he that God whose high places and aulters Ezecia tooke downe, and commaunded Juda and Hierusalem to worship onely before this aulter?

8 Now therefore deliuer hostages, that thou rebel no more against my lord the king of the Assyrians, and I wyl geue thee two thousande horses, if thou be able to set men vpon them.

9 Howe darest thou resist the power of the smallest prince that my Lorde hath: how darest thou trust in the charrettes and horsemen of Egypt?

10 Moreouer, thynkest thou that I am come vp hyther to destroy this land without the Lordes wyl? The Lorde saide vnto me, Goe vp agaynst this lande, and destroy it.

11 Then sayde Eliacim, Sobna, and Joah, vnto Rabsaceh, Speake to vs thy seruantes, we pray thee, in the Syrians language, for we vnderstand it wel, and speake not to vs in the Jewes tongue, lest the folke heare whiche lyeth vpon the wal.

12 Then answered Rabsaceh, Hath my maister sent me to speake this onely to thy maister and thee? hath he not sent me to them also that lye vpon the wal? that they may be compelled to eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne stale with you?

13 And Rabsaceh stoode stiffe, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Jewes tongue, and sayde, Nowe take heede howe the great king of the Assyrians geueth you warnyng.

14 Thus sayth the king, Let not, Ezecia deceiue you, for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

15 Moreouer, let not Ezecia comfort you in the Lorde, when he sayth, The Lorde without doubt shal defende vs, and shal not geue ouer this citie into the handes of the king of the Assyrians.

16 Hearken not to Ezekia, for thus saith the king of Assyria, Obteyne my fauour, encline to me, so may euery man enioy his vineyardes and figge trees, and drinke the water of his cesterne:

17 Vnto þ time that I come mee selfe, and bring you into a lande that is like your owne, wherein is wheat and wyne, whiche is both sowen with seede, and planted with vineyardes.

18 Let not Ezecia deceiue you, when he sayth vnto you, The Lorde shal deliuer vs: myght the God of the Gentiles keepe euery mans lande from the power of the kyng of the Assyrians?

19 Where is the god of Hemath and Arphad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? and who is able to defende Samaria out of my hande?

20 Or whiche of al the goddes of these landes hath delyuered their countrey out of my power? Is the Lord in deede able to delyuer Hierusalem from my hande?

21 Unto this Ezecias messengers held their tongues, and answered not one woorde: for the kyng had charged them that they shoulde geue him no answeare.

22 So came Eliacim Helcias sonne the cheefe ouer the houshold, Sobna the Scribe, and Joah Asaphs sonne the secretarie, vnto Ezecia with rent clothes, and told him the woordes of Rabsaceh.

¶ The.xxxvii. Chapter.

1. Ezecia humbleth him selfe before the Lord. 35. The armie of Sennacherib is slayne of the angel of the Lorde, 38. And he him selfe is killed of his owne sonnes.

WHen Ezecia heard that, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and went into the temple of the Lorde.

2 But he sent Eliacim the cheefe ouer the houshold, and Sobna the Scribe, with the eldest priestes, clothed in sacke, vnto the Prophete Esai the sonne of Amos,

3 And they sayd vnto him, Thus sayth Ezecia, This is ꝑ day of trouble, of plague, and of blasphemie: for the chyldren are come to the place of byrth, but there is no power to byring them forth.

4 The Lord thy God no doubt hath wel considered the woordes of Rabsaceh, whom his Lorde kyng of the Assyrians hath sent to defie and blaspheme the lyuyng God, with suche woordes as the Lorde thy God hath heard ryght well: and therefore lyft vp thy prayer for the remnant that yet are left.

5 So the seruantes of the kyng Ezecia came to Esai.

6 And Esai gaue them this answeare, Say thus vnto your lorde, Thus sayth the Lord, Be not afrayd of the woords that thou hast heard, wherewith the kyng of the Assyrians seruantes haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I wyll rayse vp a wynde agaynst him, and he shal heare a rumour, and he shall goe agayne into his countrey, there wyll I destroy him with the swoorde in his owne lande.

8 Nowe when Rabsaceh returned, he founde the kyng of Assyria laying siege to Libnas: for he had vnderstandyng that he was departed from Lachis.

4.Re.19.9. 9 ‖ And there came a rumor that Tharacah kyng of Ethiopia was come forth to warre agaynst him: and when the kyng of Assyria heard that, he sent other messengers to kyng Ezecia with this commaundement.

10 Say thus to Ezecia kyng of Juda, Let not thy God deceyue thee in whom thou hopest, and sayest, Hierusalem shall not be geuen into the handes of the kyng of Assyria.

11 For loe, thou knowest well howe the kinges of Assyria haue handled al the landes that they haue subuerted: and hopest thou to escape?

12 Were the people of the Gentiles, whom my progenitours conquered, delyuered at any tyme through their goddes? As namely, Golan, Haran, Rezeph, and the chyldren of Eden, whiche were at Thalassar?

13 Where is the kyng of Hemath, and the kyng of Arphad, and the kyng of the citie Sepharuaim, Ena, and Ana?

14 Nowe when Ezecia had receyued the letter of the messengers, and read it, he went vp into the house of the Lorde, & opened the letter before the Lorde.

15 And Ezecia prayed vnto the Lorde on this maner.

16 O Lorde of hostes, thou God of Israel, whiche dwellest vpon Cherubim, thou art the God that only is God of al the kyngdomes of the worlde, for thou onely hast created heauen and earth, 17 Enclyne thyne eare Lorde, and consyder, open thyne eyes Lord, and see, & ponder al the woordes of Sennacherib, which hath sent his embassage to blaspheme the lyuyng God.

18 It is true, O Lord, that the kings of Assyria haue conquered all kyngdomes and landes, 19 And cast their goddes in the fyre: for those were no goddes, but the woorkes of mens handes, of wood, or stone, therfore haue they destroyed them.

20 Nowe therfore delyuer vs, O Lord our God, from the handes of Sennacherib, that all the kyngdomes of the earth may knowe that thou onely art the Lorde.

21 Then Esai the sonne of Amos sent vnto Ezecia, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Wheras thou hast made thy prayer vnto me as touchyng Sennacherib the kyng of Assyria,

22 This is the answeare that the Lord hath geuen concernyng him: Despysed art thou and mocked, O daughter Sion, he hath shaken his head at thee, O daughter of Hierusalem,

23 But thou Sennacherib, whom hast thou defied & blasphemed? Agaynst whom hast haſt thou lyfted vp thy voyce, and exalted thy proude lookes: euen agaynſt the holy one of Iſrael.

24 Thou with thy ſeruantes haſt blaſphemed the Lorde, and thus holdeſt thou of thee ſelfe: I wyl couer the high mountaines and hyes of Libanus with my hoſtemen, & there will I cut downe the high Cedar trees, and the fayreſt Fyre trees: I wyll vp into the height of it, and into the theeſeſt of his tymber woodes.

25 Yf there be no water, I wyll graue and drynke: and as for waters of deſence, I wyl dry them vp with the feete of mine hoſt.

26 Yea, haſt thou not hearde what I haue taken in hande, and brought to paſſe of olde tyme? That ſame wyl I doo nowe alſo, and waſte, deſtroye, and bryng ſtrong cities vnto heapes of ſtones.

27 For their inhabiters ſhalbe like lame men brought in feare and confounded: they ſhalbe lyke graſſe and greene herbes in the feelde, lyke haye vpon the houſe toppes, that wythereth before it be growen vp.

28 I know thy wayes, thy goyng forth, and thy commyng home, yea & thy madneſſe agaynſt me.

29 Therefore thy furiouſneſſe agaynſt me, and thy pryde is come before me, I wyl put my ryng in thy noſe, and my bridle bet in the lawes of thee, and turne thee about, euen the ſame way that thou cameſt.

30 I wyll geue thee alſo this token, O Ezekia, this yeere ſhalt thou eate ſuche as groweth of it ſelfe, and the ſeconde yeere that whiche ſpryngeth agayne of the ſame, and in the thyrde yeere ye ſhall ſowe & reape, yea ye ſhall plant vineyardes, and enioy the fruites thereof.

31 And ſuche of the houſe of Iuda as are eſcaped, ſhall come togeather, & the remnant ſhall take roote beneathe, and bryng forth fruite aboue.

32 For the eſcaped ſhall goe out of Hieruſalem, and the remnant from the mount Sion: and this ſhal the zeale of the Lorde of hoſtes bryng to paſſe.

33 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord, concernyng the kyng of the Aſſyrians, He ſhall not come into this citie, and ſhall ſhoote no arrowe into it, there ſhall no ſhielde hurt it, neyther ſhal they caſt dyches about it.

34 The ſame way he came he ſhall returne, and not come in this citie, ſayth the Lorde.

35 And I wyl kepe and ſaue this citie, ſayth he, for myne owne, and for my ſeruaunt Dauids ſake.

36 ‖ Thus the angell of the Lorde went forth, and ſlue of the Aſſyrians hoſt, an hundred foureſcore and fyue thouſande: & when men aroſe vp early in the morning, beholde they were ſlayne, & al lay full of dead bodies.

37 So Sennacherib the kyng of the Aſſyrians brake vp, and dwelt at Minive.

38 Afterward it chaunced as he prayed in the temple of Neſroch his god, that Adramalech and Sarazer his owne ſonnes ſlue him with the ſwoorde, and fled into the lande of Armenia: and Aſarhaddon his ſonne raigned in his ſtede.

¶ The xxxviii. Chapter.

1. Ezecia is ſicke vnto death, 5. but is yet reuiued by the Lorde, and lyueth fifteene yeeres after. 10. For vvhiche benefite he geueth thanke.

ABout this time was ‖ Ezecia ſicke vnto death, & the Prophet Eſai the ſonne of Amos, came vnto him, and ſayde, Thus commaundeth the Lorde, Set thyne houſe in order, for thou muſt dye, and ſhalt not eſcape. ‖2.Reg.20.1 2.Par.32.24

2 Then Ezecia turned his face towarde the wal, and prayed vnto the Lorde:

3 And ſayde, Remember, O Lorde, I beſeech thee, that I haue walked before thee in trueth and a ſtedfaſt hart, and haue doone the thyng that is pleaſant to thee. And Ezecia wept ſore.

4 Then ſayde God vnto Eſai,

5 Go, & ſpeake vnto Ezecia, The Lord God of Dauid thy father ſendeth thee this woorde, I haue hearde thy prayer, and conſydered thy teares: beholde, I wyll put fyfteene yeeres moe vnto thy lyfe,

6 And delyuer thee and thy citie alſo from the hand of the kyng of Aſſyria: for I wyl defende the citie.

7 And take thee this token of the Lord, that he wyl doo it as he hath ſpoken.

8 Beholde, I wyl returne the ſhadowe of Ahaz dyal that nowe is laide out with the Sunne, and bryng it ten degrees backward. So the Sunne turned tenne degrees backeward, the whiche he was deſcended afore.

9. A thankes geuyng vvhich Ezecia king of Iuda vvrote, vvhen he had been ſicke, and vvas recouered.

10 I thought I ſhoulde haue gone to the gates of hel, when myne age was ſhortened, & haue wanted the reſidue of my yeeres.

11 I ſpake within mee ſelfe, I wyl neuer viſite the Lorde, the Lorde I ſay, in this lyfe: I wyl neuer ſee man among the dwellers of the worlde.

12 Myne age is folden togeather, and taken away from me lyke a ſheepheards cotage, I haue brent of my lyfe by my ſinnes, like as a weuer cuteth of his webbe: he wyll with pining sickneſſe make an ende of me, yea he wyl make an ende of me in one day.

13 I thought I wouldе haue liued vntil the morowe, but he bruiſed my bones like a Lion: and in one day thou wylt make an ende of me.

14 Then chattered I like a Swallow, and like a Crane, and mourned like a Doue, I lyft vp mine eyes into the height: O Lord sayde I, my ſickneſſe keyeth me downe, eaſe thou me.

15 What ſhall I ſay? the Lorde hath made a promiſe to me, yea, and he hym ſelfe hath performed it: I wyl therefore ſo long as I liue remember this bitternеſſe of my lyfe.

16 O Lorde, to al thoſe that ſhall lyue hereafter, yea to al men ſhall it be knowen, that euen in thoſe peres I haue a ioyful life, and that it was thou that cauſedſt me to ſleepe, agayne thou haſt geuen lyfe to me.

17 Beholde, bitter as gal was my penſiueneſſe, ſo ſore longed I for health, and it was thy pleaſure to deliuer my lyfe from the filthie pyt: for thou it is, O Lorde, that haſt caſt al my ſinnes behinde thy backe.

18 For hel prayſeth not ther, death doth not magnifie thee: they that goe downe into the graue prayſe not thy trueth:

19 But the liuing, yea the liuing knowledge thee, as I do this day: the father telleth his children of thy faythfulneſſe.

20 To heale me it is the Lords worke, and we wil ſing my ſonges in the houſe of the Lorde al the dayes of our lyfe.

21 And Esai ſayde, Take a plaſter of figs, & lay it vpon the ſore, ſo ſhal it be whole.

22 Then ſayd Ezecia, O what a myracle is this, that I ſhall goe vp into the houſe of the Lorde.

¶ The. xxxix. Chapter.

Ezecia is reproued of Esai, becauſe he ſhewed his treaſure vnto the Embaſſadours of Babylon.

AT the ſame time || Merodach Baladans ſonne, kyng of Babylon, ſent letters and preſentes to Ezecia: for he vnderſtoode that he had ben ſicke, and was recouered agayne.

2 And Ezecia was glad thereof, and ſhewed them the houſe of his treaſures of ſilver and golde, of ſpices, and rootes, of pretious oyles, and al that was in cubbordes and treaſure houſes: there was not one thyng in Ezecias houſe, and ſo throughout all his kyngdome, but he let them ſee it.

3 Then came Esai the prophet to kyng Ezecia, and ſayde vnto him, What haue the men ſayde, and from whence came they vnto thee? Ezecia anſweared, They came out of a farre countrey vnto me, out of Babylon.

4 Esai ſayde, What haue they looked vpon in thy houſe? Ezecia anſwered, Al that is in my houſe haue they ſeene, & there is nothing in my treaſure but I ſhewed it them.

5 Then ſayde Esai vnto Ezecia, Underſtande the worde of the Lorde of hoſtes:

6 Beholde, the time wil come that euery thing which is in thine houſe, and al that thy progenitours haue layde vp in ſtore vntyl this day, ſhalbe caried to Babylon, and nothing left behynde, thus ſayth the Lord.

7 Yea and part of thy ſonnes that ſhal come of thee, and whom thou ſhalt begeat, ſhalbe caried hence, & become gelded chamberlaynes in the king of Babylons court.

8 Then ſayde Ezecia to Esai, Good is the worde of God which thou haſt tolde me. He ſayde moreouer, For there ſhalbe peace and faythfulneſſe in my tyme.

7 The graſſe is witchered, the floure falleth away, for the breath of the Lord bloweth vpon them: of a trueth the people are graſſe.

8 The graſſe withereth, and the floure fadeth away: || yet the worde of our God endureth for euer. || Ioh. 12. 34.

9 Goe vp vnto the high hyl, O Sion, thou that bringeſt good tydinges, lyft vp thy voyce with power, O thou preacher Hieruſalem, lift it vp without feare, and ſay vnto the cities of Iuda, beholde your God.

10 Beholde, the Lord GOD ſhal come

||Ezec.34.23 Iohn.10.11. 11 ||He ſhal feede his flocke like an heardman, he ſhall gather the lambes togeather with his arme, and cary them in his boſome, & ſhal kindly entreate thoſe that beare young.

15 Behold, al people are in compariſon of him as a droppe of a bucket ful, and are counted as the leaſt thyng that the ballance weigheth: yea and the Iſles he taketh vp as a very litle thyng.

16 Libanus is not ſufficient to miniſter fyre to his offeryng, and al the beaſtes therof are not ynough for one ſacrifice.

17 Al people in compariſon of him are reckoned as nothing: yf they be compared with him, leſſe then nothing, and as it that is not.

21 Knowe ye nothyng? heard ye neuer of it? hath it not ben preached vnto you ſince the begynning? haue ye not ben enfourmed of this by the fundation of the earth?

22 It is he that ſitteth vpon the circle of the worlde, whoſe inhabiters are in compariſon of hym but as graſhoppers: he ſpreadeth out the heauens as a couerynge, he ſtretcheth them out as a tent to dwel in.

23 He bringeth princes to nothing, & the iudges of the earth as though they were not.

24 So that of them it may be ſayde, They be not planted nor ſowen agayne, neyther their ſtocke rooted agayne in the earth: for as ſoone as he bloweth vpon them, they wyther and fade away lyke the ſtrawe in a whirle winde.

25 To whom nowe wyll ye liken me, and whom ſhal I be like, ſaith the holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and conſyder who hath made thoſe thinges whiche come out by ſo greate heapes, and he calleth them al by their names: there is nothing hid from the greatneſſe of his power, ſtrength, and mycht.

27 Howe may then Iacob thinke, or may Iſrael ſay, My wayes are hidde from the Lorde, and my GOD knoweth not of my iudgementes.

28 Knoweſt thou not, or haſt thou not heard that the euerlaſting God, the Lorde which made al the corners of the earth, is neyther weerie nor faynt: and that his wiſedome can not be comprehended?

29 It is he that geueth ſtrength vnto the weery, and power vnto the faynt.

30 Chyldren are weery and faynt, and the ſtrong men fal:

31 But vnto them that haue their truſt in the Lord, ſhal ſtrength be encreaſed: Eagles wings ſhal grow vpon them, when they runne they ſhal not fal, and when they goe they ſhal not be weery.

¶ The. xli. Chapter.

Of the goodneſſe and mercy of God towarde the people.

BE ſtil you a Ilandes, and hearken vnto me: let the people lay their ſtrength togeather, let them come hyther, and then ſhewe their cauſe: we wyl goe to the lawe togeather.

a. By the Ilandes God meaneth the gentiles, whom he reproueth for their idolatrie.

2 Who rayſed vp the b iuſt man from the eaſt, and called hym to goe forth? who caſt downe the people, & ſubdued the kynges before hym? that he may throwe them all to the grounde with his ſworde, and ſcatter them lyke ſtubble with his bowe.

b. By the iuſt man, is meant Abraham, who beyng called out of Vr of the Chaldeans, who beyng iuſtified by fayth, became the father of many nations, whom God alwayes defended agaynſt al his enimies. ||Apoc. 1.17

3 He foloweth vpon them, and goeth ſafely hym ſelfe, and that in a way where before his foote had not troden.

4 Who hath made and created theſe thinges? euen he that called the generations from the beginning, ||euen I the Lord which am the firſt, and with the laſt.

5 The Iſles ſawe and vpd feare, and the endes of the earth were abaſhed, drewe nygh, and came hither.

6 Euery man helped his neyghbour, and ſayde to his brother, Be ſtrong.

7 The carpenter comforted the goldſmith, and the goldſmith the hammerman, ſaying, Solder wil do very wel in it: and they faſtened it with nailes, that it ſhould not be moued.

8 But thou Iſrael art my ſeruant, thou Iacob whom I haue choſen, thou art the ſeede of Abraham my beloued.

9 Thou art he whom I led from the ends of the earth: for I called thee euen from among the glorious men of it, and sayde vnto thee, Thou art my seruant, I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Be not afrayde, for I am with thee: Melt not away as ware, for I am thy god, to strength thee, helpe thee, & keepe thee with the right hande of my righteousnesse.

11 Beholde, al they that resist thee shal come to confusion & shame, & thine aduersaries shalbe destroied and brought to nought.

12 So that who so seeketh after them, shal not fynde them, thy destroyers shal perishe: and so shal they that vndertake to make battel agaynst thee, be as that is not, and as a thyng of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will strengthen thy ryght hande, euen I that say vnto thee, Feare not, I wyl helpe thee.

14 Be not afrayde, thou little wourme Iacob, and thou despised Israel: for I wyl helpe thee, sayth the Lorde, and the holy one of Israel thy redeemer.

15 Beholde, I wyl make thee a treading carte, and a newe flayle, that thou mayest threshe and grinde the mountaynes, and bryng the hylles to powder.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wynde shal carry them away, and the whirle wynde shal scatter them: but thou shalt reioyce in the Lorde, and shalt delyght in the holy one of Israel.

17 When the thyrstie and poore seeke water and fynd none, and when their tongue is drye of thirst, I geue it them, sayth the Lord, I the God of Israel forsake them not.

18 I bryng foorth floods in the hylles, and welles in the plaine fieldes: I turne the wyldernesse to ryuers, and the drye lande to conduites of water.

19 I plant in the waste grounde trees of Cedar, Bore, Myrre, and Oliues, and in the dry I set Firre trees, Elmes, and Hawthornes togeather.

20 All this doo I, that they altogeather may see and marke, perceyue with theyr hartes, and consyder that the hande of the Lord maketh these thyngs, and that the holy one of Israel bringeth them to passe.

21 Stand at your cause, saith the Lord, and bring foorth your strongest ground, saith the kyng of Iacob.

22 Let them bryng foorth their goods, and let theyr goods tel vs what shal chaunce hereafter, yea let them shewe vs the thinges that are past what they be, let them declare them vnto vs, that we maye take them to hart, and knowe them hereafter.

23 Eyther shew vs thyngs for to come, and tel vs what shalbe doone hereafter, to shal we knowe that ye are goddes: doo some thyng eyther good or bad, so wyl we both knowledge the same, and tel it out.

24 Beholde, ye are goddes of nought, and your makyng is of nought: yea abominable is the man that hath chosen you.

25 Neuertheless, I haue waked vp one from the north, and he shal come from the east, he shal cal vpon my name, and shal treau vpon princes as vpon claye, and as the potter treadeth downe the myre. Cyrus.

26 Who declareth this from the beginning, and we wyl knowe hym: or from the olde tymes, and we wyl confesse and say that he is ryghteous? but there is none that sheweth or declareth any thing, there is none also that heareth your woordes.

27 The first is he that shal say to Sion, Behold, behold they are present: and to Hierusalem it selfe wyl I geue an euangelist.

28 But when I consyder there is not a man among them, nor any that can geue counsayle, nor that when I examine them that can answeare one woorde.

29 Lo wicked are they, and vayne, with the thynges also that they take in hande, yea their images are but wind and vaine things.

¶ The. xlii. Chapter.

The comming of Christe.

BEholde, this is my seruant vpon whom I leane, || my elect in whom my soule is pacified, I haue geuen my spirite vpon him, that he may shewe foorth iudgement among the Gentiles. || Mat. 12. 18

2 He shal not be an outcryer, nor lift vp his voyce, his voyce shal not be heard in the streetes.

3 And a broosed reede shal he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shal he not quench: but faithfully & truely shal he geue iudgement.

4 He shal not be pensiue nor carefull, that he may restore righteousnes vnto the earth & the gentiles also shal looke for his lawes.

5 For thus sayth God the Lorde vnto him, euen he that made the heauens and spread them abrode, and set foorth the earth with her encrease, which geueth breath vnto the people that is in it, and spirite to them that dwel therein,

6 I the Lorde haue called thee in righteousnesse, and will holde thee by the hande, and wil also defend thee, || and geue thee for a couenant of the people, to be the light of the gentiles. || Esai. 49. 6.

7 That thou maiest open the eyes of the blinde, let out the prisoners from theyr bondes, and them that sit in darknesse out of the dungeon house.

8 Euen I am the Lord, and this is my ‖ Eſai.48.11 name: ‖ and my glory wyl I geue to none other, neither mine honor to grauen images.

9 Behold, old things are come to paſſe, and newe thinges doo I declare, and or euer they come I tel you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lorde a newe ſong of thankeſgeuing, blow out his praiſe from the ende of the worlde: they that be vpon the ſea, and all that is therein prayſe him, the Iſles and they that dwel in them.

11 Let the wyldernesſe with the cities lift vp her voyce, the townes alſo that they of Cedar dwel in: let them be glad that ſyt vpon rockes of ſtone, & let them crye downe from the high mountaynes, 12 Aſcribing glory vnto the Lorde, and magnifying him among the Gentiles.

13 The Lorde ſhall come forth like a Giant, and take a ſtomacke to him like a freſhe man of warre: he ſhall roze and crye, and ouercome his enimies.

14 I haue long holden my peace ſayth the Lorde a I haue been ſtill and refrained mee ſelfe, but nowe I wil crye like a trauailing woman, and at once wil I deſtroy and deuoure.

15 I wil make waſte both mountayne and hyl, and dry vp euery greene thyng that groweth theron: I wyl dry vp the fluddes to become Ilandes, and drynke vp the ryuers.

16 I wyl bring the blynd into a ſtreete that they knowe not, and leade them into a footepath that they are ignozant in: I ſhal make darkeneſſe light before them, and the thyng that is crooked to be ſtraight: Theſe things haue I doone vnto them, and not forſaken them.

17 They are fallen backe, yea and let them be aſhamed earneſtly that hope in idols, and ſay to the moulten images, Ye are our goddes.

18 Heare O ye deafe men, and ſharpen your eyes to ſee, O ye blynde.

19 Who is blynd but my ſeruant? or ſo deafe as b my meſſenger whom I ſent vnto them? for who is ſo blynde as the perfect man, and ſo blynd as the Lordes ſeruant?

20 Thou haſt ſeene muche, and keepeſt nothing: the eares are opē, & no man heareth.

21 The Lorde is mercyful vnto them for his ryghteouſneſſe ſake, that his woorde might be magnified and prayſed:

22 c But the people them ſelues is robbed and troden vnder the foote, chained in dungeons, and they al, I ſay, are ſhut into priſon houſes: they be carryed away captiue, and no man dooth looſe them: they be troden vnder foote, and no man dooth labour to bring them agayne.

23 But who is he among you that pondereth this, that conſydereth it, and taketh it for a warnyng in tyme to come?

24 Who gaue Jacob to be troden vnder foote, and Iſrael to be ſpoyled? Dyd not the Lorde? Becauſe we haue ſinned againſt him, & haue had no delight to walke in his waies, neyther ben obedient vnto his lawe?

25 Therfore he hath powred vpon him his wrathful diſpleaſure and ſtrong battel, and hath fyred hym on euery ſyde, yet wyl he not vnderſtande: he burneth hym vp, yet ſinketh it not into his harte.

a. Chriſt for a time deferreth as it were with paine, to deliuer his elect from the tyranny of anticriſt, but at the time appoynted he wyl enforce him ſelfe, as a woman in her trauayle, to deliuer his people.

b. By the ſeruant, meſſenger, and the perfect man, he meaneth the Iewes and their prieſtes, who ought of al other people to haue had knowledge, and ſo haue ſerued God perfectly.

c. A greeuous ſentence againſt thoſe that wyll not beholde the light when it ſhineth, nor beleeue Gods woorde when it is preached.

¶ The.xliii. Chapter.

1. God promiſeth to ſende his Chriſt vvhich ſhal deliuer his people. 7. He forgeueth ſinnes for his owne ſake.

BVt nowe the Lorde that made thee, O Jacob, and he that faſhioned thee, O Iſrael, ſayth thus, Feare not, for I haue redeemed thee, I haue called thee by thy name, thou art myne owne.

2 If thou goeſt through the water, I wyl be with thee, the ſtrong floodes ſhal not ouerwhelme thee: and if thou walkeſt thorowe the fyre, it ſhal not burne thee, and the flame ſhal not kyndle vpon thee:

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Iſrael thy Sauiour: I gaue Egypt for thy deliuerance, the Ethiopians and the Sabees for thee:

4 Becauſe thou waſt deare in my ſight, and becauſe I ſet by thee and loued thee: I wyl geue ouer al men for thee, and delyuer vp al people for thy ſake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee, I wyl bring thy ſeede from the eaſt, and gather thee together from the weſt.

6 I wyl ſay to the north, Let goe: and to the ſouth, Keepe not backe: but bring me my ſonnes from farre, & my daughters from the endes of the worlde.

7 Namely al thoſe that be called after my name: For them haue I created, faſhioned, and made for mine honour.

8 Bring forth that people whiche is blind and yet hath eyes, which are deafe although they haue eares.

9 If al nations come in one, and be gathered together, whiche among them ſhall declare ſuch thinges, and tell vs the thinges that are paſt? let them bring their witneſſe, ſo that they be iuſt: els let them heare, and ſay, It is trueth.

10 You are my witneſſes, ſaith the Lorde, and my ſeruant whō I haue choſen therfore be certified, & geue me faithful credence, and conſider that I am he before whō there was neuer any God, neither ſhalbe any after me.

11 I

||Ose. 13.4. 11 ||I am, euen I am the only Lord, and beside me there is no sauiour.

12 I gaue warning, I made whole, I taught you when there was no strange god among you: & this record must ye beare me your selues, sayth the Lord, that I am God.

13 And euen he am I who was from the beginning, and there is none that can take any thing out of my hande: I do the worke, and who shalbe able to let it?

14 Thus sayth the Lord the holy one of Israel your redeemer, For your sake I haue sent to Babylon, and brought it downe: all they are fugitiue with the Chaldees, whose sorowful crye is in their shippes.

15 I am the Lorde your holy one, which haue made Israel, and am your kyng. Thus sayth the Lorde, euen he that maketh a way in the sea, and a footepath in the mightie waters.

17 It is he which bringeth forth the charrets & horses, the host & power of warre, that they may fal togeather, and neuer ryse, & be extinct, like as towe are they quenched.

18 Remember not thinges of olde, and regarde nothing that is past.

2. Cor. 5. 17. Reuela. 21. 5 19 ||Behold, I shal make a newe thing, and shortly shal it appeare, and shal you not knowe it? I will make a a way in the desart, and riuers of water in the wildernesse.

a Christ is the way, the worlde is the desart, the doctrine of the Gospel, the waters, the wylde beastes, the cruel & superstitious misbeleuers.

20 The wilde beastes shal worship me, the dragons and the young Estriches: for I shal geue water in the wildernesse, and streames in the desart, that they may geue drinke to my people whom I chose.

21 This people haue I made for mee selfe, and they shal shewe forth my prayse.

22 For thou Jacob wouldest not call vpon me, but thou haddest an vnlust towarde me, O Israel.

23 Thou gauest me not thy beastes for burnt offeringes, neyther honourest me with sacrifices: I haue not ben chargeable vnto thee in offeringes, neither greeuous in incense.

24 Thou boughtest me no deare spice with thy money, neyther powredst the fat of thy sacrifices vpon me: but thou hast laden me with thy sinnes, and weeryed me with thy vngodlynesse.

25 Whereas I yet, euen I am he only that for my owne selues sake doo away thine offences, and forget thy sinnes, so that I wyl neuer thinke vpon them.

26 Put me powe in remembrance, for we wyl reason togeather: and shewe what thou hast for thee to make thee righteous.

27 Thy first father offended sore, and thy rulers haue sinned agaynst me:

28 Therefore I [n] prophaned the princes of the sanctuary, I did curse Jacob, and gaue Israel into reproofe.

[n] Hebr. him.

¶ The. xliii. Chapter.

Christ promiseth to deliuer his Churche without any her desertes.

SO ||heare now, O Jacob my seruant, and Israel whom I haue chosen. ||Jere. 30. 10.

2 For thus sayth the Lord that made thee, fashioned thee, and helped thee euen from thy mothers wombe: Be not afraid, O Jacob my seruant, thou righteous whom I haue chosen:

3 ||For I shal powre water vpon the dry ground, and riuers vpon the thirstie: I shal powre my spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy stocke: ||Joel. 2. 28. Actes. 2. 17. John. 7. 38.

4 They shal grow togeather like as the grasse, & as the willowes by the waters side.

5 One shal say I am the Lordes: another shal cal him selfe after the name of Jacob: the thirde shal subscribe with his hande vnto the Lorde, and geue him selfe vnder the name of Israel.

6 Thus hath the Lorde spoken, euen the kyng of Israel, and his redeemer the Lorde of hostes: ||I am the first and the last, and besides me there is no God. ||Esai. 41. 4. Apoc. 1. 17. Esai. 48. 12.

7 If any be like me, let him cal forth & thing past, & openly shew it, and lay it playne before me what hath chaunced since I appointed the people of the world, and what shalbe shortly, or what shal come to passe in time long to come let them shewe these things.

8 Be not abashed nor afrayde: for haue not I euer tolde you hytherto, and warned you? ye can beare me recorde your selues: is there any God exept me, or any maker, that I shoulde not knowe him?

9 Al caruers of images are but bayne, and the carued image that they loue can do no good: they must beare record them selues, that seeyng they can neyther see nor vnderstande, they shalbe confounded.

10 Who dare then make a God, or fashion an image that is profitable for nothyng?

11 Behold, al the felowship of them must be brought to confusion, & truely al the workmaisters of them are men: they shall all be geathered togeather, they shal stande, tremble, and be confounded one with another.

12 ||The smith maketh an axe, and tempereth it with whot coales, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with all the strength of his armes, yea sometyme he is faynt for very hunger, and so thyrstie that he hath no more power. ||Wisd. 13. 11. Jerem. 10. 3.

13 The Carpenter or image caruer taketh measure of the tymber, & spreadeth forth his line, he marketh it with ſome colour, he playneth it, he tuleth it, and ſquareth it, and maketh it after the image of a man, and according to the beautie of a man, that it may ſtande in the houſe.

14 Moreouer, he goeth out to hewe Cedar trees, he bryngeth home Elmes & Okes, and takyng a bolde courage, he ſeeketh out the beſt tymber of the wood: he hym ſelfe hath planted a Pine tree, which the rayne hath ſwelled, 15 Whiche wood ſerueth for men to burne: Of this he taketh and warmeth hym ſelfe withal, he maketh a fyre of it to bake bread, and maketh alſo a god thereof to honour it, & a grauen image to kneele before it.

16 One peece he burneth in the fyre, with another he rofteth fleſhe, that he may eate roſt his belly ful: with the third he warmeth him ſelfe, and ſayth, Aha, I am well warmed, I haue ben at the fyre.

17 And of the reſidue he maketh him a god, and a grauen image for hym ſelfe: he kneeleth before it, he worſhyppeth it, he prayeth vnto it, and ſayth, Deliuer me, for thou art my God.

18 Yet men neither conſyder nor vnderſtand, becauſe theyr eyes be ſtopped that they can not ſee, and theyr hartes that they can not perceiue.

19 They ponder not in theyr mindes, for they haue neyther knowledge nor vnderſtanding to thinke thus, I haue brent one peece in the fyre, I haue baked bread with the coales therof, I haue roſted fleſhe with al and eaten it: and I wyl now of the reſidue make an abominable idol, and fall downe before a rotten peece of wood.

20 Thus doth he but loſe his labour, and his hart which is deceiued, doth turne him aſide, ſo that none of them can haue a free conſcience to thinke, Do not I erre?

21 Conſyder this, O Jacob and Iſrael, for thou art my ſeruant: I made thee, that thou mighteſt ſerue me, O Iſrael forget me not.

22 As for thine offences I haue driuen them away lyke the cloudes, and thy ſinnes as the myſt: turne thee agayne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Be glad ye heauens, for the Lord hath dealt gratiouſly with his people, let al that is here beneath vpon the earth be ioyful: reioyce ye mountaynes and woods, with al the trees thereof, for the Lorde hath redeemed Jacob, and wyl ſhewe his glory vpon Iſrael.

24 Thus ſayth the Lorde thy receemer, euen he that faſhioned thee frō thy mothers wombe, I the Lorde do al thinges mee ſelfe alone, I only ſpreade out the heauens, and I only haue layde abrode the earth by my owne ſelfe.

25 I deſtroy the tokens of wytches, and make the ſoothſayers fooles: As for the wiſe I turne them backwarde, and make theyr cunnyng foolyſhneſſe.

26 He doth ſet vp the purpoſe of his ſeruant, and fulfylleth the counſayle of his meſſengers: concernyng Hieruſalem he ſaith it ſhalbe inhabited, and of the cities of Juda they ſhalbe builded agayne, and I wyll repayre theyr decayed places.

27 He ſaith to the deapth, Be dryc: and, I wyl dryc vp water floodes.

28 He ſaith of Cyrus, He is my heardman, ſo that he ſhall fulfyll all thynges after my wyll: he ſayth alſo of Hieruſalem, It ſhalbe builded: and of the temple, it ſhalbe faſt grounded.

¶ The. xlv. Chapter.

The commyng of Chriſte, and the callyng of the Gentiles.

THus ſayth the Lorde vnto Cyrus his annoynted, whom I haue taken by the right hande to ſubdue nations before hym: I wyll looſe the a loynes of kynges, and I wil open the gates before his face, and the gates ſhal not be ſhut.

a The loynes that is, the power & ſtrength.

2 I wyll goe before thee, and make the crooked ſtraight: I ſhall breake the braſen doores, and burſt the iron barres.

3 I ſhal geue thee hydde treaſures, and the thyng which is ſecretely kept: that thou mayeſt knowe that I am the Lorde God of Iſrael, which haue called thee by thy name.

4 For Jacob my ſeruantes ſake, and for Iſrael my choſen, I called thee by thy name, and ordeyned thee or euer thou kneweſt me.

5 I am the Lorde, and there is none other, for without me there is no god, I haue prepared thee or euer thou kneweſt me.

6 Therefore they ſhall knowe from the ryſing of the ſunne vnto the goeing downe of the ſame, that al is nothing without me: for I am the Lorde, and there is els none.

7 It is I that created lyght and darkneſſe, I make peace and trouble: yea euen I the Lorde do al theſe thinges.

8 Ye heauens from aboue drop downe, and let the cloudes raine righteouſneſſe: the earth open it ſelfe, let ſaluation & righteouſneſſe growe forth, let it bring them forth together: I the Lorde haue created him.

9 Woe be vnto hym that ſtriueth with his maker, let the potſhard ſtriue with the potſhardes of the earth: || Sayth the clay to the potter, What makeſt thou? or, Thy worke is not perfectly done.

|| Jere. 18.6. Rom. 9.20.

10 Wo be vnto him that saith to his father, What begettest thou? and to his mother, What bearest thou?

11 Thus saith the Lorde, euen the holy one and maker of Israel, Aske me of thinges for to come concerning my sonnes, and put me in remembrance as touching the woorkes of mine handes.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: with my handes haue I spread foorth heauen, and geuen a commaundement for al the host thereof.

13 I shal wake him vp with righteousnesse, and order al his wayes: He shal builde my citie, and let out my prisoners, and that neither for giftes nor rewardes, saith the Lorde of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The occupiers of Egypt, the marchantes of the Ethiopians and Sabees shall come vnto thee with tribute, they shalbe thine, they shal folowe thee, and goe with chaines vpon their feete, they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee: for God, without whom there is none other God, shalbe with thee.

15 O howe profounde art thou, O God, thou God and sauiour of Israel?

16 Confounded are they all and put to dishonour, they are gone hence together with shame, euen the makers of images.

17 But Israel shalbe saued in the Lord with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not come to shame nor confusion worlde without ende.

18 For thus saith the Lorde (that created heauen, the God that made the earth & fashioned it, and set it foorth, he did not make it for nought, but to be inhabited,) I am the Lord, without whom there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken secretely, neither in darke places of the earth: I sayde not in vayne to the seede of Jacob, Seeke me: I am the Lorde, which when I speake doo declare the thyng that is ryghteous and true.

20 Geather you and come togeather, drawe nygh hyther you that escaped of the people: they haue no vnderstandyng that set vp the stockes of their idols, and pray vnto a god that can not helpe them.

21 Drawe nygh, come hyther, and let them aske counsell one at another, and shew foorth what is he that tolde this before, or who spake of it euer since the beginning: haue not I the Lord done it? without whom there is none other God, the true God and sauiour, and there is els none but I.

22 And therefore turne you vnto me al ye endes of the earth, that ye may be saued: for I am God, and there is els none.

23 I sweare by mee selfe, out of my mouth commeth the woord of righteousnes, and that may no man turne: || but al knees shal bow vnto me, and al tonges shal sweare by my name, ||Ro.14.11. Phil.2.10.

24 Saying, Verily in the Lorde is my righteousnes and strength, to hym shal men come, but al they that thynke scorne of hym shalbe confounded.

25 And the whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glory in the Lorde.

¶ The.xlvi. Chapter.

1. Idolatrie is reproued. 3. The health that commeth by Christe is propheſied.

BEl is fallen, Nabo is broken downe, whose images were a burden for the beastes and cattayle, to onerlade them, and to make them weery.

2 They are suncke downe and fallen togeather, for they may not ease them of their burde, therfore must they goe into captiuitie.

3 Hearken vnto me, O house of Jacob, and al ye that remaine yet of the house of Israel, whom I haue borne from your mothers wombe, & brought you vp from your byrth.

4 It is euen I which shal beare you vnto your last age: I haue made you, I wyl also nourish you, beare you, and saue you.

5 Whom wyl ye make me lyke, or to whom wil ye make me equal or compare me, that I shoulde be lyke hym?

6 Take out syluer and gold out of your purses, & waeigh it, and hyre a goldsmith to make a god of it, that men may kneele downe and woorshyp it:

7 ||Yet must he be taken on mens shoulders and borne, and set in his place, that he may stande, and not moue out of his place: and yf one crye vnto hym, he geueth no answeare, and deliuereth not the man that calleth vpon hym from his trouble. ||Baru.6.26

8 Consyder this wel, and be ashamed, goe in to your owne selues.

9 Remember the thynges that are past since the begynnyng of the world, that I am God, and that there is els no God, yea and that there is nothyng lyke vnto me.

10 In the beginning of a thing, I shew the ende thereof, and I tel before thinges that are not yet come to passe: My deuice standeth stedfastly stablished, and I fulfyl al my pleasure.

11 I cal a byrde out of the east, and the man by whom my counsayle shalbe fulfilled out of strange countreyes: as I haue spoken, so wyl I bryng to passe: assoone as I thynke to deuise a thyng, I doo it.

12 Heare me, O ye that are of an hygh stomacke, but farre from righteousnesse:

13 I ſhal bring foorth my righteouſneſſe, it is not farre, and my health ſhall not tary long away: I will lay health in Sion, and in Iſrael my glorie.

¶ The. xlvii. Chapter.

The vvoorde of the Lord againſt Babylon.

BVT as for thee, O daughter, thou virgin Babylon, ſit thou downe in the duſt, ſyt vpon the grounde, there is no throne, O thou daughter of Chaldea, for thou ſhalt no more be called tender and pleaſant.

2 Bring foorth the querne and grinde meale, vntruſſe thy broydred heare, put of thy ſhoes, make bare thy knees, and wade thorowe the water riuers.

3 Thy filthineſſe ſhalbe diſcouered, and thy vniuities ſhalbe ſeene: for I wyl auenge me of thee, and wyl ſhewe no mercy to thee, as I doo to other men. Naum. 3. 3.

4 Our redeemer is called the Lorde of hoſtes, the holy one of Iſrael.

5 Sit ſtyl, holde thy tongue, geat thee into ſome darke corner, O daughter Chaldea: for thou ſhalt no more be called ladye of kyngdomes.

6 I was ſo wroth with my people, that I punished myne inheritance, and gaue them into thy power, neuertheleſſe, thou ſhewedſt them no mercy, but euen the very aged of them diddeſt thou oppreſſe ryght ſore with thy yoke.

7 And thou thoughteſt thus, I ſhalbe lady for euer, and beſyde all that, thou haſte not regarded theſe thinges, neither remembred what was the ende of that citie Hieruſalem.

8 Heare nowe therefore thou delicate one that ſitteſt ſo careleſſe, and ſpeakeſt thus in thyne hart, I am alone, and without me is there none, I ſhall neuer be wyddowe nor deſolate agayne.

9 ‖ And yet both theſe thyngs ſhal come to thee vpon one day in the twinckling of an eye, namely wyddowhood and deſolation: they myghtily fal vppon thee, for the multitude of thy witches, and for the great heape of thy coniurers. ‖ Eſai. 51. 19 Reuel. 18. 7

10 For thou haſt truſted in thy wickednesſe, and haſt ſayd, No man ſeeth me: thine owne wyſedome and cunnyng hath deceyued thee, in that thou haſte ſayde in thyne harte, I am alone, and without me there is none.

11 Therefore ſhal trouble come vppon thee, and thou ſhalt not knowe from whence it ſhal ryſe: miſcheefe ſhal fal vpon thee, whiche thou ſhalt not be able to put of, a ſodayne bitter deſtruction ſhal come vpon thee or euer thou be ware.

12 Nowe goe to thy coniurers, and to the multitude of thy witches with whom thou haſt weerped thee ſelfe from thy youth, if they may helpe thee, or ſtrength thee.

13 Thou haſt hitherto had many counſailes of them: So let the heauen gasers, and the beholders of ſtarrs, and moone prophets, come on nowe and delyuer thee, yea and let them ſhewe when theſe newe thynges ſhal come vpon thee.

14 Beholde, they ſhalbe lyke ſtrawe, which if it be kindled with fyre, no man may rid it for the vehemencie of the flame, and yet it geueth no cynders to warme a man by, nor cleare fyre to ſyt by.

15 Thus are they with whom thou haſt weerped thee ſelfe, and thus are thy marchantes that haue ben with thee from thy youth: euery one hath taken his owne way, and none of them ſhal defende thee.

1. The hypocriſie of the Ievves is reproued. 11. The Lorde alone vvylbe vvoorſhipped, vvhiche hath choſen vs, 20. and vvhich ſuccourth vs for his owne ſake.

HEare this, O thou houſe of Jacob, ye that are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come out of one ſtocke with Juda: whiche ſweare by the name of the Lorde, and beare witneſſe by the God of Iſrael, but not with trueth and ryght.

2 For they are named of the holy citie, and are grounded vpon the God of Iſrael, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſtes.

3 The thinges that I haue ſhewed you euer ſince the beginning, haue I not brought them to paſſe immediatly, as they came out of my mouth, and declared them, and they are come?

4 Howebeit, I knowe that thou art obſtinate, and that thy necke hath an iron ſynowe, and that thy browe is of braſſe.

5 Neuertheleſſe, I haue euer ſince the beginning ſhewed thee of things for to come, and declared them vnto thee or euer they came to paſſe: that thou ſhouldeſt not ſaye, Myne idol hath doone it, my carued or moulten image hath ſhewed it.

6 Thou heardeſt it before, and beholde it is come to paſſe. And ſhal not ye your ſelues ſhewe foorth or confeſſe the ſame? But as for me, I tolde thee before at the begynnyng newe and ſecrete thynges whiche thou knewedſt not of,

7 And ſome doone of olde tyme, whereof thou neuer heardeſt before they were brought to as passe, that thou canst not say, Beholde, I knewe of them.

8 Moreouer, there be some whereof thou hast neither heard nor knowen, neither haue been opened vnto thine eares afore time: For I knewe that thou wouldest maliciously offende, therefore haue I called thee a transgressour, euen from thy mothers wombe.

9 Neuertheless, for my names sake I wyl withdraw my wrath, & for my honours sake I wyl patiently forbeare thee, that I do not roote thee out.

10 Beholde, I haue pourged thee, yet not as siluer, I haue chosen thee in the fire of affliction.

11 And that onely for myne owne sake, yea, euen for mine owne sake wyl I do this: for els what dishonour would they doo to my name? surely I wyl not geue my || glory vnto another. ||Esai. 42. 8.

12 Hearken vnto me, O Iacob, and Israel whom I haue called: || I am euen he that is, I am the first and the last. ||Esai. 41. 4 and 44 6.

13 My hande hath layde the foundation of the earth, and my right hande hath spanned ouer the heauens: as soone as I cal thē, they stande together.

14 Gather you al together, and hearken: Which of yonder goddes hath declared this? The Lorde hath a loue vnto him, and he shal performe his wil against Babel, and declare his power against the Chaldees.

15 I mee selfe alone, euen I haue tolde you this, I did cal him, and bring him forth, and he shal make his iourney prosperous.

16 Come to me, and heare this: haue I spoken any thing darkly since the beginning? From the time that this thing beginneth, I am there: Wherefore the Lorde God and his spirite hath sent me.

17 And thus sayth the Lorde God thy redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the Lorde thy God which teache thee profitable thinges, and leade thee the way that thou shouldest goe.

18 O that thou hadst regarded my commaundementes, then had thy wealthinesse ben as the water streame, and thy righteousnesse as the waues flowing in the sea.

19 Thy seede also had ben like as the sand in the sea, and the fruite of thy body like the gravel stones thereof: His name should not be rooted out, nor destroyed before me.

20 Goe away from Babylon, flee from the Chaldees, with a merry voyce speake of this, declare it abroade, and goe forth into the ende of the worlde, say, || The Lorde hath redeemed his seruant Iacob. Exod. 17. 6

21 They suffered no thirste, he led them through the wyldernesse, and caused the || waters to flowe out vnto them from out of the rocke: he claue the rocke in sunder, and the water gushed out. ||Nu. 20. 11

22 As for the vngodly, || they haue no peace, saith the Lorde. ||Esai. 57. 21

¶ The xlix Chapter.

6. Christe shal gather together al nations be they neuer so farre of.

YE Iles hearken vnto me, and take heede ye people from farre: The Lorde hath called me from my byrth, and made mention of my name from my mothers wombe:

2 He hath made my mouth like a sharpe swoorde, vnder the shadowe of his hand hath he defended me, and hidde me in his quiuer as a good arrowe,

3 And said vnto me, || Thou art my seruant Israel, I wyl be honoured in thee. ||Esai. 51. 16

4 Then I answeared, I haue lost my labour, I haue spent my strength in vayne: Neuertheless I wyll commit my cause and my worke vnto the Lord my God.

5 And nowe, saith the Lorde, Euen he that fashioned me from my mothers wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iacob againe vnto him, albeit, Israel wil not be gathered vnto him againe, yet in Goddes sight shal I be glorious, my GOD shalbe my strength.

6 And he saide, It is but a smal thing that thou art my seruant, to set vp the kindredes of Iacob, and to restore the destruction of Israel: || For I haue made thee the light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my health vnto the ende of the worlde. ||Esai. 42. 6 Actes. 13. 47.

7 Moreouer, thus saith the Lorde, the redeemer and holy one of Israel, concerning the abhorred and despised among the Gentiles and the seruant of them that beare rule, Kinges and princes shal see, and arise, and worship, because of the Lorde that is faythful, & because of the holy one of Israel that hath chosen thee.

8 And thus saith the Lorde, || In the time accepted haue I hearde thee: and in the day of saluation haue I helped thee: I wyll preserue thee, and make thee to be the attonement of the people, that thou mayest helpe vp the earth agayne, and possesse agayne the desolate heritages. ||1. Cor. 6. 2.

9 That thou mayest saye vnto the prisoners, Goe forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Come into the light: they shall feede thee in the high wayes, and great their pasture in al high places.

10 || They shall neither hunger, nor thyrste, ||Reu. 7. 16 thirſte, heate nor ſunne ſhal not hurt them: for he that fauoureth them ſhal leade them, and geue them drinke of the wel ſpringes.

11 I wyl make wayes vppon all my mountaines, & my fotepathes ſhalbe exalted.

12 And beholde, theſe ſhall come from farre, loe, ſome from the North and Weſt, ſome from the lande of Sinis, whiche is in the South.

13 Reioyce ye heauens, and ſing prayſes thou earth, talke of ioy ye hilles: for God hath comforted his people, and wyll haue mercy vpon his that be in trouble.

14 But Sion ſaid, God hath forſaken me, and my Lorde hath forgotten me.

15 Wyll a woman forgeat her owne infant, and not pitie the ſonne of her owne wombe? And though they doo forgeat, yet wil I not forgeat thee.

16 Behold, I haue written thee vp vpon my handes, thy walles are euer in my ſight.

17 They make haſt who buyldeth thee vp againe: as for thoſe that ouerthrowe thee, and make thee waſte, they ſhal depart from thee.

‖Eſai.60.4 18 ‖Lift vp thine eyes, and looke about thee, all theſe geather them togeather, and come to thee: As truely as I liue, ſaith the Lorde, thou ſhalt put them al vppon thee as an apparrell, and gyrde them vnto thee, as a bryde dooth her Jewels.

19 As for thy lande that lyeth deſolate, waſted, and deſtroyed, it ſhalbe too narrowe for them that ſhall dwel in it, and they that woulde deuour thee, they ſhalbe farre away.

20 Then thy children whom the barren ſhal bring forth, ſhal ſay in thine eare, This place is too narowe, geue place that I may haue roome.

21 Then ſhalt thou thinke by thee ſelfe, Who hath begotten me theſe, ſeeing I am barren and alone, a captiue and an outcaſt: and who hath nouriſhed them vp for me? I am deſolate and alone, but from whence come theſe?

22 And therefore thus ſaith the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl ſtretche out my hande vnto the Gentiles, and ſet vp my token to the people, they ſhal bring thee thy ſonnes in their lappes, and carry thy daughters vnto thee vpon their ſhoulders.

23 For kinges ſhalbe thy nurſing fathers, and queenes ſhalbe thy nurſing mothers: they ſhal fal before thee with their faces flat vpon the earth, and licke vp the duſt of thy feete: that thou mayeſt knowe howe that I am the Lorde, and that who ſo putteth their truſt in me, ſhal not be confounded.

24 Shal the ſpoyle be taken from the mightie? or the lawful priſoner from the taker?

25 But thus ſayth the Lorde, The priſoners ſhalbe taken from the mightie, & the ſpoyle ſhalbe recouered from the violent: for I wil mainteine thy cauſe againſt thine aduerſarie, and I wil ſaue thy ſonnes.

26 And I wil feede thine enimies with their owne fleſhe, and make them drunken with their owne blood, as with ſweete wine: And all fleſhe ſhall knowe, O Jacob, that I am the Lorde thy ſauiour, thy noble redeemer.

¶ The. l. Chapter.

The Iewes are reprooued and alſo called.

THus ſaith the Lorde, Where is the byll of your mothers deuorcement, wherwith I ſent away? or who is the vſurer to whom I ſolde you? Beholde, for your offences are you ſolde, and becauſe of your tranſgreſſion is your mother forſaken.

2 For why? woulde no man receiue me when I came? And when I called, no man gaue me anſweare: ‖Is my hande ſhortned that it might not helpe? or haue I not power to deliuer? loe, at a worde I drinke vp the ſea, and of water flooddes I make drye land: ſo that for want of water the fiſhe dooth corrupt, and dye for thirſte. ‖Eſai.59.8

3 As for heauen, I clothe it with darkeneſſe, and put as it were a ſacke vpon it.

4 The Lorde God hath geuen me a wel learned tongue, ſo that I can comfort them that are troubled, yea, and that in due ſeaſon he waketh mine eare vp betimes in the morning, I ſay betimes in the morning he wil waken mine eare, that I might hearken as to the ſchoolemaiſters.

The Epiſtle on the Tueſday before Eaſter.

4 The Lorde God hath opened mine eare, and I haue not gainſaide, nor withdrawen mee ſelfe.

6 ‖But I offered my backe vnto the ſmiters, & my cheekes vnto the nippers: I turned not my face from ſhame and ſpittinges. ‖Mat.26.67

7 And the Lorde God ſhall helpe me, therefore ſhal I not be confounded: I haue therefore hardened my face like a flint ſtone, for I am ſure that I ſhal not come to confuſion.

8 ‖He is at hand that iuſtifieth me, who wil then goe with me to lawe? Let vs ſtande togeather, yf there be any that wil reaſon with me, let hym come here foorth to me. ‖Rom.8.33.

9 Behold, the Lord God wyl helpe me, what is he then that can condemne me? loe, they al ſhal ware olde like a cloth, the moth ſhal eate them vp.

10 Therefore

10 Therefore who so feareth the Lorde among you, let him heare the voyce of his seruant: Who so walketh in darknesse, and no lyght shyneth vppon him, let him put his trust in the name of the Lorde, and hold him by his God.

11 But take heede, ye all kyndle a fyre, and styre vp the coales: walke on in the glisterynge of your owne fyre, and in the coales that ye haue kyndeled: This commeth vnto you from my hande, namely, that ye shall sleepe in sorowe.

¶ The. Li. Chapter.

Consolation and comfort is promysed vnto the faythfull.

HEarken vnto me ye that hold of ryghteousnesse, and ye that seeke the Lorde: take heede to the stone whereout ye are hewen, & to the graue wherout ye are digged.

2 Consyder Abraham your father, and Sara that bare you, howe that I called him alone, and blessed him, and encreased him.

3 Therfore shal the Lorde comfort Sion, and repayre al her decay, makyng her desart as a paradise, and her wyldernesse as the garden of the Lorde: Myrth and ioy shalbe founde there, thankes geuyng, and the voyce of prayse.

4 Haue respect vnto me thē, O my people, both hygh and lowe, and laye thyne eare vnto me: for a lawe and an ordinaunce shall goe forth from me to lyghten the Gentiles.

5 It is harde by that my healthe and my ryghteousnesse shal goe forth, and the people shalbe oured with myne arme: the Ilandes, that is the Gentiles, shall hope in me, and put their trust in myne arme.

6 Lyfte vp your eyes towarde heauen, and looke vppon the earth beneathe: for the heauens shal vanishe away lyke smoke, and the earth shal ware olde lyke a garment, and they that dwell therein shall perysshe in lyke manner: but my saluation shall endure for euer, and my ryghteousnesse shal not ceasse.

7 Hearken vnto me ye that haue knowledge in ryghteousnesse, thou people that beareſt my lawe in thyne hart: feare not the reuylynges of men, be not afrayde of their blasphemies.

8 For woormes and mothes shall eate them vp lykecloth and wooll: but my ryghteousnesse shall endure for euer, and my sauyng health from generation to generation.

9 Wake vp, wake vp, and be strong, O thou arme of the Lorde, wake vp, lyke as in tyme past, euer, and since the worlde began.

10 ‖Art not thou the same arme that hast wounded the proude, and hewen the dragon in peeces? Art not thou euen the same whiche hast dryed vp the deepe of the sea, whiche hast made plaine the sea ground, that the delyuered myght goe through?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall turne agayne, and come with ioye vnto Sion, continual ioy shalbe in their head, and myrth and gladnesse shalbe with them, and sorowe and woe shal flee from them.

12 Yea I, euen I am he that in al thynges geueth you consolation: what art thou then that feareſt a mortal man, & the child of man, whiche goeth away as doeth the floure?

13 And forgetteſt the Lorde that made thee, that spread out the heauens, and layde the fundation of the earth: but thou art euer afrayd for the spyght of thine oppressour, whiche is redy to doo harme: where is the wrath of the oppressour?

14 The exile maketh haste to be loosed, that he dye not in prysō, and that his breed fayle him not.

15 I am the Lord thy God, that diuide the sea, & his waues shall rage, whose name is the Lorde of hostes.

16 ‖I haue put my woordes in thy mouth, & haue defended thee in the shadowe of my hande, that I may plant the heauens, and laye the fundation of the earth, and say vnto Sion, Thou art my people. ‖Esai.49.3.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, thou that from the hand of the lord hast dronken out the cup of his wrath, thou that hast supped of and sucked out the slumbryng cup to the bottome.

18 For among all the sonnes whom he hath gotten, there is not one that may holde it vp, and not one to leade it by the hand, of al the sonnes that he hath nourysshed.

19 ‖Both theſe thynges are happened vnto thee, but who is sorry for it? pen destruction, wastyng, hunger, and swoorde, but who wyl comfort thee? ‖Esai.47.9.

20 Thy sonnes lye comfortlesse at the head of euery streete lyke a taken venison, and are ful of the terrible wrath of the Lord, and punyshment of thy God.

21 And therefore thou miserable and dronken (howbeit not with wyne) heare this:

22 Thus sayth the Lord, thy Lord and God, the defender of his people, Beholde, I wyl take the slumbryng cup out of his hand, euen the cup with the dregges of my wrath, that from henceforth thou shalt neuer drinke of it more:

23 But I wyll put it into their hande that trouble thee, whiche haue spoken to thy soule, Stowpe downe, that we may goe ouer thee, thee, make thy body euen with the grounde, and as the ſtreete to goe vpon.

‖Ecc.14.21.

¶ The.lii. Chapter.

An exhortation and comfort to the people of God.

VP Sion, vp, take thy ſtrength vnto thee, put on thyne honeſt rayment, O Hieruſalem, thou holy citie: for from this tyme forth there ſhal no vncircumciſed nor vncleane perſon come in thee.

2 Shake thee from the duſt, aryſe and ſtande vp, O Hieruſalem: plucke out thy necke from the bond, O thou captiue daughter Sion.

3 For thus ſayth the Lorde, Ye are ſold for nought, therefore ſhal ye be redeemed alſo without any money.

‖ Gen.46.6. 4 ‖ For thus ſayth the Lorde God, My people went downe afore tyme into Egypt, there to be ſtrangers, and the kyng of the Aſſyrians oppreſſed them without any cauſe.

‖ Exec.36.20 Rom.2.24. 5 And nowe, what profyte is it to me, ſaith the Lord, ‖ that my people is freely caryed away, and brought into beaupneſſe by their rulers, and my name euer ſtyl blaſphemed, ſayth the Lorde?

6 But that my people maye knowe my name, I mee ſelfe wyl ſpeake in that day, Beholde here am I.

‖ Num.1.15 Rom.10.15. 7 ‖ O how beautiful are the feete of the Ambaſſadour that bryngeth þ meſſage from the mountayne, and proclaimeth peace? that bryngeth the good tydynges, and preacheth health, and ſayth vnto Sion, Thy God is the kyng.

8 Thy watchmen ſhall lyfte vp their voyce, with loude voyce they ſhal reioyce together: for they ſhal ſee playnely when the Lorde ſhal conuert Sion.

9 Be glad, O thou deſolate Hieruſalem, and reioyce together: for the Lorde hath comforted his people, he hath delyuered Hieruſalem.

10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arme, & ſhewed it forth in the ſyght of al the Gentiles, ‖ and al the ends of the earth hath ſeene the ſauyng health of our God.

‖ Pſal.98.2.

11 Away, away, ‖ geat you out from hence, and touch no vncleane thyng: goe out from among ſuche, and be cleane that beare the veſſel of the Lorde.

13 Beholde, my a ſeruaunt ſhal deale proſperouſly, therefore ſhal he be magnified, exalted, and greatly honoured.

14 Like as the multitude ſhal woonder vpon him, becauſe his face ſhalbe ſo deformed, and not as mans face, his beautie lyke no mans:

15 Euen ſo ſhall the multitude of the Gentiles ſpeake of him, and kinges ſhal ſhut their mouthes before him: ‖ for they haue ‖ Ro.15.21. ſeene that which was not tolde to them, and haue vnderſtand that whereof they haue not hearde.

¶ The.liii. Chapter.

He propheſieth euidently of the paſſion of our Sauiour Ieſus Chriſte.

BVT ‖ who hath geuen credence vnto our preaching? or to whom is the arme of the Lorde knowen? ‖ Joh.12.38. Rom.10.16,

2 For he dyd growe before the Lorde, lyke as a branche, and as a roote in a dry grounde, he hath neither beautie nor fauour: whē we looke vpon him there ſhalbe no fairneſſe, we ſhal haue no luſt vnto him.

3 ‖ He is deſpiſed and abhorred of men, he is ſuche a man as hath good experience of ſorowes and infyrmities: We haue reckoned him ſo vile, that we hyd our faces from him. ‖ Mark.9.12.

4 ‖ Howbeit, he only hath taken on him our infyrmitie, and borne our payines: yet we dyd iudge him as though he were plagued, and caſt downe of God. ‖ Mat.8.17. 1.Pet.2.24.

5 ‖ Whereas he not withſtandyng was wounded for our offences, & ſmytten for our wickednelle: for the paine of our puniſhment was layd vpon him, and with his ſtrypes are we healed. ‖ 1.Co.15.3.

6 ‖ As for vs, we are al gone aſtray like ſheepe, euery one hath turned his owne way: but the Lord hath throwen vpon him al our ſynnes. ‖ Luke.

7 ‖ He ſuffered violence, and was euyll intreated, and dyd not open his mouth: he ſhalbe led as a ſheepe to be ſlayne, yet ſhal he be as ſtyll as a Lambe before the ſheater, ‖ and not open his mouth. ‖ Joh.10.15. Math.26.63. Actes.8.32.

8 From the pryſon and iudgement was he taken, & his generation who can declare? for he was cut of from the grounde of the lyuyng, whiche punyſhment dyd goe vpon him for the tranſgreſſion of my people.

9 His graue was geuen him with the condemned, and with the ryche man at his death, ‖ whereas he dyd neuer violence nor vnryght, neyther hath there been any deceytefulneſſe in his mouth. ‖ 1.Pet.2.

10 Yet hath it pleaſed the Lorde to ſmite him with infirmitie, that when he had made his ſoule an offeryng for ſinne, he myght might see long lasting seede: and this deuice of the Lord shal prosper in his handes.

11 Of the trauayle and labour of his soule shal he see the fruite, and be satisfied: my ryghteous seruant shal with his knowledge institute the multitude, for he shal beare their sinnes.

12 Therefore wyl I geue him among the great ones his part, and he shal diuide the spoyle with the mightie, because he geueth ouer his soule to death, || and is reckened among the transgressours: whiche neuertheiesse hath taken away the sinnes of the multitude, and made intercession for the misdoers.

1. Of the great dominion of Christe. 7. The indignation of God endureth but a shorte space, but his mercy is euerlastyng.

|| Luk.23.29. Gala.4.27.

BE || glad nowe thou barren that bearest not, reioyce, syng, and be merry, thou that art not with childe: for the desolate hath moe children then the marryed wyfe, sayth the Lorde.

2 Make thy tent wyder, and spread out the hangynges of thyne habitation: spare not, laye foorth thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes:

3 For thou shalt be multiplyed on the right side, and one the leaft, and thy seede shal haue the Gentiles in possession, and dwel in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not, for thou shalt not be confounded: be not ashamed, for thou shalt not come to confusion: yea, thou shalt forgeat the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the dishonor of thy widowehead.

|| Luke.1.15.

5 For he that made thee, shalbe thy lord & husbande (whose || name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer shalbe euen the holy one of Israel, and the Lorde of the whole worlde.

6 For the Lorde hath called thee being as a desolate sorowful woman, & as a young wyfe that was forsaken, sayth thy God.

7 A litle while haue I forsaken thee: but with great mercyfulnesse shall I take thee vp vnto me.

|| Gen.9.11.

9 || And this is vnto me as the water of Noe: for like as I haue sworne that I wil not bring the water of Noe any more vppon the worlde: so haue I sworne that I wyl neuer be angry with thee, nor reproue thee.

10 The mountaynes shal remoone, and the hylles shal fal downe, but my louyng kindnesse shal not moone, and the bond of my peace shal not fal downe from thee, saith the Lorde, thy merciful louer.

11 Beholde thou poore, vexed, and despised, I wyl make thy walles of precious stones, and thy fundation of Saphires, 12 Thy windowes of Chrystal, thy gates of fine cleare stone, and al thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 Thy children shalbe al taught of God, I wyl geue thee plenteousnesse of peace. || Joh.6.45.

14 In righteousnesse shalt thou be grounded, and be farre from oppression: for the which thou needest not to be afrayde, neither for hinderance, for it shal not come nygh thee.

15 Loe, who so gathereth together against thee, dooth it without me, and who so within thee, dooth ioyne together against thee, shal surely fal.

16 Behold, I make the Smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and he maketh a weapon after his handy worke: I make also the waster to destroy.

17 But al the weapons that are made against thee, shal not prosper: and as for al tongues that shall resist thee in iudgement, thou shalt ouercome them, and condemne the: this is the heritage of the Lords seruantes, and their righteousnesse commeth of me, saith the Lorde.

4 Beholde, I gaue hym for a witnesse among the folke, for a prince and a teacher vnto the people.

5 Loe, thou shalt cal an vnknowen people: and a people that hath no knowledge of thee, shal runne vnto thee, because of the Lorde Lorde thy God, and the holy one of Iſrael whiche glorifieth thee.

6 Seeke the Lorde while he may be founde, and cal vpon hym while he is nigh.

7 Let the vngodly man forſake his owne wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and turne agayne vnto the Lorde, ſo ſhal he be merciful vnto hym, and to our God, for he is very redy to forgeue.

8 For thus ſayth the Lord, My thoughtes are not your thoughtes, and your wayes are not my wayes.

9 But as farre as the heauens are higher then the earth: ſo farre doo my wayes exceede yours, and my thoughtes yours.

10 And like as the rayne and ſnowe cõmeth downe from heauen, and returneth not thither agayne, but watereth the earth, maketh it fruiteful and greene, that it may geue rome vnto the ſower: and bread to him that eateth:

11 So the woorde alſo that commeth out of my mouth, ſhal not turne againe voyde vnto me, but ſhal accompliſhe my wyl, and proſper in the thing whereto I ſende it.

12 And ſo ſhall ye goe forth with ioy: and be led with peace: the mountaynes and hilles ſhall ſing with you for ioy, and all the trees of the feelde ſhal clap their handes.

13 For thornes there ſhall growe fyre trees, and the myrre tree in ſteede of bryers: and this ſhalbe doone to the prayſe of the Lorde, and for an euerlaſtyng token that ſhal not be taken away.

¶ The.lvi. Chapter.

1. An exhortation to iudgement and ryghteouſneſſe, and to the ſpiritual keepyng of the Sabboth. 10. Againſt ſhepheardes that deuour the flocke.

¶Miled. 1.1. THus ſayth the Lorde, ||Keepe equitie, and doo ryght: for my ſauing health ſhal come ſhortly, & my righteouſneſſe ſhalbe opened.

2 Bleſſed is the man that dooth this, and the mans chyld which keepeth the ſame: he that taketh heede that he vnhalowe not the Sabboth, that is he that kepeth him ſelfe that he doo no euil.

3 Then ſhal not the ſtranger which cleaueth vnto the Lorde, ſay, Alas the Lord hath ſhut me cleane out from his people: neyther ſhal the gelded man ſay, Loe, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus ſayth the Lord vnto the gelded that keepeth my Sabboth, namely, that holdeth greatly of the thing that pleaſeth me, and keepeth my couenant:

5 Vnto them wyll I geue in my houſe holde, and within my walles, a better heritage and name then if they hadde been called ſonnes and daughters: I wyl geue them an euerlaſtyng name that ſhal not periſhe.

6 Agayne, the ſtrangers that ſticke to the Lorde to ſerue him, and to loue his name, and to be his ſeruantes, and all they whiche keepe them ſelues that they vnhalowe not the Sabboth, namely, that they fulfyl my couenant:

7 Them will I bring to my holy mountaine, and make them ioyful in my houſe of prayer: their burnt offerings & ſacrifices ſhalbe accepted vpon myne aulter: ||for my houſe ſhalbe called an houſe of prayer for al people. ||Mat. 21.13 Mark.11.17. Luk.19.46.

8 Thus ſayth the Lorde God whiche geathereth together the ſcattered of Iſrael, I wyll bring yet another congregation to hym.

9 Come al ye beaſtes of the feelde, that ye may deuour al the beaſtes of the wood.

10 For his watchemen are al blind, they haue altogether no vnderſtanding, they are al dumbe dogges, not being able to barke, they are ſleepie, ſluggiſhe are they and lye ſnorting.

11 They are ſhameleſſe dogges that be neuer ſatiſfyed: the ſhepheardes alſo in like maner haue no vnderſtandyng, ||but euery man turneth his owne way, euery one after his owne couetouſneſſe with all his power. ||Ier.6.13.

12 ||Come ſay they I wyl fetche wyne, ſo ſhal we fyl our ſelues, that we may be dronken: and to morowe like as to day, yea, and muche more. ||Sapien.2.6

¶ The.lvii. Chapter.

1. The good men are taken away. 3. The vvicked ones take pleaſure in Idolatrie, the godly receyue comfort, the vvicked dooth periſhe.

THe righteous periſheth, & no man regardeth it in his hart: good godly people are taken away, and no man conſydereth it, namely, that the righteous is conueyed away from the wicked.

2 He commeth into peace, and godly men reſt in their chambers, and before the godly man goeth peace.

3 Come hither therefore ye charmers chyldren, ye ſonnes of the aduulterer, and the whoore.

4 Wherein take ye your pleaſure? vpon whom gape ye with your mouth, and bleare out your tongue? are ye not chyldren of tranſgreſſion, and a ſeede of diſſimulation?

5 Ye

5 Ye make your fyres vnder the Okes, and vnder al greene trees, & ye offer thy dren in the valleyes and dennes of stone,

6 Thy parte shalbe with the stony rockes by the ryuer, yea euen these shalbe thy parte: for there thou hast powred meate and drynke offeryng vnto them: shoulde I delyte in that?

7 Thou hast made thy bed vppon hygh mountaynes, thou wentest vp thyther, and there thou hast slayne sacrifices.

8 Behynde the doores and postes hast thou set vp thy remembraunce, when thou hadst discouered thee selfe to an other then me, when thou wentest vp, and made thy bed wyder, and with those idols hast thou made a couenant, and louedst their couches where thou sawest them.

9 Thou wentest straight to kyngs with oyle and dyuers oyntments, that is, thou hast sent thy messengers farre of, and yet art thou fallen vnto the pyt.

10 Thou art weery for the multitude of thyne owne wayes, yet saydest thou neuer, There is no hope: thou hast had the lyfe that thy handes wrought, and therefore thou art careles.

11 For whom wylt thou be abashed or feare, seeyng thou hast broken thy promyse, and remembrest not me, neyther hast me in thyne hart? Thynkest thou that I also wyll holde my peace as aforetyme, that thou fearest me not?

12 Yea verily I wyl declare thy goodnesse and thy woorkes, but they shal not profyte thee.

13 When thou cryest, let thy chosen heape delyuer thee: but the wynde shal blow them foorth, and vanitie shal take them al away: neuertheles, they that put their trust in me, shall inherite the lande, and haue my holy hyl in possession.

‖Esai.40.4. ‖c.62.10. 14 ‖And therfore thus he sayth, Make playne, make playne, and cleanse the streete, take vp the stumblyng blockes out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith the hygh & excellent, euen he that dwelleth in euerlastyngnesse, whose name is the holy one: I dwell hygh aboue, & in the sanctuarie, and with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirite doo I dwel, that I may heale a troubled mynde, and a contrite hart.

16 For I chyde not euer, and am not wroth without ende: but the blastyng goeth from me, and is included in the body, and I made the breath.

17 I am wroth with him for his couetousnesse, I smyte him, I hyde me, and am angrye, and he turneth him selfe, and foloweth the way of his owne hart.

18 I haue seene his waies, and I heale him, I leade him, & restore to him comfort, and to those that were sory for him.

19 I make the fruites of thankes geuing, that he may say, Peace, peace, vnto them that are farre of, & vnto them that are nygh, sayth the Lorde, I make him whole.

20 But the wicked are lyke the ragyng sea that can not rest, whose water cometh with the myre and grauel.

21 ‖Euen so the wicked haue no peace, sayth God. ‖Esai.48.22

¶ The.lviii. Chapter.

1. The Lorde (by the mouth of the Prophete) reproueth the people for their fastynges, 5. VVhiche vvere ful of hypocrisie.

CRie nowe as loude as thou canst, leaue not of, lyft vp thy voyce lyke a Trumpet, and shew my people their offences, and the house of Iacob their sinnes.

2 For they seeke me daylye, and wyll knowe my wayes, euen as it were a people that dyd ryght, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me concernyng ryght iudgement, and wyl be nygh vnto God.

3 Wherefore fast we, say they, and thou seest it not? we put our lyues to straytnesse, and thou regardest it not?

4 Beholde, when ye fast, your lust remayneth styll, for ye doo no lesse violence to your debters: loe, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smyte with your fyst without mercy: nowe ye shall not fast thus, that your voyce myght be heard aboue.

5 ‖Thynke ye this fast pleaseth me, ‖Zache.7.5. that a man shoulde chasten him selfe for a day? and to hang downe his head lyke a bulrushe, and to lye vpon the earth in an hearye cloth? Shoulde that be called fastyng, or a day that pleaseth the Lorde?

6 Doeth not this fastyng rather please me, That thou lose the wicked bandes, that thou take of the ouer heauie burdens, that thou let the oppressed goe free, and breake al maner of yoke?

7 ‖To deale thy bread to the hungry, ‖Eze.18.16. and to bryng the poore wandryng home into Mat.25.35. thy house? when thou seest the naked that thou couer him, and hyde not thee selfe from thyne owne flesshe?

8 Then shal thy lyght breake foorth as the morowng, and thy health flourishe ryght hastely: ryghteousnesse shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shal embrace thee.

9 Then yf thou callest, the Lorde shall answeare thee, yf thou cryest, he shall say, Here I am: yea if thou takest away from thee thy thy burdens, and holdeſt thy fyngers, & reaſeſt from vngracious talkyng:

10 Yf thou haſt compaſſion vppon the hungry, & refreſheſt the troubled ſoule, then ſhall thy lyght ſpryng out in the darkeneſſe, and thy darkneſſe ſhalbe as the noone day.

11 The Lorde ſhall euer be thy guyde, and ſatiſfie the deſyre of thy hart in the tyme of dronght, and fyl thy bones with marowe: thou ſhalt be lyke a freſhe watered garden, and lyke the fountayne of water that neuer leaueth rumnyng.

‖ Eſai.61.4. 12 ‖ Then the places that haue euer been waſte, ſhalbe builded of thee, there ſhalt thou lay a fondation for many kinreds: thou ſhalt be called the maker vp of the breache, and the builder againe of the way to dwel in.

13 Yea if thou turne thy feete from the ſabboth, ſo that thou doo not thyng whiche pleaſeth thee ſelfe in my holy day, & thou cal the pleaſant, holy, and glorious ſabboth of the Lorde, and that thou geue him the honour, ſo that thou doo not after thyne owne imagination, neyther ſeeke thyne owne wyl, nor ſpeake thyne owne woordes:

14 Then ſhalt thou haue thy pleaſure in the Lorde, and I wyll carry thee hygh aboue the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the Lordes owne mouth hath ſo promyſed.

The.lix. Chapter.

1. The Lorde is myghtie to ſaue, and redie to heare our requeſtes, 12. our ſinnes are the cauſe why GOD heareth not vs, neyther graunteth our requeſtes.

‖ Eſai.50.2. Num.11.23 BEhold, ‖ the Lordes hand is not ſo ſhortened that it can not helpe, neither is his eare ſo ſtopped that it may not heare.

2 But your myſdeedes haue ſeparated you from your God, and your ſynnes hide his face from you, that he heareth you not.

‖ Eſai.1.15. 3 ‖ For your handes are defyled with blood, and your fyngers with vnryghteouſneſſe: your lippes ſpeake lealyngs, and your tongue ſetteth out wickednelſe.

4 No man regardeth ryghteouſneſſe, & no man iudgeth truelye: euery man hopeth in vayne thyngs, and imagineth deceyte, ‖ conceyueth weerynelſe, & bryngeth forth euyll. ‖ Job.15.35. Pſalm.7.15.

5 They breede Cockatrice egges, and weaue the Spyders webbe, who ſo eateth of their egges dyeth: but yf one treade vppon them, there commeth vp a Serpent.

6 Their webbe maketh no cloth, & they may not couer them with their labours: their deedes are the deedes of wickednelſe, and the woorke of robberie is in their handes.

7 ‖ Their feete runne to euyll, and they make haſte to ſhedde innocent blood, their counſels are wicked counſels, harme and deſtruction are in their wayes. ‖ Pſa.1.16. Rom.3.15.

8 But the way of peace they knowe not, in their goynges is no equitie: their wayes are ſo crooked, that whoſoeuer goeth therin, knoweth of no peace.

9 And this is the cauſe that equitie is ſo farre from vs, and that ryghteouſneſſe commeth not nygh vs: we looke for lyght, loe it is darkeneſſe, for the mornyng ſhyne, ſee we walke in the darke.

10 We grope lyke the blynde vpon the wal, we grope euen as one that hath no eies, we ſtumble at the noone day, as though it were towarde nyght in the fallyng places, lyke men that are halfe dead.

11 We rore all lyke Beares, & mourne ſtyll lyke Doues: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our offences are many before thee, and our ſynnes teſtifie againſt vs: yea, we muſt confeſſe that we offende, and knowledge that we doo amiſſe:

13 Namely, tranſgreſſe and diſſemble againſt the Lorde, and fall away from our God, vſyng preſumptuous and trayterous imaginations, and caſtyng falſe matters in our hartes. ‖ Eſai.

14 And therefore is equitie gone aſyde, and ryghteouſneſſe ſtandeth farre of, trueth is fallen downe in the ſtreete, and the thyng that is playne and open, may not be ſhewed.

15 Yea, the trueth is taken away, and he that refrayneth him ſelfe from euyl, muſt be ſpoyled: when the Lorde ſawe this, it diſpleaſed him ſore that there was no equitie.

16 He ſaw alſo that there was no man ryghteous, and he woondred that there was no man to helpe him: wherefore he held him by his owne power, and he ſtaſteyned him by his owne ryghteouſneſſe.

17 ‖ He put ryghteouſneſſe vppon him for a hzelt plate, he ſet the helmet of health vpon his head: he put on wrath in the ſteade of clothyng, and tooke ielouſie about him for a cloke. ‖ Ephe.6.17. 1.Theſ.5.8.

18 Euen as when a man goeth forth wrathfully to recompence his enimies, and to be auenged of his aduerſaries, he wyl recompence and rewarde the Ilandes.

19 They ſhall feare the name of the Lord from the ryſyng of the Sunne, and his maieſtie vnto the goyng downe of the ſame: for he ſhall come as a violent water ſtreame, whiche the wynde of the Lorde hath moued.

20 But vnto ‖ Sion there ſhall come a redeemer, ‖ Rom.11.26 redeemer, and vnto them in Iacob that turne from wickednesse, sayth the Lorde.

21 I wyl make this couenant with them (sayth the Lorde:) My spirite that is vpon thee, and the wordes whiche I haue put in thy mouth, shal neuer goe out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy children, from this time forth for euermore worlde without ende, sayth the Lorde.

¶ The. lx. Chapter.

1. A consolation and comfort to Hierusalem. 3. The churche is geathered togeather among the Gentiles by preaching of the Gospell, 16. and aboundeth with al good thinges.

GEate thee vp betymes, and be bright, O Hierusalem, for thy light commeth, and the glory of the Lorde is rysen vp vpon thee.

2 For loe, while the darkenesse and cloud couereth the earth and the people, the Lorde shal shewe thee light, and his glory shalbe seene in thee.

3 The gentiles shal come to thy light, and kinges to the brightnesse that springeth forth vpon thee.

‖Esai. 49.18 4 ‖Lyft vp thine eyes, and loke rounde about thee: al these geather them selues and come to thee, thy sonnes shal come vnto thee from farre, and thy daughters shal geather them selues to thee on euery side.

5 Then thou shalt see this and be glorious, thou shalt marueile exceedingly, & thine hart shalbe opened: when the abundance of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee that is when the riches of the gentiles shal come vnto thee,

6 The multitude of Camels shal couer thee, the Dromedaries of Madian and Epha: al they of Saba shal come, bringyng golde and encense, and shewing the prayse of the Lorde.

7 All the cattel of Cedar shalbe geathered vnto thee, the rammes of Nabaioth shal serue thee, to be offered acceptably vpon myne aulter, and the house of my glory wyl I garnishe.

8 But what are these that flee here lyke the cloudes, & as the doues sleeyng to theyr windowes?

9 The Iles also shal wayte for me, & specially the shippes of Tharsis, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and theyr syluer and theyr golde with them, vnto the name of the Lorde thy God, vnto the holy one of Israel that hath glorified thee.

10 Straungers shall builde vp thy walles, and theyr kinges shal do thee seruice: for when I was angry, I smote thee, and of my mercy I pardoned thee.

11 ‖Thy gates shal stande open styl both day and night, and neuer be shut, that the host of the Gentiles may come, and that theyr kynges may be brought vnto thee. ‖Apoc.21.24

12 For euery people and kingdome that serueth not thee shal perishe, and be destroyed with vtter destruction.

13 The glory of Libanus shal come vnto thee, the Firre trees, Boxes, and Cedars togeather, to garnishe the place of my sanctuarie: for I wyl glorifie the place of my feete.

14 Moreouer those shal come kneeling vnto thee that haue vexed thee, and al they that despise thee shal fal downe at thy foote: thou shalt be called the citie of the Lorde, Sion the citie of the holy one of Israel.

15 Because thou hast ben forsaken and hated, so that no man went through thee: I wyl make thee glorious for euer and euer, and ioyful throughout al posterities.

16 Thou shalt sucke the mylke of the Gentiles, and kynges breastes shal feede thee, and thou shalt knowe that I the Lorde am thy sauiour and redeemer, the mightie one of Iacob.

17 For brasse, wil I geue thee golde, & for iron, siluer: for wood, brasse: & for stones, iron: I wil turne thine oppression into peace, and thine exactions into righteousnesse.

18 Violence & robbery shal neuer be hearde of in thy lande, neyther harme and destruction within thy borders: thy walles shalbe called health, & thy gates the prayse of God.

19 ‖The sunne shal neuer be thy day lyght, and the lyght of the moone shal neuer shine vnto thee: but the Lorde hym selfe shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God shalbe thy glory. ‖Apoc.21.23

20 Thy sunne shal neuer goe downe, and thy moone shal not be hyd: for the Lord hym selfe shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy sorowfull dayes shalbe ended.

21 The people shalbe al righteous and possesse the lande euer, the floure of my plantyng, the worke of my handes whereof I wyl reioyce.

22 The youngest and least shal growe into a thousande, and the simplest into a strong people: I the Lorde shal shortly bring this thing to passe in his tyme.

¶ The. lxi. Chapter.

6 But ye ſhalbe named the prieſtes of the Lord, and men ſhal cal you the ſeruantes of our God: ye ſhall enioy the goodes of the Gentiles, and triumph in their ſubſtance.

7 For your great reproofe you ſhal haue double ioy, and for ſhame ſhal they haue ioy of their portion: for they ſhal haue double poſſeſſion in their lande, and euerlaſtyng ioy ſhalbe with them.

FOR Sions ſake wyll I not holde my tongue, and for Hieruſalems ſake I wyl not ceaſſe, vntyl their righteouſneſſe breake foorth as the ſhynyng light, and their ſaluation as a burnyng lampe.

2 Then ſhal the Gentiles ſee thy righteouſneſſe, and al kinges thy glory: thou ſhalt be named with a newe name, whiche the mouth of the Lord ſhal ſhewe.

3 Thou ſhalt be a crowne in the hande of the Lorde, and a glorious gar land in the hand of thy God.

4 From this time foorth thou ſhalt neuer be called the forſaken, and thy lande ſhal no more be called the wildernelle: but thou ſhalt be called, My pleaſure is in her: and thy lande ſhalbe called the maried woman: for the Lorde loueth thee, and thy lande ſhalbe ioyned in mariage.

5 And lyke as a young man taketh a virgin to mariage, ſo ſhal thy ſonnes be maryed vnto thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of his bride, ſo ſhal thy GOD reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue ſet watchmen vpon thy walles, O Hieruſalem, whiche ſhal neyther ceaſſe day nor night to preache the Lord: and ye alſo that remember the Lord, ye ſhal not keepe hym cloſe, 7 Nor leaue to ſpeake of hym, vntyl Hieruſallem be ſet vp, and made the praiſe of the worlde.

8 The Lorde hath ſworne by his right hande & by his ſtrong arme, that from hence-foorth he wil not geue thy corne to be meate for thine enimies, nor thy wine wherein thou haſt laboured, to be drinke for the ſtrangers.

9 But they that haue gathered in the corne, ſhall eate it, and geue thankes to the Lorde: and they that haue borne in the wine, ſhal drinke it in the court of my ſanctuary.

¶ The. lxiii. Chapter.

7. Of the redemption promiſed to the people.

The Epiſtle on the Munday before Eaſter.

WHat is he this that commeth from Edom, with redde coloured clothes from Boſra? He is honourably arayed, and commeth in myghtyly with his power: I am he that teacheth righteouſnes, and am of power to helpe.

‖ Apoc.19.12 2 ‖ Wherefore then is thy clothing red, and thy raiment like his that treadeth in the wine preſſe?

3 I haue troden the preſſe mee ſelfe alone, and of al people there is not one with me: thus wyl I treade them downe in my wrath, and ſet my feete vpon them in myne indignation, and their blood ſhal be ſprong vpon my clothes, and ſo wyl I ſtayne al my rayment.

4 For the day of vengeance is aſſigned in my hart, and the yeere when my people ſhalbe deliuered, is come.

5 I looked about me, and there was no man to ſhew me any helpe, I marueiled that no man helde me vp: then I helde me by mine owne arme, and my feruentneſſe ſuſtayned me

6 And thus wil I treade downe the people in my wrath, and bathe them in my diſpleaſure, and vpon the earth wyl I lay their ſtrength.

7 I wyl declare the goodneſſe of the Lorde, yea and the prayſe of the Lorde for al that he hath geuen vs, for the great good that he hath doone for Iſrael, which he hath geuen them of his owne fauour, and accordyng to the multitude of his louing kindnes.

8 For he ſayde, Theſe no doubt are my people, and no ſhrinking chyldren: and ſo was he their ſauiour.

9 In their troubles, he was alſo troubled with them, and the angel that went forth from his preſence deliuered them: of perpe loue and kyndneſſe that he had vnto them he redeemed them, he hath borne them & caried them vp euer ſince the world began.

10 But after they prouoked hym to wrath, and vexed his holy ſpirit, he was their enimie, and fought againſt them hym ſelfe.

11 Yet remembred Iſrael the old time of Moſes and his people, ſaying, ‖ Where is he that brought them from the water of the ſea, with them that feede his ſheepe? Where is he that hath geuen his holy ſpirit among them?

‖ Exo.14.30

12 He led them by the right hande of Moſes with his glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, wherby he gate him ſelfe an euerlaſtyng name.

13 He led them in the deepe as an horſe is ledde in the playne, that they ſhoulde not ſtumble.

14 As a tame beaſt goeth in the fielde, and the ſpirite of God geueth hym reſt: thus (O God) haſt thou led thy people, to make thee ſelfe a glorious name withal.

15 ‖ Looke downe then from heauen, and beholde from the dwellyng place of thy ſanctuarie and thy glory: howe is it that thy ielouſie, thy ſtrength, the multitude of thy mercyes, and thy louyng kyndneſſe wyl not be intreated of vs?

‖ Deu.26.15 Baruc.2.16

16 Yet art thou our father: for Abraham knoweth vs not, neither is Iſrael acquainted with vs: but thou Lord art our father and redeemer, and thy name is euerlaſtyng.

17 O Lord, wherefore haſt thou led vs out of the way? wherefore haſt thou hardened our hartes that we feare thee not? Be at one with vs agayne for thy ſeruantes ſake, and for the generation of thyne heritage.

18 Thy holye people haue had but a litle whyle thy ſanctuarie in poſſeſſion, for our enimies haue troden downe thy holye place.

19 And we were thine from the begynnyng, when thou waſt not their Lorde, for they haue not called vpon thy name.

3 ‖ For ſynce the begynnyng of the world, it hath not ben heard or perceyued, neither hath any eye ſeene another god beſide thee, which doeſt ſo much for them that put their truſt in thee.

5 Thou helpeſt hym that doth right with chearfulneſſe, and them that thinke vpon thee in thy wayes: but loe, thou haſt ben angry, for we offended, and haue ben euer in ſinne, though the world haue cleaued to them, yet ſhal we be ſaued.

6 We are al as an vncleane thyng, and al our righteouſneſſe are as filthy raggez we fal euerychone as the leafe, for our ſinnes cary vs away lyke the wynde.

7 There is no man that calleth vppon thy name, that ſtandeth vp to take holde by thee: therefore hydeſt thou thy face from vs, and conſumeſt vs, becauſe of our ſinnes.

8 But nowe, O Lorde, thou father of ours, we are thy clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the woorke of thy handes.

‖Pſal.78.9 9 ‖ Be not to fore diſpleaſed, O Lorde, and keepe not our offences to long in thy remembrance: but conſyder that we all are thy people.

10 The cities of thy ſanctuarie lie waſt, Sion is a wylderneſſe, and Hieruſalem a deſart.

11 Our holy houſe, which is our beautie where our fathers prayſed thee, is brent vp: yea, all our commodities and pleaſures are waſted away.

12 Wilt thou not be intreated, O Lord, for all this wylt thou holde thy peace, and ſcourge vs ſo ſore?

¶ The.lxv. Chapter.

The reiecting of the Iewes, and the callyng of the Heathen.

‖Ro.10.20 THey ‖ ſeeke me, that hitherto haue not aſked for me, they fynde me, that hitherto haue not ſought me: I haue ſayde, I am here, I am here, I am found of a people that neuer called vpon my name.

2 For thus long haue I euer holden out mine handes to an vnfaythfull people, that goe not the right way, but after theyr owne imagination:

3 To a people that is euer defying me to my face, they make their oblations in gardens, and theyr ſmoke vpon aulters of bricke.

4 They lurke among the groues, and lye in the dennes al nyght: they eate ſwines fleſh, and vncleane broth is in theyr veſſels.

5 If thou commeſt nygh them, they ſaye, Touche me not, for I am holyer then thou: Al theſe men when I am angry, ſhalbe turned to ſmoke and fyre that ſhal burne for euer.

6 Beholde, it is written before my face, and ſhal not be forgotten, but recompenced, I wil reward it them into theyr boſome.

7 I meane your miſdeedes, and the miſdeedes of your fathers togeather, ſayth the Lorde, which haue made theyr ſmokes vpon the mountaynes, and blaſphemed me vppon the hylles: therefore wyl I meaſure theyr olde deedes into theyr boſome agayne.

8 Moreouer, thus ſayth the Lord, Lyke as when newe wyne is founde in the cluſter, and one ſayth, Looſe it not, for there is bleſſyng therein: euen ſo wyl I doo alſo for my ſeruauntes ſakes, that I wyl not deſtroye them al.

9 But I wyl take a ſeede out of Jacob, and out of Juda one, to take poſſeſſion of my hyl: My choſen ſhal poſſeſſe it, and my ſeruantes ſhal dwel there.

10 Saron ſhalbe a ſheepefolde, and the valley of Achor ſhal geue the ſtalling for the cattayle of my people that ſeeke after me.

11 But as for you, ye are they that haue forſaken the Lorde, and forgotten my holye hyll: ye haue ſet vp an aulter vnto Jupiter, and geuen ryche drynke offerynges vnto the planets:

12 Therfore wyl I number you to the ſwoorde, that ye ſhalbe deſtroyed altogether: ‖ for that when I called, no man gaue me aunſweare, when I ſpake, ye hearkened not vnto me, but dyd wickednes before mine eyes, and choſe the thynges that pleaſed me not. ‖Prou.1.23 Iere.7.31 Eſai.66.4.

13 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, my ſeruantes ſhal eate, but ye ſhal haue hunger: beholde, my ſeruantes ſhal drynke, but ye ſhal ſuffer thirſt: beholde, my ſeruantes ſhalbe merry, but ye ſhalbe confounded:

14 Beholde, my ſeruantes ſhal reioyce for very quietneſſe of hart, but ye ſhal crye for ſorowe of hart, and complayne for vexation of mynde.

15 Your name ſhal ye leaue accurſed among my choſen: for God the Lord ſhal ſlay you, and cal his ſeruantes by another name.

16 Who ſo reioyceth vpon earth, ſhal reioyce in the true God, and who ſo ſweareth vpon earth, ſhal ſweare in the true God, for the olde afflictions ſhalbe forgotten, and taken away out of my ſyght.

17 ‖ For loe, I ſhal make a newe heuē and a new earth: & as for the old, they ſhal neuer be thought vpon, nor kept in mynde: ‖2.Pet.3.13 Apoc.21.1

18 But the Lord ſayth, Be glad and euermore reioyce for the thynges that I ſhal doo: for why? beholde, I wyl make a ioyful Hieruſalem, and his people ioyful.

19 Yea, I me ſelfe wyl reioyce with Hieruſalem, and be gladde with my people: and the voyce of weeping and waylyng ſhal not be heard in her from thence forth.

20 There ſhal neyther be chylde nor olde man that haue not theyr ful dayes: but when the chylde commeth to an hundred yeeres olde, it ſhal dye, and if he that is an hundred yeeres of age doo wrong, he ſhalbe curſed.

21 They

21 They shal builde houses and dwell in them, they shal plant vineyardes and eate the fruite of them.

22 They shal not builde and another possesse, they shal not plant and another eate: but the lyfe of my people shalbe lyke a tree, and mine elect shal enioy styl the worke of theyr handes.

23 They shal not labour in vayne, nor begeat with trouble: for they are the high blessed seede of the Lorde, and theyr fruites with them.

||Psal. 31.5. 24 ||And it shalbe, that or euer they cal, I wyl answeare them, while they are yet but thinkyng howe to speake, I wil heare them.

Esai. 11.6 25 ||The woolfe and the lambe shal feede togeather, and the Lion shal eate hay like the bullocke, but earth shalbe the serpentes meate: there shal no man hurt nor slay another in al my holy hyl, sayth the Lorde.

¶ The. lxvi. Chapter.

1. God dwelleth not in temples made by mans hande. 3. He despiseth sacrifices doone without mercy and fayth. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 23. Among the Christen the Sabboth is continually.

Act. 7.48. THUS sayth the Lord, ||Heauen is my seate, and the earth is my footestoole: Where shal nowe the house stand that ye wil builde vnto me? And where shalbe the place that I wyl dwel in?

2 As for these thinges my hande hath made them al, and they are al created, sayth the Lord, which of them shal I then regarde Euen hym that is poore and of a lowlye troubled spirite, and standeth in awe of my wordes.

3 For whoso slayeth an ore for me doth me so great dishonour as he that kylleth a man: he that kylleth a sheepe for me, ||kneeleth a dogge: he that bringeth me meate offerings, offereth swines blood: who so maketh me a memorial of incense, prayseth þ thing that is vnright: Yet take they such wayes in hand, and theyr soule delighteth in these abominations.

a cutteth of a dogges necke.

4 Therefore wyl I also haue pleasure in laughing them to scorne, and the thing that they feare, will I bryng vpon them: ||for when I called, no man gaue answeare, when I spake, they would not heare: but dyd wickednesse before mine eyes, and chose the thinges that displeased me.

||Prou. 1.23. Esai. 65.12. Ierem. 7.13

5 Heare the worde of GOD all ye that feare the thing which he speaketh: your brethren that hate you and cast you out for my names sake, say, The Lorde is heynous a-gaynst vs: but you shal see him in ioy, when they shalbe confounded.

6 Then shalbe heard a great noise from the citie and the temple, the voyce of the Lorde that wil rewarde and recompence his enimies:

7 Lyke as when a wyfe bringeth forth a man childe, or euer she suffer the payne of the birth and anguishe of the trauayle.

8 Who euer heard or sawe such thinges? doth the grounde beare in one day? or are the people borne al at once, as Sion trauayled in childbirth and bare her sonnes?

9 For thus sayth the Lorde, am I he that maketh other to beare, and beare not mee selfe? Am not I he that beareth and maketh barren, sayth thy God?

10 Reioyce with Hierusalem, and be glad with her al ye that loue her, be ioyful with her al ye that mourne for her.

11 For ye shal sucke comfort out of her breastes, and be satisfied: ye shall taste and haue delight in the bryghtnesse of her glory.

12 For thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyl let peace into her like a water floodde, and the glory of the heathen like a flowyng streame: then shal ye sucke, ye shalbe borne vpon her sydes, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 For like as a childe is comforted of his mother, so shall I comfort you, and ye shalbe comforted in Hierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your hart shal reioyce, and your bones shal florysshe lyke an hearbe: Thus shall the hande of the Lorde be knowen among his seruantes, and his indignation among his enimies.

15 For behalde, the Lorde shall come with fire, and his charret shalbe lyke a whirle winde: that he may recompence his vengeance in his wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fyre.

16 For the Lorde shall iudge all flesshe with the fyre, and with his swoorde, and there shalbe a great number slayne of the Lorde.

17 Such as haue made them selues holy and cleane in the gardens, and those that haue eaten swines flesshe, mice, and other abominations, shalbe taken away together, saith the Lorde.

18 For I do knowe theyr workes and thoughtes, and I wyll come to gether all people and tongues: then they shall come and see my glory.

19 Vnto them shal I geue a token, and sende certayne of them that be delyuered among the gentiles, into Cilicia, Affrica, and Lydia, where men can handle bowes, into Italie, and also Greeke lande: the Iles farre of that haue not hearde speake of me, and haue not ſeene my glory, ſhall preache my prayſe among the Gentiles,

20 And ſhal bring al your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of al the people, vpon horſes, charrets, and horſlitters, vpon mules and cartes to Hieruſalem my holy hil, ſayth the Lord: like as the chyldren of Iſrael bring the offering in cleane veſſelles to the houſe of the Lorde.

21 And I ſhal take out certaine of them for to be prieſtes & Leuites, ſayth the Lorde.

‖Reuel. 21.1 22 ‖ For like as the newe heauen and the newe earth which I wyll make, ſhalbe faſt ſtabliſhed by me, ſayth the Lorde: ſo ſhal your ſeede and your name continue.

2 And it ſhal come to paſſe, that from moone to his moone, from Sabboth to his Sabboth, al fleſh ſhal come to worſhip before me, ſayth the Lorde.

24 ‖ And they ſhal goe forth and loke vpon the carions of them that haue tranſgreſſed agaynſt me: for theyr wormes ſhal not dye, neyther ſhal theyr fyre be quenched, and al fleſhe ſhal abhorre them. ‖Mark.9.44.

The ende of the booke of the prophete Eſai.

¶ The booke of the prophete Ieremie.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. The ſtocke of Ieremie, and in what tyme he propheſied. 6. He excuſeth hym ſelfe, and wold refuſe the office of a prophete, becauſe he is young and vnexpert. 8. He is taught of the Lorde, and becommeth bolde.

THeſe are the ſermons of Ieremie the ſonne of Helciah the prieſt, one of them that dwelt at Anathoth in the land of Beniamin,

2 Whom the Lorde had firſte ſpoken with hym in the tyme of Joſiah the ſonne of Amon kyng of Juda, in the thirtienth yeere of his raigne.

3 And ſo during vnto the time of Jehoacim the ſonne of Joſiah kyng of Juda, and vntyl the eleuenth yeere of Zedeciah the ſonne of Joſiah king of Juda were ended, when Hieruſalem was taken, euen in the fyfth moneth.

4 The worde of the Lorde ſpake thus vnto me,

5 Before I faſhoned thee in thy mothers wombe, I did knowe thee: and or euer thou waſt borne, I ſanctified thee, and ordayned thee to be a prophet vnto the people.

6 Then ſayde I, O Lorde God, I can not ſpeake, for I am yet but young.

7 And the Lord anſwered me thus, Say not ſo, I am to young: for thou ſhalt goe to al that I ſhal ſend thee vnto, and whatſoeuer I commaunde thee, that ſhalt thou ſpeake.

8 Be not afrayde of theyr faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, ſayth the Lord.

9 And with that the Lorde ſtretched out his hand and touched my mouth: & the ſame Lorde ſayde vnto me, ‖ Beholde, I put my wordes in thy mouth. ‖Jere.18.7.

10 And beholde, this day do I ſet thee ouer the people & kyngdomes, that thou maieſt roote out, and breake of, deſtroy and make waſte, and that thou mayeſt builde vp and plant.

11 After this, the Lorde ſpake vnto me, ſaying, Jeremie what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I a ſee a rodde of an Almond tree.

a. God ſtireth to Ieremie the deſtruction of the Iewes by the Babylonians to be at hande.

12 Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, Thou haſt ſeene right, for I wyl make haſt ſpedily vpon my worde to performe it.

13 It happened afterwarde that the Lorde ſpake to me agayne, and ſayde, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſayde, I do ſee a ſeething pot, looking from out of the north.

14 Then ſayd the Lord vnto me, ‖ Out of the north ſhall come a plague vpon all the dwellers of the lande. ‖Jerem.4.6.

15 For loe, I wil cal all the kinredes of the kyngdomes of the north, ſayth the Lord, and they ſhal come, and euery one ſhall ſet his ſeate in the gates of Hieruſalem, and in al theyr walles rounde about, and in al cities of Juda.

16 And through them ſhall I declare my iudgement vpon all the wickednelle of thole men that haue forſaken me, that haue burnt burne incense vnto strange gods, and worshipped the woorkes of their owne handes.

17 And therefore girde vp thy loynes, aryse, and tell them all that I geue thee in commaundement: Feare them not, lest I destroy thee before them.

18 For beholde, ||this day doo I make thee a strong fenced towne, an iron piller, & a brasen wal agaynst the whole land, against the kinges and mighty men of Iuda, against the priestes and people of the lande.

19 They shal fyght against thee, but they shal not be able to ouercome thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lorde.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

a. God rehearseth his benefites doone vnto the Ievves. 8. Against priestes and prophetes or preachers that contemne & dispise God. 12. The Ievves are destroyed because they forsooke God, and because they ran a vvhore hunting after idolles.

MOreouer, the woord of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe thy way, crye in the eares of Hierusalem, and say, Thus saith the Lorde: I remember thee, the kindnes of thy youth, and the loue of thy espousyng, in that thou folowedst me through the wyldernesse, in an vntylled lande.

3 Israel was an halowed thing vnto the Lord, and was his first fruites: all they that deuoure Israel shal offende, misfortune shal fal vpon them, saith the Lorde.

4 Heare therefore the woorde of the Lord, O thou house of Iacob, and al the generations of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What vnfaithfulnesse founde your fathers in me, that they went so farre away fro me, fallyng to lightnesse, and being so vayne?

6 They thought not in their harts, Where is the Lord that brought vs out of the) lande of Egypt, that led vs through the wildernesse, through a desart and rough lande, through a dry and deadly lande, yea a land that no man had gone through, and wherein no man had dwelt?

7 And when I had brought you into a pleasant fertile land, that ye might enioy the fruites and all the commodities of the same: ye went forth and defyled my lande, and brought mine heritage to abomination.

8 The priestes them selues saide not, Where is the Lorde? They that had the law in their hands knewe me not, the shepheards offended agaynst me, the prophetes did prophesie in Baal, and folowed such thinges as shal bring them no profyte.

9 Wherefore I am constained, saith the Lorde, yet againe to contende in iudgement with you, and with your children children.

10 Goe into the Iles of Cethim, and looke wel: sende vnto Cedar, take diligent heed, and see whether such thinges be doone there.

11 Whether the Gentiles them selues haue changed their goddes, which yet are no gods in deede? but my people hath changed a their honour for a thing that may not helpe them.

12 Be astonished, O ye heauens, be afrayd, and abashed at such a thyng, saith the Lorde.

13 For my people hath doone two euils: they haue forsaken mee the wel of the water of lyfe, and digged them pittes, yea vile and broken pittes that can holde no water.

14 Is Israel a bonde seruant, or one of the household: why is he then so spoyled?

15 They roare and crye vppon him as Lions, they haue made his lande waste: his cities are so burnt vp, that there is no man dwellyng in them:

16 Yea the children of Noph & Taphnes shal cracke their crowne.

17 Commeth not this vnto thee, because thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, euen when he led thee by the way?

19 And what haste thou nowe to doo in the streete of Egypt, to drinke water out of b Nilus? eyther what makest thou in the way to Assyria, to drinke water of the flude?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall reproue thee, and thy turnyng away shal condemne thee: that thou mayest know and vnderstand howe euyl and hurtful a thyng it is that thou haste forsaken the Lorde thy God, and hast not feared me, saith the Lorde God of hostes.

20 I haue euer broken thy yoke of old, and burst thy bonds, yet sayst thou, I wyl no more transgresse: but lyke an harlot thou runnest about vpon al hygh hylles, ||and among al greene trees.

21 ||Whereas I planted thee a noble vine, and wholy a right seed: howe art thou turned then into a bitter vnfruiteful and strange grape?

22 Yea and that so soare that though thou washe thee selfe with Nitrus, and make thee selfe to sauour with that sweete smellyng herbe of Bozith: yet in my syght thou art stayned with thy wickednesse, saith the Lord thy God.

23 Howe sayest thou now, I am not vncleane, and I haue not folowed Baalim? Looke vpon thine owne waies in the valleys what thou hast doone: thou art lyke a swift dromedarie that goeth easily her way.

24 And thy wantonnesse is like a wylde

a. Honour, that is, the faythful and euerlyuing God in whom onely they ought to glory.

b. God reproueth the people for that they sought remedies, which are ment by the water of Nilus and the flud, against their euils, among the Egiptians and Assyrians, whereas their onely remedie had ben to haue reconciled them selues vnto the Lorde with faithful repenrance.

||Iere.3.6.
||Esai.5.1.
Math.21.33.

Aſſe that vſeth the wildernesſe, and that ſnuffeth and bloweth at her wyll: who can tame her? All they that ſeeke her, ſhall not fayle but fynde her in her moneth.

25 Keepe thy foote from nakednesſe, & thy throte from thirſte, and thou thinkeſt in thee ſelfe, Tuſhe, I wil take no ſorowe, for I haue loued the ſtrangers, and them wyll I folowe.

26 Like as a theefe that is taken with the deede commeth to ſhame: euen ſo is the houſe of Iſrael come to confuſion, the common people, their kinges and rulers, their prieſtes and prophetes.

27 For they ſay to a ſtocke, Thou art my father: and to a ſtone, Thou haſt begotten me: yea they haue turned their backe vpon me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble, when they ſay, Stande vp and helpe vs:

28 I ſhal anſvveare them, Where are now thy goddes that thou haſte made thee? lyft them ſtande vp, and helpe thee in the time of thy neede: for looke howe many cities thou haſt, O Iuda, || ſo many goddes haſte thou alſo.

29 Wherefore then wyl ye goe to lawe with me? ſeeyng ye all are ſinners againſt me, ſayth the Lorde.

30 It is but loſt labour that I ſmyte your children, for they receyue not my correction: your owne ſworde deſtroyeth your prophetes lyke a deuouring Lion.

31 Oh generation, hearken vnto the woorde of the Lord: Am I become a wildernesſe vnto the people of Iſrael? or a lande that hath no lyght? wherefore ſayth my people then, We are Lordes, we wyl come no more vnto thee?

32 Doeth a maide forgeat her raiment, or a bryde her ſtomacher? but my people hath forgotten me a very long whyle.

33 Why beautifyeſt thou thy waies ſo highly, to obtayne fauour therethrough? therefore alſo haſt thou taught wickednesſe thorowe thy wayes.

34 Vpon thy wynges is founde the blood of poore and innocent people, whom thou didſt not fynd in corners and holes: but thou ſlueſt the Prophetes for reproouing al theſe thynges.

35 Yet dareſt thou ſay, I am vvithout ſinne and giltleſſe, Tuſhe, his wrath can not come vpon me: beholde, I wyl reaſon with thee, becauſe thou dareſt ſay, I haue not offended.

36 Why gaddeſt thou ſo muche hyther and thyther, to change thy wayes? for thou ſhalt be confounded alwel of Egypt as thou waſt of the Aſſyrians.

37 Yea, thou ſhalt goe thy waye from them, and ſmite thyne handes togeather vpon thy head, becauſe the Lorde ſhal bryng that confidence and hope of thyne to nought, and thou ſhalt not proſper withal.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

1. God beyng mercyfull, calleth to repentance his people vvhich he had forſaken for theyr vvhordome vvith idols. 20. He exhorteth Iſrael vnto repentance, promyſyng them ſheepheardes that ſhould haue the true knovvledge of God. 23. The returne of Iſrael vnto God, confeſſing their offence.

COmmonly when a man putteth away his wyfe, and ſhe goeth from him, and marryeth with another, then the queſtion is, Shoulde he reſort vnto her any more after that? (Is not that lande then defiled and vncleane?) But as for thee, thou haſt played the harlot with many louers, yet turne againe to me, ſayth the Lorde.

2 Lyft vp thine eies to the high places, and looke where thou haſt not ben defyled: Thou haſt wayted for them in the ſtreetes, and as a murderer in the wildernes, throughe thy whoredome and ſhameful blaſphemies is the lande defiled.

3 This is the cauſe that the rayne and euenyng deawe hath ceaſſed: thou haſt gotten thee an whoores forehead, and wylt not be aſhamed.

4 Wylt thou not hereafter ſay vnto me, O my father, thou art he that haſt brought me vp, and led me from my youth?

5 Wyl God continue his wrath for euer? kepe he our faultes in memorie to the ende? Neuertheleſſe, thou ſpeakeſt ſuche woordes, but thou art euer dooyng wooſe and wooſe to the vttermoſt of thy power.

6 The Lorde ſayde alſo vnto me in the tyme of Ioſiah the kyng, || Haſt thou ſeene what that rebellious Iſrael hath done? how ſhe hath runne vp vppon al the hylles, and among al thicke trees, and there played the harlot? ||Ier.2.20.

7 Haſte thou ſeene alſo when ſhe had doone al this, howe I ſayde vnto her, that ſhe ſhould turne againe vnto me, and yet ſhe is not returned? Iuda that vnfaythful ſiſter of hers alſo ſawe this:

8 Namely, that after I had wel ſeene the adultery of the ſhrinking harlot Iſrael, I put her away, and gaue her a byl of diuorcement: for al this, her vnfaythful ſyſter Iuda was not aſhamed, but went backe and played the whore.

9 Yea, and the wantonnes of her whoredome hath defyled the whole lande: for ſhe she hath committed fornication with stockes and stones.

||Iere.11,13

10 Neuertheleſſe, her vnfaythful ſiſter Juda is not returned vnto me againe with her whole hart, but faignedly, ſaith the Lord.

11 And the Lorde ſaid vnto me, The backeſlyder Iſrael, is more righteous then the vnfaithful Juda.

12 And therefore goe preache theſe wordes towarde the North, and ſay, Thou diſobedient Iſrael, turne againe, ſaith the Lord, and I wil not bring my wrath vppon you: for I am merciful, ſaith the Lorde, and I wyll not alway beare diſpleaſure againſt you.

13 But on this condition, that thou knowe thy great blaſphemie, namely, that thou haſte vnfaithfully forſaken the Lorde thy God, and haſt made thee ſelfe partaker of ſtrange Goddes vnder al greene trees, and haſt had no wil to heare my voyce, ſaith the Lorde.

14 O ye diſobedient children, turne againe, ſaith the Lorde, and I wil be maried with you: for I wil take one out of the citie, and two out of one generation from among you, and bring you into Sion, 15 And wil geue you heardmen after mine owne minde, which ſhal feede you with learning and wiſedome.

16 Moreouer, when ye be encreaſed and multiplied in the lande, then ſayth the Lord, There ſhal no more boaſt be made of the arke of the Lordes Teſtament: no man ſhal thinke vppon it, neither ſhall any man make mention of it: for from thencefoorth it ſhall neither be viſited, neither ſhal ſuche thing be done any more.

17 Then ſhal Hieruſalem be called the Lordes ſeate, and al heathen ſhalbe gathered vnto it for the name of the Lordes ſake whiche ſhalbe ſet at Hieruſalem: and from that time foorth they ſhal folowe no more the imagination of their owne froward hart.

18 Then thoſe that be of the houſe of Juda ſhal goe into the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhal come together out of the North, into the ſame lande that I haue geuen your fathers.

19 I haue thought thus, Howe ſhall I take thee among my children, and geue a pleaſant lande for thine heritage, yea, and a goodly holt of the heathen? And I ſaid, Cal me father, and ſhrinke not from me.

20 Truely, like as a woman falleth her huſbande, ſo are ye vnfaithful vnto me, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lorde.

21 The voyce of the children of Iſrael was heard on high, weeping and wailing: for that they haue defiled their way, and forgotten God their Lorde.

22 O ye diſobedient children, Turne againe, and ſo ſhal ye heale your backeturninges, Loe, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lorde our God.

23 Truely in vayne is health hoped for from the hilles, be they neuer ſo many: but the health of Iſrael ſtandeth only vpon God our Lorde.

24 Confuſion hath deuoured our fathers labour from our youth vp, yea their ſheepe and Bullockes, their ſonnes and daughters.

25 So doo we alſo ſleepe in our confuſion, and ſhame couereth vs: for we and our fathers, frō our youth vp vnto this day, haue ſinned againſt the Lorde our GOD, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

¶ The. iii. Chapter.

2. The true repentance or returnyng to God. 4. He exhorteth to the circumciſion of the hart. 5. The deſtruction of Iurie is propheſied for the malice of theyr hartes.

O Iſrael, if thou wilt turne thee, then turne vnto me, ſaith the Lorde: and yf thou wilt put away thine abominations out of my ſight, thou ſhalt not be mooued,

2 And ſhalt ſweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in equitte, and righteouſneſſe, and al people ſhalbe fortunable and ioyful in him.

3 For thus ſaith the Lorde to all Juda and Hieruſalem, ‖ Plowe your lande, and ſowe not among the thornes. ‖ Oſee. 10. 12

4 Be circumciſed in the Lorde, and cut away the foreſkinne of your hartes, al ye of Juda, and al the indwellers of Hieruſalem: that mine indignation breake not out like fire and kindle, ſo that no man may quench it, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your imaginations.

5 Preache in Juda and Hieruſalem, crye out and ſpeake, blowe the trumpettes in the land, crye, that euery man may heare, and ſay, Gather you together, and we wil goe into ſtrong cities.

6 Set vp the token in Sion, ſpeede you, and make no tarrying: ‖ for I will bring a great plague, and a great deſtruction from the North. ‖ Ieremi. 1. 14

7 For the ſpoiler of the Gentiles is broken vp from his place, as a Lion out of his den, that he may make thy lande waſte, and deſtroy the cities, ſo that no man may dwell therein.

8 Wherefore gyrde your ſelues about with ſackcloth, mourne and weepe: for the feareful wrath of the Lorde is not withdrawen from vs.

9 At the ſame time ſaith the Lord, The hart of the king and of the princes ſhalbe gone, the prieſtes ſhalbe aſtonished, and the prophetes ſhalbe ſore afraide.

10 Then ſaide I, O Lorde God, haſt thou then deceiued this people and Hieruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhal haue peace, and nowe the ſwoorde goeth through their liues.

11 Then ſhal it be ſaid to the people and Hieruſalem, A ſtrong wynde in the high places of the wildernesſe commeth through the way of my people, but neither to fanne nor to cleanſe.

12 After that ſhal there come vnto me a ſtrong winde from thoſe places, and then will I alſo geue ſentence vpon them.

13 For loe, he ariſeth like a cloude, and his charrets are like a ſtormie wynde, his horſes are ſwifter then the Eagle: Woe vnto vs, for we are deſtroyed.

14 O Hieruſalem, waſh thine hart from wickednesſe, that thou mayeſt be helped: how long ſhal thy vayne thoughtes remaine with thee?

15 For a voyce from Dan, and from the hil of Ephraim ſpeaketh out, and telleth of a deſtruction.

16 Remember the heathen, and geue Hieruſalem warning, and preache vnto her, that watchers ouer her are comming from farre countreyes, they haue cryed out againſt the cities of Iuda.

17 And they haue beſet her about in euery place, like as the watchmen in the feelde: for they haue prouoked me to wrath, ſayth the Lorde.

‖ Wiſed. 1.8. 18 ‖ Thy wayes and thy thoughtes haue brought thee vnto this, ſuche is thine owne wickednesſe and diſobedience: and becauſe it is a bitter thing, it hath ſtriken thee to the hart.

19 Ah my belly, ah my belly, ſhalt thou crye, how is my hart ſo ſore: my hart panteth within me, I can not be ſtil, for I haue heard the crying of the trumpettes, and peales of warre.

20 They crie murder vpon murder, the whole lande ſhal periſhe: Immediatly my tentes were deſtroyed, and my hangynges in the twynckling of an eye.

21 Howe long ſhal I ſee the tokens of warre, and heare the noyſe of the trumpets?

22 Neuertheleſſe, this ſhal come vpon them, becauſe my people are become fooliſhe, and hath not knowen me: they are the children of fooliſhneſſe, and without any diſcretion: to doo euil they haue wit ynough but to doo well they haue no wiſedome.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and lee it was waſte and voide: I looked toward heauen, and it had no ſhyne.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, & al the hilles were in a feare.

25 I looked about me, and there was no body: and al the byrdes of the ayre were away.

26 I marked wel, and the plowed feelde was become waſte, yea, al their cities were broken downe at the preſence of the Lorde, & indignation of his wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lorde ſaide, The whole lande ſhalbe deſolate, yet will I not then haue doone.

28 And therfore ſhal the earth mourne, and the heauen be ſory aboue, for the thing that I haue ſpoken to the prophetes, purpoſed, and taken vpon me to do, ſhal not repent me, and I wyl not goe from it.

29 The whole land ſhal flee for the noiſe of horſmen and bowmen, they ſhal runne into dennes, into woodes, and clymbe vp the ſtony rockes: al the cities ſhalbe voyde, and no man dwelling therein.

30 What wylt thou nowe doo, thou being deſtroyed? For thougy thou clotheſt thee ſelfe with Scarlet, & deckeſt thee with gold, though thou paynteſt thy face with colours nowe, yet ſhalt thou trim thee ſelfe in vaine: For thoſe that hytherto haue been thy louers, ſhal abhorre thee, and goe about to ſlay thee.

31 For I heare a noyſe like as it were of a woman trauayling, & one labouring of her firſt child, euen the voyce of the daughter Sion, that calleth out her armes, and ſoureth, ſaying, Ah, woe is me, howe ſore vexed and faynt is my hart for feare of the murderers?

¶ The.v. Chapter.

1. In Iurie is there no righteous or faithful man founde, eyther amongſt the people, or the rulers, for whoſe ſake the Lorde ſhould ſpare the citie. 15. Wherefore Iurie is deſtroyed of the Aſſyrians.

LOoke through Hieruſalem, behold, and ſee, ſeeke through her ſtreetes alſo within, if ye can finde one man that dooth equal and right, or ſeeketh for the trueth, and I ſhal ſpare the citie, ſaith the Lorde.

2 For though they can ſay, The Lorde liueth: yet they ſweare to deceiue.

3 Whereas thou (O Lorde) lookeſt only vpon faith & trueth: Thou haſt ſcourged the, but they tooke no repentance, thou haſt corrected them for amendement, but they refuſed refuseth thy correction, they made their faces harder then a stone, and would not amende.

4 Therefore I thought in mee self, Peraduenture they are so simple & foolyshe, that they vnderstande nothyng of the Lords way, and iudgementes of their God.

5 Therefore wyl I goe vnto their heads and rulers, & talke with them, yf they knowe the way of the Lorde, & iudgements of their God: But these in lyke maner haue broken the yoke, and burst the bondes in sunder.

6 Wherefore a Lion out of the wood hath hurt them, & a Woolfe in the euenyng shal destroy them, the Leopard doeth lye lurking by their cities, to teare in peces al them that come therout: for their offences are multiplied, & their departing away is encreased.

7 Should I then for al this haue mercy vpon thee? Thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no goddes: and albeit that I fed them to the ful, yet they fal to adulterie, and haunt harlots houses.

‖Ezec.22.11 8 ‖ In the desyre of vncleanly lust they are become lyke the stoned horse, euery man neygheth at his neyghbours wyfe.

9 Should I not correct this, sayth the Lorde? shoulde I not be auenged of euery people that is lyke vnto this?

10 Clymbe vp vpon their walles, beate them downe, and a destroy them not vtterlye: take away their battlementes, because they are not the Lordes.

a. These wordes are not to be referred vnto the citie or walles whiche were vtterly destroyed: but to a remnaunt of the people whō god did reserue that his whole Church should not vtterly perishe, although but a fewe dyd remayne sayth-full.

11 For vnfaythfully hath the house of Israel and Iuda forsaken me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue denyed the Lorde, and sayde, It is not he that looketh vpon vs, tushe, there shall no misfortune come vpon vs, we shal see neyther sworde nor hunger.

13 As for the warnyng of the prophets, it is but wynde, yea there is not the worde of God in them: such thynges shal happen vnto them selues.

14 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, beholde, the wordes that are in thy mouth wyll I turne to fyre, and make the people to be wood, that the fyre may consume them.

15 Loe, I wyl bring a people vpon you from far, O house of Israel, sayth the Lorde, a myghtie people, an olde people, a people whose speache thou knowest not, neyther vnderstandest what they say.

16 Their arrowes are lyke vnto a yawning graue, yea they them selues be very Giantes.

17 This people shall eate vp thy fruite and thy meate, yea they shal deuour thy sonnes and thy daughters, thy sheepe and thy bullockes, they shall eate vp thy grapes and figges: As for thy strong and well defenced cities wherin thou didst trust, they shal bring to pouertie, and that through the sworde.

18 Neuertheless, I wyl not then haue doone with you, sayeth the Lorde.

19 ‖ But yf they say, Wherefore doeth the Lorde our God all this vnto vs? Then answeare them, Because that lyke as ye haue forsaken me, and serued strange gods in your lande, euen so shal ye serue strangers out of your lande. ‖Iere.16.10

20 Preache this vnto the house of Iacob, and crye it out in Iuda, and say thus,

21 ‖ Heare this, thou foolyshe and vndiscrete people, Ye haue eyes, but ye see not, eares haue ye, but ye heare not. ‖Esai.6.9.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord: wil ye not tremble at my presence: whiche binde the sea with the sand by a continuall decree, so that it can not passe his boundes: for though it rage, yet can it doo nothyng, and though the waues thereof doo swel, yet may they not goe ouer.

23 But this people hath a false and obstinate hart, they are departed & gone awaye from me.

24 They thynke not in their hartes, O let vs feare the Lorde our God, who geueth vs rayne early & late when neede is, whiche keepeth euer styl the haruest for vs peerely.

25 Neuertheless, your mysdedes haue turned these from you, and your synnes haue robbed you of good thynges.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that priuyly laye snares & waite for men, to take them, and destroy them.

27 And lyke as a net is ful of byrdes, so are their houses ful of that which they haue gotten with falshood and decepte: Hereof commeth their great substance and richesse.

28 Hereof are they fat and wealthy, and are more mischeeuous then any other: ‖ they minister not the lawe, they make no ende of the fatherlesse cause, yea & they prosper: yet they iudge not þ poore accordyng to equitie. ‖Esai.1.13; Zach.7.10.

29 Should I not punishe these thynges, sayth the Lorde? should not I be auenged of all suche people as these be?

30 Horrible and greeuous thynges are doone in the lande.

31 The Prophets teache falsly, and the Preachers receyue gyftes, & my people hath pleasure therein: what wyl come thereof at the last?

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

1. The sinnes for vvhiche Hierusalem is afflicted. 10. Vncircumcised eares, 13. couetousnesse, 14. deceite. 20. The Lorde reiecteth the sacrifices of the Ievves. 22. The commyng of the Babylonians is prophesied agayne.

Come

COme out of Hieruſalem, ye ſtrong children of Beniamin, blowe vp the trum-pettes ye Thecuites, ſet vp a token vnto Bethcaran: for a plague and a great miſerie appeareth out from the North.

2 I wyll lyken the daughter Sion to a fayre & tender woman, and to her ſhal come a the ſhepheardes with their flockes.

3 Their tentes ſhal they pytch round about her, & euery one ſhal feede in his place.

4 Make battayle againſt her, ſhal they ſay, aryſe, let vs goe vp whyle it is yet day: Alas the day goeth away, and the nyght ſhadowes fal downe.

5 Aryſe, let vs goe vp by nyght, and deſtroy her ſtrong holdes.

6 For thus hath the Lorde of hoſtes commaunded, Hewe downe her trees, and ſet vp bulwarkes againſt Hieruſalem: for the tyme is come that this citie muſt be pu-niſhed, for in her is al malitiouſneſſe.

7 Lyke as a conduite ſpowteth out waters, ſo ſhe ſpowteth out her wickednеſſe: Robberie and vnrighteouſneſſe is hearde in her, ſorowe and woundes are euer there in my ſyght.

8 Amende thee (O Hieruſalem) leſt I withdraw my hart from thee, and make thee deſolate, and thy lande alſo, that no man dwel in it.

9 For thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes,
The reſidue of Iſrael ſhalbe geathered as the remnant of grapes: and therefore turne thyne hande agayne into the basket, lyke the grape geatherer.

10 But vnto whom ſhall I ſpeake & whom ſhal I warne, that he may take heede?
Their eares are ſo vncircumciſed, that they may not heare: beholde, they take the woord of GOD but for a ſcorne, and haue no luſt thereto.

11 And therefore I am ſo full of thyne indignation, O Lorde, that I may ſuffer no longer, but ſhed it out vpon the chyldren that are without, and vpon al young men: yea the man muſt be taken pryſoner with the wyfe, and the aged with the creeple.

12 Their houſes with their landes and wyues ſhalbe turned into ſtrangers: for I wyll ſtretche out myne hande vpon the inha-biters of this lande, ſayth the Lorde.

13 ‖ For from the leaſt to the moſt they hang all vppon couetouſneſſe, and from the pryphete vnto the prieſt, they goe about falhood and lyes.

14 And beſyde that, they heale the hurt of my people with ſweete woordes, ſaying,
Peace, peace: when there is no peace at all.

15 Were they aſhamed when they had committed abomination? Truely nay, they be paſt ſhame, and therefore they ſhal fall among the ſlayne, & in the houre when I ſhall viſite them, they ſhalbe brought downe, ſaith
the Lorde.

16 Thus ſayth the Lorde, Goe into the ſtreetes, conſyder and make inquiſition for the olde way, and yf it be the good and ryght way, ‖ then goe therein, that ye maye fynde ‖ Mat.11.29 reſt for your ſoules: but they ſay, We wyll not walke therin.

17 Moreouer, I wil ſet watchmen ouer you, and therefore take heede vnto the voyce of the trumpet: but they ſay, We wyll not take heede.

18 Heare therefore ye Gentiles, & thou congregation ſhalt knowe what I haue de-uiſed for them.

19 Heare thou earth alſo: Beholde, I wyll cauſe a plague to come vppon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations, for that they haue not been obedient vnto my woordes, and to my lawe, but abhorred them.

farre countreyes? b your whole burnt offerynges diſpleaſe me, and I reioyce not in your ſacrifices.

21 And therefore thus ſayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyll laye ſtumblyng blockes among this people, and there ſhal fal at them the father with the chyldren, one neyghbour ſhal perysh with another.

22 Thus ſayth the Lord, Behold, there ſhal come a people from the North, & a great people ſhal aryſe from the ends of the earth.

23 With bowes and with dartes ſhall they be weaponed, it is a rough and fierce people, and an vnmerciful people, their voice roareth lyke the ſea, they ryde vppon horſes well appoynted to the battayle againſt thee,
O daughter Sion.

24 The fame of them haue we hearde, our armes are feeble, c heauyneſſe & ſorowe is come vpon vs, as vppon a woman trauay-lyng with chylde.

25 Let no man goe forth into the feeld, let no man come vpon the high ſtrete: for the ſwoorde and feare of the enimie is on euery ſyde.

26 Wherefore gyrde a ſackcloth about thee, O thou daughter of my people, ſpryn-kle thee ſelfe with aſhes: mourne and weepe bytterlye, as vppon thyne onely beloued ſonne, for the deſtroyer ſhal ſodaynely fall vppon vs.

29 The bellowes are brent in the fire, the lead is not moulten, the melter melteth in vayne, for the euyl is not taken away from them.

30 Therefore doo they cal them noughtie syluer, because the Lorde hath cast them out.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

a. Ieremie is commaunded to shewe vnto the people the vvoorde of God, vvhiche trusteth in the outvvarde seruice of the temple. 13. The euylles that shal happen to the Ievves for the despisyng of theyr prophetes. 21. Sacrifices dooth not the Lorde cheefely requyre of the Ievves, but that they shoulde obey his vvoorde.

THese are the woordes that GOD spake vnto Ieremie, saying,

2 Stande vnder the gate of the Lordes house, and crye out these wordes there with a loude voyce, and say, Heare the word of the Lorde al ye of Iuda, that goe in at this doore, to worshyp the Lorde.

3 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, || Amende your wayes and your counsailes, & I wil let you dwell in this place. || Ier. 26. 13

4 Trust not in false lying woords, saying, Here is the temple of the Lorde, here is the temple of the Lord, here is the temple of the Lorde:

5 But rather in deede amende your wayes and counsailes, & iudge right betwixt a man and his neighbour.

6 Oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse, & the wydow, shed not innocent blood in this place, cleaue not to strange Goddes, to your owne destruction:

7 Then wil I let you dwel in this place, yea, in the lande that I gaue aforetime to your fathers for euer.

8 But take heede, ye trust in lying tales, that beguyle you, and doo you no good.

9 For when ye haue stollen, murdred, committed adulterie, & periurie, when ye haue offered vnto Baal, folowing strange & vnknowen Gods: shal ye be vnpunished?

10 Yet then come ye, & stand before me in this house (whiche hath my name geuen vnto it) & say, Tushe, we are absolued quite, though we haue done al these abominations. || Mat. 21. 13 Mar. 11. 14. Luk. 19. 46.

11 What, || thinke you this house that beareth my name, is a den of theeues? And yet I see vvhat you thynke, saith the Lorde.

12 Goe to my place in Silo, whereunto I gaue my name aforetime, || and looke wel what I did to the same place for the wickednesse of my people of Israel. || Psa. 1. 13. Esai. 65. 12.

13 And nowe seeing ye haue done all these deedes, sayth the Lord, and I mee selfe rose vp euer betimes to warne you, and to commune with you, yet woulde ye not heare me, I called, ye woulde not answeare:

14 Therefore, || euen as I haue doone vnto Silo, so wil I do to this house that my name is geuen vnto, & that ye put your trust in: yea, vnto the place that I haue geuen to you and your fathers: || 1. kin. 4. 18

15 And I shal thrust you out of my sight, as I haue cast out al your brethren the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 || Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, thou shalt neyther geue thankes nor byd praier for them: make thou no intercession for them, for in no wise wil I heare thee. || Iere. 14. 11

17 Seest thou not what they doo in the cities of Iuda, and in the streetes of Hierusalem?

18 || The children gather stickes, the fathers kindle the fire, the women kneade the dough to backe cakes for the queene of heauen: they powre out drinke offeringes vnto strange gods, to prouoke me vnto wrath. || Iere. 44. 19

19 Howebeit they hurt not me, saith the lorde, but rather confounde and shame themselues.

20 And therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, my wrath and indignation shalbe powred out vpon this place, vpon men and cattaile, vpon trees in the feelde & fruite of the lande: and it shal burne, so that no man may quenche it.

21 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Heape vp your burnt offerings with your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For when I brought your fathers out of Egypt, I spake no woorde vnto them of burnt offeringes and sacrifices.

23 But this I commaunded them, saying, Hearken and obey my voyce, and I shalbe your God, and ye shalbe my people, so that ye walke in all the wayes whiche I haue cõmaunded you, that ye may prosper.

24 But they were not obedient, they enclined not their eares thereunto: but went after their owne imaginations, and after the mocions of their owne wicked hart, and so turned themselues away, and conuerted not vnto me.

25 And this haue they doone from the time that your fathers came out of Egypt, vnto this day: Neuertheless, I sent vnto

you

you my ſeruantes the prophetes, I roſe vp early, and ſent you woord.

Iere.16.12. 26 ||Yet woulde they not hearken, nor offer me their eares, but were obſtinate, and wooꝛſe then their fathers.

27 And thou ſhalt nowe ſpeake all theſe wooꝛdes vnto them, but they wil not heare thee: thou ſhalt crye vpp on them, but they wil not anſweare thee.

28 Therefoꝛe ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, This is the people that neither heareth the voyce of the Loꝛde their God, noꝛ receiueth his coꝛrection: faythfulneſſe and trueth is cleane rooted out of their mouth.

29 Wherefoꝛe cut of thine heare O Hieruſalem and caſt it away, take vp a complaint on high: foꝛ the Loꝛd hath caſt away and foꝛſaken the people that he is diſpleaſed with al.

30 Foꝛ the childꝛen of Juda haue done euil in my ſight, ſaith the Loꝛde, they haue ſet vp their abominations in the houſe that hath my name, and haue defiled it:

31 They haue alſo buylded aulers at Thopheth, which is in the valley of the childꝛen of Hannom, that they might burne their ſonnes and daughters in fiꝛe: which I neuer commaunded them, neither came it euer in my thought.

32 And therefoꝛe, behold the dayes ſhal come (ſaith the Loꝛd) that it ſhal no moꝛe be called Thopheth, noꝛ the valley of the childꝛen of Hennom, but the valley of ſlaughter: foꝛ in Thopheth they ſhal be buried, becauſe they ſhal els haue no roome.

33 Yea, the dead bodyes of this people ſhalbe eaten vp of the foules of the ayre, and wilde beaſtes of the earth, and no man ſhall fray them away.

Ezec.26.13. 34 And as foꝛ the voyce of myrth and gladneſſe of the cities of Juda and Hieruſalem, the voyce of the bꝛydegrome, and of the bꝛyde, I wil make them ceaſſe: foꝛ the lande ſhalbe deſolate.

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

1. The deſtruction of the Ievves. 4. The Lorde moueth the people to amendement, reckning vp theyr ſynnes. 20. He reprehendeth the lying doctrine of the prophetes and prieſtes.

AT the ſame time, ſaith the Loꝛde, the bones of the kinges of Juda, the bones of his pꝛinces, the bones of the pꝛeachers and pꝛophetes, yea, & the bones of the citizens of Hieruſalem, ſhalbe bꝛought out of their graues,

2 And laide againſt the Sunne, and the Moone, and al the heauenly hoſt, whom they loued, whom they ſerued, whom they ranne after, whom they ſought & wooꝛſhipped: they ſhal neither be geathered togeather noꝛ buried, but ſhall lye as doung vpon the earth.

3 And al they that remaine of this wicked generation, ſhal deſire rather to dye then to liue, whereſoeuer they remaine, and wheras I ſcatter them, ſaith the Loꝛde of hoſtes.

4 Thus ſhalt thou ſay vnto them alſo, Thus ſaith the Loꝛde, Doo men fal, ſo that they riſe not vp againe? oꝛ if Iſrael repent, wil not God turne againe to them?

5 Wherefoꝛe then is this people of Hieruſalem gone ſo farre backe, that they turne not againe? They are euer the longer the moꝛe obſtinate, and wil not be conuerted.

6 Foꝛ I haue looked and conſydered, but there is no man that ſpeaketh a good woꝛde, there is no man that taketh repentance foꝛ his ſinne, that wil ſo muche ſay, What haue I done? but euery man turneth to his owne courſe, like a fierce hoꝛſe headlong to the battaile.

7 The Stoꝛke in the ayre knoweth his appointed time, the Turtle Dooue, the Swallowe, & the Crane, conſyder the time of their trauaile: but my people wil not knowe the time of the puniſhment of the Loꝛde.

8 Howe dare ye ſay then, We are wiſe, we haue the lawe of the Loꝛde among vs: Truely in vayne hath he pꝛepared his pen, and vaynely haue the wꝛiters wꝛitten it.

9 Therefoꝛe ſhal the wiſe be confounded, they ſhalbe afrayde and taken: foꝛ loe, they haue caſt out the woꝛde of the Loꝛde, what wiſedome can then be among them?

10 Wherefoꝛe I wil geue their wiues vnto aliantes, and their feeldes to deſtroyers: Foꝛ ||from the loweſt vnto the higheſt they folowe filthy lucre, and from the pꝛophete vnto the pꝛieſt, they deale al with lyes. Eſai.55.12. Ier.6.13.

11 Neuertheleſſe, they heale the hurt of my people very ſlenderly, ſaying, Peace, peace: where there is no peace at al.

12 Fye foꝛ ſhame, howe abominable things doo they, and yet they be not aſhamed, yea, they knowe of no ſhame: Wherefoꝛe in the time of their viſitation, they ſhal fal among the dead bodyes, and be ouerthꝛowen, ſaith the Loꝛde.

13 Moꝛeouer, I wil conſume them in deede (ſaith the Loꝛde) ſo that there ſhal not be one grape vpon the vine, neither one figge vpon the fygge tree, and the leaues ſhalbe pluckt of, and the thing that I haue geuen them, ſhalbe taken from them.

14 Why pꝛolong we the time, let vs geather our ſelues togeather, and goe into the ſtrong citie, there ſhal we be in reſt: foꝛ ꝓ Lord our god hath put vs to ſilence, & geuen

he water myxt with gall to drynke, because we haue synned agaynst him.

Ier.14.19. 15 ‖ We looked for peace, & we fare not the better, we wayted for the tyme of health, and loe, here is nothyng but trouble.

16 The noyse of his horses is heard from Dan, the whole lande is afrayde at the neyghyng of his strong horses: for they are come in, and haue deuoured the land with al that is in it, the cities, and those that dwell therein.

17 Moreouer, I wyl send Cockatrices and Serpentes among you (whiche wyl not be charmed) and they shal bite you, sayth the Lorde.

18 I woulde haue had comfort agaynst sorowe: but sorowe is come vppon me, and heauynesse vexeth my hart.

19 For loe, the voyce of the crying of my people is heard for feare of them that come from a farre countrey: Is not the Lorde in Sion? Is not her kyng in her? Wherfore then haue they greeued me shal the Lorde say, with their images and foolishe strange fashions of a forraigne God?

20 The haruest is gone, the Sommer hath an ende, and we are not helped.

21 I am sore vexed because of the hurte of my people, I am heauy and abashed.

22 Is there not tryacle at Gilead? Is there no Phisition there? why then is not the health of my people recouered?

¶ The.ix. Chapter.

1. The complaint & bewailing of the prophet, 3. The malice of the people. 24. In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26. The vncircumcision of the hart.

O Who wyl geue my head water ynough, and a well of teares for myne eyes, that I may weepe nyght & day for the slaughter of my people?

2 Woulde GOD that I had a cotage some where farre from folke, that I myght leaue my people, and goe from them, for they be al adulterers, and a shrynkyng sort.

3 They bend their tongues lyke bowes to shoote out lyes, they ware strong vppon earth: As for the trueth, they maye nothyng away withal in the worlde, for they goe from one wickednesse to another, & wyl not knowe me, sayth the Lorde.

4 Yea, one must keepe him selfe from another, no man maye safely trust his owne brother: for one brother vndermyneth another, one neyghbour begyleth another.

5 Yea one dissembleth with another, & they deale with no trueth: They haue practised their tongues to lye, and taken great paynes to doo mischeefe.

6 Thou syttest in the myddes of a deceyteful people, whiche for very dissembling falshood wyl not knowe me, sayth the Lord.

7 Therfore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, I wyll melt them, and trye them: for what shoulde I els doo to my people?

8 Their tongues are lyke sharpe arrowes to speake deceyt: ‖ with their mouth they speake peaceably to their neyghbour, but prypuply they laye wayte for him. ‖ Psal.28.3.

9 Should I not punyshe them for these thynges, sayth the Lord? or shoulde I not be auenged of any suche people as this?

10 Vpon the mountaynes wyll I take vp a lamentation, and a sorowful crye, and a mournyng vpon the fayre places of the wyldernesse namely, howe they are so brent vp, that no man goeth there any more, yea a man shal not heare one beast crye there: byrdes and cattel are al gone from thence.

11 I wyl make Hierusalem also an heape of stones, & a denne of venemous wormes: and I wyll make the cities of Juda so waste, that no man shall dwel therein.

12 What man is so wyse as to vnderstande this? or to whom hath the Lorde spoken by mouth, that he may shewe this, & say, O thou land, why perysheth thou so? wherefore art thou so brent vp, and lyke a wyldernesse that no man goeth through?

13 Yea the Lorde him selfe tolde the same vnto them that forsooke his lawe, and kept not the thing that he gaue them in commaundement, neyther lyued thereafter:

14 But folowed the wickednes of their owne hartes, and serued strange Gods, as their forefathers taught them.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, ‖ Beholde, I wyl feede this people with wormewood, & geue them gal to drynke. ‖ Iere.25.15

16 I wyll scatter them also among the heathen, whom neyther they, nor their fathers haue knowen: & I wyl send a swoorde among them to persecute them, vntil I bring them to nought.

17 Moreouer, thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Beware of the vengeance that hangeth ouer you, and cal for mournyng wyues, and sende for wyse women, that they come shortly, 18 And syng a mournyng songue of vs, that the teares may fall out of our eyes, and that our eye lydes may gushe out of water.

19 For there is a lamentable noise heard of Sion: O howe are we so sore destroyed? O howe are we so pitefully confounded? We must muſt forſake our owne natural countrey, and we are ſhut out of our owne lodgynges.

20 Yet heare the woorde of the Lorde, (O ye women) and let your eares regard the woordes of his mouth, that ye may learne your daughters to mourne, and that euery one may teache her neyghbour to make lamentation.

21 Namely thus, Death is clymyng vp in at our wyndowes, he is come into our houſes, to deſtroye the chylde before the dooze, and the young man in the ſtreete.

22 But tel thou playnely, Thus ſaith the Lorde, The dead bodyes of men ſhal lye vpon the grounde as the doung vpon the feelde, and as the handfull after the mower, and there ſhalbe no man to take them vp.

‖ 1.Cor.1.31 2.Cor.10.17 23 Thus ſayth the Lord, ‖ Let not the wyſe man reioyce in his wyſedome, nor the ſtrong man in his ſtrength, neyther the rych man in his rycheſſe.

24 But who ſo wyll reioyce, let him reioyce in this, that he vnderſtandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lorde whiche doo mercy, equitie, and ryghteouſneſſe vpon the earth: therefore haue I pleaſure in ſuche thynges, ſayth the Lorde.

25 Beholde, the tyme commeth (ſayth the Lorde) that I wyll viſite all them whoſe forefkin is vncircumciſed, & the circumciſed, 26 The Egyptians, the Iewes, the Edomites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, and the ſhauen Madianites that dwel in the wilderneſſe: for all the Gentiles are all vncircumciſed in the fleſhe, but al the houſe of Iſrael are vncircumciſed in the hart.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

2. The conſtellations of the ſtarres are not to be feared. 5. Of the vveakeneſſe of idolles, and of the power of God. 21. Of euyll Curates.

HEARE the woorde of the Lord that he ſpeaketh vnto thee, O thou houſe of Iſrael.

2 Thus ſayth the Lorde, Ye ſhall not learne after the manner of the heathen, and ye ſhall not be afraide for the tokens of heauen: for the heathen are afrayde of ſuche.

3 Yea al the cuſtomes and lawes of the Gentiles are nothing but vanitie: They hew downe a tree in the wood with the handes of the woorkeman, and faſhion it with the Are.

4 They couer it ouer with golde or ſyluer, they faſten it with nayles & hammers, that it moone not.

5 It ſtandeth as ſtyffe as the Palme tree, it can neyther ſpeake, nor goe one foote, but muſt be borne: be not ye afrayde of ſuch, for they can doo neyther good nor euyl.

6 ‖ But there is none lyke vnto thee, O Lorde, and great is the name of thy power. ‖ Apoc.15.4

7 Who wouldo not feare thee, O kyng of the Gentiles? for thyne is the dominion: for among al the wyſe men of the Gentiles, and in al their kingdomes, there is none that may be lykened vnto thee.

8 They are altogether brutyſh and vnwyſe in this one thyng: a wood is the teachyng of vanitie.

a. By wood, is meant all kinde of matter, wher of images are woonte to be made, which although they be garnyſhed with gold and ſyluer and clothed in purple & ſylke, and ſet vp (as ſome men ſay) to be laye mens bookes, yet teache they nothyng ſayth the Prophete, but vanitie.

9 Syluer is brought out of Tharſis, and beaten to plates, and golde from Ophir, a woorke that is made with the hande of the craftesman, and they are clothed with yelow ſylke and ſcarlet: all theſe are the woorke of cunnyng men.

10 But the Lorde is a true God, a lyuyng God, and an euerlaſtyng kyng: yf he be wroth, the earth ſhaketh, all the Gentiles may not abyde his indignation.

11 As for their Gods, thus ſhal you ſay to them, They are no Gods that made neither heauen nor earth, therefore ſhall they peryſhe from the earth, and from all thynges vnder heauen.

12 ‖ But as for our God, he hath made the earth with his power, and with his wyſedome doeth he order the whole compaſſe of the world, with his diſcretion hath he ſpread out the heauens. ‖ Gene.1.6. Pſal.13.5.

13 At his voyce the waters geathered togeather in the ayre, he draweth vp ỹ cloudes from the vttermoſte partes of the earth, ‖ He turneth lyghtenyng to rayne, and bryngeth forth the wyndes out of their treaſures. ‖ Pſal.134.7

14 His wiſdome maketh al men fooles, and confounded be caſters of images: for that they caſt is but a vayne thyng, and hath no lyfe.

15 The vayne craftesmen with their woorks that they in their vanitie hath made, ſhall peryſhe one with an other in tyme of viſitation.

16 Neuertheleſſe, Iacobs portion is none ſuche: but it is he that hath made all thynges, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lorde of hoſtes is his name.

17 Geather vp thy wares out of the lande, thou that art in the ſtrong place.

18 For thus ſayeth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyl nowe throwe as with a ſtone ſlyng the inhabiters of this lande at this once, and I wyl bryng trouble vpon them, that they ſhal prooue true the woordes that I haue ſpoken by the prophetes.

19 Alas howe am I hurt? alas howe paynefull are my ſcourges vnto me? for I conſyder this ſorowe by mee ſelf, and I muſt ſuffer it.

20 My

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cordes are broken, my children are gone from me, and can no where be found: Nowe haue I none to spread out my tent, nor to set vp my hangynges.

21 b For the heardmen are become foolishe, and they haue not sought the Lorde: therfore haue they dealt vnwisely with their cattel, and al are scattered abrode.

b. The kings, the rulers, the propheres, and the priestes are blinde, and so destroyeth the flocke.

22 Beholde, the noyse is harde at hand, and great sedition out of the north, to make the cities of Iuda a wildernesse, and a dwelling place for dragons.

23 Nowe I knowe (O Lord) that it is not in mans power to order his owne wayes, or to rule his owne steppes and goinges.

‖ Psal. 6.1. 24 ‖ Therefore chasten thou me, O Lord, but with fauour, and not in thy wrath, lest thou bring me vtterly to nought.

‖ Psal. 79.6. 25 ‖ Powre out thine indignation vpon the Gentiles that knowe thee not, and vpon the people that cal not vpon thy name, and that because they haue consumed, deuoured, and destroyed Iacob, and haue made his habitation waste.

¶ The. xi. Chapter.

1. A curse to them that obay not the vvorde of Gods promise. 10. The people of Iuda folovving the steppes of their fathers, vvorshippeth strange Gods. 15. The Lorde sayth that he vvyl not heare the Ievves, and forbiddeth also Ieremie to pray for them.

THis is a sermon which the Lorde commaunded Ieremie for to preache, saying,

2 Heare the wordes of this couenaunt, and speake vnto the men of Iuda, and to al them that dwel at Hierusalem,

3 And say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Cursed be euery one that is not obedient vnto the wordes of this couenaunt,

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, what time as I brought them out of Egypt from the iron furnasse, saying, Be obedient vnto my voyce, and do according to al that I commaunde you, so shal ye be my people, and I wil be your God:

5 And wyl keepe my promise that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, namely that I would geue them a land which floweth with mylke and hony, as ye see it is come to passe vnto this day. Then answeared I and sayde, Amen: let it be euen so Lord as thou sayest.

6 Then the Lord sayd vnto me agayne, Preache this in the cities of Iuda, and rounde about Hierusalem, and say, Heare the wordes of this couenant, and keepe them.

7 For I haue diligently exhorted your fathers, euer since the time that I brought them out of the lande of Egypt vnto this day, I gaue them warnyng betymes, saying, Hearken vnto my voyce.

8 Neuertheless they would not obey me, nor encline theyr eares vnto me: but folowed the wycked imaginations of theyr owne hartes, and therefore I haue brought vpon them all the wordes of this couenant that I gaue them to keepe, whiche they notvvithstandyng haue not kept.

9 And the Lorde sayde vnto me, It is founde out that whole Israel, and al the cities of Hierusalem are gone backe.

10 They haue turned them selues to the blasphemies of theyr forefathers, whiche had no lust to heare my wordes: Euen lykewyse also haue these folowed strange gods, and worshipped them: The house of Israel and Iuda haue broken my couenant whiche I made with theyr fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wil send a plague vpon them, which they shal not be able to escape, and they shall crye vnto me, and I wyl not heare them.

12 Then shal the townes of Iuda, and the citizens of Hierusalem goe and cal vpon theyr gods vnto whom they made theyr oblations: but they shall not be able to helpe them in tyme of theyr trouble.

13 ‖ For as many cities as thou hast, O Iuda, so many gods hast thou had also, and looke howe many streetes there be in thee, (O Hierusalem) so many shamefull aulters haue ye set vp, aulters I say, to offer vpon them vnto Baal. ‖ Ierem. 2.28

14 ‖ Therefore pray not thou for this people, bid neither praise nor prayer for them: for though they crie vnto me in their trouble, yet wyl I not heare them. ‖ Iere. 14.12.

15 What part hath my beloued in my house, seeyng he hath wrought abomination, seruing many gods? The holy flesshe offrings in the temple are gone from thee, O Iuda, and thou, when thou hast done euyl, makest thy boast of it.

16 The Lorde called thee a greene Oliue tree, a fayre one, a fruiteful one, a goodly one: but with great clamour hath the enimie set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are destroyed.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath denised a plague for thee (O thou house of Israel and Iuda) for the euyl that ye haue done to prouoke him to wrath, in that ye dyd seruice to Baal.

18 This (O Lorde) haue I learned of thee, & vnderstand it: for thou hast shewed me theyr imaginations.

19 But I am as a meeke lambe, an ore that is caried away to be ſlayne, not knowing that they had deuiſed ſuche a counſayle agaynſt me, ſaying, We wyl deſtroy his meate with wood, and dryue him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name ſhal neuer be thought vpon.

‖ 1.Chr.28.9 Jerem.17.10 and.20.12. Pſal.7.10.

20 ‖ Therfore I wyl beſech thee nowe (O Lorde of hoſtes) thou righteous iudge, thou that trieſt the reynes and the harts, let me ſee thee auenged of them: for vnto thee haue I committed my cauſe.

21 The Lorde therfore ſpake thus of the citizens of Anathoth that ſought to ſlay me, ſaying, Preach not vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, or els thou ſhalt dye of our handes.

22 Thus I ſay, ſpake the Lord of hoſtes, Beholde, I wyl viſite you, your young men ſhal periſhe with the ſworde, your ſonnes & your daughters ſhal vtterly dye of hunger, 23 So that none ſhal remayne: for vpon the citizens of Anathoth wil I bring a plague, euen the yeere of theyr viſitation.

¶ The. xii. Chapter.

1. The prophete marueyleth greatly at the proſperitie of the vvicked, although he confeſſe God to be righteous. 7. The Ievves are forſaken of the Lord. 10. He ſpeaketh agaynſt the Curates and preachers that ſeduce the people. 14. The Lorde threatneth deſtruction vnto the nations that bordered vpon Iurie, vvhich troubled and vexed it.

O Lorde, thou art more righteous then that I ſhoulde diſpute with thee: neuertheleſſe let me talke with thee in things reaſonable. ‖ How happeneth it that the way of the vngodly is ſo proſperous? and that it goeth ſo wel with them whiche without any ſhame offende and liue in wickedneſſe?

2 Thou planteſt them, they take roote, they growe, and bring foorth fruite: they boaſt much of thee, yet art thou farre from theyr a reynes.

a. By the reynes he meaneth the inward affections and ſecrecie of the mynde.

3 But thou Lorde to whom I am well knowen, thou that haſt ſeene and proued my hart, take them away, like as a flocke is caried to the ſlaughter houſe, and appoynt them for the day of ſlaughter.

4 Howe long ſhal the land mourne, and all the hearbes of the feeld periſh for the wickedneſſe of them that dwel therein? The cattel and the birdes are gone, yet ſay they, Tuſhe, God wil not deſtroy vs vtterly.

5 Seeyng thou art weery in runnyng with the footemen, how wilt thou then runne with horſes? In a peaceable ſure lande thou mayeſt be ſafe: but howe wilt thou do in the furious pryde of Iordane?

6 For thy brethren and thy kynred haue altogeather deſpiſed thee, and cryed out vpon thee altogeather: Beleeue them not though they ſpeake fayre wordes to thee.

7 As for me, I ſay, I haue forſaken mine owne dwelling place, and left mine heritage: I haue geuen that my ſoule b loued ſo well into the hande of her enimies.

b. He meaneth the citie with the temple and the people whō he loued intirely.

8 Mine heritage is become vnto me as a lion in the wood: it cryed out vpon me, therfore haue I forſaken it.

9 Is not myne heritage vnto me as a ſpeckled birde? are not the birdes rounde about agaynſt her? Come and gather ye togeather all ye beaſtes of the feelde, come that ye may eate it vp.

10 Diuers heardemen haue broken downe my vineyarde, and troden vpon my portion: of my pleaſant portion they haue made a wilderneſſe and deſart.

11 They haue laid it waſte, & now that it is waſte, it ſigheth vnto me: yea the whole lande lieth waſte, and no man regardeth it.

12 The deſtroyers come ouer the bryers in the deſart euery way: for the ſworde of the Lord doth conſume from the one ende of the land to the other, and no fleſhe hath reſt.

13 They haue ſowen wheate, and reaped thornes, ‖ they haue taken heritage in poſſeſſion, but it doth them no good: and they were aſhamed of your fruites, becauſe of the great wrath of the Lorde.

‖ ſome texte, They were ſicke and had no profite.

14 Thus ſayth the Lorde vpon al my euyl neighbours that lay hand on mine heritage whiche I haue poſſeſſed, euen my people of Iſrael, Beholde, I wil plucke them namely Iſrael out of theyr lande, and put out the houſe of Iuda from among them.

15 And when I haue rooted them out, I wil be at one with them agayne, and I wil haue mercy vpon them, and bring them agayne euery man to his owne heritage, and into his lande.

16 And if they, namely that trouble my people, wil learne the wayes of them to ſweare by my name, The Lord liueth, lyke as they learned my people to ſweare by Baal: then ſhal they be built among my people.

17 But yf they wil not obey, then wil I roote out the ſame folke, and deſtroy them, ſayth the Lorde.

¶ The. xiii. Chapter.

1. The deſtruction of the Ievves is prefigured, and theyr ſparcing abrode. 11. VVhy Iſrael vvas receiued to be the people of God, and vvhy they vvere forſaken.

Thus

Thus sayth the Lorde vnto me, Goe thy way, and geat thee a linnen girdle, and girde it about thy loynes, let it not be wet.

2 Then I got me a girdle, according to the commaundement of the Lorde, and put it about my loynes.

3 After this, the seconde time the Lorde spake vnto me againe.

4 Take the girdle that thou hast prepared, and put about thee, and geat thee vp, and goe vnto Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rocke.

5 So went I, and hyd it at Euphrates, as the Lorde commaunded me.

6 And it happened long after this, that the Lorde spake vnto me, Vp, and geat thee to Euphrates, & fetch the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Euphrates, and digged vp, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it: and beholde, the girdle was corrupt, so that it was profytable for nothing.

8 Then sayde the Lorde vnto me,

9 Thus sayth the Lorde, Euen so wyll I corrupt the pryde of Iuda, and the high minde of Hierusalem.

10 This people is a wicked people, they wyll not heare my woorde, they folowe the wicked imaginations of their owne hart, & hang vppon strange goddes, them they serue and woorship, and therefore they shalbe as this girdle that serueth for nothing.

11 For as straightly as a girdle lieth vpon a mans loynes, so straightly dyd I binde the whole house of Israel, & the whole house of Iuda vnto me, sayth the Lorde: that they might be my people, that they might haue a glorious name, that they might be in honor: but they wouldne not obey me.

12 Therefore say this riddle before them, and say, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, Euery potte shalbe fylled with wine. And they shal say vnto thee, Thinkest thou we knowe not that euery pot shalbe filled with wyne?

13 Then shalt thou saye vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I shal fil al the inhabitours of this lande with drunkennesse, the kings that sit vpon Dauids stoole, the priestes and prophets, with al that dwel at Hierusalem.

14 And I wyl set them one agaynst another, yea the fathers agaynst the sonnes, sayth the Lorde, I wyl not pardon them, I wyl not spare them, nor haue pitie vpon the: but destroy them.

15 Heare, geue eare, take not disdaine at it: for it is the Lord him selfe that speaketh.

16 Honour the Lorde your God or he take his light from you, and or euer your feet stumble in darknesse at the hyl: lest when you looke for the lyght, he turne it into the shadowe and darknesse of death.

17 But if ye wyl not heare me that geue you secret warning, I wil mourne from my whole hart for your stubbernesse: || Pi- || Lamen. 1. 1 teously wyl I weepe, and the teares shal gushe out of myne eyes, for the Lordes flocke shalbe carryed away captiue.

18 Tel the king and the queene, Humble your selues, syt you downe lowe, for your dignitie shalbe throwen downe, and the crowne of your glorye shal fal from your head.

19 The cities toward the south shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them: al Iuda shalbe carryed away captiue, so that none shal remayne.

20 Lyft vp your eyes, and behold them that come from the northe: where is the flocke o thou lande that was geuen thee? and where are thy fatte and ryche sheepe?

21 To whom wilt thou make thy mone when the enimie shal come vppon thee? for thou hast taught them thee selfe, and made them maisters ouer thee: Shal not sorowe come vpon thee as on a woman trauaylyng with chylde?

22 And yf thou woudest then say in thyne hart, Wherefore come these thinges vppon me? Euen for the multitude of thy blasphemies shall thy hynder partes and thy feete be discouered.

23 May a man of Inde change his skinne, and the cat of the mountayne her spottes? so, may ye that be exercised in euyl, doo good?

24 Therefore wyll I scatter them lyke as the stubble that is taken away with the south winde.

25 This shalbe your portion, and the portion of your measure wherwith ye shalbe rewarded of me, sayth the Lorde, because ye haue forgotten me, and put your trust in deceytful thinges.

26 Therefore shall I turne thy clothes ouer thy head, and discouer thy shame.

27 Thy adulteries, thy neyghynges, thy shameful whoredome on the hilles in the fieldes, and thy abominations haue I seene. Wo be vnto thee (O Hierusalem) wylt thou neuer be cleansed any more? or when shal that be?

¶ The xiiii. Chapter.

Of the dearth that shoulde come in Iurie. 7. The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lorde. 10. The vnfaythful people are are not heard. 12. Of prayer, faſtyng, and of falſe prophetes that ſeduce the people.

THe woorde of the Lorde ſhewed vnto Ieremie concerning the dearth of the fruites.

2 Iuda hath mourned, his gates are deſolate, they are brought to heauineſſe, euen vnto the grounde, and the citie of Hieruſalem goeth vp.

3 The lordes ſent their ſeruantes to fetche water, and when they came to the welles, they dyd fynde no water, but carried their veſſels home emptie: they be aſhamed and confounded, and couer their heades.

4 For the grounde is dryed, becauſe there commeth no rayne vpon it: the plowemen alſo be aſhamed and couer their heads.

5 The Hinde alſo forſooke the young fawne that ſhe brought foorth in the fielde, becauſe there was no graſſe.

6 The wylde aſſes did ſtand in the hygh places, and drewe in their wind lyke the dragons, their eyes did faile for want of graſſe.

7 Doubtleſſe, our owne wickedneſſe dooth rewarde vs: but Lorde doo thou accordyng to thy name, though our tranſgreſſion and ſinnes be many, and agaynſt thee haue we ſynned.

8 For thou art the comfort and helpe of Iſrael in the tyme of trouble: Why wylt thou be as a ſtranger in the lande, and as one that goeth his iourney, and commeth in only to remayne for a nyght?

9 Why wylt thou make thee ſelfe a cowarde, and as it were a giaunt, that yet may not helpe? But thou, O Lord, art in the middeſt of vs, and thy name is called vpon of vs, forſake vs not.

10 Thus hath the Lord ſayde vnto his people, Seeyng they haue had ſuche a luſt to wander abrode, and haue not refrained their feete: therfore the Lorde hath no pleaſure in them, but he wyl nowe bryng agayne to remembrance al their miſdeedes, and punithe al their ſinnes.

11 Yea euen thus ſayde the Lorde vnto me, || Thou ſhalt not pray to doo this people good. ||Ier.7.14.

12 For though they faſt, I wil not heare their prayers, and though they offer burnt offerynges and ſacrifices, yet I wyl not accept them: for I wyl deſtroye them with the ſwoorde, hunger, and peſtilence.

13 || Then anſwearen I, O Lord God, the prophetes ſay vnto them, Tuſhe, ye ſhal neede to feare no ſwoord, and no hunger ſhal come vpon you: but the Lord ſhal geue you ſure reſt in this place. ||Ier.23.21. and.27.21. and.29.8.

14 And the Lorde ſayde vnto me, The Prophetes preach lyes in my name, whereas I haue not ſent them, neyther gaue I them any charge, neither did I ſpeake vnto them: yet they preache vnto you falſe viſions, charming, vanitie, and deceytfulneſſe of their owne hart.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, As for thoſe Prophets that preach in my name, whom I neuertheleſſe haue not ſent, and that ſay, Tuſhe, there ſhal no ſwoord nor hunger be in this lande: with ſwoorde and with hunger ſhal thoſe prophetes periſhe.

16 And the people to whom they preach, ſhalbe caſt out of Hieruſalem, die of hunger, and be ſlaine with the ſwoorde, and there ſhalbe no man to burie them, both they, and their wiues, their ſonnes, and their daughters: for thus wyl I poure their wickednes vppon them.

17 This ſhalt thou ſay alſo vnto them, || Mine eyes ſhal weepe without ceaſſyng day and nyght: for my people ſhalbe deſtroied with great harme, and ſhal periſhe with a great plague. ||Lam.1.16 and.2.18.

18 For if I goe into the fielde, loe, it lyeth al ful of ſlaine men: If I come into the citie, loe, they be al famiſhed of hunger: yea their prophetes alſo and prieſtes ſhalbe led into an vnknowen lande.

19 Haſt thou then vtterly forſaken Iuda? Dooeſt thou abhorre Sion? Wherefore haſt thou ſo plagued vs, that we can be healed no more? || We looked for peace, and there commeth no good, for the tyme of health, and loe here is nothing but trouble. ||Ier.8.15

20 We knowe ledge (O Lorde) al our miſdeedes, and the ſinnes of our fathers: for we haue offended thee.

21 Caſte vs not of (O Lorde) for thy names ſake, forgreat not thy louing kyndnes, ouerthrowe not the a throne of thine honour, breake not the couenant that thou haſt made with vs.

22 Are there any among the goddes of the gentiles that ſende raine, or geue the ſhewers from heauen? Art not thou thee ſelfe our Lorde God? we wyl truſt in thee, for thou doeſt al theſe thynges.

a. The temple at Hieruſalem is called the ſeate of Gods honor, becauſe he had appoynted that place wherein ſpecially to be honoured & thereto ſhewe the tokens of his honourable preſence.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

1. The Lorde wyl not heare Moſes and Samuel yf they pray for the people, but wyl vvrappe them in many miſeries. 6. The cauſe of ſuch great miſeries.

THus ſpake the Lord vnto me, Though Moſes and Samuel ſtoode before me, yet haue I no hart to this people, dryue them away, that they may goe out of my ſyght.

2 And

2 And yf they say vnto thee, Whyther shal we goe? then tel them, the Lord geueth
Iere.11.9. you this answeare, || Some vnto death, some to the swoorde, some to hunger, some into captiuitie.

3 For I wyl bring foure plagues vpon them, sayth the Lord, The swoord shal slay them, the dogges shal teare them in peeces, the foules of the ayre and beastes of the earth shal eate them vp, and destroy them.

4 I wyl scatter them about also in all kyngdomes and landes to be plagued, || because of Manasses the sonne Ezecia king of 4.Re.21.11 Iuda, for the thinges that he dyd in Hierusalem.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpon thee, O Hierusalem? who shalbe sory for thee? Or who shal make intercession to obtayne peace for thee?

6 Seeyng thou goest from me, and turnest backwarde, sayth the Lorde, therefore I did stretche out my hande agaynst thee to destroy thee, and I haue ben sory for thee so long that I am weery.

7 I haue scattered them abroade with the fanne of euery syde of the lande, I haue wasted my people and destroyed them, yet they haue had no lust to turne from theyr owne wayes.

8 I haue made theyr windowes moe in number then the sandes of the sea, vpon the mothers of theyr children did I bring a destroyer in the noone day: sodaynly and vnawares dyd I send a feare vpon theyr cities.

9 She that hath borne seuen children,
||Amos.8.9. hath none, her hart is ful of sorowe, || the sunne doth sayle her in the cleare day, she is confounded and sayntie for very heauinesse: As for those that remayne, I wyl deliuer them vnto the swoorde before theyr enimies, sayth the Lorde,

10 O mother, alas that thou euer didest beare me, a brawler and rebuker of the whole lande: though I neuer lent nor receiued vpon vsurie, yet all men sycake euyl vpon me.

11 And the Lorde answeared me, Verily thy a remnant shal haue wealth: Come not I to thee when thou art in trouble, and helpe thee whē thine enimie oppresseth thee?

a By the remnant is meant the times towarde the last end of his life, when God caused Nabuzaradan to shewe fauour vnto Ieremie. Iere.40.

12 Doth one iron hurt another? or one mettal, that commeth from the north, another?

13 As for thy riches and treasure, I wyl geue them out into a pray: not for mony, but because of al thy sinnes that thou hast done in al thy coastes.

Deu.32.21 14 ||And I wil bring thee with thine enimies into a lande that thou knowest not: for the fyre that is kindled in myne indignation shal burne you vp.

15 O Lorde thou knowest, therefore remember me, and visite me, reuenge me of my persecutours, take me not from this life in the time of thy anger: thou knowest that for thy sake I suffer rebuke.

16 When I had founde thy wordes I dyd eate them vp greedyly, they haue made my hart ioyfull and glad, for thy name was b called vpon me, O Lorde God of hostes.

b. I am called thy prophete.

17 I dwel not among the scorners, neyther is my delight therein: but I dwel alone because of thy hande, for thou hast filled me with bytternesse.

18 Shal heauinesse endure for euer? Are my plagues then so greate that they may neuer be healed? Wilt thou be as one that is false, and as a water that falleth and can not continue.

19 Upon these wordes, thus sayde the Lorde vnto me, If thou wilt turne agayne, I shal set thee in my seruice, and if thou wilt take out the things that is pretious from the vile, thou shalt be euen as mine owne mouth: they shal conuert vnto thee, but turne not thou vnto them.

20 And so shal I make thee a strong brasen wal agaynst this people, they shall fight agaynst thee, but they shal not preuayle: for I mee selfe wil be with thee, to helpe thee and deliuer thee, sayth the Lorde.

21 And I wil rid thee out of the handes of the wicked, and deliuer thee out of the handes of tyrantes.

¶ The.xvi. Chapter.

1. He prophesieth the miserie of the Iewes. 2. He sheweth that the worshipping of images, and the contempt of Gods lawe, is cause of theyr miserie. 13. He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon, and theyr deliuerance from thence agayne. 19. The callyng of the Gentiles.

THus sayth the Lorde vnto me,

2 Thou shalt take thee no wyfe, nor begeat chyldren in this place.

3 For of the chyldren that are borne in this place, of theyr mothers that haue borne them, and of theyr fathers that haue begotten them in this lande, thus sayth the Lorde,

4 They shall dye an horrible death, no man shal weepe for them, nor bury them, but they shal lye as doung vpon the earth: they shal perysshe through the swoord and hunger, and theyr bodies shalbe meate for the foules of the ayre, and beastes of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Goe not thou into the house of mourning, nor come to mourne and weepe for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, sayth the Lorde, pea my fauour and my mercies.

6 And in this land shal they dye old and yoūg, and shal not be buried: no man shall beweepe them, no man shall clippe or shaue hym selfe for them.

7 They shall not wring theyr handes in mournyng wise on theyr dead, one to comfort another: one shal not offer another the cuppe of consolation to forget theyr heauynesse for theyr father and mother.

8 Thou shalt not goe into theyr feaste house, to sit downe to eate or drinke with them:

9 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I shal take away out of this place the voyce of myrth and gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and of the bride, yea and that in your dayes, that ye may see it.

‖ Iere.5.19. 10 ‖ Now when thou shewest this people al these wordes, and they say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lorde deuised all this great plague for vs? or what is the offence & sinne that we haue done agaynst the Lorde our God?

11 Then make thou them this answeare, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, sayth the Lorde, and haue walked after strange gods, whom they honoured and worshipped: but me haue they forsaken, and haue not kept my lawe.

‖ Iere. 7.26. 12 ‖ And ye with your shameful blasphemies haue exceeded the wickednesse of your fathers: for euery one of you hath folowed the frowarde and eupl imaginations of his owne hart, and is not obedient vnto me, ‖ Iere.23.8. 13 ‖ Therefore wil I cast you out of this land, into a land that ye & your fathers know not: & there shal ye serue strange gods day and night, there wyl I shewe you no fauour.

14 Beholde therefore, sayth the Lorde, the dayes are come that it shal no more be sayd, The Lord lyueth which brought the children of Israel out of the lande of Egipt:

15 But it shalbe sayde, The Lorde lyueth that brought the childrē of Israel from the north, and from al landes where he had scattered them: for I wyl bring them agayne into the lande that I gaue theyr fathers.

16 Beholde, sayth the Lorde, I wyll send out many fyshers to take them, and after that wil I sende out many hunters, to hunt them out from all mountaynes and hylles, and out of the caues of stone.

17 For mine eyes beholde all theyr wayes, and they can not be hid from my face: neyther can theyr wicked deedes be kept close out of my sight.

18 But first wyl I sufficiently reward theyr shameful blasphemies and sinnes, because they haue defiled my lande a with theyr stinking carions and theyr abhominations, wherewith they haue fylled mine heritage.

19 O Lorde my strength, my power and refuge in time of trouble: the Gentiles shal come vnto thee from the endes of the world, and say, Verely our fathers haue cleaued vnto lyes, their idols are but vayne and vnprofitable.

20 Howe can a man make those his gods, which are not able to be gods?

21 And therefore I wil once teach them, sayth the Lorde, I wil shewe them my hand and my power, and they shal know that my name is the Lorde.

a. Gods seruice done accordyng to his worde sauoureth sweetely, that is, pleaseth God: but Gods seruice & worship without his worde, cloked fauour like conuersion, that is, it abhorreth, and much displeaseth God.

¶ The.xvii. Chapter.

1. The frowardnesse of the Ievves. 5. Cursed be those that put their confidence in man, and those blessed that trust in GOD. 9. Mans hart is wicked. 10. GOD is the searcher of the hart. 13. The lying waters are forsaken. 21. The halowing of the Saboth is commaunded.

YOur sinne, O ye of the tribe of Iuda, is written in the table of your hartes, and grauen so vpon the edges of your aulters with a penne of iron, and with an Adamant clawe:

2 That as the fathers thinke vpon their children, so thinke you also vpon your aulters, woodes, thycke trees, high hylles, mountaynes, and feeldes.

3 Therefore, O my mount that standeth in the feelde, I will make all thy substance & treasure to be spoyled, for the great sinne that thou hast done vpon thy high places throughout al the coastes of thy lande.

4 Thou shalt be cast out also from the heritage that I gaue thee: and I wil subdue thee vnder the heauie bondage of thine enimies, in a lande that ye knowe not: for ye haue ministred fyre to myne indignation, which shal burne euermore.

5 Thus sayth the Lorde, Cursed be the man that putteth his trust in man, and that taketh flesh for his arme, and he whose hart departeth from the Lorde.

‖ Iere.48.6. 6 ‖ He shalbe like the heath that groweth in wildernes: As for the good thing that is for to come, he shal not see it, but dwell in a drie place of the wildernesse, in a salt

and

and vnoccupied lande.

7 O blessed is the man that putteth his trust in the Lorde, and whose hope is in the Lorde him selfe.

Psal.1.3. 8 || For he shalbe as a tree that is planted by the waters syde, which spreadeth out the roote vnto moystnesse, whom the heate can not harme when it commeth, but his leafe shalbe greene: And though there grow but litle fruite because of drouth, yet is he not careful, but he neuer leaueth of to bring foorth fruite.

9 Among al things, man hath the most deceptful and stubburne hart: Who shall then knowe it?

Reue.2.13. Psal.7.10. 10 Euen I the Lorde search out the ground of the hart, and trye the reynes, and rewarde euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his woorkes.

11 The Partriche maketh a nest of egges, which she layed not: he commeth by riches, but not rygh teously, in the middest of his lyfe must he leaue them behynd him, and at the last be founde a very foole.

12 But thou (O Lord) whose throne is most glorious, excellent, and of moste antiquitie, which dwellest in the place of our holy rest:

13 Thou art the comfort of Israel, all they that forsake thee shalbe confounded, all they that do depart from thee shalbe written in earth: for they haue forsaken the Lord, the very conduite of the waters of life.

14 Heale me, O Lorde, and I shalbe whole: saue thou me, and I shalbe saued: for thou art my prayse.

15 Beholde, these men say vnto me, Where is the woord of the Lord? let it come nowe.

16 Whereas I neuertheless obediently folowed thee as a shepheard, and haue not vncalled taken this office vppon me, this knowlest thou well: my woordes also were right before thee.

17 Be not thou terrible vnto me, O Lord: for thou art he in whom I hope when I am in peril.

18 Let my persecutours be confounded, but not me: let them be afraide, and not me: Thou shalt bring vppon them the time of plague, and shalt destroy them right sore.

19 Thus hath the Lorde sayd vnto me, Goe and stand vnder the gate wherthrough the people and the kinges of Iuda goe out and in, yea vnder al the gates of Hierusalem,

20 And say vnto them, Heare the woorde of the Lorde, ye kinges of Iuda, and all thou people of Iuda, and al the citizens of Hierusalem that goe through this gate, 21 Thus the Lorde commaundeth, Take heede for your lyues that ye cary no burden vpon you in the Sabboth, to bring it thorowe the gates of Hierusalem.

22 Ye shal beare no burden also out of your houses in the Sabboth, you shal doo no labour therein: but halowe the Sabboth, as I commaunded your fathers.

23 Howbeit they obeied me not, neyther hearkened they vnto me: but were obstinate and stubburne, and neither obeyed me, nor receiued my correction.

24 Neuertheless, if ye wyll heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden into the citie through this gate vpon the Sabboth, if ye wyl halowe the Sabboth, so that ye do no woorke therin:

25 Then shal there go through the gates of this citie kinges and princes, that shal syt vpon the throne of Dauid, they shalbe carryed vpon charets, and ryde vpon horses, both they & their princes: yea whole Iuda, and al the citizens of Hierusalem shal goe heere through, & this citie shal euer be inhabited.

26 There shal come men also from the cities of Iuda, from about Hierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, from the playne fieldes, from the mountaynes, and from the wyldernesse, whiche shal bring whole burnt offerynges, sacrifices, oblations, and incense, and offer vp thankesgeuyng in the house of the Lorde.

27 But if ye wyl not be obedient vnto me, to halowe the Sabboth, so that ye wyl beare your burdens through the gates of Hierusalem vpon the sabboth: then shal I set fyre vpon the gates of Hierusalem, and it shal burne vp the houses of Hierusalem, and no man shalbe able to quenche it.

¶ The.xviii.Chapter.

1. God sheweth by the example of a potter that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word, and to helpe them againe when they amende. 18. The conspiracie of the Iewes agaynst Ieremie 19. His prayer agaynst his aduersaries.

THis is another communication that God had with Ieremie, saying,

2 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I tel thee more of my mynde.

3 Nowe when I came to the potters house, I founde him makyng his woorke vpon a wheele.

4 The vessell that the potter made of clay brake among his handes: So he began a newe, and made another vessell according to his mynde.

5 Then sayd the Lord thus vnto me,

6 May not I doo with you as this potter doth, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? Beholde ye houſe of Iſrael, ye are in my hande, euen as the clay is in the potters hande.

‖ Rom. 9. 20. Eſai. 45. 9.

7 ‖ When I take in hande to roote out, to deſtroy, or to waſte away any people or kingdome:

‖ Iere. 1. 10.

8 ‖ If that people againſt whom I haue thus deuiſed, conuert from their wickednes, I repent of the plague that I deuiſed to bring vpon them.

9 Againe, when I take in hand to build or to plant a people or a kingdome:

10 If the ſame people doo euill before me, and heare not my voyce, I repent of the good that I haue deuiſed for them.

11 Speake nowe therefore vnto whole Iuda, and to them that dwel at Hieruſalem, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, ‖ I am deuiſing a plague for you, and am taking a thing in hande againſt you: therefore let euery man turne from his euil way, and take vpon you the thing that is good and right.

‖ Iere. 25. 5. and. 35. 10. Ionas. 3. 9.

12 But they ſayd, No more of this, we will followe our owne imaginations, and doo euery man according to the wylfulneſſe of his owne minde.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Aske among the heathen if any man haue heard ſuch horrible thinges, as the maiden Iſrael hath doone?

14 a Wyl a man forſake the ſnowe of Libanus, whiche commeth from the rocke of the fielde? Or ſhal the colde flowing waters that commeth from another place be forſaken?

a. It is extreme madnes to forſake God the onely freſhe ſpring of pure pleaſant waters, who is nigh at hande, and to goe far of to ſeeke fowle and filthy puddels, wherein there is nothing but vncleane and ſtinking water.

15 But my people hath forgotten me, they haue made ſacrifyce in vayne, and their prophets make them fal in their waies from the auncient pathes, and to goe into a way not vſed to be troden of iuſt men.

‖ Iere. 19. 8. and. 49. 10.

16 ‖ Wherethrough they haue brought their lande into an euerlaſting wildernes and ſcorne: ſo that who ſo euer trauayleth thereby ſhalbe abaſhed, and wagge theyr heades.

17 With an eaſt winde wyll I ſcatter them before their enimies: and when their deſtruction commeth, I wil turne my backe vpon them, but not my face.

18 Then ſaide they, Come, let vs imagine ſome thing againſt this Ieremie: for the prieſtes ſhal not be deſtitute of the lawe, neither ſhall the wyſe men be deſtitute of counſell, nor the prophetes deſtitute of the woorde of God: Come, and let vs ſmite him with the tongue, and let vs not marke al his woordes.

19 Conſyder me, O Lorde, and heare the voyce of myne enimies.

20 Shal they recompence euyl for good? for they haue digged a pit for my ſoule: Remember howe that I ſtoode before thee to ſpeake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore let theyr chyldren dye of hunger, and let them be oppreſſed with the ſwoord: Let theyr wyues be robbed of theyr children and become widowes, let theyr husbandes be ſlayne, let their young men be killed with the ſwoorde in the fielde.

22 Let the noyſe be heard out of their houſes when thou bringeſt the murderer ſodaynely vppon them: for they haue digged a pitte to take me, and layde ſnares for my feete.

23 Yet Lorde thou knoweſt all theyr counſell, that they haue deuyſed to ſlay me, forgeue not their wickednes, and let not their ſinnes be put out of thy ſight, but let them be iudged before thee as giltie: this doo thou vnto them in the tyme of thine indignation.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

1. He prophecieth the deſtruction of Hieruſalem, for the contempt and diſpyſyng of the vvoords of God.

THus ſayeth the Lorde, Goe thy waye and buye thee an earthen pitcher, and bring foorth the ſenatours and cheefe prieſtes,

2 Unto the valleye of the chyldren of Hennom, whiche lyeth without the eaſt gate, and ſhew them there the woordes that I ſhal tel thee,

3 And ſay thus vnto them, Heare the woorde of the Lorde ye kynges of Iuda, and ye citizens of Hieruſalem, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael: Behold, I wyll bring ſuche a plague vpon this place, that the eares of al that heare it ſhal glowe:

4 And that becauſe they haue forſaken me, and vnhalowed this place, and haue offered in it vnto ſtrange gods, whom neyther they, theyr fathers, nor the kinges of Iuda haue knowen: they haue fylled this place alſo with the blood of innocentes.

5 And they haue ſet vp an aulter vnto Baal, to burne their children for a burnt offering vnto Baal, whiche I neither commaunded nor charged them, neither thought once thereupon.

6 Beholde therfore, the time commeth

(ſaith

(saith the Lorde) that this place shal no more be called Thopheth, nor the valley of the childre of Hennom: but the valley of slaughter.

7 For in this place wil I bring to nought the counsayle of Iuda and Hierusalem, and kyl them downe with the swoorde before their enimies, and I wil deliuer them into the handes of them that seeke their lyues, and their dead carcasses wyll I geue to be meate for the foules of the ayre, and the beastes of the feelde.

8 ||And I wyll make this citie so desolate & despised, that who so euer goeth thereby shalbe abashed, and iest vpon her, because of al her plagues. ||Ier.18.16

9 I wyl feede them also with the flesshe of their sonnes & their daughters, yea, euery one shal eate vp another in the besieging and straightnesse wherewith their enimies that seeke theyr lyues shall keepe them in.

10 And the pitcher shalt thou breake in the sight of the men that goeth with thee,

11 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Euen so wyl I destroy this people and citie, as a man breaketh an earthen vessel that can not be made whole againe: in Thopheth shal they be buried, for they shal haue none other place.

12 Thus wyl I doo vnto this place also saith the Lord, & to them that dwell therein, yea, I wyl make this citie as Thopheth.

13 For the houses of Hierusalem, and the houses of the kinges of Iuda, shalbe defiled like as Thopheth, and so shal al the houses in whose rooffes they did sacrifice vnto al the host of heauen, and powred drinke offeringes vnto strange Gods.

14 And so Ieremie came from Thopheth, where the Lorde had sent him to prophesie, and stoode in the court of the house of the Lorde, and spake to al the people.

15 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon euery towne about it, all the plagues that I haue deuised against thē, because they haue been obstinate, and would not obey my warninges.

¶ The.xx. Chapter.

2. Ieremie is smytten, and caste into prysō, for preaching of the vvoorde of God. 4. He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babilon. 7. He complayneth that he is a mocking stocke for the vvoorde of God. 9. He is compelled by the spirite to preache the vvoorde.

WHen Phashur the priest, the sonne of Emmer, chiefe in the house of the Lorde, hearde Ieremie preache these woordes so stedfastly, 2 He smote Ieremie, and put him in the prison, that is, in the high gate of Beniamin, towardes the house of the Lorde.

3 The nexte day folowyng, Phashur brought Ieremie out of the prison againe: Then said Ieremie vnto him, The Lorde shal cal thee no more Phashur, that is, excellent and encreasyng, but Magor, that is, fearefu and afrayde euery where.

4 For thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I wyl make thee afraide, euen thee selfe, and al that fauour thee, which shal perishe with the swoord of their enimies, euen before thy face, and I wyl geue whole Iuda into the handes of the kyng of Babylon, whiche shal carry some vnto Babylon prysoners, and slay some with the swoorde.

5 Moreouer, all the substance of the citie, what so euer they haue gotten with their trauayle, al their pretious things, and al the treasure of the kings of Iuda, wil I geue into the handes of their enimies, whiche shall spoyle them, and cary them vnto Babylon.

6 But as for thee (O Phashur) thou shalt goe into captiuitie with al thy housholde, and to Babylon shalt thou come, where thou shalt die, & be buried, thou and al thy fauourers, to whom thou hast preached lyes.

7 O Lorde, if I am deceiued, then hast thou a deceiued me, thou enforcedst me, and hast preuailed: dayly am I despised, & laughed to scorne of euery man.

8 For since I began to preache, I cryed out agaynst violencie, and exclaymed agaynst oppression: for the whiche cause they cast the woorde of the Lorde in my teeth, to my reproche continually.

9 Wherfore I thought from henceforth not to speake of hym, nor to preach any more in his name, but the woorde of the Lord was a very burnyng fire in my hart, and in my bones, whiche when I woulde haue stopped, I myght not.

10 Verily I hearde the cyll reportes of many, terrour was on euery side of me: b complayne vpon him, say they, and we wyl tel his tale: yea, al myne owne companions, and suche as were conuersant with me, lay in wayte for my halting, saying, Peraduenture he wilbe deceiued, and so shal we preuayle agaynst hym, and be auenged of him.

11 But the Lorde stoode by me like a mightie Giant, therefore my persecutours fel, and coulde doo nothing: they shalbe sore confounded, for they haue doone vnwisely, they shal haue an euerlastyng shame, whiche shal neuer be forgotten.

12 And nowe, ||O Lorde of hostes, that tryest ỹ righteous, which knowest the reines and the very hartes, let me see them punished:

a. The prophet assureth the trueth of his doctrine, against the slaunderer, for it is the worde of God, who can not deceiue, nor be deceyued.

b. The priestes and such as were in auctoritie with the king, styrred vp the people to watch narowly Ieremies sayinges, if they coulde fynde him to halt in any thing wherefore they might accuse him to the kyng. ||Psal.7.10 ſhewe vnto thee I haue declared my cauſe.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, and prayſe him, for he hath deliuered the ſoule of the oppreſſed from the hande of the violent.

14 ‖Curſed be the day wherin I was borne, vnhappy be the day wherein my mother brought me forth.

15 Curſed be the man that brought my father the tidinges to make him glad, ſaying, Thou haſt begotten a ſonne:

16 Let it happen vnto that man, as to the cities c whiche the Lorde turned vpſidedowne, and repented not: let hym heare crying in the morning, and at noone day lamentable howling.

17 Why ſlueſt thou not me as ſoone as I came out of my mothers wombe? or that my mother had been my graue her ſelfe, that the byrth might not haue come out, but remaynes ſtyl in her?

18 Wherefore came I forth of my mothers wombe? to haue experience of labour and ſorowe, and to leade my lyfe with ſhame?

‖Iob.3.3.

c. The moſt godly men are ſometimes caryed away with the vnruly rage of immoderate affection, albeit in this prophete the cauſe of his immoderate zeale was, for that he ſaw this trauaile to ſaue the people to be in vayne, Gods woorde contemned, and al godlineſſe ſcornefully deſpiſed.

¶ The.xxi. Chapter.

He propheſieth that Zedecias ſhalbe taken, and the citie burned.

THeſe are the woordes that the Lorde ſpake vnto Jeremie, what time as king Zedecias ſent vnto hym Phaſhur the ſonne of Melchias, & Sophonias the ſonne of Maaſias prieſt, ſaying,

2 Aſke counſaile at the Lorde, we pray thee on our behalfe, for Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon beſiegeth vs: if the Lorde peraduenture wil deale with vs accordyng to his maruaylous power, and take hym from vs.

3 Then ſpake Jeremie, Geue Zedecias this anſwere:

4 Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſrael, Beholde, I wyl turne backe the weapons that ye haue in your handes, wherewith ye fight agaynſt the kyng of Babylon and the Chaldees, whiche beſiege you rounde about the walles, and I wyl bryng them togeather into the middeſt of this citie.

5 And I me ſelfe wyl fight agaynſt you, with an outſtretched hand, and with a mightie arme, in great diſpleaſure and terrible wrath:

6 And wyl ſmite them that dwel in this citie, yea, both men and cattel ſhal dye of a great peſtilence.

7 But after this, (ſayth the Lorde) I ſhal deliuer Zedecias kyng of Juda, and his ſeruantes, his people, and ſuch as are eſcaped in the citie, from the peſtilence, ſwoorde, and hunger, into the power of Nabuchodonoſor kyng of Babylon, yea into the hands of their enimies, into the handes of thoſe that folow vppon their lyues, whiche ſhal ſmite them with the ſwoorde, they ſhal not pitie them, they ſhal not ſpare them, they ſhal haue no mercy vpon them.

8 And vnto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſayth the Lorde, ‖Behold, I laye before you the way of life and death. ‖Ier.38.2.

9 Who ſo abydeth in the citie, ſhal periſh eyther with the ſwoorde, with hunger, or peſtilence: but who ſo goeth out to holde on the Chaldees part that beſiege it, he ſhall ſaue his life, & ſhal win his ſoule for a pray.

10 For I haue ſet my face agaynſt this citie (ſayth the Lorde) to plague it, and to doo it no good: it muſt be geuen into the hand of the kyng of Babylon, and be brent with fire.

11 And vnto the houſe of the kyng of Juda, ſay thus, Heare the woorde of the Lorde: ‖Deu. 3. Kyn

12 O thou houſe of Dauid, ‖thus ſaith the Lorde, Miniſter righteouſneſſe, and that ſoone, deliuer the oppreſſed from violent power, or euer my terrible wrath breake out lyke a fire, and burne, ſo that no man may quench it, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your imaginations. ‖Ier.22.3.

13 Beholde, ſaith the Lorde, I wyll come vpon thee that dwelleſt in the valleyes, rockes, and feeldes, and ſay, Tuſhe, who wyll make vs afrayde? or who wyl come into our houſes?

14 For I wyl viſite you, ſaith the Lord, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your inuentions, and wil kindle ſuch a fire in your wood, as ſhal conſume al that is about you.

¶ The.xxii. Chapter.

2. He exhorteth the king of Iuda to iudgement and ryghteouſneſſe. 9. VVhy Hieruſalem is brought into captiuitie. 11. The death of Sellum the ſonne of Ioſias is propheſied.

THus ſayth the Lorde, Goe downe into the houſe of the king of Juda, & ſpeake there theſe woordes,

2 And ſay, Heare the woord of the Lord, thou king of Juda, that ſitteſt in the kingly ſeate of Dauid, thou, and thy ſeruantes, and thy people, that goeth in and out at theſe gates.

3 Thus the Lord commaundeth, ‖Keepe equitie and righteouſneſſe, deliuer the oppreſſed from the power of the violent, doo not greeue nor oppreſſe the ſtranger, the fatherleſſe, nor the widowe, and ſhed no innocent blood in this place. ‖Ier.23.15

4 And yf ye keepe theſe thynges faythfully, then ſhal there come in at the dooze of this houſe, kynges to ſyt vpon Dauids ſeate, they ſhalbe carried in charrettes, and ryde vpon hozſes, both they, and their ſeruantes, and their people.

5 But yf ye wyll not be obedient vnto theſe commaundementes, I ſweare by myne owne ſelfe, ſayth the Lozd, this houſe ſhalbe waſte.

6 Foz thus hath the Lozd ſpoken vpon the kynges of Juda, Thou Gilead art vnto me the head of Libanus: ſhal I not make thee ſo waſte as the cities that no man dwel in?

7 I wyll prepare a deſtroyer with his weapons foz thee, to hewe downe thy eſpecial Cedar trees, and to caſte them in the fyre.

8 And all the people that goe by this citie, ſhall ſpeake one to another, || Wherefoze hath the Lozde doone thus vnto this noble citie?

|| Deu. 29. 24. 3. Kyng. 9. 8.

9 Then ſhal it be anſweared, Becauſe they haue broken the couenant of the Lozde their God, and haue woorſhypped and ſerued ſtrange Gods.

10 Mourne not ouer the dead, and be not woe foz them: but be ſozy foz him that departeth away, foz he commeth not agayne, and ſeeth his natiue countrey no moze.

11 Foz thus ſaith the Lozd as touching Sellum the ſonne of Joſias kyng of Juda, which raigned after his father, When he is carried out of this place, he ſhal neuer come hyther agayne.

12 Foz he ſhal dye in the place whervnto he is led captiue, and ſhal ſee this lande no moze.

13 Woe wooyth him that buyldeth his houſe with vnryghteouſneſſe, & his parlours with the good that he hath gotten by violence, whiche neuer recompenceth his neighbours labour, noz payeth him his hyze:

14 Who thynketh in him ſelfe, I wyll buylde me a wyde houſe and gozgeous parlours, who cauſeth wyndowes to be hewen therin, and the ſeelynges and ioyſtes maketh be of Cedar, & paynteth them with Sinoper.

15 Thynkeſt thou to raigne nowe that thou haſt incloſed thee ſelf with Cedar? Did not thy father eate and dzynke and proſper wel, as long as he dealt with equitie & ryghteouſneſſe.

16 Yea when he helped the oppreſſed and poore to their ryght, then proſpered he wel, from whence came this, but onely becauſe he knewe me, ſayth the Lozde?

17 Neuertheleſſe, as foz thyne eyes and thyne hart they looke vpon couetouſneſſe, to ſhed innocent blood, to doo wzong & violence.

18 And therfoze thus ſaith the Lozde agaynſt Jehoacim the ſonne of Joſias kyng of Juda, They ſhal not mourne foz him as they vſe to doo: Alas bzother, alas ſyſter: neyther ſhal they ſay vnto him, Alas ſyz, alas foz that noble prince.

19 But as an aſſe ſhal he be buried, dzarupte, and be caſte without the gates of Hieruſalem.

20 Clymbe vp the hyll of Libanus, O thou daughter Sion, lyft vp thy voyce vpon Baſan, crye from al partes: foz al thy louers are deſtroyed.

21 I gaue thee warnyng whyle thou waſt yet in proſperitie: but thou ſaydeſt, I ſhall not heare: And this maner haſt thou vſed from thy youth, that thou wouldeſt neuer heare my voyce.

22 Al thy heardmen ſhalbe dzyuen with the wynde, and thy darlynges ſhalbe carried awaye into captiuitie: then ſhalt thou be bzought to ſhame and confuſion, becauſe of al thy wickedneſſe.

23 Thou that dwelleſt vpon Libanus, and makeſt thy neſt in the Cedar trees, O howe litle ſhalt thou be regarded when thy ſozowe and panges come vpon thee, as vpon a woman trauaylyng with chylde?

24 As truely as I lyue, ſaith the Lozd, Though "Cononias the ſonne of Jehoacim kyng of Juda were the ſignet of my ryght hande, yet wyl I plucke him of.

" oz, Iechonias.

25 And I wyl geue thee into the hande of them that ſeeke thy lyfe, and into the power of them that thou feareſt, euen into the power of Nabuchodonoſoz the kyng of Babylon, and into the power of the Chaldees.

26 Moreouer, I wyll ſende thee and thy mother that bare thee into a ſtrange land where ye were not borne, and there ſhall ye dye.

27 But as foz the land that ye wyll deſyre to returne vnto, ye ſhal neuer come at it agayne.

28 This man Cononias ſhalbe lyke an image robbed and torne in peeces, and lyke a veſſel wherin there is no pleaſure: Wherefoze both he and his ſeede ſhalbe ſent away, and caſt into a lande that they knowe not.

29 O thou earth, earth, earth, heare the woozde of the Lozde.

30 Thus ſayth the Lozde, Wzyte this man deſtitute of chyldzen: foz no proſperitie ſhal this man haue al his dayes, neyther ſhal any of his ſeede be ſo happie as to ſyt vppon the ſeate of Dauid, & to beare rule any moze in Juda.

5 ‖ Beholde, the tyme commeth, ſayth the Lorde, that I wyll rayſe vp the ryghteous branche of Dauid, whiche kyng ſhall beare rule, and he ſhall proſper with wyſedome, and ſhal ſet vp equitie and ryghteouſneſſe agayne in the earth.

‖Ier.33.14. Eſai.4.2.

‖Deu.33.28 6 ‖ In his time ſhal Iuda be ſaued, and Iſrael ſhal dwel without feare: and this is the name that they ſhal cal him, The Lord our ryghteouſneſſe.

7 And therefore beholde, the tyme commeth, ſayth the Lord, that it ſhalbe no more ſayde, The Lorde lyueth whiche brought the chyldren of Iſrael out of the lande of Egypt:

‖Ier.16.13. 8 But, ‖ the lord liueth, which brought forth and led the ſeede of the houſe of Iſrael out of the North lande, and from al countreyes where I had ſcattered them: and they ſhal dwel in their owne lande agayne.

9 My hart breaketh in my body, becauſe of the falſe Prophetes, al my bones ſhake, I am become lyke a drunken man, that by the reaſon of wine can take no reſt, for very feare of the Lorde, and his holy woordes,

10 Becauſe the lande is full of adulterers, and through ſwearing it mourneth, and the pleaſant paſtures of the deſart are dryed vp: yea the way that men take is wicked, their power is nothyng ryght.

11 For the Prophetes and the Prieſtes them ſelues are polluted hypocrites, & their wickednelſe haue I found in my houſe, ſaith the Lorde.

12 Wherfore their way ſhalbe ſlypperie in the darkneſſe wherein they may ſtacker & fal: for I wyl bring a plague vpon them, euē the yeere of their viſitation, ſayth the Lorde.

13 I haue ſeene folly among the Prophetes of Samaria that preached for Baal, and decepued my people of Iſrael.

14 I haue ſeene alſo among the Prophetes of Hieruſalem, foule adulterie, & preſumptuous lies: they take the moſt ſhameful men by the hande, flatteryng them, ſo that they can not returne from their wickednelſe, al theſe with their citizens are vnto me as Sodome, & as the inhabiters of Gomorrhe.

‖Ier.9.15. 15 ‖ Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes concerning theſe Prophetes, Behold, I wyll feede them with woormewood, and make them drynke the water of gal: for from the Prophetes of Hieruſalem is hypocriſie come into al the lande.

16 And therefore the Lord of hoſtes geueth you this warnyng, Heare not the woordes of the prophetes that preach vnto you, & decepue you, truely they teache you vanitie: for they ſpeake the meanyng of their owne hart, and not out of the mouth of the Lorde.

17 They ſay vnto them that deſpiſe me, The Lord hath ſpoken it, Tuſh, ye ſhall proſper ryght wel: and vnto al them that walke after the luſt of their owne hart, they ſay, Tuſhe, there ſhal no myſfortune happē you.

18 For who hath ſytten in the counſell of the Lorde, that he hath hearde and vnderſtande what he is about to doo? who hath marked his deuice, and hearde it?

19 Beholde the ſtormie weather of the Lord, that is, his indignation ſhal goe forth, and a violent whyrle wynde ſhall fal downe vpon the head of the vngodly.

20 And the wrath of the Lorde ſhal not turne agayne, vntyl he perfourme and fulfyl the thought of his hart: & in the latter daies ye ſhal knowe this meanyng.

‖Ier.14.13 and.27.21. 21 ‖ I haue not ſent theſe Prophetes, ſayth the Lorde, and yet they ranne, I haue not ſpoken to them, and yet they preached.

22 But yf they had continued in my counſell, they had opened to my people my woordes, & they had turned my people from their euyl wayes, and wicked imaginations.

23 Am I then God that ſeeth but the thyng whiche is nygh at hande, and not that is farre of, ſayth the Lorde?

24 May anye man hyde him ſelfe ſo, that I ſhal not ſee him, ſayth the Lorde? doo not I fulfyl heauen & earth, ſayth the Lorde?

25 I haue hearde well enough what the Prophetes ſay that preache lyes in my name, ſaying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 Howe long wyl this continue in the Prophetes prophetes hart to tel lyes, and preache the craftie subtiltie of their owne hart?

27 Whose purpose is with the dreames that euery one tell, to make my people forget my name, as their fathers did when Baal came vp.

28 The prophete that hath a dreame, let him tel it, and he that vnderstandeth my woorde, let him shewe it faythfully: for what hath chaffe and wheate to doo together, saith the Lorde?

29 Is not my woorde like a fire, saith the Lorde, and like an hammer that breaketh the hard stone?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will vpon the prophetes that steale my woorde priuily from euery man.

31 Behold, here am I, saith the Lord, against the prophetes that make tongues tender to speake, and to say, The Lorde hath saide it.

32 Behold, here am I, saith the Lord, against those prophetes that dare prophesie lying dreames, and deceiue my people with their vanitie & inconstant deuices, yet I neuer sent nor commaunded them: they shal do this people no good at al, saith the Lorde.

33 If this people, eyther any prophet or priest, aske thee, and say, What is the *burden of the Lorde? Thou shalt say vnto them, What burden? I wil forsake you, saith the Lorde.

*The wicked mens hartes were so hardened against the truth, that they vsed scornfully to scoffe at Gods threatning prophesies in mockage, callyng them Gods burdē or burden.

34 And the prophete, priest, or people, that vseth this tearme, The burden of the Lorde: him wil I visite, and his house also.

35 But thus shal ye say euery one to another, and euery man to his brother, What answeare hath the Lorde geuen? or what is the Lordes commaundement?

36 And as for the burden of the Lorde, ye shal speake no more of it, for euery mans owne woord is his burden: because ye haue altered the woordes of the lyuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shal euery man say to the prophetes, What answeare hath the Lorde geuen thee? or what saith the Lorde?

38 And not once to name the burden of the Lorde. Therefore thus saith the Lorde, For as muche as ye haue vsed this tearme, (The burden of the Lord) whereas I notwithstanding sent vnto you, and forbade you to speake of the Lordes burden:

39 Behold, therefore I wil take you vp as a burden, & wil cast you farre of from my presence, yea, and the citie also that I gaue you and your fathers:

¶ The.xxiiii. Chapter.

1. The vision of the two paniers of figges, 5. The first vision signifieth, that part of the people shoulde be brought agayne from captiuitie. 8. The seconde, that Zedecias and the rest of the people shoulde be destroyed.

THe Lorde shewed me a vision: beholde, there stoode two maundes of fygges before the temple of the lorde, after that Nabucodonosor king of Babylon had led away captiue Iechonias the sonne of Iehoacim king of Iuda, the mighty men also of Iuda, with the woorkmaisters and cunning men of Hierusalem, vnto Babylon.

2 In the one maund were very good figges, euen like those that bee first ripe: in the other maund were very noughtie figges, whiche might not be eaten, they were so euyl.

3 Then saide the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Ieremie? I sayde, fygges, whereof some be very good, and some so euyl that no man may eate them.

4 Then came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, after this manner:

5 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Like as thou knowest the good fygges: so shal I knowe the men led away, whom I haue sent out of this place, into the lande of the Chaldees for their profyte:

6 And I wil set mine eyes vppon them for the best, for I wyll bryng them againe into this land, I wyl buylde them vp, and not breake them downe, I wil plant them, and not roote them out.

7 ‖ And I wil geue them an hart to knowe howe that I am the Lorde, they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God: for they shal returne vnto me with their whole hart. ‖ Iere.32.39

8 ‖ And like as thou knowest the noughtie fygges whiche may not be eaten, they are so euyl: euen so wil I, saith the Lorde, cause Zedecias the king of Iuda, yea, and al his princes, and the residue of Hierusalem that remaine ouer in this land, and them also that dwell in Egypt, to be vexed and plagued in kingdomes and landes. ‖ Iere.29.17

9 And I will make thē to be a reproofe, a cōmon bye woorde, a laughing stocke and shame in al the places where I shall scatter them.

10 I wil sende the swoord, hunger, and pestilence among them, vntyl I haue cleane consumed them out of the lande that I gaue vnto them and their fathers.

¶ The.xxv. Chapter.

Ieremie propheseth that they shalbe in captiuitie threescore and ten yeeres, because they contemned and despised the woord of God.

A Sermon that was geuen vnto Jeremie vpon al the people of Juda, in the tourth yeere of Jehoacim the ſonne of Joſias kyng of Juda (that was in the firſte yere of Nabuchodonoſor kyng of Babylon,)

2 Whiche Sermon Jeremie the Prophete made vnto al the people of Juda, and to al the inhabiters of Hieruſalem, on this manner,

3 From the thyrteenth yeere of Joſias the ſonne of Ammon kyng of Juda, vnto this preſent day (that is euen twentie and three yeeres) the woorde of the Lorde hath been committed vnto me, and ſo haue I ſpoken vnto you, I haue ryſen vp early, I haue geuen you warnyng in ſeaſon: but ye woulde not heare me.

4 Though the Lorde hath ſent his ſeruantes al the Prophetes vnto you in ſeaſon: yet would ye not obey, ye would not enclyne your eares to heare.

5 He ſayd, || Turne agayne euery man from his euyl way, & from your wicked imaginations, and ſo ſhall ye dwel for euer in the lande that the Lorde promyſed you and your forefathers. ||4.Kin. 17.13. Joh.3.3.

6 And goe not after ſtrange Gods, ſerue them not, woorſhyp them not, and anger me not with the woorkes of your owne handes, then wyl I not punyſhe you.

7 Neuertheleſſe, ye woulde not heare me, ſayth the Lorde, but haue prouoked me to anger with the woorkes of your handes, to your great harme.

8 Wherefore thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, Becauſe ye haue not hearkned vnto my woorde, 9 Loe, I wyll ſende out, and cal for all the people that dwel in the North, ſayth the Lord, and wyll prepare Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon my ſeruant, and wyl bring them vpon this lande, and vpon al that dwel therein, and vpon all the people that are about them, and wyll vtterly roote them out: I wyll make them amaſed, a mockage, and a continual deſart.

10 Moreouer, I wil take from them the voyce of gladneſſe and ſolace, the voice of the bridegrome, and the bryde, the noyſe of the myllſtones, and the lyght of the creſſettes.

11 And this whole lande ſhall become a wyldernesſe, and aſtonyſhed: and theſe nations ſhall ſerue the kyng of Babylon threeſcore yeeres and ten.

|| Jer.26.10. 2.Chro.36.2 1.Eſd.1.1. Dani.9.2. 12 || When the threeſcore and ten yeres are expired, I wil viſite al the wickednesſe of the kyng of Babylon, & his people, ſayth the Lorde, yea, and the lande of the Chaldees, and wyl make it a perpetual wyldernesſe, 13 And wyl fulfyl al my woordes vpon that lande which I haue deuiſed agaynſt it, yea all that is wrytten in this booke, whiche Jeremie hath prophefied of al people.

14 So that they alſo ſhalbe ſubdued vnto diuers nations, and great kynges: for I wyll recompence them accordyng to the deedes and woorkes of their owne handes.

15 For thus hath the Lorde God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto me, || Take this wyne cup of indignation fro my hande, that thou maiſt cauſe all people to whom I ſende thee for to drynke of it: ||Apo.16.19

16 That when they haue dronken therof, they may be mad, and out of their wittes, when the ſwoorde commeth that I wyl ſend among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup from the lords hand, and made al people to drynke therof, vnto whom the Lord had ſent me:

18 But fyrſt the citie of Hieruſalem, & all the cities of Juda, their kynges and princes, to make them deſolate, amaſed, deſpiſed, and hyſſed at, and curſed, accordyng as it is come to paſſe this day.

19 Yea & Pharao the kyng of Egypt, his ſeruantes, his princes, and his people, altogeather one with another:

20 And all kynges of the lande of Hus, al kynges of the Philiſtines lande, Aſcalon, Azah, Accaron, and the remnant of Aſdod,

21 The Edomites, the Moabites, and the Ammonites,

22 Al the kinges of Tyrus and Sidon, the kynges of the Iles that are beyonde the ſea, 23 Dedan, Thema, Buz, and all them that dwel in the vttermoſt parts of ỹ world.

24 All the kynges of Arabia, & generally al the kynges that dwel in the deſart,

25 Al the kynges of Zimri, al the kings of Elam, al the kynges of the Medes, 26 Al the kynges towarde the North, whether they be farre or nygh, euery one agaynſt his neyghbour, yea, and all the kyngdomes that are vpon the whole earth: and the kyng of Deſach ſhall drynke alſo after them.

27 Therfore ſay thou vnto them, This is the commaundement of the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Drynke, & be dronken: ſpewe, and fal, that ye neuer aryſe, and that through the ſwoorde whiche I wyll ſende among you.

28 But yf they wyl not receyue the cup of thy hande, & drynke it, then tel them, thus ſaeth the lord of hoſtes threaten you, Drynke it you ſhal, and that ſhortly.

29 For lo, || I begin to plague the citie that my name is geuen vnto, thinke ye then that I wyll leaue you vnpunished? ye ſhall ||2.Pet.4.17 not goe quite: for why? I cal for a swoorde vpon al the inhabiters of the earth, saith the Lorde of hostes.

30 Therefore tel them al these woordes, and say vnto them, ||The Lorde shal crye from aboue, and his voyce shalbe heard from his holy habitation, with a great noise shal he crie from his court regal: he shal geue a great voyce lyke the grape gatherers, and the sounde thereof shalbe heard vnto the endes of the worlde. ||Joel.3.16. Amos.1.2.

31 For the Lorde hath a iudgement to geue vpon al people, and wil holde his court of iustice with al flesshe, and wil deliuer the vngodly to the swoorde, saith the Lorde.

32 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, a miserable plague shal goe from one people to another, & a great stormie water shal arise from al the endes of the earth.

33 And the same day shal the Lord him selfe slay them from one ende of the earth to an other: there shall no mone be made for any of them, none gathered vp, none buried: but shal lye as doung vpon the grounde.

34 Mourne, O ye shepheardes, and crie, sprinckle your selues with ashes, O ye rammes of the flocke: for the time of your slaughter and breache is fulfylled, and ye shal fall lyke vesselles that were muche set by.

35 The shepheardes shall haue no way to flee, and the rammes of the flocke shal not escape.

36 Then shal the shepheards crye horribly, and the rammes of the flocke shal mourne: for the Lord hath consumed their pasture, 37 And their best feeldes lye dead, because of the horrible wrath of the Lorde.

38 They haue forsaken their foldes like as a Lion: for their lande is waste, because of the spoylers furious crueltie, & of his feareful indignation.

¶ The.xxvi. Chapter.

2. Ieremie moueth the people to amendement.
7. He is taken of the prophetes and prieſtes, and brought to iudgement. 23. Vrias the prophete is killed of Iehoiakim, contrary to the wyl of God.

IN the beginning of the raigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosias king of Iuda, came this woorde from the Lorde, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lorde, Stande in the court of the Lordes house, and speake vnto al them (which out of the citie of Iuda) come to doo worship in the Lordes house, all the woordes that I commaunde thee to say: looke that thou keepe not one woorde backe.

3 (If peraduenture they wyll hearken and turne euery man from his wicked way, that I may also repent of the plague whiche I haue determined to bring vppon them, because of their wicked inuentions.)

4 And after this maner shalt thou speake vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde, If ye wyll not obey me, to walke in my lawes whiche I haue geuen you,

5 And to heare the woordes of my seruants the prophetes whom I sent vnto you, rysing vp early, and stil sending, yet you haue not hearkened:

6 Then wil I doo to this house, ||as I did vnto Silo, and wil make this citie to be abhorred of al the people of the earth. ||1.kin.4.14.

7 And the prieſtes, the prophetes, and al the people heard Ieremie preache these woordes in the house of the Lorde.

8 Nowe when he hadde spoken out all the woordes that the Lord commaunded him to preache vnto the people, then the prieſtes, the prophetes, and all the people tooke holde vppon him, and sayde, Thou shalt dye:

9 Howe dareſt thou be so bolde as to say in the name of the Lorde, It shal happen to this house as it did vnto Silo, & this citie shalbe so waste, that no man may dwell therein?

10 And when all the people were gathered about Ieremie in the house of the Lorde, the princes of Iuda hearde of this rumour, and they came soone out of the kynges palace into the house of the Lorde, and sate them downe before the newe doore of the Lorde.

11 Then spake the prieſtes and the prophetes vnto the rulers, and to al the people these woordes, This man is woorthy to dye: for he hath preached agaynſt this citie, as ye your selues haue hearde with your eares.

12 Then sayde Ieremie vnto the rulers, and to al the people, The Lorde hath sent me to preache agaynſt this house, and agaynſt this citie, al the woordes that ye haue hearde.

13 ||Therefore amend your wayes, and your aduisementes, and be obedient vnto the voyce of the Lorde your God, so shall the Lorde repent of the plague that he hath deuised agaynſt you. ||Ierem.7.3.

14 Nowe as for me, I am in your handes, do with me as you thinke expedient and good:

15 But this shal ye knowe, if ye put me to death, ye shal make your selues, this citie, and al the inhabitantes thereof, giltie of innocent nocent blood: for this is of a trueth, that the Lorde hath ſent me vnto you, to ſpeake all theſe woordes in your eares.

16 Then ſaid the rulers and the people vnto the Prieſtes & Prophetes, This man may not be condemned to death, for he hath preached vnto vs in the name of the lord our God.

17 The elders alſo of the lande ſtoode vp, and ſayde thus vnto al the people,

18 Micheas the Morathite, whiche was a Prophete vnder Ezecias kyng of Iuda, ſpake to all the people of Iuda, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, ||Sion ſhalbe plowed lyke a feelde, Hieruſalem ſhalbe an heape of ſtones, and the hyl of the Lordes houſe ſhalbe turned to an hygh wood. ||Mich. 3. 12.

19 Dyd Ezecias the kyng of Iuda, and all the people of Iuda put him to death for this? No verely, but rather feared the lord, and made their prayer vnto him, for the whiche cauſe alſo the Lorde a repented of the plagues that he had deuiſed agaynſt them: ſhoulde we then doo ſuche a ſhamefull deede agaynſt our ſoules?

20 There was a prophet that preached ſtiffely in the name of the Lorde, called Urias, the ſonne of Semaiah of Ciriath-iarim: this man alſo preached againſt this citie, and againſt this lande, accordyng to all as Ieremie ſayth.

21 Nowe when Iehoacim the kyng, with al the eſtates & princes, had hearde his woordes, the kyng went about to ſlaye him: when Urias perceyued that, he was afraide, and fled, and departed into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoacim the kyng ſent ſeruantes into the lande of Egypt, namely, Elnathan the ſonne of Achbor, & certayne men with him into Egypt:

23 Which fetched Urias out of Egypt, and brought him vnto kyng Iehoacim, that ſlue him with the ſwoorde, and caſte his dead body into the common peoples graue.

24 But Ahicam the ſonne of Saphan helped Ieremie, that he came not into the handes of the people to be ſlayne.

a. In the deuine nature there is no ſuch affections or changeablenes: but God is ſayd after the manner of men to repent, when he doeth not execute that he had denounced, or doeth defer the plague whiche he had threatened.

¶ The. xxvii. Chapter.

e. Ieremie at the commaundement of the Lord, ſendeth bondes to the king of Iuda, and to the other kinges that were nygh, whereby they are monished to become ſubiectes vnto Nabuchodonoſor, 9. He warneth the people, and the kinges and rulers, that they beleeue not falſe Prophetes.

IN the begynnyng of the raigne of Iehoacim the ſonne of Iosias kyng of Iuda, came this woorde vnto Ieremie from the Lorde, whiche ſpake thus vnto me.

2 Make thee bondes and chaynes, and put them about thy necke,

3 And ſend them to the kyng of Edom, to the kyng of Moab, to the king of Ammon, to the kyng of Tyrus, and to the kyng of Sidon, and that by the meſſengers whiche ſhall come to Hieruſalem, vnto Zedeciah the king of Iuda:

4 And bid them ſay vnto their maiſters, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Speake thus vnto your maiſters:

5 I am he that made the earth, the men, and the cattayle that are vpon the grounde, with my great power and ſtretched out arme, and hath geuen it to whom it pleaſed me.

6 And nowe wyl I delyuer al theſe landes into the power of Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon my ſeruaunt: the beaſtes alſo of the feelde wyl I geue him, to doo him ſeruice.

7 And al the people ſhal ſerue him, and his ſonne, and his chyldren chyldren, vntyl the tyme of the ſame lande be come, and his tyme alſo: yea many people & great kynges ſhal ſerue him. 4. kin. 2

8 Moreouer, that people and kingdome whiche wyll not ſerue Nabuchodonoſor, and that wyl not put their neckes vnder the yoke of the kyng of Babylon: the ſame people wil I viſite with the ſwoorde, with hunger and peſtilence, vntyll I haue conſumed them in his handes, ſayth the Lorde.

9 And therefore folowe not your Prophetes, Soothſayers, Expounders of dreames, Charmers, & Witches, which ſay vnto you, Ye ſhal not ſerue the kyng of Babylon. 1. Eſd. 1

10 For they preache you lyes, to bring you farre from your lande, and that I might caſt you out, and deſtroy you.

11 But the people that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the kyng of Babylon, and ſerue him, thoſe wyll I let remayne ſtyll in their owne lande, ſayth the Lorde, and they ſhal occupie it, and dwel therein.

12 All theſe thynges tolde I Zedeciah the kyng of Iuda, and ſaid, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the kyng of Babylon, and ſerue him and his people, that ye maye lyue.

13 Why wylt thou and thy people peryſhe with the ſwoorde, with hunger, with peſtilence, lyke as the Lorde hath deuiſed for all people that wyll not ſerue the kyng of Babylon? 3. kin. 3. 4.

14 Therefore geue no eare vnto thoſe Prophetes that tel you, Ye ſhal not ſerue the kyng of Babylon: for they preache you lyes.

15 ||Neither haue I ſent them, ſaith the Lorde: ||Ier. 14.

Lorde: howebeit they are holde falsly to prophesie in my name, that I might the sooner drive you out, and that ye might perish with your preachers.

16 I speake to the priestes also, and to all this people: thus sayth the Lorde, Heare not the wordes of your prophetes that preach vnto you, and say, Beholde the vessels of the Lordes house shal shortly be brought hyther agayne from Babylon, for they prophesie lyes vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the kyng of Babylon, that ye may liue: wherefore wil ye make this citie to be destroyed.

18 But yf they be true prophetes in very deede, and yf the worde of the Lord be committed vnto them, then let them pray the Lorde of hostes, that the remnant of the ornamentes whiche are in the house of the Lorde, and in the house of the kyng of Juda and at Hierusalem, be not caried to Babylon also.

4.kin.25.13 19 || For thus haue the Lorde of hostes spoken concernyng the pillers, the lauer, the seate, and the residue of the ornamentes that yet remayne in this citie,

20 Which Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon tooke not when he caried away Jechonias the sonne of Jehoacim kyng of Juda, with all the power of Juda and Hierusalem, vnto Babylon captiue.

21 Yea thus hath the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel spoken, as touching the residue of the ornamentes of the Lordes house, of the king of Juda his house, and of Hierusalem:

1.Esd.1. 22 They shalbe caried vnto Babylon, and there shal they remayne vntyl I visite them, sayth the lord: then wil I bring them hyther agayne.

¶ The .xxviii. Chapter.

1. The false prophesie of Hananias the prophet. 12. Ieremie sheweth that the prophesie of Hananias is false, by the example of the other prophetes.

AND it came to passe the same yeere, euen in the begynnyng of the raigne of Zedecia kyng of Juda, in the fourth yeere, the fifth moneth that Hananias the sonne of Assur the prophet of Gibeon, spake
3.kin.3.4. to me in the || house of the Lord, in the presence of the priestes, and of al the people, and sayde,

2 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, I haue broken the yoke of the kyng of Babylon,

3 And after two yeeres wil I bring agayne into this place al the ornamentes of the Lordes house, that Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon caryed away from this place vnto Babylon,

4 Yea I will bring agayne Jechonias the sonne of Jehoacim the king of Juda him selfe, with all the prisoners of Juda that are caried vnto Babylon, euen into this place, sayth the Lorde: for I wyl breake the yoke of the kyng of Babylon.

5 Then the prophete Jeremie gaue answeare vnto the prophete Hananias before al the priestes, & before al the people that were present in the house of the Lorde.

6 And the prophete Jeremie sayde, Amen, the Lord do that, and graunt the thyng which thou hast prophesied, that he may bryng agayne al the ornamentes of the lords house, and restore al the prysoners from Babylon into this place.

7 Neuertheless, hearken thou also what I wyll say, that thou and al the people may heare.

8 The prophetes that were before vs in time past, which prophesied of warre, or trouble, or pestilence, 9 Either of peace vpon many nations and great kyngdomes, were proued by this (yf God hath sent them in very deede) when the thyng came to passe whiche the prophete tolde before.

10 And Hananias the prophete toke the chayne from the prophete Jeremies necke, and brake it.

11 And with that sayde Hananias that al the people myght heare, Thus hath the Lord spoken, Euen so wyl I breake the yoke of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon from the necke of al nations, yea and that within this two yeere. And so the prophete Jeremie went his way.

12 Nowe after that Hananias the prophete had taken the chayne from the prophet Jeremies necke, and broken it, the worde of the Lorde came vnto the prophete Jeremie, saying, 13 Goe and tel Hananias these wordes, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast broken the chayne of wood, but in stede of wood thou shalt make chaynes of iron.

14 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, I wyll put a yoke of iron vpon the necke of al this people, that they may serue Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon, yea and so shal they do: and I wil geue hym the beastes of the feelde.

15 Then sayd the prophete Jeremie vnto the prophete Hananias, Heare me Hananias, The Lord hath not sent thee, but thou bryngest this people into a false beleefe.

16 And therefore thus saith the Lorde,

Behold, I wyl ſend thee out of the land, and within a yeere thou ſhalt dye, becauſe thou haſt falſly ſpoken agaynſt the Lorde.

17 So Hananias dyed the ſame yeere in the ſeuenth moneth.

¶ The. xxix. Chapter.

1. The Epiſtle of Ieremie ſent vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10. He propheſieth their returne from the captiuitie after ſeuentie yeeres.

THeſe are the wordes of the booke that Ieremie the prophet ſent from Hieruſalem vnto the priſoners, the ſenatours, prieſtes, prophets, and al the people, whom Nabuchodonoſor had led from Hieruſalem vnto Babylon,

2 After the tyme that kyng Iechonias and his queene, his chamberlaynes, the princes of Iuda and Hieruſalem, the workemaiſters of Hieruſalem, were departed thyther.

3 Whiche booke Elaſah the ſonne of Saphan, and Gamariah the ſonne of Helcia did beare, whom Zedecias the kyng of Iuda ſent vnto Babylon to Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon: theſe were the wordes of Ieremies booke.

4 Thus hath the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto all the prſoners that were led from Hieruſalem to Babylon:

5 Builde you houſes to dwell therein, plant you gardens that you may enioy the fruites thereof.

6 Take you wiues to beare you ſonnes and daughters, prouide wyues for your ſonnes, and huſbandes for your daughters, that they may beare ſonnes and daughters, and that ye may multiplie there, and decreaſe not.

7 Seeke after the peace and proſperitie of the citie wherein ye be prſoners, and pray vnto the Lorde for it: for in the peace therof ſhal your peace be.

8 For thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, ||Let not theſe prophetes and ſoothſayers that be among you deceiue you, and beleeue not your owne dreames:

||Iere. 14.14 Iere. 23.21.

9 For why? they preache you lyes in my name, and I haue not ſent them, ſayth the Lorde.

10 But thus ſayth the Lorde, ||When ye haue fulfylled ſeuentie yeeres at Babylon, I wil bring you home, and of mine owne goodneſſe I wyl carry you hyther agayne into this place.

||Iere. 25.10 2.Chr. 36.22 1.Eſd. 1.1. Dan. 9.1.

11 For I knowe what I haue deuiſed for you, ſaith the Lord: my thoughtes are to geue you peace, and not trouble, and to geue you an ende as you wiſhe and hope to haue.

12 Ye ſhal crye vnto me, ye ſhal goe and call vpon me, and I wyl heare you.

13 Ye ſhall ſeeke me and fynde me, yea yf ſo be that you ſeeke me with your whole hart.

14 I wyll be founde of you, ſayth the Lorde, and wil deliuer you out of priſon, and geather you togeather agayne out of al places wherein I haue ſcattered you, ſayth the Lord, and wyl bring you agayne to the ſame place from whence I cauſed you to be caried away captiue.

15 But where as ye ſay that God hath rayſed you vp prophetes at Babylon, 16 Thus hath the Lorde ſpoken to the king that ſitteth in the throne of Dauid, and to al the people that dwell in the citie, and to your brethren that are not gone with you into captiuitie:

17 Thus I ſay ſpeaketh the Lorde of hoſtes, ||Beholde, I wyl ſende a ſword, hunger, and peſtilence vpon them, and wyl make them lyke vntimely figges that may not be eaten for bytterneſſe: ||Iere. 24.8.

18 And I wyl perſecute them with the ſword, with hunger, and peſtilence, I wil deliuer them vp to be vexed of al kingdomes, to be curſed, abhorred, laughed to ſcorne, & put to confuſion of al the people among whom I haue ſcattered them:

19 And that becauſe they haue not ben obedient vnto my commaundementes, ſayth the Lorde, which I ſent vnto them by my ſeruants the prophets: I ſtoode vp early and ſent vnto them, but they woulde not heare, ſayth the Lorde.

29 Heare therefore the worde of the lord all ye priſoners whom I ſent from Hieruſalem to Babylon, 20 Thus hath the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael ſpoken of Ahab the ſonne of Cholaiah, and of Zedecias the ſonne of Maaſiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my name, Beholde, I wyl deliuer them into the hande of Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon, that he may ſlay them before your eyes.

22 And al the prſoners of Iuda that are in Babylon, ſhal take this terme of curſing, and ſay, Mowe God do vnto thee as he dyd vnto Zedecias and Ahab, whom the kyng of Babylon roſted in the fyre, 23 Becauſe they ſinned ſhamefully in Iſrael: for they haue not only defyled their neyghbours wyues, but alſo preached lying wordes in my name, which I haue not commaunded them: this I teſtifie and aſſure, ſayth the Lorde.

24 But as for Semeiah the Nehelamite, thou shalt speake vnto him:

25 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Because thou hast sent letters in thyne owne name vnto all the people that is at Hierusalem, and to Sophoniah the sonne of Maasiah the priest, yea and sent them to al the priestes, saying,

26 The Lorde hath ordeyned thee to be priest in the steade of Iehoiada the priest, that thou shouldest be cheefe in the house of the Lord aboue al prophetes and preachers, and that thou mightest set them vpon the pyllory, or in the stockes:

27 Howe happeneth it then that thou hast not reproued Ieremie of Anathoth, which neuer leaueth of his prophesying?

28 And beside all this, he hath sent vs worde vnto Babylon, and tolde vs playnely that our captiuitie shal long endure, that we should builde vs houses to dwel therein, and to plant vs gardens, that we may enioy the fruites thereof.

29 Which letter Sophonias the priest read, and let Ieremie the prophete heare it.

30 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Ieremie, saying,

31 Sende worde to al them that be in captiuitie, on this maner, Thus hath the Lorde spoken concerning Semeiah the Nehelamite: Because that Semeiah hath prophesied vnto you without my commission, and brought you into a false hope:

32 Therefore thus the Lorde doth certifie you, Behold, I will visite Semeiah the Nehelamite and his seede, so that none of his shal remayne among this people, & none of them shall see the good that I wil doo for my people, saith the Lorde, for he hath preached falsely of the Lorde.

¶ The. xxx. Chapter.

1. The returne of the people from Babylon. 3. God by his chastening sheweth that the people is sinful. 16. The destruction of the enimies of Israel.

THese are the wordes that the Lorde sheweth vnto Ieremie, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Write vp diligently al the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke.

3 For loe, the time commeth, saith the Lorde, that I wyll bryng agayne the prisoners of my people of Israel and Iuda, sayth the Lord: for I wyl restore them vnto the land that I gaue to theyr fathers, and they shal haue it in possession.

4 Againe, these wordes spake the Lorde concerning Israel and Iuda.

5 Thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible crye, feare, and disquietnesse.

6 For what els doth this signifie that I see? Namely that al strong men smite euery man his hande vpon his loynes, as a woman in the payne of her trauaile? Who euer sawe a man trauayle with childe? Enquyre thereafter and see, yea, all theyr faces are marueilous pale.

7 || Alas for this day, which is so dreadful that none may be lykened vnto it, & alas for the time of Iacobs trouble, from the whiche he shal yet be deliuered. || Ioel.2.11 Amos.5.10 Soph.1.15.

8 For in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I wyll take his yoke from of thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and straungers shall no more haue dominion ouer him:

9 But they shall doo seruice vnto God theyr Lorde, and to Dauid their king, whom I wyl raise vp vnto them.

10 || And as for thee, O my seruant Iacob, feare not, sayth the Lorde, and be not afraide, O Israel: for loe, I wil helpe thee also from farre, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie: and Iacob shall turne agayne, he shalbe in rest, and haue a prosperous lyfe, and no man shall make hym afrayde: || Esai.44.2 Luke.1.70

11 For I am with thee to helpe thee, sayth the Lorde: and though I shall destroy al the people among whom I haue scattered thee, yet wil I not destroy thee, but correct thee, and that with discretion: for I wyl not vtterly destroy thee.

12 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy bruysynges are perylous, and thy woundes redy to cast thee into sickenesse.

13 There is no man to meddle with thy cause, or to lay a plaster vppon thee, or to binde vp thy woundes to heale thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee, and care nothing for thee: for I haue geuen thee a cruel stroke, and chastened thee roughly, and that for the multitude of thy misdeedes: for thy sinnes haue had the ouer hande.

15 || Why makest thou mone for thy harme? In deede thou art sore wounded and in ieopardie: but for the multitude of thy mildeedes and sinnes I haue doone this vnto thee. || Iere.15.18

16 And therefore all they that deuour thee, shalbe deuoured, and al thyne enimies shalbe led into captiuitie: al they that make thee waste, shalbe wasted them selues, and al those that rob thee, wyll I make also to be robbed.

17 For I will geue thee thy health againe, and make thy woundes whole, sayeth the Lorde, becauſe they reuyled thee, as one caſt away and deſpiſed: Sion ſayd they is ſhe whom no man regardeth.

18 For thus ſayth the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Jacobs tentes, and deſende his dwelling place: the citie ſhalbe builded in her olde eſtate, and the houſes ſhal haue their right fundation.

19 And out of them ſhal goe thankeſgeuing and the voyce of ioy: I wyl multiplye them, and they ſhall not be fewe, I wyl endue them with honour, and no man ſhal ſubdue them.

20 Their children ſhalbe as afore time, and their congregation ſhall continue in my ſyght: and all thoſe that vexe them wyll I viſite.

21 A captayne alſo ſhall come of them, and a prince ſhall ſpring out from the middeſt of them, him will I chalenge to mee ſelfe, and he ſhal come vnto me: for what is he that geueth ouer his hart to come vnto me, ſayth the Lord?

22 Ye ſhalbe my people alſo, and I will be your God.

23 Beholde, on the other ſide ſhall the wrath of the Lorde breake out as a ſtormie water, as a mighty whirle wynde, and ſhal fal vpon the heades of the vngodly.

24 The terrible diſpleaſure of the Lord ſhal not leaue of, vntyl he haue doone and perfourmed the intent of his hart, whiche in the latter dayes ye ſhal vnderſtande.

¶ The.xxxi. Chapter.

1. He propheſieth that the people of Iſrael ſhalbe reſtored agayne vnto their proſperitie. 18. To be turned from ſinne, is the gyft of God. 27. The birth of Chriſte is propheſied.

AT the ſame tyme, ſayth the Lorde, ſhal I be the God of al the generations of Iſrael, and they ſhalbe my people:

2 Thus ſayth the Lorde, The people of Iſrael which eſcaped in the wyldernes from the ſwoorde, founde grace to come into their reſt.

3 Euen ſo ſhal the Lorde nowe alſo appeare vnto me from farre, and ſay, I loue thee with an euerlaſtyng loue, therefore by my mercy I haue drawen thee vnto me.

4 I wyl repayre thee agayne, O thou daughter of Iſrael, that thou maieſt be faſt & ſure: thou ſhalt take thy tabrets againe, and goe forth with them that leade the daunce:

5 Thou ſhalt plant vines agayne vpon the hilles of Samaria, and the grape gratherers ſhal plant, and commonly eate of it.

6 For the dayes ſhal come when the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim ſhal crye, Aryſe, let vs goe vp vnto Sion to our Lorde God.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord, Reioyce with gladneſſe becauſe of Jacob, crye vnto the head of the Gentiles, ſpeake out, ſyng and ſaye, O Lorde ſaue thy people the remnant of Iſrael.

8 Beholde, I wyl bring them againe from out of the north lande, and gather them from the endes of the worlde, with the blynde and lame that are among them, with the women that be great with chylde, and ſuch as be alſo deliuered: and the companye of them that come agayne ſhalbe great.

9 They ſhal come weeping, & with merciful pitie wil I bring them hither agayne: I wyll leade them to the riuers of water in a ſtraight way where they ſhal not ſtumble: for I am Iſraels father, and Ephraim is my firſt borne.

10 Heare the woorde of the Lorde, O ye Gentiles, preache in the Iles that lye far of, and ſay, He that hath ſcattered Iſrael ſhal gather him togeather againe, and ſhal keepe hym as a ſhepheard dooth his flocke.

11 For the Lorde hath redeemed Jacob, and ryd him from the hande of the violent.

12 And they ſhal come and reioyce vpon the hyl of Sion, and ſhal haue plenteouſneſſe of goodes, whiche the Lorde ſhal geue them, Namely wheate, wine, oyle, young ſheepe, and calues: and their ſoule ſhalbe as a wel watered garden, for they ſhall no more be hungry.

13 Then ſhall the mayd reioyce in the daunce, yea both young and olde folkes: for I wyl turne their ſorowe into gladneſſe, and wil comfort them from their ſorowes, and make them ioyfull.

14 I wyl powre plenteouſneſſe vppon the hartes of the prieſtes, and my people ſhalbe ſatiſfyed with my goodneſſe, ſayth the Lorde.

15 Thus ſaith the Lorde, || The voyce of heauineſſe, weeping, & lamentation was heard on high, euen of Rachel mournyng for her children, and would not be comforted, becauſe they were not. || Mat.2.18

16 But nowe, ſayth the Lord, Leaue of from weepyng and crying, withholde thyne eyes from teares: for thy labour ſhalbe rewarded, ſayth the Lorde, and they ſhal come agayne out of the lande of their enimies. Ezec.18.3

17 Yea euen thy poſteritie ſhal haue conſolation in this, ſayth the Lorde, that thy children ſhal come agayne into their owne lande.

18 Moreouer I herde Ephraim that was led away captiue complayne on this maner, O Lord thou hast corrected me, and thy chastening haue I receiued as an vntamed calfe, conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art my Lorde God.

19 Yea assoone as thou turnest me, I shal repent me mee selfe, and when I vnderstande, I shal smite vpon my thigh, for verily I haue committed shameful thynges: for I haue borne the reproofe and confusion of my youth.

20 Vpon this complaynt I thought thus by mee selfe, Is not Ephraim my deare sonne? Is he not the childe with whom I haue had al my myrth & pastime? For since the time that I first communed with hym, I haue hym euer in remembrance: therefore my hart driueth me vnto him, gladly and louyngly wyl I haue mercy vpon hym, sayth the Lorde.

21 Make thee selfe markes, set vp heapes of stone, set thine hart vpon the way that thou diddest walke, and turne agayne, O thou daughter of Israel, turne agayne to these cities of thine.

22 Howe long wilt thou goe astray, O thou shrinkyng daughter? for the Lord wyll worke a newe thing vpon earth: A woman shal compasse a man.

23 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, It wyl come thereto, that when I haue brought Iuda out of captiuitie, these wordes shalbe heard in the lande and in his cities, The Lorde blesse thee, O thou dwellyng place of righteousnesse, O thou holy hyl.

24 And there shal dwel Iuda and al her cities, the shepheardes and husbandmen:

25 For I wil feede the hungry soule, and refreshe al faynt hartes.

26 When I heard this, I came agayne to mee selfe, I sawe like as I had ben waked out of a sweete sleepe.

27 Behold, sayth the Lord, the dayes come that I wil sowe the house of Israel and the house of Iuda with men and with cattel.

28 Yea it shal come thereto, that lyke as I haue gone about in times past to roote them out, to scatter them, to breake them downe, to destroy them, and chasten them: euen so wyl I also goe diligently about to builde them vp agayne, and to plant them, sayth the Lorde.

29 Then shal it no more be sayd, || The fathers haue eaten a soure grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge. Ezec. 18.3.

30 For euery one shal dye for his owne wickednes: so that who so eateth a soure grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 || Behold, the dayes wil come, sayth the Lorde, that I wyl make a newe couenant with the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda: || Hebr. 8.8.

32 Not after the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hande, and led them out of the lande of Egypt, which couenant they brake, yea euen when I as an husband had rule ouer them, sayth the Lorde.

33 But this shalbe the couenant that I wyl make with the house of Israel after those dayes, sayth the Lorde, || I wyl plant my lawe in the inwarde partes of them, and write it in their hartes, and wyl be their God, and they shalbe my people. || Iere. 24.7. Luke. 1.57. Hebr. 8.10.

34 And from thencefoorth shall no man teache his neyghbour or his brother, and say, || Knowe the Lorde: but they shal al knowe me from the lowest vnto the highest, sayth the Lorde: || for I wyl forgeue their mysdeedes, and wil neuer remember their sinnes any more. || Esai. 54.13 Amos. 6.45. || Act. 10.43.

35 Thus sayth the Lorde, which gaue the sunne to be a light for the day, and the moone and the starres to shine in the night, which moueth the sea, so that the floodes therof waxe fierce, his name is the Lorde of hostes, 36 Lyke as this ordinance shall neuer be taken out of my sight, sayth the Lorde, so shall the seede of Israel neuer ceasse, but alway be a people before me.

37 Moreouer thus sayth the Lord, Lyke as the heauen aboue can not be measured, and as the fundations of the earth beneath may not be sought out, so wyl I also cast out the whole seede of Israel, for that they haue committed, sayth the Lorde.

38 Beholde the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that the citie of the Lord shalbe enlarged, from the towre of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner wal.

39 From thence shal the right measure be taken before her vnto the hyl top of Gareb, and shal come about Gaath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead carkasses, and of the ashes, and al the feeldes, vnto the brooke of Cedron, and vnto the corner of the horse gate towarde the east, it shalbe holy vnto the Lorde, and shall neuer be broken, nor cast downe any more.

¶ The xxxii. Chapter.

1. Ieremie is cast into prison, because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the king of Babylon.

THese wordes spake the Lord vnto Jeremie in the tenth yeere of Zedecias king of Juda, which was the eyghtienth yeere of Nabuchodonosor,

2 What tyme as the king of Babylons host layde siege vnto Hierusalem: but Jeremie the prophet lay bounde in the courte of the prison, which was in the kyng of Judaes house,

3 Where Zedecias the king of Juda caused hym to be layde, because he had prophesied on this maner, Thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyl deliuer this citie into the handes of the kyng of Babylon, whiche shal take it.

4 As for Zedecias the king of Juda, he shal not be able to escape the Chaldees: but surely he shal come into the handes of the kyng of Babylon, whiche shal speake with hym mouth to mouth, and one of them shal looke another in the face,

5 And Zedecias shalbe caried vnto Babylon, and there shal he be vntyl the tyme that I visite hym, sayth the Lorde: but yf thou takest in hande to fight agaynst the Chaldees, thou shalt not prosper.

6 And Jeremie sayde, Thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto me,

7 Beholde, Hananeel the sonne of Sellum thine vncles sonne shal come vnto thee, and require thee to redeeme the land that lyeth in Anathoth vnto thee selfe: for by reason of kinrede it is thy right to redeeme it, and buye it out.

8 And Hananeel myne vncles sonne came to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and sayde vnto me, Buye my lande I pray thee that lyeth in Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, for by heritage thou hast right to loose it out for thee selfe, therefore redeeme it. Then I perceiued that this was the commaundement of the Lorde:

9 And so I bought the lande from Hananeel of Anathoth mine vncles sonne, and weighed hym there the money, euen seuen sicles, and ten siluer pence:

10 And I writ it in a booke, and sealed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed hym there the money vpon the weightes.

11 So I tooke the euidence with the coppe when it was orderly sealed.

12 And I gaue the euidence to Baruch the sonne of Neriah the sonne of Maasiah, in the sight of Hananeel my cosyn, and in the presence of the witnesses that be named in the euidence, and before al the Jewes that were there by in the court of the prison.

13 I charged Baruch also before them, saying,

14 The Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel commaundeth thee to take this sealed euidence with the copie, and to lay it in an earthen vessel, that it may long continue.

15 For the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel hath determined, that houses, feeldes, and vineyardes shalbe possessed agayne in this lande.

16 Nowe when I had deliuered the euidence vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, I besought the Lorde, saying, 17 O Lorde God, it is thou that hast made heauen and earth with thy great power and high arme, and there is nothing hyd from thee.

18 || Thou shewest mercy vpon thousandes, thou recompensest the wickednesse of the fathers into the bosome of the children that come after them. || Exo. 34. 7. Deut. 5. 9.

19 Thou art the great and mightie GOD, whose name is the Lorde of hostes, great in counsaile, excellent in worke, thine eyes looke vpon al the wayes of mens children, to reward euery one after his way, and according to the fruites of his inuentions.

20 Thou hast done great tokens and woonders in the lande of Egypt, as we see this day, vpon the people of Israel, and vpon those men, to make thy name great, as it is come to passe this day.

21 Thou hast brought thy people of Israel out of the lande of Egypt with tokens, with wonders, with a myghtie hande, with a stretched out arme, and with great terriblenesse:

22 And hast geuen them this lande, like as thou haddest promised vnto their fathers, namely, that thou wouldest geue them a land that floweth with milke and hony.

23 Nowe when they came therein and possessed it, they folowed not thy voyce, and walked not in thy lawe: but all that thou commaundedst them to doo, that haue they not done, and therfore come al these plagues vpon them.

24 Beholde, there are bulwarkes made nowe against the citie to take it, and it shalbe wonne of the Chaldees that besiege it with swoorde, with hunger, and death: and looke what thou hast spoken, that same shall come vpon them, for loe al thynges are present vnto thee.

25 Yet sayest thou vnto me, O Lorde God, and commaundest me that I shall buye a peece of lande vnto mee selfe for money, and take witnesses thereto: and yet in the meane season the citie is deliuered into the power of the Chaldees.

26 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Jeremie, saying,

27 Be

27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all fleshe: is there any thing then to harde for me?

28 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I shall deliuer this citie into the power of the Chaldees, and into the power of Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon, they shal take it:

29 For the Chaldees shall come and win this citie, and set fyre vpon it, & burne it, with the gorgious houses, in whose parlours they haue made sacrifice vnto Baal, and powred drinke offeringes vnto strange gods, to prouoke me vnto wrath:

30 For the children of Israel and the children of Iuda haue onely ben doing wickednesse before me from their youth vp, they haue been only prouoking me to wrath with the woorkes of their owne handes, sayth the Lorde.

31 For what hath this citie ben els, but a prouoking of my wrath euer since the day that they builded it, vnto this houre wherin I cast it out of my syght?

32 Because of the great blasphemies of the children of Israel and Iuda, whiche they haue done to prouoke me, yea, they, their kinges, their princes, their priestes, their prophetes, the men of Iuda, and the citizens of Hierusalem:

33 When I stoode vp early and taught them, and instructed them, they turned their backes to me, and not their faces, 34 They would not heare to be reformed and corrected: ‖ but set their idols in the house that is halowed to my name, to defile it. ‖ 4. Re. 21. 4.

35 They haue builded hye places for Baal in the valley of the children of Hennom, to cause their sonnes and daughters to passe through fyre in the honour of Moloch, which I neuer commaunded them: neyther came it euer in my thought to make Iuda sinne with such abomination.

36 And nowe therefore thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, which as ye your selues confesse, shalbe deliuered into the hand of the king of Babylon, vvhen it is vvon with the swoorde, with hunger, and with pestilence.

37 Behold, I wil gather them together from all landes, wherein I haue scattered them in my wrath, in fearefull and great displeasure, and wil bring them againe vnto this place, where they shal dwel safely:

38 ‖ And they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God. ‖ Ezec. 11. 19

39 And I wil geue them one hart and one way, that they may feare me al the dayes of their life: that they and their children after them may prosper.

40 And I wil set vp an euerlasting couenant with them, namely, that I wyl neuer cease to doo them good, and that I wyl put my feare in their hartes, so that they shal not runne away from me.

41 Yea, I wil haue a lust and pleasure to do them good, & faithfully to plant them in this lande with my whole hart, and with my whole soule.

42 For thus saith the Lorde, Like as I haue brought al this great plague vpon this people: euen so wil I also bring vpon them al the good that I haue promised them,

43 And men shal haue their possessions in this lande, whereof ye say nowe that it shal neither be inhabited of the people, nor of cattell, but be deliuered into the handes of the Chaldees:

44 Yea, land shalbe bought for money, and euidences made therevpon, & sealed before witnesses in the countrey of Beniamin, and round about Hierusalem, in the cities of Iuda, in the cities that are vpon the mountaines, and them that lie beneath, yea, and in the cities that are in the south: for I will bring their prisoners hither againe, saith the Lorde.

¶ The. xxxiii. Chapter.

1. The prophete is monished of the Lorde to pray for the deliuerance of the people, vvhiche the Lorde promyseth. 2. God forgeueth synnes, and dooth graciously to the people for his owne renowme. 15. Of the byrth of Christe.

MOreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremie againe when he was yet bounde in the court of the prison.

2 Thus sayth the Lord, who made Hierusalem, who fashioned the same to establishe it, whose name is the Lorde,

3 Crye vnto me, and I wyl answeare, and shewe thee great and hie thinges which were vnknowen vnto thee.

4 Thus I say speaketh the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and the houses of the kinges of Iuda that are broken through the ordinance and the swoorde.

5 The inhabitours of this citie haue come to fight against the Chaldees, and they are fylled with the dead carkasses of men, whom I haue slayne in my wrath and displeasure, when I turned my face from this citie, because of al her wickednesse.

6 Behold, saith the Lord, I wil repaire and heale their woundes, and make them whole: I wyl open them the large treaſure of peace and trueth,

7 And wyl returne the captiuitie of Iuda and Iſrael, and wyl ſet them vp agayne as they were before:

8 From al miſdeedes wherin they offended agaynſt me, I wil cleanſe them: and al their blaſphemies which they haue doone agaynſt me, when they regarded me not, I wil forgeue them.

9 And this ſhal geat me a name, a praiſe and honor among al the people of the earth, whiche ſhall heare all the good that I will ſhewe vnto them, yea, they ſhalbe afraide and aſtonied at al the good deedes and benefites that I wyl doo for them.

10 Moreouer, thus ſayth the Lorde, In this place (wherof ye ſay that it ſhalbe a wilderneſſe, wherein neither people nor cattayle ſhal dwel) in like maner in the cities of Iuda, and in the ſtreetes of Hieruſalem (which alſo ſhalbe ſo voyde, that neither people nor cattel ſhal dwel there,)

11 Shal the voyce of gladnes be heard agayne, the voyce of the bridegrome and of the bryde, the voyce of them that ſhall ſyng, Prayſe the Lorde of hoſtes, for he is louing, and his mercye endureth for euer: and the voyce of them that offer vp gyftes in the houſe of the Lorde: for I wyl reſtore the captiuitie of this land as it was afore, ſaith the Lorde.

12 Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes, It ſhal come yet thereto, that in this lande whiche is voyde from men and cattel, and in all the cities of the lande, there ſhalbe ſet vp shepheardes cottages to reſt their flockes.

13 In the cities vpon the mountaynes, and in the cities that lye vppon the plaine, and in the cities of the South, in the land of Beniamin, and rounde about Hieruſalem, & in the cities of Iuda, ſhal the sheepe paſſe agayne vnder the hande of him that telleth them, ſaith the Lorde.

14 ‖ Beholde, the time commeth, ſayth the Lorde, that I wil perfourme that good thing which I haue promiſed vnto the houſe of Iſrael, and vnto the houſe of Iuda.

15 In thoſe dayes, and at the ſame time, I wil bring forth vnto Dauid the braunch of righteouſneſſe, and he ſhal doo equitie and righteouſneſſe in the lande.

16 In thoſe dayes ſhal Iuda be ſaued, ‖ and Hieruſalem ſhal dwel ſafe: and this ſhalbe her name, a God our righteouſneſſe.

17 For thus the Lorde promiſeth, Dauid ſhall neuer want one to ſytte vpon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael:

18 Neither ſhal the prieſtes and Leuites want one to offer alway before me burnt offerynges, to kindle the meate offeringes, and to prepare the ſacrifices.

19 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto Jeremie after this manner, 20 Thus ſayth the Lorde, May the couenaunt whiche I haue made with day and night be broken, that there ſhould not be day and night in due ſeaſon?

21 Then may my couenaunt alſo be broken whiche I made with Dauid my ſeruaunt, & ſo he not to haue a ſonne to raigne in his throne, ſo ſhal alſo the prieſts and Leuites neuer fayle, but ſerue me.

22 For like as the ſtarres of heauen may not be numbred, neyther the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo wyl I multiply the ſeede of Dauid my ſeruaunt, and the Leuites my miniſters.

23 Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came to Jeremie, ſaying, 24 Conſiderest thou not what this people ſpeaketh: Two kinredes ſay they had the Lord choſen, and thoſe ſame two hath he caſt away: for ſo they haue deſpiſed my people, and they reputed them as though they were no people.

25 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde, If I haue made no couenaunt with day and night, and geuen no ſtatute vnto heauen and earth:

26 Then wil I alſo caſt away the ſeede of Jacob and Dauid my ſeruaunt, ſo that I wil take no prince out of his ſeede to rule the poſteritie of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: but yet I wyl turne agayne their captiuitie, and be merciful vnto them.

¶ Phe.xxxiii. Chapter.

1. He threatneth that the citie, and the king Zedecias alſo ſhalbe geuen into the handes of the king of Babylon.

THeſe are the woordes which the Lorde ſpake vnto Jeremie, what tyme as Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon, and all his hoſte, and al the kingdomes that were vnder his power, and all his people, fought agaynſt Hieruſalem and al the cities thereof.

2 Thus ſaith the Lorde God of Iſrael, Goe and ſpeake to Zedecias the kyng of Iuda, and tel him, the Lorde ſendeth thee this woord, Beholde, I wil deliuer this citie into the hande of the king of Babylon, he ſhal burne it with fyre.

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape his handes, but ſhalt be taken priſoner, and deliuered into his power: Thou ſhalt looke the kyng of Babylon in the face, and he ſhall ſpeake to thee mouth to mouth, and then ſhalt thou goe goe to Babylon.

4 Yet heare the woorde of the Lorde, O Zedecias thou kyng of Juda, thus sayth the Lorde vnto thee, Thou shalt not be slayne with the swoorde,

5 But shalt dye in peace: ||And as thy forefathers the kinges thy a progenitours were brent, so shalt thou be brent also, and in thy mournyng they shal say, O Lorde: for thus haue I determined, sayth the Lorde.

a. Zedecias is promised to be brent after his death, that is, to haue his funerals honorably doone.

6 Then sayde Ieremie the prophete all these woordes vnto Zedecias kyng of Juda in Hierusalem, 7 What tyme as the kyng of Babylons host besieged Hierusalem, and the remnant of the cities namely Lachis, & Azecath, whiche yet remayned of the strong defenced cities of Juda.

8 These are the woordes that the Lorde spake vnto Ieremie the prophete, when Zedecias was agreed with al the people at Hierusalem, that there shoulde be proclaymed a libertie:

9 So that euery man should let his seruant and handmayde goe free, Hebrue, and Hebruesse, and no Iewe holde his brother as a bonde man.

10 Nowe as they had consented, all the princes and all the people which had geathered vnto this agreement, that euery man shoulde set at libertie his bondeseruant and bondwoman, and no longer to holde them bound: euen so they were obedient, and let them goe free:

11 But afterwarde they repented, and tooke agayne the seruants and handmaydens whom they had let goe free, and so made them bonde agayne.

12 For whiche cause the woorde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremie from the Lord hym selfe, saying,

13 Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying,

‖Exod.21.2. Deut.15.12.

14 ||When seuen yeeres are out, euery man shal let his bought seruant an Hebrue goe free, if he haue serued him sixe yeeres: but your fathers obeyed me not, and hearkened not vnto me.

15 As for you, ye were nowe turned, and dyd right before me, in that ye proclaymed euery man to let his neyghbour goe free, and in that ye made a couenant before me in the temple that beareth my name.

16 But yet ye turned your selues againe, and blasphemed my name, in this that euery man hath requyred his seruant and handemayde agayne whom ye hadde let goe quite and free, and compelled them to serue you agayne, and so to be bondemen and bondewomen.

17 And therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Ye haue not obeyed me, euery man to proclayme freedome vnto his brother and neighbour: wherefore I wyl cal you vnto freedome, sayth the Lorde, euen vnto the swoorde, to the pestilence, and to hunger, and wyl make you to be plagued in all kingdomes of the earth.

18 Yea, those men that haue broken my couenant, and not kept the woords of the appoyntment whiche they made before me when they hewed the Calfe in two, and when they went through the two halfes thereof,

19 The princes of Juda, the princes of Hierusalem, the gelded men, the priestes, and al the people of the land which went through the two sides of the Calfe:

20 Those men wyl I geue into the power of theyr enimies, and into the handes of them that folowe vpon theyr liues: and theyr dead bodies shalbe meate for the foules of the ayre, and beastes of the feelde.

21 As for Zedecias the kyng of Juda, and his princes, I wyl deliuer them into the power of their enimies, and of them that desyre to slay them, and into the hande of the kyng of Babylons host, whiche is nowe departed from you.

22 But through my commaundement (sayth the Lorde) they shal come agayne before this citie, they shal fight against it, win it, and burne it: Moreouer, I wyl laye the cities of Juda so waste, that no man shal dwell therein.

¶ The.xxxv. Chapter.

He propoundeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pryde of the Iewes.

THE woordes whiche the Lorde spake vnto Ieremie in the raigne of Jehoacim the sonne of Josias king of Juda, are these:

2 Go vnto the house of the Rechabites, and cal them out, & bryng them to the house of the Lorde, into some commodious place, and geue them wyne to drynke,

3 Then tooke I Jazaniah the sonne of Ieremie, the sonne of Habazinias, and his brethren, and al his sonnes, and the whole housholde of the Rechabites,

4 And brought them into the house of the Lorde, into the closet of the children of Hanan the sonne of Jegedaliah the man of God, whiche was by the closet of the princes,

res, that is aboue the cloſet of Maaſiah the ſonne of Sellum, whiche is the treaſurer.

5 And before the ſonnes of the kindred of the Rechabites, I ſet pottes ful of wyne, and cuppes, & ſaid vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they ſayde, We wil drinke no wine: for Ionadab, the ſonne of Rechab our father, commaunded vs, ſaying, Be and your ſonnes ſhal neuer drinke wyne, buylde houſes, ſowe no ſeede, plant no vines,

7 Yea, ye ſhal haue no vineyardes: but for al your time ye ſhal dwel in tentes, that ye may liue long in the lande wherein ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the commaundement of Ionadab, the ſonne of Rechab our father, in al that he hath charged vs, & ſo we drinke no wine al our lyfe long, we, nor our wyues, our ſonnes, and our daughters,

9 Neyther buyld we any houſe to dwel therein: we haue alſo among vs neyther vineyardes, nor corne lande to ſowe:

10 But we dwel in tentes, we obey, and doo accordyng vnto all that Ionadab our father commaunded vs.

11 But now that Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon came vp into the lande, we ſaid, Come, let vs goe to Hieruſalem, that we may eſcape the hoſte of the Chaldees and the Aſſyrians: and ſo we dwel nowe at Hieruſalem.

12 Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Ieremie, ſaying, 13 Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Goe and tel the men of Iuda, and the inhabiters of Hieruſalem, Wyl ye not be reformed to obey my wordes, ſayth the Lorde?

14 The wordes whiche Ionadab the ſonne of Rechab commaunded his ſonnes, that they ſhould drinke no wine, are kept ſurely kept, for vnto this day they drinke no wine, but obey their fathers commaundement: but as for me, I haue ſtande vp earely, I haue ſpoken vnto you, and geuen you earneſt warnyng, and yet haue ye not been obedient vnto me.

15 Yea, I haue ſent my ſeruantes all the prophetes vnto you, I roſe vp earely, and ſent you worde, ſaying, || O turne you nowe euery man from his wicked way, amend your liues, and goe not after ſtrange Goddes to worſhip them, that ye may continue in the lande whiche I haue geuen vnto you and your fathers: but ye wouldе neither heare me, nor folowe me.

|| Iere. 18.11 and. 25.5 Iohn. 3.8.

16 The chyldren of Ionadab Rechabs ſonne, haue ſtedfaſtly kept their fathers commaundement that he gaue them: but this people is not obedient vnto me.

17 And therefore thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I wyll bring vpon Iuda, and vppon euery one that dwelleth in Hieruſalem, al the trouble that I haue deuiſed againſt them: For I haue ſpoken vnto them, but they would not folow, I haue called vnto them, neuertheleſſe they woulde geue me no anſweare.

18 Ieremie alſo ſpake vnto the houſholde of the Rechabites, Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, For as muche as ye haue obeyed the commaundement of Ionadab your father, and kept al his precepts, and done according to al that he hath bydden:

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Ionadab the ſonne of Rechab ſhal not fayle, but haue one out of his ſtocke to ſtand alway before me.

¶ The. xxxvi. Chapter.

Baruch worryteth (as Ieremie endyteth) the booke of the curſes againſt Iuda and Iſrael.

IN the fourth yeere of Iehoacim the ſonne of Ioſias the king of Iuda, came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremie, ſaying,

2 Take a booke, and write therein al the wordes that I haue ſpoken to thee againſt Iſrael, againſt Iuda, & againſt al the people, from the time that I beganne to ſpeake vnto thee in the raigne of Ioſias, vnto this day.

3 That when the houſe of Iuda heareth of the plague whiche I haue deuiſed for them, they may peraduenture turne euery man from his wicked way, that I may forgeue their offences and ſinnes.

2. When Iehoacim the king of Iuda heard that the king of Babylons armie was comming to beſiege Hieruſalem, he appointed a ſolemne and publique faſt for al the people, commaunding them to reſort vnto the temple at the tyme appointed, and there to make their humble prayers vnto God for peace and his fauour, as the maner of Gods people was in al their diſtreſſes to faſt and pray in faythful repentance.

4 Then did Ieremie call Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote in the booke at the mouth of Ieremie, all the wordes of the Lorde whiche he had ſpoken vnto hym.

5 And Ieremie commaunded Baruch, ſaying, I am in priſon, ſo that I may not come into the houſe of the Lorde.

6 Therefore goe thou thither, and reade ỹ booke that thou haſt written at my mouth, namely the wordes of the Lorde, and reade them in the Lordes houſe vpon the a faſting day, that the people, whole Iuda, and all they that come out of the cities, may heare.

7 Peraduenture they wyl pray meekely before the face of the Lorde, and turne euery one from his wicked way: for great is the wrath and diſpleaſure that the Lorde hath taken againſt this people.

8 So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah dyd accordyng to all that Ieremie the prophete commaunded him, readyng the woordes of the Lorde out of the booke in the Lordes houſe.

9 And this was doone in the fyfth yeere of Iehoacim the ſonne of Iosias kyng of Iuda, in the nienth moneth, when it was commaunded that all the people of Hieruſalem ſhoulde faſt before the Lorde, and they alſo that were come from the cities of Iuda vnto Hieruſalem.

10 Then read Baruch the woordes of Ieremie out of the booke within the houſe of the Lorde, out of the treaſurie of Gamariah the ſonne of Saphan the Scribe, whiche is behyde the hygher lofte of the newe dooze of the Lordes houſe, that all the people myght heare.

11 Nowe when Michæas the ſonne of Gamariah the ſonne of Saphan, heard all the woordes of the Lorde out of the booke, 12 He went downe to the kings palace, into the Scribes chamber, for there all the princes were ſet, Eliſama the Scribe, Daiaiah the ſonne of Semei, Elnathan the ſonne of Achbor, Gamariah the ſonne of Saphan, Zedecias the ſonne of Hananias, with all the princes.

13 And Michæas tolde them all the woordes that he heard Baruch reade out of the booke before the people.

14 Then al the princes ſent Iehudi the ſonne of Nathaniah, the ſonne of Selemiah, the ſonne of Chuſi, vnto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thyne hand the booke wherout thou haſt read before all the people, and come. So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah toke the booke in his hande, and came vnto them.

15 And they ſayd vnto him, Syt downe and reade the booke, that we may heare alſo. So Baruch read, that they myght heare.

16 Nowe when they had heard all the woordes, they were abaſhed one vppon another, and ſayde vnto Baruch, We wyl certifie the kyng of al theſe woordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, ſaying, Tell vs, howe dyddeſt thou wryte all theſe woordes out of his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He ſpake all theſe woordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them in the booke.

19 Then ſayde the princes vnto Baruch, Goe thy way, hyde thee with Ieremie, ſo that no man knowe where ye be.

20 And they went in to the kyng to the court (but they kept the booke in the chamber of Eliſama the Scribe) & tolde the king al the woordes, that he myght heare.

21 So the kyng ſent Iehudi to fetch him the booke: whiche he brought out of Eliſama the Scribes chamber, and Iehudi read in it, that the kyng and all the princes whiche were about him myght heare.

22 Nowe the kyng ſate in the wynter houſe (for it was in the nienth moneth) and there was a fyre before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure leaues thereof, he cut the booke in peeces with a penknyfe, and caſt it into the fyre vpon the harth, vntyl the booke was al brent in the fyre vpon the harth.

24 Yet no man was abaſhed therof, nor rent his clothes, neyther the kyng him ſelfe, nor his ſeruantes, though they heard al theſe woordes.

25 Neuertheleſſe, Elnathan, Daiaiah, and Gamariah, beſought the kyng that he would not burne the booke: notwithſtanding the kyng woulde not heare them, 26 But commaunded Ierahmel the ſonne of Amelech, Saraiah the ſonne of Ezriel, and Selemiah the ſonne of Abdeel, to laye handes vppon Baruch the Scribe, and vppon Ieremie the prophete: but the Lorde kept them out of ſyght.

27 Nowe after that the kyng had brent the booke, and the ſermons whiche Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremie, the woord of the Lorde came vnto Ieremie, ſaying, 28 Take another booke, and wryte in it all the foreſayde ſermons that were wrytten in the firſt booke, whiche Iehoacim the kyng of Iuda hath brent.

29 And tel Iehoacim the king of Iuda, thus ſayth the Lorde, Thou haſt brent the booke, and thoughteſt within thee ſelfe, Why haſt thou wrytten therein, that the kyng of Babylon ſhal come, & make this land waſte, ſo that he ſhal make both people and cattaile to be out of it?

30 Therefore thus the Lorde ſayth of Iehoacim the kyng of Iuda, There ſhall none of his generation ſyt vpon the throne of Dauid, his dead coarſe ſhalbe caſt out, that the heate of the day, & the froſt of the night, may come vpon him.

31 And I wyll viſite the wickednelle of him, of his ſeede, and of his ſeruants: Moreouer, al the euyl that I haue promiſed them, though they heard me not, wyl I bryng vppon them, vpon the inhabiters of Hieruſalem, and vpon al Iuda.

32 Then toke Ieremie another booke, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the ſonne of Neriah, which wrote therin out of ꝑ mouth of Ieremie, all the ſermons that were in the firſt boke which Iehoacim the kyng of Iuda dyd burne: and there were added vnto them many moe ſermons, lyke vnto the former.

7 Thus ſaith the Loꝛde God of Iſrael, This anſweare ſhall ye geue to the kyng of Juda, that ſent you vnto me foꝛ counſayle: Behold, Pharaos hoſt which is come fooꝛth to helpe you, ſhall returne into Egypt into his owne lande.

8 But the Chaldees ſhal come agayne, and fyght agaynſt this citie, wynne it, and ſet fyꝛe vpon it.

9 Foꝛ thus ſaith the Loꝛd, Deceyue not your owne mynds, thynkyng on this maner, Tuſhe, the Chaldees goe nowe their way from vs: No, they ſhall not goe their way.

10 Foꝛ though ye had ſlayne the whole hoſt of the Chaldees that beſiege you, & that none remayned of them but wounded men, yet ſhoulde they ſtande vp, and ſet fyꝛe vpon this citie.

11 Nowe when the hoſt of the Chaldees was bꝛoken vp from Hieruſalem foꝛ feare of the Egyptians armie, 12 Jeremie went out of Hieruſalem towarde the lande of Beniamin, to geat him from among the people.

13 And when he came vnder Beniamins poꝛt, there was a Poꝛter called Jeriah, the ſonne of Seleniah, the ſonne of Hananiah, whiche fel vpon him, and tooke him, ſaying, Thy mynd is to runne to the Chaldees.

14 Then ſayde Jeremie, It is not ſo, I goe not to the Chaldees: Neuertheleſſe, Jeriah would not beleeue him, but bꝛought Jeremie bounde beſoꝛe the pꝛinces, 15 Wheꝛeſoꝛe the pꝛinces were angꝛy with Jeremie, and ſmote him, and layde him in pꝛiſon in the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe: foꝛ they had made that houſe the pꝛyſon.

16 Thus was Jeremie put in a dungeon and pꝛyſon, & ſo lay there a long tyme.

17 Then Zedecias the kyng ſent foꝛ him, and called him, and aſked him quietly in his owne houſe, ſaying, Thynkeſt thou this buſineſſe that nowe is in hande, commeth of the Loꝛde? Jeremie anſweared, Yea that it doeth: and thou (ſayde he) ſhalt be delyuered into the kyng of Babylons power.

18 Moꝛeouer, Jeremie ſayde vnto kyng Zedecias, || What haue I offended agaynſt thee, agaynſt thy ſeruantes, oꝛ agaynſt this people, that ye haue put me in pꝛyſon?

19 Where are your pꝛophetes whiche haue pꝛopheſied vnto you, and ſayde, That the kyng of Babylon ſhoulde not come agaynſt you and this lande?

20 And theꝛfoꝛe heare nowe, O my loꝛd the kyng, let my pꝛayer be accepted beſoꝛe thee, and ſende me no moꝛe into the houſe of Jonathan the Scribe, that I dye not there.

21 Thē Zedecias commaunded to put Jeremie in the foꝛe entrie of the pꝛyſon, and dayly to be geuen him a cake of bꝛead of the Bakers ſtreete, vntyll al the bꝛead in the citie was eaten vp: Thus Jeremie remayned in the foꝛe entrie of the pꝛyſon.

By the motion of the rulers, Ieremie is put into a dungeon.

SAphatiah the ſonne of Mathan, Gedaliah the ſonne of Phaſhur, Jucal þ ſonne of Seleniah, and Phaſhur the ſonne of Melchia, pꝛeceyued the wooꝛdes that Jeremie had ſpoken vnto all the people, namely on this maner,

2 Thus ſayth the Loꝛde, || Who ſo remayneth in this citie, ſhal peryſh eyther with the ſwooꝛde, with hunger, oꝛ peſtilence: but who ſo falleth vnto the Chaldees, ſhal eſcape, wynnyng his ſoule foꝛ a pꝛay, and ſhal lyue.

3 Foꝛ thus ſayth the Loꝛde, This citie no doubte muſt be delyuered into the power of the kyng of Babylon, and he alſo ſhall wynne it.

4 Then ſayd the pꝛinces vnto the kyng, Syꝛ, we beſeeche you let this man be put to death: foꝛ thus he diſcouꝛageth the handes of the ſouldiers that be in this citie, and the handes of all the people, when he ſpeaketh ſuche wooꝛdes vnto them: This man laboureth not foꝛ peace of the people, but miſcheefe.

Jer. 9. 13.

Jer. 21. 9.

5 Zedecias the kyng answeared, & said, Loe, he is in your handes: for the kyng may deny you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremie, and caste him into the dungeon of Melchiah the sonne of Amelech, that dwelt in the fore entry of the prison, and they let downe Ieremie with cordes into a dungeon where there was no water, but myre: So Ieremie stacke fast in the myre.

7 Nowe when Abedmelech the Mozian, beyng a chamberlaine in the kinges court, understood that they had caste Ieremie into the dungeon,

8 He went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, which then sate vnder the port of Beniamin, these woordes,

9 My Lord the kyng, whereas these men meddle with Ieremie the prophete, they doo him wrong, namely in that they haue put him in prison, there to die for hunger: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the kyng commaunded Abedmelech the Mozian, and sayde, Take from hence thirtie men, whom thou wilt, & drawe vp Ieremie the prophete out of the dungeon before he dye.

11 So Abedmelech tooke the men with hym, and went to the house of the kyng, and there vnder the treasurie he gate olde ragges and worne cloutes, and let them downe by a corde into the dungeon to Ieremie.

12 And Abedmelech the Mozian sayde vnto the prophete Ieremie, O put these ragges and cloutes vnder thine arme holes, betwixt them and the cordes: and Ieremie dyd so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremie with cordes, and tooke him out of the dungeon: and he remayned in the fore entrie of the prison.

14 Then Zedecias the king sent, and called Ieremie the prophete to be called vnto hym, into the thirde entrie that is in the house of the Lorde, and the king sayde vnto Ieremie, I will aske thee somewhat, but hyde nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremie answeared Zedecias, If I be playne vnto thee, thou wylt cause me to suffer death: If I geue thee counsaile, thou wilt not folowe me.

16 So the king swore an othe secretly to Ieremie, saying, As the Lord lyueth that made vs these soules, I wyl not slay thee, nor geue thee into the handes of them that seeke after thy life.

17 Then sayde Ieremie vnto Zedecias, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, If case be that thou wilt goe forth vnto the king of Babylons princes, thou shalt saue thy lyfe, and this citie shall not be brent, yea, both thou and thy household shall escape with your liues:

18 But yf thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babylons princes, then shal this citie be deliuered into the hands of the Chaldees, whiche shal set fire vpon it, and thou shalt not be able to escape them.

19 And Zedecias saide vnto Ieremie, I am afrayde for the Iewes that are fledde vnto the Chaldees, lest I come into their handes, and so they to haue me in derision.

20 But Ieremie answeared, No, they shall not betray thee: O hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde, I beseeche thee, which I speake vnto thee, so shalt thou be wel, and saue thy life:

21 But yf thou wylt not goe forth, the Lorde hath tolde me this playnely,

22 Beholde, al the women that are left in the kyng of Judaes house, shalbe led forth vnto the king of Babylons princes: and they shal say, Thou art deceiued, and the men in whom thou diddest put thy trust haue gotten thee vnder, and set thy feete fast in the myre, and gone their way from thee.

23 Therefore all thy wiues, with thy children, shal they leade forth vnto the Chaldees, and thou shalt not escape their handes, but shalt be the king of Babylons prisoner, and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt.

24 Then sayd Zedecias vnto Ieremie, Looke that no body knowe of these woordes, and thou shalt not dye.

25 But if the princes perceiue that I haue talked with thee, and come vnto thee, saying, O speake, what said the king to thee, hyde it not from vs, and we wil not put thee to death, tel vs (we pray thee) what said the kyng vnto thee:

26 See thou geue them this answeare, I haue humbly besought the king that he would let me lye no more in Jehonathans house, that I dye not there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremie, and asked hym: and he tolde them after the maner as the kyng bad hym. Then they held their peace, and let him alone: for they perceyued nothing.

28 So Ieremie abode styll in the fore entrie of the prison, vntyl the day that Hierusalem was wonne.

¶ The.xxxix. Chapter.

1. Nabuchodonosor besiegeth Hierusalem. 4 Zedecias fleeth. 5. He is taken of the Chaldees. 6. His sonnes are slayne. 7. His eyes are thrust out.

NOwe || when the citie of Hierusalem was taken (for in the ninth yeere of Zedecias || 4.kin. 25.1. Jerem. 52.4

Zedecias kyng of Juda, the tenth moneth, came Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon, and al his hoſt, and beſieged Hieruſalem, and fought agaynſt it.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedecias, in the fourth moneth, the nienth day of the moneth, he brake into the citie.)

3 Then al the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and ſate them downe vnder the porte: Neregel, Sarezer, Samgarnebo, Sarſachim, Rabſaris, Neregel, Sarezer, Rabmag, with all the other princes of the kyng of Babylon.

4 And when Zedecias the king of Juda with his ſouldiers, ſawe them, then they fled, and departed out of the citie by nyght, through the kynges garden, and through the porte that is betweene the two walles, and ſo the kyng went towarde the wildernesſe:

5 But the Chaldees hoſt folowed faſt after them, and tooke Zedecias in the feelde of Hiericho, and brought him priſoner to Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon, vnto Reblath, that lyeth in the lande of Hemath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 So the king of Babylon cauſed the children of Zedecias, and al the Nobles of Juda, to be ſlaine before his face at Reblath,

7 And made Zedecias eyes to be put out, and bounde him with two chaynes, and ſent him to Babylon.

8 Moreouer, the Chaldees burnt vp the kynges palace, with the other houſes of the people, and brake downe the walles of Hieruſalem.

9 As for the remnant of the people that were in the citie, and ſuche as were come to him, and what ſo euer was leaft of the common ſort, Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne carped them to Babylon.

10 But Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne let the raſcal people, and thoſe that had nothing, dwell ſtyl in the lande of Juda, and gaue them vineyardes and corne feeldes at the ſame tyme.

11 Nabuchodonoſor alſo the king of Babylon, gaue Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne a charge concerning Jeremie, ſaying, 12 Take and cheriſhe him, and make much of him, ſee thou doo him no harme, but entreate him after his owne deſyre.

13 So Nabuzaradan the cheefe captaine, Nabuzarban, Rabſares, Neregel, Sarezer, Rabmag, and al the kyng of Babylons lords ſent for Jeremie, 14 And cauſed him to be fet out of the fore entrie of the priſon, & committed him vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam the ſonne of Saphan, that he ſhoulde carp him home: and ſo he dwelt among the people.

15 Nowe when Jeremie laye yet bound in the fore entrie of the priſon, the woord of the Lorde came vnto him, ſaying,

16 Goe and tell Abemmelech the Mozian, Thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Beholde, the cruel & ſharpe plague that I haue deuiſed for this citie, wil I bring vpon them, and thou ſhalt ſee it:

17 But I wyl deliuer thee in that day, ſaith the Lorde, & thou ſhalt not come in the handes of thoſe men whom thou feareſt:

18 For doubtleſſe I wyl ſaue thee, ſo that thou ſhalt not periſhe with the ſwoorde but thy life ſhalbe ſaued, and that becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lorde.

¶ The. xl. Chapter.

1. Jeremie hath licence to goe whyther he wyl. 4. Iohanan propheſieth death vnto Gedaliah.

4.Ki.25

THis is the woorde that the Lorde ſpake vnto Jeremie, when Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne had let him goe free from Ramath, whyther he had ledde him bounde among al the priſoners that were carped from Hieruſalem and Juda, vnto Babylon.

2 The cheefe captayne called for Jeremie, and ſayde vnto him, The Lord thy God ſpake mightily before of the miſerie vppon this place.

3 Nowe the Lorde hath ſent it, and performed it as he hath promiſed: for ye haue ſinned agaynſt the Lorde, and haue not ben obedient vnto his voyce, therefore commeth this plague vpon you.

4 Beholde, I looſe the handes from thy handes this day: if thou wylt nowe goe with me vnto Babylon, vp then, for I wyl ſee to thee, & prouide for thee: but if thou wilt not goe with me to Babylon, then remaine here: Beholde, al the lande is at thy wyl, looke where thou thinkeſt conuenient and good for thee to abyde, there dwel.

5 For as yet he was not gone backe agayne to Gedaliah: therefore he ſayd to him, Goe backe to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam the ſonne of Saphan, whom the king of Babylon had made gouernour ouer the cities of Juda, and dwel with him among the people, or remayne where ſo euer it pleaſeth thee. So the cheefe captayne gaue him his expences, with a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremie vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam, to Miſpa, and dwelt there with him among the people that were leaft leaſt in the lande.

7 Nowe when the captaynes of the hoſt of Juda, whiche with their felowes were ſcattered abrode on euery ſyde in the lande, vnderſtoode that the kyng of Babylon had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam gouernour in the lande, and that man, wyfe, and chylde, yea and the poore men in the lande that were not led captiue to Babylon, ſhould be vnder his iuriſdiction:

8 They came to Gedaliah vnto Miſpa, namely, Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the ſonnes of Careah, Sareah the ſonne of Thanehumeth, the ſonnes of Ephai the Netophatite, Jezaniah the ſonne of Maachati, with their companions.

9 And Gedaliah, the ſonne of Ahicam the ſonne of Saphan ſware vnto them and their felowes in this maner, || Be not afrayd 4.Ki.25.24 to ſerue the Chaldees, dwell in the lande, and doo the kyng of Babylon ſeruice, ſo ſhal ye proſper.

10 Beholde, I dwel at Miſpa, to be an officer in the Chaldees behalfe, and to ſatiſfie ſuche as come to vs: therefore geather wyne, corne, & oyle, and keepe them in your warehouſes, and dwell in your cities that ye haue in keeping.

11 Yea al the Jewes alſo that dwell in Moab vnder the Ammonites, Idumea, and in al the countreys, when they heard that the kyng of Babylon had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam ꝑ ſonne of Saphan gouernour vpon all them that were left in Juda:

12 Al the Jewes I ſay returned out of al places where they were fled vnto, & came into the land of Juda to Gedaliah vnto Miſpa, and geathered wyne and other fruites, and that very muche.

13 Moreouer, Johanan the ſonne of Careah, & al the captaines of the hoſt that were ſcattered on euery ſyde in the lande, came to Gedaliah to Miſpa, and ſayde vnto him, 14 Knoweſt thou not that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah to ſlay thee? But Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam beleeued them not.

15 Then ſayde Johanan the ſonne of Careah vnto Gedaliah in Miſpa theſe woordes ſecretely, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I wyll ſlay Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah, ſo that no body ſhall knowe it: Wherefore wyl he kyl thee, that al the Jewes which reſorte vnto thee myght be ſcattered, and the remnant in Juda peryſhe?

16 And Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam ſayd to Johanan the ſonne of Careah, Thou ſhalt not doo it: for they are but lyes that thou ſayeſt of Iſmael.

¶ The.xli. Chapter.

1. Iſmael killeth Gedaliah guyleſully, and manye other with him. 11. Iohanan foloweth after Iſmael.

BVT in the ſeuenth moneth, it happened that Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah the ſonne of Eliſama, one of the kynges blood came, and the greateſt about the kyng, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam to Miſpa, and they dyd eate togeather in Miſpa.

2 And Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah, with thoſe ten men that were with him, ſtart vp, & ſmote Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam the ſonne of Saphan with the ſwoorde, and ſlue him, whom the kyng of Babylon had made a gouernour of the lande.

3 Iſmael alſo ſlue al the Jewes that were with Gedaliah at Miſpa, and all the Chaldees that he founde there waytyng vpon him, and thoſe that were able to fyght he ſlue with him.

4 The next day after that he had ſlayne Gedaliah, the matter was yet vnknowen:

5 And there came certayne men from Sichem, from Silo and Samaria, to the number of foureſcore, whiche had ſhaued their beardes, rent their clothes, and were al beauie, bryngyng meate offerynges and incenſe in their handes, to offer it in the houſe of the Lorde.

6 And Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah went forth of Miſpa weeppng, to meete them: Nowe when he met them, he ſayde, Goe your way to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam.

7 And when they came in the middeſt of the citie, Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah, with them that were with him, ſlue them euen at the myddeſt of the pyt.

8 Among theſe foureſcore men there were ten that ſayde vnto Iſmael, Oh ſlay vs not, for we haue yet a great treaſure in the feelde, of wheate, barley, oyle, and honie: So he ſpared them, and ſlue them not with their brethren.

9 Nowe the pyt wherein Iſmael dyd caſt the dead bodies of the men whom he ſlue becauſe of Gedaliah, had king Aſa cauſed to be made for feare of Baaſa the king of Iſrael, and the ſame pit did Iſmael fil with ſlaine men.

10 As for the remnant of the people, the kinges daughters, & al the people that were left at Miſpa, vpon whom Nabuzaradan the cheſe captaine had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam gouernour, Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah carried them away priſoners towarde the Ammonites.

11 But

11 But whē Johanan the ſonne of Careah, and al they whiche had been captaines ouer the kinges hoſt with him, hearde of al the wickednes that Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah had doone:

12 They tooke their companions, and went out for to fyght with Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are at Gibeon.

13 Now when al the people whom Iſmael led captiue, ſawe Johanan the ſonne of Careah, and all the other captaynes of the hoſt, they were glad.

14 So all the people that Iſmael had carried away from Miſpa, were brought agayne: and when they returned, they came to Johanan the ſonne of Careah.

15 But Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah fled from Johanan with eyght companions, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Thē Johanan the ſonne of Careah, and all the captaynes of the hoſt that were with him, tooke all the remnant of the people, whom Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah had led awaye when he had ſlayne Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam, whom they alſo had reſcued from him, fyghtyng men, women, and chyldren, & gelded men, whom they brought agayne from Gibeon:

17 And went from thence, and ſate them downe at Geruth Chamaam, whiche lyeth beſyde Bethlehem, that they myght goe into Egypt for feare of the Chaldees:

18 Of whom they were afraid, becauſe that Iſmael the ſonne of Nathaniah had ſlayne Gedaliah Ahicams ſonne, whom the king of Babylon had made gouernour in the lande.

¶ The.xlii. Chapter.

1. The captaynes aske counſayle at Ieremie what they ought to doo. 19. Ieremie admoniſheth the remnaunt of the people not to goe into Egipt.

SO al the captaines of Johanan the ſonne of Careah, Iezaniah the ſonne of Oſiah, came, with all the people from the leaſt vnto the moſte,

2 And ſaide vnto Ieremie the Prophet, O heare our petition, that thou mayeſt pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, Namely, for al the remnant whereof there be fewe of vs left of many, as thou ſeeſt vs:

3 That the Lorde thy God maye ſhewe vs a way to goe in, and tel vs what we ſhould doo.

4 Then Ieremie the Prophet ſayd vnto them, I haue hearde you, beholde, I wyl pray vnto God your Lorde as ye haue required me: and looke what anſweare the Lorde geueth, I ſhal certifie you thereof, and keepe nothyng backe from you.

5 And they ſayde vnto Ieremie, The Lord be a true and faythful witneſſe betwixt vs, that we wil doo al that the Lord thy God commaundeth vs.

6 Whether it be good or euyll, we wyll hearken vnto the voice of the Lord thy God, to whom we ſende thee, that we may proſper when we haue followed the voice of the Lord our God.

7 And after ten dayes came the woorde of the Lorde vnto Ieremie.

8 Then called he Johanan the ſonne of Careah, and all the captaynes of the people that were with him, yea & al the people from the leaſt to the moſt,

9 And ſayde vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde God of Iſrael, vnto whom ye ſent me to laye foorth your prayers before him:

10 If you wyl dwel in this land, I wyl buylde you vp, and not breake you downe, I wyl plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent as concernyng the trouble that I haue doone to you.

a. Gods repentaunce is nothing elſe but that he doeth not proſecute the vttermoſte his wrath accordyng to the deſerres of the people.

11 Feare not the kyng of Babylon, of whom ye ſtande in awe. Be not afrayde of him, ſaith the Lord, for I wyll be with you to helpe you, and delyuer you from his hande.

12 I wyl pardon you, I wyl haue mercie vpon you, and cauſe him to pitie you, and bryng you agayne into your owne lande.

13 Neuertheleſſe, if ye purpoſe not to dwel in this land, nor to folowe the voyce of the Lorde your God:

14 But wyl ſay thus, We wyl not dwell here, but goe into Egypt, where we ſhal neyther ſee warre, heare the noyſe of the trumpe, nor ſuffer hunger, there wyll we dwell:

15 Wherfore heare nowe the woorde of the Lorde, O ye remnant of Juda, thus ſaith the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, If ye be wholly purpoſed to goe into Egypt, and to dwel there as ſtrangers, 16 The ſwoord that ye feared ſhal ouertake you in Egypt: and the hunger whereof ye be afrayde, ſhal hang vpon you, and folow you into Egypt, and there ſhal ye dye.

17 And all they that of ſet purpoſe vndertake to goe into Egypt to ſoiourne there, ſhall perythe with the ſwoorde, with hunger, and peſtilence, not one of them ſhal remayne, there ſhal none eſcape the plague that I wyl bryng vpon them.

18 For thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Like as my wrath and indignation is moued againſt the inhabiters of Hieruſalem, ſo ſhal my diſpleaſure be kynde-led

ſes againſt you alſo yᵗ ye goe into Egypt, & there ye ſhalbe reuiled, abhorred, brought to ſhame and confuſion, and as for this place ye ſhal neuer ſee it more.

19 The Lorde forbiddeth you (O ye remnant of Iuda) that ye ſhall not goe into Egypt: and forgeat not that I haue warned you earneſtly this day.

20 For ye haue diſſembled with me: for ye ſent me vnto the Lord your God, and ſaid, O pray thou the Lorde our God for vs, and looke what anſweare the Lorde our GOD geueth thee, that bring vs againe, and we wyl do thereafter.

21 Nowe haue I ſhewed, and declared vnto you, but ye haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde your God, for the whiche cauſe he hath ſent me to you.

22 Nowe therfore be ye ſure that ye ſhal periſhe with the ſworde, with hunger, and peſtilence, euen in the ſame place where your luſt is to goe and dwel.

¶ The. xliii. Chapter.

1. Iohanan caryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the mynde of Ieremie. 8. Ieremie propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

NOwe when Ieremie had ended all the wordes of the Lorde his GOD vnto the people, which to declare the Lorde their GOD had ſent him to them, euen all theſe wordes Iſay,

2 Azariah the ſonne of Oſaiah, and Iohanan the ſonne of Careah, with al the ſtubburne perſons, ſayde vnto Ieremie, Thou ſpeſt, the Lorde our God hath not ſent thee to ſpeake vnto vs, that we ſhoulde not goe into Egypt, and dwel there:

3 But Baruch the ſonne of Neriah prouoketh thee againſt vs, that he might bring vs into the captiuitie of the Chaldees, that they myght ſlay vs, and cary vs away priſoners vnto Babylon.

4 So Iohanan the ſonne of Careah, and all the captaynes of the hoſt, and all the people, folowed not the commaundement of the Lord, namely, to dwel in the lande of Iuda:

5 But Iohanan the ſonne of Careah, and al the captaynes of the hoſt caried away al the remnant of Iuda, that were come together againe from al the heathen, among whom they had ben ſcattered, to dwell in the lande of Iuda,

6 Men, women, children, the kynges daughters, al thoſe that Nabuzaradan the chiefe captayne had left with Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahicam, the ſonne of Saphan: they caried away alſo the prophet Ieremie, and Baruch the ſonne of Neriah,

7 And ſo came into Egypt: for they were not obedient vnto the commaundement of God. Thus came they to Thaphnis:

8 And in Thaphnis the worde of the Lorde happened vnto Ieremie, ſaying,

9 Take great ſtones in thine hande, and hyde them in the brycke wal vnder the doore of Pharoas houſe in Thaphnis, that all the men of Iuda may ſee,

10 And ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I wil ſende and cal for Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon my ſeruant, and wil ſet his ſeate vpon theſe ſtones that I haue hyd, and he ſhal ſpreade his tent ouer them.

11 And when he commeth, he ſhal ſmite the lande of Egypt, ſome with ſlaughter, ſome with baniſhement, and ſome with the ſwoorde.

12 He ſhal ſet fyre vpon the temple of the Egyptians goddes, and burne them vp, and take them ſelues priſoners: moreouer, he ſhal aray hym ſelfe with the lande of Egypt, lyke as a ſhepheарde putteth on his coate, and ſhal depart his way from thence in peace.

13 The pillers alſo of the temple of the ſunne that is in Egypt ſhal he breake in peeces, and burne the temples of the Egyptians goddes.

¶ The. xliiii. Chapter.

1. He reproueth the people for their idolatry. 15. They that ſet light by the threatnyng of the Lorde are chaſtened.

THis is the worde that was ſhewed to Ieremie concernyng al the Iewes whiche dwelt in Egypt, at Migdol, at Thaphnis, at Noph, and in the lande of Pathures.

2 Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the GOD of Iſrael, Ye haue ſeene al the myſerie that I haue brought vpon Hieruſalem, and vpon al the cities of Iuda: ſo that this day they are deſolate, and no man dwelling therein,

3 And that becauſe of the great blaſphemies whiche they committed to prouoke me vnto anger, in that they went backe to do ſacrifice and worſhip vnto ſtrange goddes, whom neyther they nor ye, nor your fathers haue knowen,

4 Howbeit I ſent vnto them my ſeruants al the prophets, I roſe vp early, I ſent vnto them and gaue them warnyng, O doe no ſuche abominable thinges, and thinges that I hate.

5 But they wouldē not folow nor hearken, to turne from theyr wickednesse, and to do no more sacrifice vnto strange goddes.

6 Wherefore mine indignation and wrath was kindled, and it burnt vp the cities of Juda, with the streetes of Hierusalem, so that they were made waste and desolate, as it is come to passe this day.

7 Nowe therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, How happeneth it that ye doo so great euyll vnto your owne soules, thus to destroy the men and women, children and babes of Juda, so that none of you is left?

8 Because ye prouoke me to wrath with the workes of your owne handes, when ye offer vnto strange goddes in the lande of Egypt whereas ye be gone to dwell, that ye might vtterly perishe, and that ye might be reuiled, and shamefully entreated of all nations?

9 Or haue ye nowe forgotten the wickednesse of your forefathers, the wickednesse of the kinges of Juda and theyr wyues, the wickednesse that ye your selues & your wiues haue done in the lande of Juda, and in the streetes of Hierusalem?

10 Yet are ye not sory this day, ye feare not, neyther walke ye in mylawe, and in my commaundementes that I haue geuen vnto you and your forefathers.

11 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the god of Israel, ‖ I am stedfastly aduised and determined to punishe you, and to roote out al Juda. ‖ Amos. 9. 4.

12 As for the remnant of Juda that purposely went into Egypt there to dwell, I wyl take them, and they shal al be destroyed, in the land of Egypt shal they perishe, being consumed with the swoorde and with hunger: for from the least vnto the most, they shall perishe with the swoorde and with hunger: Moreouer, they shalbe reuiled, abhorred, shamed, and confounded.

13 For I wyl visite them that dwel in Egypt, as I haue visited Hierusalem, with the swoorde, with hunger, and with pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Juda which are gone to dwel in Egypt, shalbe left to come agayne into the lande of Juda, although they thinke to come thither againe and to dwel there: for none shal come agayne but such as are fled away.

15 Then all the men which knewe that theyr wyues had offered vnto strange gods, and a great sort of wyues that stoode there, yea and all the people that dwelt there in Egypt in the citie of Phathures, answeared Jeremie, and sayde,

16 As for the woordes that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, we wil in no wise heare them:

17 But whatsoeuer goeth out of our owne mouth, that wil we do, we wil do sacrifice, and offer oblations vnto the queene of heauen, lyke as we and our forefathers, our kinges and our heades haue done in the cities of Juda, and in the streetes of Hierusalem: for then had we plenteousnesse of victualles, then were we in prosperitie, and no misfortune came vpon vs:

18 But synce we left to offer and to do sacrifice vnto the queene of heauen, we haue had scarcenesse of al thinges, and perishe with the swoorde and hunger.

19 ‖ Last of al when we women dyd sacrifice and offered vnto the queene of heauē: did we make her cakes, and powre vnto her drinke offeringes, to doo her seruice, without our husbandes willes? ‖ Jere. 7. 18.

20 Then sayd Jeremie vnto al the people, to the men, to the women, and to al the folke whiche had geuen hym that answeare, 21 Did not the Lord remember the sacrifices that ye, your forefathers, your kinges and rulers, which al the people haue offered in the cities of Juda, in the streetes of Hierusalem? and hath he not considered this in his minde?

22 In so much that the Lorde myght no longer suffer the wickednesse of your inuentions, and the abominable thinges whiche ye dyd: Is not your lande desolate and voyde, yea & abhorred, so that no man dwelleth therein any more, as it is come to passe this day?

23 Did not al this happen vnto you, because ye made suche sacrifice, and sinned agaynst the Lord? Ye haue not followed his voyce, to walke in his lawe, in his ordinances and statutes: yea this is the cause that al mysfortune happened vnto you as it is come to passe this day.

24 Moreouer, Jeremie spake vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the woorde of the Lorde all Juda that be in the lande of Egypt, 25 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Ye & your wyues haue spoken with your owne mouth the thing that ye haue fulfilled in deede, yea thus haue ye said, We wyl not fayle but performe the vowes that we haue vowed, we wyl do sacrifice, and poure out drinke offerings to the queene of heauen: Purposely wyl ye set vp your owne meanynges, and performe your vowes.

26 And therefore heare the woord of the Lorde

Lorde al Juda that dwel in the lande of Egypt: Beholde, I haue swore by my great name, sayth the Lorde, that my name shall not be rehearsed through any mans mouth of Juda in al the lande of Egypt, to say, The Lorde God liueth.

27 For I wil watch to plague them, & not for their wealth: and al the men of Juda that be in the lande of Egypt shall perishe with the swoorde, and with hunger, vntyll they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Neuertheleſſe, thoſe that fled away for the ſwoord, ſhal come againe out of Egypt into the lande of Juda, but there ſhalbe very fewe of them: and al the remnaunt of Juda that are gone into Egypt there to dwel, ſhal knowe whoſe woordes ſhalbe founde true, theirs, or mine.

29 Take this for a token, that I wyll viſite you in this place, ſaith the Lorde, and that ye may knowe howe that I without doubt wil performe my purpoſe vppon you, to pouniſhe you.

30 Beholde, ſaith the Lorde, I wyl deliuer Pharao Hophra king of Egypt, into the handes of his enimies that ſeeke after his lyfe: euen as I gaue Zedecias the king of Juda into the handes of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon his enimie, whiche ſought after his lyfe.

¶ The.xlv. Chapter.

Baruch is reproued of Ieremie.

THeſe are the woordes that Ieremie the Prophete ſpake vnto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, after that he had wrytten theſe Sermons in a booke at the mouth of Ieremie, in the fourth yeere of Jehoacim the ſonne of Joſias kyng of Juda, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lorde God of Iſrael vnto thee O Baruch:

3 Inſomuche as thou thoughteſt thus vvhen thou vvaſt vvriting Wo is me, the Lord hath geuen me paine for my trauaile, I haue weeried my ſelfe with ſighing, and haue founde no reſt:

4 Therefore tel him, O Ieremie, that the Lord ſaith thus: Beholde, the thing that I haue builded, wil I breake downe againe, and roote out the thing that I haue planted, yea, this whole lande.

5 And ſeekeſt thou yet promotion? looke not for it, and deſyre it not, for I wyl bryng a miſerable plague vpon all fleſhe, ſayeth the Lorde: but thy lyfe wyl I geue thee for a pray, in all places whyther ſo euer thou goeſt.

¶ The.xlvi.

1. He propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt. 27. Deliuerance is promyſed to Iſrael.

HEre folowe the woordes of the Lorde to the Prophete Ieremie, whiche he ſpake againſt al the gentiles.

2 Theſe woordes folowyng preached he to the Egyptians, concernyng the hoſte of Pharao Necho king of Egypt, when he was in Charchamis beſyde the water of Euphrates, what time as Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon ſlue hym, in the fourth yeere of Jehoacim the ſonne of Joſias kyng of Juda.

3 Make redy buckler and ſheelde, and goe forth to fight.

4 Harneſſe your horſes, and ſet your ſelues vpon them, ſet your ſallets faſt on, bryng forth ſpeares, ſcoure your ſwoordes, and put on your breſt plates.

5 But alas, howe happeneth it that I ſee you ſo afraide? why ſhrinke ye backe? Your worthies are ſlaine, yea, they runne ſo faſt away that none of them looketh behynde him: fearefulneſſe is fallen vppon euery one of them, ſaith the Lorde.

6 The lighteſt of foote ſhall not flee away, and the woorthies ſhal not eſcape: towarde the North by the water of Euphrates they dyd ſtumble and fal.

7 But what is he this that ſwelleth vp as it were a flood, roaryng and ragyng lyke the ſtreames of water?

8 It is Egypt that ryſeth vp like the flood, & caſteth out the waters with ſo great noyſe: And he ſayde, I wyl goe vp, and wyl couer the earth, I wyl deſtroy the citie with them that are therein.

9 Geat ye vp ye horſes, roule forth ye charets, come forth worthies, ye Ethiopians, ye Libyans with your bucklers, ye Lydians with your bowes.

10 But this day of the Lorde God of hoſtes is a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enimies: The ſwoord ſhal deuoure, it ſhalbe ſatiſfied and bathed in their blood, for the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall haue a ſlayne offering towarde the North, by the water of Euphrates.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, and bring triacle, O virgin, thou daughter of Egypt: but in vayne ſhalt thou goe to ſurgerie, for thy wounde ſhal not be ſtopped.

12 The heathen haue heard of thy ſhame, and the lande is ful of thy confuſion: for one ſtrong man did ſtumble vppon another, and they are fallen both together.

13 Theſe are the woordes that the Lord

ſpake to the prophete Jeremie, concerning the comming of Nabuchodonoſor the kyng of Babylon, which was ſent to deſtroy the lande of Egypt:

14 Preach out through the lande of Egypt, and cauſe it to be proclaymed at Migdol, Noph, and Taphnis, and ſay, Stande ſtyl, make thee redy, for the ſwoorde ſhal conſume thee rounde about.

15 Howe happeneth it that thy mygh-ty worthies are fallen? why ſtoode they not faſt? euen becauſe the lord thruſt thē downe.

16 The ſlaughter was great, for one fel euer ſtyl vpon another: and they ſaid, Vp, let vs goe agayne to our owne people, and to our owne naturall countrey, from the cruell ſwoorde.

17 They did crye euen there, Pharao the king of Egypt is a king of troubleſomnes: he hath ouerpaſt the appointed time.

18 As I liue (ſaith the king whoſe name is the Lorde of hoſtes) ſo ſurely as Thabor ſtandeth among the mountaynes, and Charmel in the ſea: euen ſo aſſuredly ſhall this miſcheefe come vpon Egypt.

19 O thou daughter of Egypt, make redy thy geare to flyt: for Noph ſhalbe voide and deſolate, ſo that no man ſhall dwell therein.

20 The lande of Egypt is like a goodly fayre Calfe: but deſtruction ſhal come out of the North, I ſay it commeth.

21 Her waged ſouldiers that be with her are like fat Calues, they alſo ſhal flee away together, and not abide: for the day of their ſlaughter, and the time of their viſitation ſhal come vpon them.

22 The crye of them ſhal make a noiſe as the hiſſing of ſerpentes: for they ſhal enter in with their hoſtes, and come agaynſt her with axes, as it were hewers downe of wood.

a. Her wood, that is, the whole multitude of the people, which was like a great wood.

23 And they ſhal cut downe her a wood, ſayth the Lorde, they ſhalbe innumerable: for they ſhalbe moe in number then the graſſhoppers, ſo that no man ſhalbe able to tell them.

24 The daughter of Egypt is confounded, and deliuered into the handes of the people of the North.

25 Thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I wyl viſite that reſtleſſe people of Alexandria, Pharao, and Egypt, yea both their gods and their kings, euen Pharao and all them that put their truſt in him:

26 Yea, I wyll deliuer them into the handes of thoſe that ſeeke after their lyues, namely into the power of Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon, and into the power of his ſeruauntes: and after all theſe thinges, it ſhalbe inhabited as aforetyme, ſayth the Lorde.

27 ‖ Be not thou afrayd, O my ſeruant Jacob, feare not thou, O Iſrael: for loe, I wil helpe thee from farre, and thy ſeede from the lande of their captiuitie: Jacob alſo ſhal come againe and be in reſt, he ſhall proſper, and no man ſhal doo him harme. ‖ Eſai. 44. Jere. 30. 10

28 Feare thou not (O Jacob my ſeruant) ſaith the Lord, for I am with thee, and wil deſtroy al nations among whom I haue ſcattered thee: neuertheleſſe I wyl not conſume thee, but chaſten thee and correct thee, yea, and that with diſcretion, neither wil I vtterly deſtroy thee.

¶ The.xlvii. Chapter.

The vvoorde of the Lorde agaynſt the Philiſtines.

THeſe are the woords that the Lord ſpake vnto Jeremie the prophete againſt the Philiſtines, before that Pharao ſmote the citie of Azah. Jere. 17

2 Thus ſayth the Lorde, Behold, there ſhal waters aryſe out of the North, and ſhall growe to a great flood, running ouer and couering the lande and al that is therein, the cities, and them that dwel therein: and the men ſhall crye, and al they that dwel in the lande ſhal mourne.

3 At the noyſe and ſtamping of their ſtrong barbed horſes, at the ſhaking of their charets, and at the rumbling of the wheeles: the fathers ſhal not looke to their chyldren, ſo feeble and weery ſhal their handes be,

4 At the ſame time when he ſhalbe there to deſtroy the whole lande of the Philiſtines, he ſhal make waſte both Tyrus, Sidon, and the reſidue of their ayde: for the Lorde wyl deſtroy the Philiſtines, the remnant of the Ile of a Caphtor. a, Cappadocia.

5 Baldneſſe is come vpon Azah, Aſcalon is put to ſcilence, with the reſte of their valleys: Howe long wilt thou teare thee ſelfe?

6 O thou ſwoorde of the Lorde, howe long wilt thou not ceaſſe? Turne agayne into thy ſheath, reſt, and leaue of.

7 But howe can it ceaſſe, when the Lorde him ſelfe hath geuen it a charge againſt Aſcalon, and rayſed it vp againſt the cities of the ſea coaſte? 3. kin. 12. Eſai. 16.

¶ The.xlviii. Chapter.

The vvoorde of the Lorde agaynſt the Moabites.

1 Thus

THus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, against Moab, Wo be to the citie of Nebo, for it is layde waste, brought to confusion, and Kiriathaim is taken: Misgab is brought to shame and afraide.

2 Moab can boast no more of Heshbon, for they haue deuised a mischeefe against it: Come shall they say let vs roote them out, that they may be no more a nation, thou also shalt be destroyed, O Madmena, and the swoord shal persecute thee.

3 A voyce shall crye from Horonaim: Great wasting and destruction shall come vpon them.

4 Moab is made desolate, her litle ones haue cryed out.

5 For at the going vp vnto Luith he arose with lamentation and mourning, and downe toward Horonaim they heard a cruel and deadly crye:

Iere.17.6. 6 ‖ Get you away, saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wylderneſſe.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thyne owne woorkes and treasure, thou shalt be taken: Chamos with his priestes and princes shal goe away into captiuitie.

8 The destroyer shall come vpon all cities, none shal escape: The valleys shalbe destroyed, and the feeldes shalbe laide waste, like as the Lorde hath spoken.

9 Geue wynges vnto Moab, that she geat her away speedyly: for her cities shalbe made so desolate, that no man shall dwell therein.

10 Cursed be he that dooth the woorke of the Lorde fraudulently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his swoord from shedding of blood.

11 Moab hath euer been riche and careleſſe from her youth vp, she hath been stil setled vppon lyes, she was neuer yet put out of one vessel into another, that is, she neuer went away into captiuitie, therefore her taste remaineth, and her sauour is not yet changed.

12 But loe, the time commeth, saith the Lorde, that I shal sende her trussers to trusse her vp, whiche shall remoone her from her dwelling, and emptie her vessels, and breake her wine pottes.

13 And Moab shalbe ashamed of Cha-
3.kin.12.29 mos ‖ like as Israel was ashamed of Bethel, wherein she put her trust.

Esai.16.7. 14 Wherefore doo ye thinke thus, ‖ We are mightie and strong men of warre:

15 Moab is destroyed, and her cities brent vp, her chosen young men be slayne, sayth the king whose name is the Lorde of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab commeth on a pace, and her fall is at hand.

17 All ye neighbours mourne for her, and all ye that knowe her name, say, O howe happeneth it that the strong staffe and the goodly rodde is thus broken?

18 And thou daughter Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for he that destroyeth Moab, shal come vp to thee also, and breake downe thy strong holdes.

19 And thou that dwellest in Aroer, geat thee to the streete, and looke about thee, aske them that are fledde and escaped, and say, What thing is happened.

20 Oh Moab is confounded and ouercome: mourne and crye, tell it out at Arnon that Moab is destroyed,

21 For iudgement shall come vppon the plaine lande namely vppon Holon, & Iahzah, and vpon Mephaath,

22 And vpon Dibon, vppon Nabo, and Beth Diblathaim,

23 Vpon Kiriathaim, and vppon Beth Gamul, vpon Beth Maon, 24 And vpon Carioth, vpon Bozra, and al the cities in the lande of Moab, whether they lye farre or neare.

25 The horne of Moab is smitten downe, and her arme broken, sayth the Lord.

26 Make her drunken, for she magnified her selfe aboue the Lorde, that men may clappe their handes at her vomite, and that she also may be laughed to scorne.

27 Diddest not thou laugh Israel to scorne, as though he had been taken with theft among theeues? for so often as thou makest mention of him, thou skippest for ioy.

28 Ye Moabites, leaue the cities, and dwell in rockes of stone, and become lyke doues that make their nestes in holes.

29 As for Moabs pride we haue heard of it, she is very high minded, I knowe her stoutnesse, her boasting, her arrogancie, and the pride of her stomacke, sayth the Lorde.

30 I knowe (sayth the Lorde) her indignation, she dooth not right, her woordes are lyes, and they haue not dealt truely.

31 Therefore wyl I mourne for Moab, for whole Moabs sake: my hart shal lament the men of Kirchares.

32 O thou vineparde of Sabamah, I wyll weepe for thee as for Jazer: thy vine branches shall come ouer the sea, vnto the sea of Jazer, the destroyer shall breake into thy harnest and grape geathering.

33 ‖ Myrth and cheare shalbe taken away from the fertile feelde, & from the lande of Moab: there shalbe no sweete wine in the presse, the treader shall haue no stomacke to crye, yea there ſhalbe none to crye vnto hym,

34 Whiche afore tyme were heard from Helbon to Eleale, and Jahaz, whiche lyfted vp theyr voyce from Zoar vnto Horonaim, that bullocke of three yeere olde: the waters alſo of Nemrim ſhalbe dryed vp.

35 Moreouer, I wyl make Moab ceaſſe, ſayth the Lorde, from the offerynges and cenſyng that he hath made vnto her goddes in hygh places.

36 Wherefore my hart mourneth for Moab lyke a crowde playing an heatie ſong, and for the mens ſake of Kirchares my hart mourneth alſo, euen as a pype that pypeth a dolefull ſong: for theyr riches whiche they haue geathered, ſhalbe deſtroyed.

|Eſai. 15.3. Eccle. 7.18. 37 || All heades ſhalbe ſhaue, and all beardes clypped of, al handes bounde, and all loynes gyrded about with ſackcloth.

38 Vpon all the houſe toppes and ſtreetes of Moab there ſhalbe lamentable mournyng, for I wyl breake Moab lyke an vnprofitable veſſel, ſayth the Lorde.

39 O howe is ſhe deſtroyed? O howe mourneth ſhe? O howe doorh Moab hang downe her head and is aſhamed? Thus ſhall Moab be a laughing ſtocke, and had in derifion of al them that be round about her?

40 For thus ſayth the Lorde, Beholde, the enimie ſhall come fleeing as an Eagle, and ſpreade his winges vpon Moab.

41 They ſhal take the cities, and winne the ſtrong holdes: then the mightie mens hartes in Moab ſhalbe like the hart of a woman trauayling with childe.

42 And Moab ſhalbe made ſo deſolate that ſhe ſhal no more be a people, becauſe ſhe hath ſet vp her ſelfe againſt the Lorde.

43 Feare, pit, and ſnare ſhall come vpon thee, O Moab, ſayth the Lorde.

|Eſai. 24.17. 44 || Who ſo eſcapeth the feare, ſhal fal into the pit, and who ſo geatteth out of the pit, ſhalbe taken in the ſnare: for I wyll bring a yeere of viſitation vppon Moab ſayth the Lorde.

45 They that are able to flee, ſhal ſtand vnder the ſhadowe of Helbon, for there ſhall goe a fyre out of Helbon, and a flame from Sion, and ſhall burne vp that proude people of Moab, and the toppe of thoſe ſeditious children.

46 Wo be vnto thee, O Moab, thou people of Chamos ſhalt periſhe: yea thy ſonnes and daughters ſhalbe ledde away captiue.

47 Yet at the laſt wyll I bring Moab out of captiuitie againe, ſayth the Lorde. Thus farre is of the plague of Moab.

¶ The. xlix. Chapter.

1. The wwoorde of the Lorde againſt the Ammonites. 7. againſt Idumea. 23. Damaſcus. 28. Cedar. 34. Elam.

AS concernyng the Ammonites, thus the Lorde ſayth, Hath Iſrael no chyldren? or is he without any heyre? Why hath your king then taken Gad in? Wherefore dooth his people dwel in his cities?

2 Behold therefore, the time commeth, ſayth the Lorde, that I wyl bring a noyſe of warre into Rabbath of the Ammonites, & it ſhalbe layde on a deſolate heape, and her cities brent vp, & the Iſraelites ſhalbe lordes ouer thoſe that had them in poſſeſſion afore, ſayth the Lorde.

3 Helbon ſhal mourne, for Ai ſhalbe rooted out of the ground ſayth the lorde the citie of Rabbath ſhall crye out, and girde them ſelues with ſackcloth, they ſhall mourne and runne about the walles, for their kyng ſhalbe led away priſoner, yea his prieſtes and princes with him.

4 Wherefore gloryeſt thou in the a valleys? thy valley hath flowed away, O thou rebellious daughter, and thinkeſt thou that thou art ſo ſafe by reaſon of thy treaſure, that no man ſhal come to thee?

a. The plentifulneſſe of the ſoyle, the ſtrong ſituacion of the place, their great wealth, cauſed the Ammonites like a reteheles wanton gyrle to blaſpheme the Lord, to annoy his people and to be without all feare of enimies.

5 Beholde, I wyll bring a feare vppon thee, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, from all thoſe that be about thee, ſo that ye ſhalbe ſcattered euery man from another, and no man ſhall geather them togeather agayne that be fled.

6 But after that I wyll bring the Ammonites alſo out of captiuitie agayne, ſayth the Lorde.

7 Vppon the Edomites hath the Lorde of hoſtes ſpoken on this maner, Is there no more wyſedome in Theman? Is there no more good counſayle among his people? Is their wyſdome then turned cleane to nought?

8 Geat you hence, turne your backes, creepe downe into the deepe, O ye citezins of Dedan: for I wyl bring deſtruction vpon Eſau, yea and the day of his viſitation.

9 || If the grape geatherers come vpon thee, ſhould they not leaue ſome grapes? If the night robbers come vpō thee, ſhould they not take ſo muche as they thought were ynough? ||Abd. 3.

10 But I wil make Eſau bare, and diſcouer his ſecretes, ſo that he ſhal not be able to hyde them: his ſeede ſhalbe waſted away, yea his brethren and his neighbours, and he him ſelfe ſhall not be left behinde.

11 Thou ſhalt leaue thy fatherleſſe children behind thee, and I wyll keepe them, and thy thy wyndowes shall take their comfort in me.

12 For thus hath the Lord spoken, Beholde, they that men thought were vnmeete to drinke of the cuppe, haue dronken with the fyrst: and thinkest thou then to be free? No, no, thou shalt neither be quit nor free: but thou must drinke also.

13 For why? I haue sworne by mee selfe, sayth the Lorde, that Bozrah shal become a wyldernesse, an open shame, a laughing stocke, and curlyng, and al her citie shalbe a continual desart.

Iudas. 1. 14 ||For I am perfectly informed of the Lord, that he hath sent a message alredy vnto the heathen: Geather you togeather, and goe forth agaynst her, make you redy to battel:

15 For loe, I wyll make thee but small among the heathen, and litle regarded among men.

16 Thy hie stomacke, & the pryde of thy hart hath deceiued thee, because thou dooest dwel in the holes of stony rockes, & hast the high mountaines in possession: Neuerthelesse, though thy nest were as high as the Egles, yet I wyl cast thee downe, saith ꝑ lord.

17 Moreouer, Idumea shalbe a wyldernesse, who so goeth by it, shalbe abashed, and woonder at al her miserable plagues.

Gen. 19. 25 18 ||Like as Sodome, Gomor, and the cities that lay there about were turned vpside downe, sayth the Lorde: so shal no body dwel in Idumea, and no man shall haue his habitation there.

19 Beholde, like as the Lion, so shall a destroyer come vp from the pleasant medowes of Iordane, vnto the strong dwellyng place, and when I haue made him quiet, I wyl make him to flee from her, and all chosen men wyll I set in aray agaynst her: who is lyke vnto me? what is he that wyll stryue || Iob. 41. 1. with me? || what shepheard may stande in my handes?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that he hath taken vpon Idumea, and his purpose that he hath deuised vpon the citizens of Theman: the least of the flocke shal fraye them, and looke what fayre habitation they haue, they shall make it waste, and them selues also.

21 At the noyse of their fall the earth shall quake, the crye of theyr voyce shalbe heard vnto the red sea.

22 Beholde, the enimie shal come and flee vp hyther lyke as it were an Eagle, and spread his wynges vpon Bozrah: then shall the hartes of the wooythies in Edom be as the hart of a woman trauaylyng of chylde.

23 Vpon Damascus, Hemath, and Arphad, shal come confusion for they shal heare euil tydinges, they shalbe tossed to and fro like the sea that can not stande styll.

24 Damascus shalbe sore afrayde, and shal flee: trembling commeth vpon her, sorowe and payne shal ouertake her, as a woman trauailing of childe.

25 But howe happeneth it that the famous citie, the citie of my ioy, is not spared?

26 Her young men shal fal in ꝑ streetes, and al her men of warre shalbe taken away in that time, sayth the Lorde of hostes.

27 I wyl kyndle a fyre in the walles of Damascus, whiche shal consume the palace of Benhadad.

28 As for Cedar and the kyngdome of Hazor, whom Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon smote, the Lorde hath spoken thus vpon them: Aryse, and goe you vp vnto Cedar, and destroy the people towarde the east.

29 Their tentes and their flockes shall they take away, yea their hangings and their vessels, their Cammels also shal they carie away with them: they shal crye to them, feare is on euery syde.

30 Flee, get you farre away, creepe into caues, that ye may dwel there, O ye inhabitours of Hazor, sayth the Lord: for Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon hath holden a counsayle concerning you, and concluded his deuice agaynst you.

31 Arise and goe you vp against ponder riche and careless people, sayth the Lorde, whiche haue neyther gates nor doore barres, but dwel alone.

32 Their Cammels shalbe a pray, and the droues of their cattel driuen away: Moreouer, those will I scatter toward al the windes, and to the farthest partes of the worlde, yea from al the sydes thereof wyl I bryng theyr destruction, sayth the Lorde.

33 Hazor also shalbe a dwelling for dragons, and an euerlasting wildernesse, so that no bodye shal dwel there, and no man shall haue there his habitation.

34 These are the wordes that the Lord spake to the Prophete Ieremie concernyng Elam, in the begynning of the raigne of Zedecias king of Iuda.

35 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wyl breake the bowe of Elam, their principal strength.

36 And vpon Elam I wyl bring the foure winds from the foure quarters of heauen, and wyl scatter them agaynst the same foure windes: and there shalbe no people, but some of Elam shal flee vnto them.

37 For I wyl cause Elam to be afrayd of their enimies, and of them that seeke their lines, and wyll bring vpon them a mischeefe, euen my wrath, sayth the Lorde: And I wyl persecute them with the swoord, so long tyll I haue brought them to nought.

38 I wyl set my throne in Elam, I wyl destroy both the king & princes from thence, sayth the Lorde: but in proces of time I wyl bring Elam out of captiuitie agayne, sayth the Lorde.

¶ The L. Chapter.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, vvhiche vvas in captiuitie.

THE woordes that the Lorde spake vnto the prophete Jeremie concernyng Babylon & the lande of the Chaldees:

2 Preache among the Gentiles, let your voyce be heard, make a token, crye out, keepe no silence, but say, Babylon is woonne, Bel is confounded, and Merodach is ouercome, yea their goddes be brought to shame, and their images burst in peeces:

3 For out of the North there doth come a people against her, whiche shall make her land so waste, that no body shal dwel therein, neither man nor beast, for they shall flee and depart from thence.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lorde, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Juda, weeping and making haste, and shall seeke the Lorde their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Sion, thither shall they turne their faces, saying, Come, and we wyll cleaue to the Lorde in a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.

6 My people haue been a lost flocke, my shepheardes haue deceiued them, and haue made them goe astray vpon the hylles, they haue gone from the mountayne to the litle hyl, and forgotten their folde.

7 All they that came vpon them, haue deuoured them, and their enimies sayde, We haue made no fault agaynst them, for they haue displeased the Lorde, yea euen the Lorde vvhich is the habitation of their ryghteousnesse, and the hope of their fathers.

8 Flee from Babylon, and depart out of the land of the Chaldees, and be ye as the rammes that goe before the flocke.

9 For loe, I wyll make vp an host of people from the Northren lande, and bryng them vpon Babylon, these shal lay siege to it, and wynne it: their arrowes shall not misse, like as a cunning archer shooteth not wrong.

10 And the Chaldees shalbe spoyled, and al they that spoyle them shalbe satisfied, saith the Lorde.

11 Although ye were so chearefull and glad to treade downe myne heritage, and fulfylled your pleasures as the calues in the grasse, and triumphed ouer them lyke bulles vvhen ye had gotten the victorie.

12 Your mothers shalbe sore confounded, and they that bare you shall come to shame, she shalbe the least set by among the nations, waste, wasted, and dryed vp.

13 No man shalbe able to dwell there for the feare of the Lord, but she shalbe whole desolate: al they that goe by Babylon shall stande styl and be abashed, and shal woonder at al her plagues.

14 Goe forth in your aray against Babylon rounde about, al ye that can handle bowes, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath sinned agaynst the Lorde.

15 Crye out agaynst her rounde about: she shall yeelde her selfe, her fundations shall fall, and her walles shall come downe, for it shalbe the vengeance of the Lorde, yea vengeance shalbe taken of her: and as she hath doone, so deale ye with her.

16 Roote out the sower from Babylon, and hym that handleth the sickle in haruest: for feare of the swoorde of the enimie, euery man shall geat him to his owne people, and euery man shall flee to his owne lande.

17 Israel is a scattered flocke, the Lions haue dispearsed them: || first the kyng of the Assyrians deuoured them, last of all this Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon hath brused all their bones. ||2.kin.17.24

18 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wyll visite the king of Babylon & his kingdome, as I haue visited the kyng of the Assyrians, 19 And wyl bryng Israel agayne to his pleasant pasture, that he may feede vpon Charmel and Basan, and be satisfied vpon the mount of Ephraim and Galaad.

20 In those daies, and at the same time, sayth the Lorde, yf the offence of Israel be sought for, there shall none be founde, if men enquire for the sinne of Juda, there shalbe none: for I wilbe merciful vnto them whom I suffer to remayne.

21 Goe downe O thou auenger into the enimies lande, and visite them that dwell therein: downe with them, and smyte them vpon the backes, sayth the Lorde, doo accordyng to all that I haue commaunded thee.

22 There is gone about the lande a crie of a slaughter and great murder namely on this maner,

23 How happeneth it that the hammer of the the whole worlde is thus broken and brused in sunder? howe chaunseth it that Babylon is become a wylderneſſe among the heathen on this manner?

24 I mee ſelfe haue layde a ſnare for thee, and thou art taken vnawares, thou art trapped and ſnared: for why? thou haſt contended againſt the Lorde.

25 The Lord hath opened his houſe of ordinance, and brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for the thyng that is done in the lande of the Chaldees, it is the Lorde of hoſtes worke.

26 Come againſt her, for this is her ende, breake vp her cheſtes, threſh her as ye threſh corne, deſtroy her, that nothing ſhalbe left.

27 Slay al their mightie ſouldiers, and put them to death: woe be vnto them, for the day and tyme of their viſitation is at hande.

28 Me thinke I heare alredy a crye of them that be fledde and eſcaped out of the lande of Babylon, which ſhewe in Sion the vengeance of the Lorde our God, the vengeance of his temple, yea a voyce of them that crye againſt Babylon, 29 Call vp all the archers againſt Babylon, pitche your tentes rounde about her, that none eſcape, recompence her as ſhe hath deſerued, and accordyng as ſhe hath done, ſo deale with her againe: for ſhe hath ſet vp her ſelfe againſt the Lorde, againſt the holy one of Iſrael.

30 Therefore ſhal her young men fall downe in the ſtreetes, & al her men of warre ſhalbe rooted out in that day, ſayth the Lord.

31 Behold, I ſpeake vnto thee, O thou proude, ſayth the Lorde God of hoſtes, for thy day ſhal come, euen the time of thy viſitation.

32 And the proude ſhal ſtumble and fal, and no man ſhal helpe hym vp, I wyl burne vp his cities with fire, and it ſhal conſume al that is rounde about hym.

33 Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, The children of Iſrael and Iuda ſuffer violence together, al they that haue them in captiuitie keepe them faſt, and wyl not let them goe.

34 But their auenger and redeemer is mightie, whoſe name is the Lorde of hoſtes, he ſhal maynteyne their cauſe, he ſhal make the lande ſhake, and iudge them that dwell therein one vvith another.

35 The ſwoorde ſhall come vppon the Chaldees, ſayth the Lorde, vppon them that dwel in Babylon, vpon their princes, and vpon their wiſe men.

36 The ſwoorde vpon their ſoothſayers, as for thoſe they ſhall become fooles: the ſwoorde vpon their worthies, ſo that they ſhal ſtande in feare.

37 The ſwoorde vppon their horſemen and charettes, and vpon all the common people that dwel among them, ſo that they ſhall all become lyke women: the ſwoorde vpon their treaſure, ſo that it ſhalbe ſtollen away.

38 A drought vppon their waters, ſo that they ſhalbe dryed vp: for the land worſhippeth Images, and delighteth wonderfully in Idolles.

39 Therefore ſhall wylde beaſtes, Lamia, and Cat of mountaynes, and Eſtriches dwel therein: for there ſhal neuer man dwell there, neyther ſhal any man haue his habitation there for euermore.

40 || Like as God deſtroyed Sodome and Gomor, with the cities that lay there about, ſayth the Lorde: ſo ſhal no man dwell there alſo, neyther ſhal any man haue there his habitation. ||Gene.19.25 Eſai.13.19.

41 Behold, there ſhall come a people from the North with a great bonde of men, and many kynges ſhall ſtande vp from the endes of the earth.

42 They beare bowes and burklers, cruell are they and vnmerciful: their voyce roareth lyke the raging ſea, they ride vppon horſes, and come weaponed to fight againſt thee, O Babylon.

43 As ſoone as the kyng of Babylon heare tel of them, his hands ſhal waxe feeble, ſorowe and heauineſſe ſhal come vppon hym as a woman trauayling with chylde.

44 Behold, lyke as the Lion commeth vp from the ſwellyng of Iordane, vnto the dennes of Ethan, ſo wyl I driue them forth, and make them runne againſt her: but whom ſhal I chooſe out and ordeyne to ſuche a thyng? || for who is lyke me? or who wyll ſtriue with me? or what ſheephearde may ſtande againſt me? ||Iob.41.1.

45 Therefore heare the counſel that the Lorde hath geuen vpon Babylon, and the deuice that he hath taken vpon the lande of the Chaldees, The leaſt among the people ſhal drawe them out, and looke what pleaſant houſes they haue, they ſhall lay them waſte.

46 The noyſe at the wynning of Babylon ſhal moue the earth, and the crye ſhalbe heard among the Gentiles.

¶ The.Li. Chapter.

1. Howe Babylon ſhoulde be ouerthrowen.
59. Ieremie geueth his booke to Saraias.

Thus

THus hath the Lorde ſayde, Beholde, I wyl rayſe vp a perilous wynde againſt Babylon, and her citizens that deare eupl wyl againſt me.

2 I wyl ſend alſo into Babylon fanners, to fanne her out, and to deſtroy her land: for in the day of her trouble they ſhalbe about her on euery ſide.

3 Moreouer the Lorde wyl ſay vnto the bowmen, and to them that anuaunce them ſelues in their armour: Ye ſhal not ſpare her young men, kyll downe all her hoſt.

4 Thus the ſlayne ſhal fal downe in the land of the Chaldees, & the wounded in the ſtreetes.

5 As for Iſrael and Juda, they ſhal not be forſaken of their God, of the Lorde of hoſtes, yea, a for the holy one of Iſraels ſake, haue the Chaldees filled their lande ful of ſinne.

a. For the holy one of Iſraels ſake, that is, for the greeuous affliction and great iniurie done to Gods people, whiche he reputeth as done vnto hym ſelfe.

6 Flee away from Babylon, euery man ſaue his life, that ye be not rooted out with her wickednesſe: for the time of the Lordes vengeance is come, yea, he ſhal rewarde her agayne.

7 Babylon hath ben in the Lordes hande a golden cuppe, that maketh al landes dronken: of her wyne haue al people dronken, therefore are they out of their wyttes.

8 ‖ But ſodaynly is Babylon fallen and deſtroyed: mourne for her, bring plaſters for her woundes, if ſhe may peraduenture be healed againe.

‖ Eſai. 21.9. Apoc. 18. 8.

9 We would haue made Babylon whole, ſay they, but ſhe is not recouered: therefore wyl we let her alone, and goe euery man into his owne countrey: for her iudgment is come into heauen, and is gone vp into the cloudes.

10 The Lorde hath brought foorth our b ryghteouſneſſe, and therefore come on, we wyl ſhewe in Sion the worke of the Lorde our God.

b. Howe ſo euer the Iewes had deſerued to be plagued at Gods hande, yet had the Chaldees no cauſe on theyr partes why to deale ſo cruelly with them, and ſo God declareth their ryghteouſneſſe in reſpect to ro the Chaldees, by puniſhing them, and delyuering his people.

11 Make ſharpe the arowes, and multiplie your ſhieldes: for the Lorde ſhal raiſe vp the ſpirite of the kyng of the Medes, whiche hath already a deſire to deſtroy Babylon: this ſhalbe the vengeance of the Lorde, and the vengeance of his temple.

12 Set vp tokens vppon the walles of Babylon, make your watche ſtrong, ſet your watchmen in aray, yea, hold prime watches, and yet for al that ſhal the Lorde goe forth with his deuice whiche he hath taken vppon them that dwel in Babylon.

13 O thou that dwelleſt by the great waters, O thou that haſt ſo great treaſure and riches, thine end is come, and the reckening of thy wyrminges.

‖ Amos. 6. 8.

14 ‖ The Lorde of hoſtes hath ſworne by him ſelfe, that he wyl ouerwhelme thee with men like graſſehoppers in number, whiche with a courage ſhal crye alarum alarum againſt thee:

15 ‖ Yea, euen the Lorde of hoſtes that with his power made the earth, with his wiſedome prepared the rounde worlde, and with his diſcretion ſpread out the heauens.

‖ Gene. 1. 6. Pſal. 135. 6. Jere. 10. 12.

16 As ſoone as he letteth his voyce be heard, the waters in the ayre ware fierce: he draweth vp the cloudes from the endes of the earth, he turneth the lyghtninges to rayne, he bringeth the windes out of theyr ſecrete places.

17 If they be eſteemed by their wiſedome, al men are become fooles: confounded be all the caſters of Images, for the thyng that they make is but decepte, & hath no breath.

18 Vayne is it, and an erronious worke, and in the tyme of viſitation it ſhal periſhe.

19 The portion of Jacob is none ſuche: but he that made al thinges, whoſe name is the Lorde of hoſtes, he is the rod of his inheritance.

20 c Thou haſt ben mine hammer and weapons for warre: for with thee haue I broken the people in peeces, and with thee haue I deſtroyed kyngdomes.

c. Thou haſt ben. This God ſpeaketh vnto Babylon.

21 Through thee haue I beaten to powder horſe and horſemen, yea, the charets, and ſuche as ſate vpon them.

22 Through thee I haue broken man and woman, olde and young, bacheler and mayden.

23 Through thee I haue deſtroyed the ſheephearde and his flocke, the huſbandman and his cattel, the princes and the rulers.

24 Therefore wyl I rewarde the citie of Babylon, and al the inhabitants of Chaldea, with al the eupl whiche they haue done vnto Sion, yea, that ye your ſelues ſhal ſee it, ſayth the Lorde.

25 Behold, I come vpon thee thou noyſome d hyl, ſayth the Lord, thou that deſtroyeſt al landes, I wyll ſtretche out my hande ouer thee, and caſt thee downe from the ſtonie rockes, and wyl make thee a burnt hyl,

d. Babylon called an hyl although it ſtoode in a low place, and the hyls about it for that her walles and buildinges were great and hye as mountaynes.

26 So that neither corner ſtones ſhalbe taken any more out of thee: but waſte and deſolate ſhalt thou lye for euermore, ſayth the Lorde.

27 Set vp a token in the lande, blowe the trumpettes among the heathen, prouoke the nations againſt her, call the kyngdomes of Ararat, Menni, and Aſcanez, againſt her, ſet the prince againſt her, bring as great a ſort of terrible horſes againſt her, as if they were graſſehoppers.

28 Prepare againſt them the people of the the Medes, with their kynges, princes, and all their cheefe rulers, yea and the whole lande that is vnder hym.

29 The lande also shall shake and be afrayd, when the deuice of the Lord shal come forth agaynst Babylon, to make the lande of Babylon so wast, that no man shall dwell any more therein.

30 The worthies of Babylon shall leaue the battayle, and keepe them selues in strong holdes, their strength hath fayled them, they shalbe like women, their dwelling places shalbe burnt vp, their barres shalbe broken.

31 One pursuant shall meete another, yea, one post shall come by another, to bring the kyng of Babylon tydynges that his citie is taken on euery syde, 32 The foordes occupyed, the fennes burnt vp, and the souldiers sore afrayde.

33 For thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, c The daughter of Babylon hath ben in her tyme lyke as a threshing flooze, but shortly shal her haruest come.

The comyng of Gods iyde.

34 Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon hath deuoured and destroyed me, he hath made me an emptie vessell, he swalowed me vp lyke a dragon, and fylled his belly with my delicates, he hath cast me out.

35 My substance whereof he hath spoyled me, and the thing that was left me, which he hath caryed away, crye out against Babylon, sayth the daughter that dwelleth in Sion, yea and my blood also agaynst the Chaldees, sayth Hierusalem.

36 Therfore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, I wyll defende thy cause, and auenge thee, I wyll drynke vp her sea, and drye vp her water springes.

37 Babylon shall become an heape of stones, a dwellyng place for dragons, a fearefulnesse and woonderyng, and no man shall dwell there.

38 They shall roare together lyke Lions, and as the young Lions when they be angrie, so shal they bende them selues.

39 In their heate I wyll geue them a dinner, and they shalbe dronken for ioy: then shall they sleepe an euerlastyng sleepe, and neuer wake, sayth the Lorde.

40 I wyll carrie them downe to be slayne lyke sheepe, like weathers, and goates.

41 O how was Sesach wonne? O how was the glory of the whole lande taken? how happeneth it that Babylon is so woondred at among the heathen?

42 The sea is ryssen ouer Babylon, and hath couered her with her great waues.

43 Her cities are layde waste, the lande lyeth vnhuysoed and voyde, it is a land where no man dwelleth, and where no man trauayleth through.

44 Moreouer, I wyll visite Bel at Babylon, and the thyng that he hath swalowed vp, that same shall I plucke out of his mouth: the Gentiles also shall run no more vnto hym, yea and the walles of Babylon shall fal.

45 O my people, come out of Babylon, that euery man may saue his lyfe from the fearefull wrath of the Lorde.

46 Be not fayntharted, and feare not at euery rumour that shalbe heard in the lande for euery yeere bryngeth newe tydynges, and in the yeere folowyng newe tydynges, and robbyng in the lande, and lorde vpon lorde.

47 And loe, the tyme commeth, that I wyl visite the images of Babylon, and the whole lande shalbe confounded, yea and her slayne shall lye in the middest of her.

48 Heauen and earth with all that is therein shall reioyce ouer Babylon, when the destroyers shall come vpon her from the North, sayth the Lorde.

49 Like as Babylon hath beaten downe and slayne many out of Israel, so shall there fall many, and be slayne in all her kingdome.

50 Ye that haue escaped the sword, hast you, stande not styll, remember the Lorde a farre of, and thynke vpon Hierusalem.

51 For we are ashamed to heare the blasphemies, our faces were couered with shame, because the strange aliantes came into the sanctuarie of the Lorde.

52 Wherefore beholde, sayth the Lorde, the tyme commeth that I wyl visite the images of Babylon, and through the whole land they shall mourne and fall.

53 Though Babylon clymed vp into heauen, and kept her power on hygh, yet shall I sende her destroyers, sayth the Lorde.

54 A piteous crye shalbe heard from Babylon, and a great miserie from the lande of the Chaldees:

55 When the Lord destroyeth Babylon, and when he dryueth out the hygh stomacke and proude boastyng, wherewith they haue ben as furious as the waues of the great water flooddes, and made great crakes with their woordes:

56 For the destroyers shall come vpon her, euen vpō Babylon, which shal take their woorthyes, and breake their bowes: for the God of recompence, euen the Lorde shal sufficiently recompence them,

57 Yea sayth the Lord I wyl make their princes, their wyse men, their cheefe rulers, their nobles, and their woorthies dronken, so that they shall sleepe an euerlastyng sleepe,

and

and neuer wake: thus sayth the kyng, whose name is the Lorde of hostes.

58 Moreouer, thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, The thicke wall of Babylon shalbe broken, and her hygh gates shalbe burnt vp, and the thyng that the Gentiles and the people haue wrought with great trauaple and labour, shal come to nought, and be consumed in the fyre.

59 This is the charge that Jeremie the prophete gaue vnto Saraiah the sonne of Neriah the sonne of Maasiah, when he went towarde Babylon with Zedecias the king of Juda, in the fourth yeere of his raigne: nowe this Saraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 Jeremie wrote in a booke all the misserie that shoulde come vpon Babylon, yea and all these sermons that be written against Babylon,

61 And gaue Saraiah this charge, When thou comest vnto Babylon, see that thou reade these woordes, 62 And say, O Lorde, thou art determined to roote out this place, so that neyther people nor cattell shal dwell there any more, but to lye waste for euer.

63 And when thou hast read out the booke, bynde a stone to it, and cast it in the myddest of Euphrates, 64 And say, Euen thus shall Babylon sinke, and be thrust downe with the burden of trouble that I wyl bryng vpon her: so that she shall neuer come vp agayne. Thus farre are the preachynges of Jeremie.

¶ The.lii. Chapter.

1. He repeateth the taking of Zedecias. 4. Hierusalem is taken of the Chaldees. 14. The temple is spoyled and robbed.

||4.kin.24.17 2.Chr.36.11 ZEdecias || was one and twentie yeeres olde when he was made kyng, and raigned eleuen yeeres in Hierusalem: his mothers name was Hamutal, Jeremies daughter of Libna.

2 He lyued wickedly before the Lorde, euen as Jehoacim dyd.

3 For the Lorde was angry at Hierusalem and Juda, so long tyll he had cast them out of his presence: and Zedecias fell from the kyng of Babylon.

||4.king.25.1 Jerem.9.13. 4 ||But in the nienth yeere of his raigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, it happened that Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon with all his host came before Hierusalem, and besieged it, and made bulwarkes rounde about it.

5 And this besieging of the citie endured vnto the eleuenth yeere of king Zedecias.

6 And in the fourth moneth, the nienth day of the moneth, there was a great hunger in the citie, that there were no more victuals for the people of the lande.

7 So all the souldiers brake away, and fled out of the citie by night, through the way of the porte, betweene the two walles, by the kynges garden: (Nowe the Chaldees had compassed the citie rounde about) yet went those men their way through the wyldernesse.

8 And so the Chaldees followed vpon them, and tooke Zedecias the kyng in the feeld of Jericho, when his host was run from hym.

9 So they carped the kyng away prisoner to Reblath, vnto the kyng of Babylon in the lande of Hemath, where he gaue iudgement vpon hym.

10 The kyng of Babylon also caused Zedecias sonnes to be slayne before his face, yea and put all the princes of Juda to death at Reblath.

11 Moreouer, he put out the eyes of Zedecias, and caused hym to be bound with two chaynes, to be carped vnto Babylon, and let hym lye in prison tyll he dyed.

12 Now the tenth day of the fyfth moneth, in the niententh yeere of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne, and the kyng of Babylons seruantes, came vnto Hierusalem, 13 And burnt vp the house of the Lorde, he burnt vp also the kynges palace, all the houses, and all the gorgeous buyldynges in Hierusalem.

14 And the whole host of the Chaldees that were with the cheefe captayne, brake downe all the walles of Hierusalem rounde about.

15 As for the poore people, and suche folke as was yet left in the citie, whiche also were fallen to the kyng of Babylon, yea and what people as yet remayned, Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne carped them away prisoners.

16 But the poore people of the countrey dyd Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne leaue in the lande, to occupie the vineyardes and feeldes.

17 The Chaldees also brake the brasen pyllers that were in the house of the Lorde, yea the seate and the brasen laner that was in the house of the Lorde, and carped all the mettall of them vnto Babylon.

18 They tooke away also the chalderns, shouels, fleshhookes, sprinklers, spoones, and all the brasen vessels that was occupyed in the seruice,

19 With the basons, colepannes, sprinklers,

ers,pottes,candlestickes,spoones, and cuppes, whereof some were of golde, and some of syluer.

20 The cheefe captayne tooke also the two pyllers,the lauer,the twelue brasen bullockes that stoode vnder the seate whiche kyng Solomon had made in the house of the Lorde: and al the vessels conteyned so muche metal,that it myght not be weyed.

21 For euery pyller was eyghteene cubites high, and the rope that went about it was twelue cubits, and foure fyngers thicke, and rounde.

22 Nowe vppon the rope were brasen knops, and euery knop was fiue cubits high, and vpon the knops were hoopes, and pomegranates rounde about of cleane brasse.

23 After this maner were both the pyllers fashioned with the pomegranates, whereof there were an hundred,nienetie,and sixe, which hanged vpon ꝑ hoopes round about.

24 The cheefe captayne also tooke Saraiah the high priest, and Sophoniah that was cheefe next hym, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 He tooke out of the citie a chamberlaine, whiche was captayne of the souldiers, and seuen men that were the kings seruants, whiche were founde in the citie: and Sopher a captayne that vsed to muster the men of warre, with threescore men of the countrey that were taken in the citie:

26 These Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne tooke, and caryed them to the kyng of Babylon,vnto Reblath:

27 And the king of Babylon cauled them to be put to death at Reblath in the lande of Hemath: and thus Iuda was led away captiue out of his owne lande.

28 This is the summe of the people whom Nabuchodonosor led away captiue: In the seuenth yeere of his raigne, he caryed away of the Iewes, three thousande, twentie and three.

29 In the eyghteenth yeere, Nabuchodonosor caryed away from Hierusalem, eyght hundred,thirtie, and two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nabuchodonosor, Nabuzaradan the cheefe captayne tooke away seuen hundred, fourtie, and fiue Iewes prisoners. The whole summe of the prisoners is foure thousande, and syxe hundred.

31 In the thirtie and seuenth yeere after that Iehoacim the kyng of Iuda was caryed away, in the fiue and twentieth day of the twelfth moneth, Euilmerodach king of Babylon (the same yeere that he raigned) gaue Iehoacim the king of Iuda his pardon, and let him out of prison, 32 And spake louingly to hym, and set his throne aboue the thrones of the other kinges that were with hym in Babylon.

33 He changed also the clothes of his prison,yea, and did eate with him al his lyfe long.

34 And he had a continuall liuing geuen him of the king of Babylon, euery day a certayne thing alowed hym, all the dayes of his lyfe,vntyl he dyed.

The ende of the booke of the prophete Ieremie.

¶ The Lamentations of the Prophete Ieremie.

The first Chapter.

It happened after Israel was brought into captiuitie, and Hierusalem destroyed,that Ieremie the prophete sate weepyng, and sorowfully bewayled Hierusalem, and syghyng and howlyng with an heauie and woefull hart, sayde.

ALas howe lyttetly the citie so desolate, that sometyme was full of people? Howe is she become like a widowe, whiche was great amõg nations? How is she brought vnder tribute,that ruled landes?

2 She weepeth sore in the night,so that the teares runne downe her cheekes: for among al her louers,there is none that geueth her any comfort, yea, her next freendes transgresse agaynst her, and are become her enimies.

3 Iuda went away by reason of the affliction and great bondage: she dwelleth among the heathen, she findeth no rest, all they that persecuted her, tooke her in strayte places, where she coulde not escape.

4 The streetes of Sion mourne,because no man commeth no more to the solemne feastes: al her gates are desolate, her preistes make lamentation, her maydens are carefull, and she her selfe in great heauinesse.

5 Her enimies haue ben rulers ouer her, and her enimies haue prospered, because the Lorde hath chastened her for her great wickednesse: her children are led away captiue before their enimies.

6 Al the beautie of the daughter of Sion is away, her princes are become like Hartes that finde no pasture, they are driuen away before their enimie, so that they haue no more power.

7 Nowe Hierusalem remembred in the tyme of her miserie and bare estate, al her ioy and pleasure that she hath had in times past, seeing her people is brought downe vnder the power of their enimies, and there is no man for to helpe her: her enimies stande lookyng at her, and laugh her Sabboth dayes to scorne.

8 Hierusalem hath sinned greeuously, therefore is she come in decay: all they that had her in honour, despise her, for they haue seene her filthynesse, yea, she sigheth, and is ashamed of her selfe.

9 Her skyrtes are defiled, she remembred not her last ende, therefore is her fal so wonderful, and there is no man to comfort her: O Lorde consyder my trouble, for myne enimie hath the vpper hande.

10 The enimie hath put his hande to al the pretious thinges that she had, yea, euen before her eyes came the heathen in and out of the sanctuarie, whom thou neuertheles hast forbydden to come within thy congregation.

11 Al her people seeke their bread with heauinesse, and looke what pretious thing euery man hath, that geueth he for meate to saue his lyfe: consyder, O lorde, and see howe vyle I am become.

12 Haue ye no regarde all ye that goe foreby, beholde and see if there be any sorowe like vnto mine, wherewith the Lorde hath troubled me in the day of his fearefull wrath.

a. The bondage thorowe sinne is most greeuous, whiche therefore is called the yoke of sinnes, fastened in or to Gods hande, because by no meanes it can be shaken of or remitted, but onlye of Gods special grace & mercy.

13 From aboue hath he sent downe a fyre into my bones, and it burneth them cruelly: he hath layde a net for my feete, & throwen me wide open, he hath made me desolate, so that I must euer be mourning.

14 The a yoke of my transgressions is bounde fast to his hande, they are wrapped or vvreathen and come vp about my necke: he hath caused my strength to fayle, the lorde hath deliuered me into those handes wherevnto I can not quite mee selfe.

15 The Lorde hath destroyed all the mightie men that were in me, he hath proclaymed an appoynted time to slaughter all my best men: the Lorde hath troden downe the daughter of Iuda, lyke as it were in a wyne presse.

16 ‖ Therefore doo I weepe, and mine eyes gushe out of water: for the comfort that shoulde quicken me, is farre fro me: my children are driuen away, for why? the enimie hath gotten the vpper hande ‖ Iere. 14.

17 Sion calleth out her handes, and there is no man to comfort her: the Lord hath layde the enimies rounde about Iacob, and Hierusalem is become abomination in the middest of them.

18 The Lorde is righteous, for I haue prouoked his countenance vnto anger. O take heede al ye people, and consyder my heauinesse, my maydens and my young men are ledde away into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they beguyled me, for my preistes and counsaylours, but they perished, euen whyle they sought for meate to saue their liues.

20 Consyder (O Lorde) howe I am troubled, my wombe is disquieted, my hart turneth about in me, and I am ful of heauinesse, because I rebelled stubburnely: the swoorde hurteth me without, and within I am lyke vnto death.

21 They heare my mourning, but there is none that wyl comfort me: al mine enimies haue hearde of my trouble, and are gladde thereof, because thou hast done it, and thou hast brought foorth the tyme whiche thou calledst, when they also shalbe like vnto me.

22 Let al their wickednesse come before thee, and doo thou to them as thou hast done vnto me for al my trespasses: for my sorowe is very great, and my hart is heauie.

¶ The .ii. Chapter.

ALas howe hath the Lorde darkened the daughter of Sion in his wrath? as for the honour of Israel, he hath cast it downe from heauen vnto the earth, and he remembred not his owne a footstoole when he was angry?

a. By the footstoole is meant the temple of Hierusalem.

2 The Lord hath cast out al the habitations of Iacob without any fauour, al the strong places of the daughter of Iuda hath he broken downe in his wrath, and throwen them downe to the grounde, her kingdome and her princes hath he prophaned.

3 In the wrath of his indignation he hath broken al the b horne of Israel, he hath withdrawen his right hand from the enimie, yea, a flambe of fyre is kindeled in Iacob, and

b. By the horne that is, the power or strength.

and hath continued by al round about.

4 He hath bent his bow like an enimie, he hath faltened his ryght hand as an aduerſarie, and euery thyng that was pleaſaunt to ſee, he hath ſlayne: he hath powred out his wrath lyke a fyre into the tabernacle of the daughter of Sion.

5 The Lorde is become lyke as it were an enimie, he hath deuoured Iſrael and all his palaces, yea al his ſtrong holdes hath he deſtroyed, and fylled the daughter of Iuda with muche ſorowe and heauyneſſe.

6 His tabernacle as a garden hath he deſtroyed, his ſolemne meetynges hath he put downe, the Lorde hath brought it ſo to paſſe, that the hygh ſolemne feaſtes & Sabbothes in Sion are cleane forgotten: in his heauy diſpleaſure hath he deſpyſed the kyng and prieſtes.

7 The Lorde hath forſaken his owne aulter, and hath abhorred his owne ſanctuarie, & hath geuen the walles of their towres into the handes of their enimie: their enimies made a noyſe in the houſe of the Lorde, as it had been a ſolemne feaſt day.

8 The Lorde thought to breake downe the wals of the daughter of Sion, he ſpread out his lyne, and drue not in his hand tyl he had deſtroyed them: therefore mourne the turrettes, and the broken walles fall downe togeather.

9 Her gates are ſuncke downe to the grounde, her barres are broken and ſmytten in ſunder, her king & princes are caried awaye to the Gentiles: they haue not the lawe, neyther her prophetes haue any viſion from the Lorde.

10 The Senatours of the daughter Sion ſyt vppon the grounde in ſcilence, they haue ſtrawed aſhes vppon their heades, and gyrded them ſelues with ſackcloth, the maydens of Hieruſalem hang downe their heads to the grounde.

11 Myne eyes doo faple through weepyng, my bowelles doo ſwell, my lyuer is powred vpon the earth, for the great hurt of the daughter of my people, ſeeyng the chyldren and babes dyd ſowne in the ſtreetes of the citie.

12 They haue ſayde to their mothers, Where is "bread and drynke? when they fell downe as wounded in the ſtreetes of the citie, and when they dyed in their mothers bolome.

13 What ſhal I take to witnes againſt thee, Or what ſhal I liken to thee, O daughter Hieruſalem? To whom ſhal I compare thee, O thou daughter Sion, to comfort thee withal? thy hart is lyke a mayne ſea, who may heale thee?

14 Thy [c] prophetes haue looked out vayne and fooliſhe thynges for thee, they haue not ſhewed thee of thy wickednelſe, to keepe thee from captiuitie: but they haue ſeene out for thee "burdens of vanitie and banyſhment.

15 All they that goe by the way, clap their handes at thee, hyſſyng and waggyng their heads vpon the daughter Hieruſalem, and ſay, Is this the citie that men call ſo fayre, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 Al thyne enimies gape vppon thee, they hyſſe and grinde their teeth, ſaying, Let vs deuoure, for the tyme that we looked for is come, we haue founde and ſeene it.

17 The Lorde hath fulfylled the thyng that he was purpoſed to doo, and performed his woorde that he had "deuiſed long agoe: he hath deſtroied and not ſpared, he hath cauſed thyne aduerſarie to triumphe ouer thee, and ſet vp the horne of thyne enimie.

18 ||Their hart cryed vnto the Lorde, O thou "citie of the daughter Sion, let thy teares runne downe like a riuer day & night, reſt not, and let not the apple of thyne eye leaue of.

19 Stande vp, crye in the nyght in the begynnyng of the watche, powre out thyne hart lyke water before the Lord: lyft vp thine handes towardes hym, for the lyues of thy young chyldren that dye of hunger in the ſtreetes.

20 Beholde, O Lorde, and conſyder to whom thou haſt doone thus: ſhal the women then eate their owne fruite, euen chyldren of a ſpanne long? ſhall the prieſtes and prophetes be ſlayne in the ſanctuarie of the Lorde?

21 Young and olde lye through the ſtreetes vpon the grounde, my maydens and young men are ſlaine with the ſwoord, whom thou in the day of thy wrathfull indignation haſt put to death, yea euen thou haſt put them to death, and not ſpared them.

22 My "terrours that are round about me haſt thou called as it were to a feaſt day, ſo that in the day of the Lordes wrath none eſcaped, neyther was any left behynde: thoſe that I haue brought vp and nouryſhed, hath myne enimie deſtroyed.

[c] The falſe prophets tooke vpon them the name of Seers, which was proper to the true prophetes: but their vaine burdens, that is, their falſe propheſies brought the people vnder the greeuous burden of affliction and baniſhment.

"Or, vayne prophecies.

"Or, commaunded.

||Ier. 14. 17.

"Or, O thou vvall.

"Or, enimies, vvhom I feared.

¶ The iii. Chapter.

I Am the man that through the rod of his wrath haue experience of miſerie.

2 He droue me forth, and led me, yea into darkneſſe, but not into lyght.

3 Surely againſt me is he turned, he turneth his hande dayly againſt me.

4 My

4 My flesh and my skynne hath he made olde, and my bones hath he bruysed.

5 He hath buylded agaynst me, and closed me in with gal and trauayle.

6 He hath set me in darkenesse, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged me in, that I can not get out, and he hath layde heauie lynkes vpon me.

8 Though I crye and cal piteously, yet heareth he not my prayer.

9 He hath stopped vp my wayes with squared stones, & made my pathes crooked.

10 He laieth waite for me lyke a Beare, and as a Lion in a hole.

11 He hath marred my wayes, and broken me in peeces, he hath layde me waste.

12 He hath bent his bowe, and made me as it were a marke "to shoote at.

13 The arrowes of his quyuer hath he shot, euen into my reynes.

14 I am laughed to scorne of al my people, they make songes vpon me al ỹ day long.

15 He hath fylled me with bytternesse, and made me dronken with woormewood.

16 He hath smytten my teeth in peeces with stones, and rouled me in the dust.

17 My soule departed from peace: I forgeat al good thynges.

18 And I sayde, My strength and my hope is perysshed from the Lorde.

19 O remember yet my miserie and my trouble, the woormewood, and the gal.

20 Yea in remembryng my soule doeth kepl remember them, and is humbled within me.

21 I consyder these thyngs in my hart, and I geat hope agayne.

22 Namely, it is of the Lordes mercies that we are not vtterly consumed, for truely his pitiful compassion hath not ceassed.

23 Newe mercies shal the Lorde shew vpon thee early in the day springyng, (O Lorde) great is thy faythfulnesse.

24 The Lorde is my portion, sayth my soule, therefore wyl I hope in him.

25 O howe good is the Lord vnto them that put their trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh after him.

26 The good man with stilnesse & patience tarrieth for the health of the Lorde.

27 Good is it for a man to take the yoke vpon him from his youth vp.

28 He sytteth alone, he holdeth him stil, because he hath taken the Lordes yoke vpon him.

29 He layeth "his face vpon the earth, yf there happen to be any hope.

30 He offereth his cheeke to the smiter, he wyl be content with reproches.

31 For the Lorde wyl not forsake for euer,

32 But though he punish, yet according to the multitude of his mercies he receiueth to grace agayne.

33 For he doeth not plague wyllyngly, nor afflycte the chyldren of men,

34 To treade all the prysoners of the earth vnder his feete,

35 To declyne the iudgement of man before the moste hygh,

36 To condemne a man in his cause: * the Lord hath not pleasure in such things. * the Lord alloweth it not.

37 What is he then that saith, & it commeth to passe, & the lord commaunded it not?

38 ‖ Out of the mouth of the most hygh goeth not eupl and good? ‖ Amos. 3.

39 Wherefore then mourneth the liuing man? let him mourne for his owne synne.

40 Let vs looke wel vppon our wayes, and remember our selues, and turne agayne to the Lorde.

41 Let vs lift our harts with our hands vnto God that is in the heauens.

42 We haue synned and rebelled, therefore hast thou not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs in thy wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slayne without any fauour.

44 Thou hast hid thee selfe in a cloud, that our prayers shoulde not goe through.

45 Thou hast made vs as the ofscouring and refuse in the middest of the people.

46 Al our enimies gape vpon vs.

47 Feare and a snare is come vpon vs, yea, desolation and destruction.

48 Whole ryuers of water gushe out of mine eyes, for the hurt of the daughter of my people.

49 Myne eye runneth, & can not ceasse, for there is no rest.

50 Tyll the Lorde looke downe from heauen and consyder.

51 Myne eies breaketh my hart because of al the daughters of my citie.

52 Myne enimies hunted me out sharply lyke a byrde, yea & that without a cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life in a dungeon, and cast stones vpon me.

54 The waters flowed ouer my head: then thought I nowe am I vndoone.

55 I called vppon thy name, O Lorde, out of the deepe pyt.

56 Thou hast heard my voice, wilt not thyne eare from my syghing & crying.

57 Thou draweste nigh vnto me when I called vpon thee: and hast saide, Feare not.

58 Thou (O lord) hast maintened the cause of my soule, & hast redeemed my lyfe.

59 O Lorde thou hast seene my wrong take

"or, for the prouoke.

take thou my cause vpon thee.

60 Thou hast seene al their vengeance, and al their deuises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their despitefull woordes, O Lorde, yea and al their imaginations agaynst me:

62 The lippes of them that rise against me, and their deuises that they take agaynst me al the day long.

63 Behold also their sitting downe and their rysing vp, nowe I am their song.

64 Reward them, O Lorde, according to the woorkes of their handes.

65 Geue them " an obstinate hart, euen thy curse.

66 Persecute them, O Lord, with thine indignation, and roote them out from vnder the heauen.

¶ The .iiii. Chapter.

O Howe is the golde become so dimme? the most fine gold so changed? and the stones of the sanctuarie are scattered in the corner of euery streete?

2 The children of Sion that were alway in honour, and " clothed with the most precious golde: howe are they nowe become like the earthen vesselles, the woorke of the potters hand.

3 The Dragons geue their young ones sucke with bare breastes: but the daughter of my people is cruell, like the Estriches in the wyldernesse.

4 The tongues of the sucking children cleaue to the roofe of their mouthes for very thirst: the young children aske bread, but there is no man that geueth it them.

5 They that were woont to fare delicately perishe in the streetes: they that afore were brought vp in purple, make no vv much of dounge.

6 The sinne of the daughter of my people, is become greater then the a wickednesse of Sodome, || that sodaynely was destroyed, and " not taken with handes.

7 Her * abstinence were whyter then the snowe or milke, their colour was freshe, redde as corall, their beautie like the Saphire.

8 But nowe their faces be very blacke, in so muche that thou shouldest not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones, it is withered and become lyke a drie stocke.

9 They that be slayne with the sworde, are happier then suche as dye of hunger, for these perishe away as they were stricken thorowe for the lacke of the fruites of the feelde.

10 The women which of nature are pitifull, haue sodden their owne children with their handes, that they might be their meate in the miserable destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath performed his heauie wrath, he hath poured out the furiousnesse of his displeasure: he hath kindled a fyre in Sion, whiche hath consumed the fundations thereof.

12 Neither the kinges of the earth, nor al the inhabitours of the worlde, would haue beleeued that the enimie and aduersarie shoulde haue come in at the gates of Hierusalem.

13 Which neuerthelesse is come to passe for the sinne of her prophetes, and for the wickednesse of her priestes, that haue shed innocentes blood in the middest of her.

14 As blinde men went they stumbling in the streetes, and stayned them selues with blood, so that the heathen woulde not touche their garmentes.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Flee ye polluted, away, geat you hence, touche not: for they are vncleane, and be remooued, yea they haue saide among the heathen, They shal no more dwel there.

16 The " countenance of the Lord hath banished them, and shal neuer looke more vpon them: for they them selues neither " regarded the priestes, nor pitied their elders.

17 Wherfore our eyes fayled vs, whyles we yet looked for our vayne helpe, seeing we euer wayted vpon a people that could doo vs no good.

18 They lay so sharpe waite for vs, that we can not goe safe vpon the streetes, for our ende is at hand, our dayes are fulfylled, our ende is come.

19 Our persecutours are swyfter then the Eagles of the " ayre: they followed vpon vs ouer the mountaynes, and layde wayte for vs in the wyldernesse.

20 The very breath b of our " mouth euen the annoynted of the Lorde hym selfe was taken in their net, of whom we saide, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued alme among the heathen.

21 And thou, O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the land of Huz, be glad and reioyce, for the cuppe shal come vnto thee also, thou shalt be dronken, and " discouer thy nakednesse.

22 Thy sinnes are fully punished, O thou daughter Sion, he wyll no more carp thee away into captiuitie: but thy wickednesse, O daughter Edom, shall be visite, and wyl discouer thy sinnes.

b. The breath, that is, the life, meaning the kyng, who is called the lyfe of the people, for that the people are like an headlesse body that hath no lyfe in it, when they be left without a king or gouernour.

" Or, nose thrilles.

" Or, thou shalt vomite.

The .v. Chapter.

The prayer of Ieremie.

CAll to remembrance (O Lorde) what is come vppon vs, consyder and see our [a] confusion.

[a] Or, reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, and our houses to the aliantes.

3 We are vnderlinges without fathers, and our mothers are as wydowes.

4 We haue drunken our water for money, and our wood haue we by sale.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution, we are weerie, and haue no rest.

6 Aforetime we yeelded our selues to the Egyptians and nowe to the Assyrians, onely that we might haue bread ynough.

7 Our fathers (whiche now are gone) haue sinned, and we must beare their wickednesse.

8 Seruantes haue the rule of vs, and no man deliuereth vs out of their handes.

9 We must gett our [a] liuing with the peril of our liues, because of the [b] drouth of the wyldernesse.

[a] Or, bread.
[b] Or, swoorde.

10 Our skinne is made blacke like as an Ouen, for very sore hunger.

11 They rauished the wiues in Sion, and the maidens in the cities of Iuda.

12 The princes are hanged vp with their enimies hand, they haue not honoured the olde sage mens faces.

13 They haue taken young men to grinde, and the boyes fayntyd vnder the burdens of wood.

14 The elders haue ceassed from the gates, and the young men from their songes.

15 The ioy of our hart is gone, our [a] melodious meeting is turned into mournyng.

[a] Or, my dauncs.

16 The [a] garland of our head is fallen: alas that euer we sinned.

[a] Or, my crowne.

17 Therefore our hart is full of heauinesse, & for these thinges our eyes are dimme.

18 Because of the hill of Sion that is destroyed: insomuch that the Foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lorde, remainest for euer, and thy seate worlde without ende.

20 Wherefore wylt thou stil forget vs, and forsake vs so long?

21 O Lorde, turne thou vs vnto thee, and so shal we be turned, renue our dayes as in olde times:

22 But thou hast banished vs vtterly, and hast been exceedingly displeased at vs.

The ende of the lamentations of Ieremie.

The prophesie of Ezechiel.

The fyrst Chapter.

1. The tyme vvherein Ezechiel prophesied, and in vvhat place. 3. His kinrede, 5. The vision of the foure beastes. 16. The fashion and vvorke of the vvheeles. 26. The vision of the throne.

a. After the Iubilee, in whiche yere the booke of the law was found, whiche was the .18. yeere of Iosias, so that .25. yeeres after this booke was founde, Iechonias was led away captiue with Ezechiel (and many of the people), who the fifth yeere after saw these visions.

IT came to passe in the [a] thyrtieth yeere in the fourth moneth in the fyfth day of the moneth, that (I being in the middes of the captiuitie, by the riuer Chebar) the heauens were opened, and I sawe visions of God:

2 In the fyfth day of the moneth, which was the fyfth yeere of kyng Ioacins captiuitie,

3 The woorde of the Lorde came to Ezechiel the priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Chaldeans by the riuer Chebar, where the hande of the Lorde was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and beholde a stormie winde came out of the North, a great cloude, and a fyre folding it selfe in the cloude, and a brightnesse rounde about it, and fourth of the middes thereof as the colour of Amber out of the middes of the fyre.

b. Whiche were the fourme of Cherubins & represented the glory of God to Ezechiel.

5 And out of the middes thereof, the likenesse of foure [b] beastes appeared, and this was their fourme: They had the likenesse of a man.

6 And

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one of them had foure winges.

7 Their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feete like the sole of Calues feete, and they glistred as the appearance of brasse burnished.

8 From vnder their winges vpon al the foure " corners they had mens handes: and they foure had their faces and their winges.

9 Their winges were ioyned one to another: when they went, they looked not backe, but eche one went straight forward.

10 But touching the similitude of their faces, they foure had the c face of a man, and the face of a Lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of an Oxe on the leaft side, they foure also had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: and their winges were spread out aboue, so that two vvinges of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two vvinges couered euery one of their bodyes.

12 Euery one went straight forwarde: d whyther as the spirite led them, thyther they went, and returned not in their goeing.

13 And the fashion of the beastes, their appearance was like coles of fyre, burning like the appearance of cressets, it ranne among the beastes., and the fyre gaue a glister, and out of the fyre there went lyghtyng.

14 And the beastes ranne, and returned like lightning.

15 When I had considered the beastes, beholde a wheele vpon the earth nigh to the beastes, to " euery of the foure before his face.

16 The fashion & woorke of the wheeles was lyke the colour of e Tharsis, and they foure had one fashion, and their fashion and their woorke vvas as though it were a wheele in the middle of a wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sydes: they turned not when they went.

18 They had f ringes, and height, and were fearefull to beholde: and their rynges were ful of eyes rounde about them foure.

19 When the beastes went, the wheeles went also by them: and when the beastes were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lyft vp.

20 Whyther soeuer the spirite vvas to goe, they went, and thyther vvas the spirite of the wheeles to goe, and the wheeles were lyft vp before them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beastes went, they went, & when they stoode, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lyfted vp before them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heades of the beastes, was like the colour of Christal, wonderfull, spread ouer their heades aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament their winges were straight foorth one towardes another, euery one had two couering them, and g euery one had two couerynge them, euen their bodyes.

24 And when they went, I heard the noyse of their wynges, lyke the noyse of many waters, as the voyce of the almyghtie, the voyce of speach as the noyse of an host: when they stoode, they let downe their winges.

25 And there was a voyce from the fyrmament, that was ouer their heades, when they stoode, and had let downe their winges.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heades, there was the fashion of a throne lyke a Saphire stone: and vpon the similitude of the throne by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of Amber and as the similitude of fire rounde about within, from the appearance of his loynes vpwarde: and from the appearance of his loynes and downewarde I sawe as the lykenesse of fyre, and brightnesse rounde about it.

28 As the lykenesse of a bowe that is in a cloude in the day of rayne, so was the appearance of the brightnesse rounde about: this was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lorde, and when I sawe it, I h fell vpon my face, and hearkened vnto the voyce of one i that spake.

g. He noteth two manner of couerynges, the one with wings, stretched vpwarde to couer their faces, and the other with the neather wings to couer their bodyes.

h. Considering the maiestie of God, and the weaknesse of flesshe.

i. That is, the Lorde.

¶ The. ii. Chapter.

The prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

AND then sayde he vnto me, Stande vp vpon thy feete (O thou sonne of man) and I wyl talke with thee.

2 And the spirite entred into me when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard hym that spake vnto me.

3 And he sayde vnto me, Thou sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious people, whiche haue rebelled agaynst me, both they and their forefathers haue wickedly behaued them selues agaynst me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are children of a " harde face, and ſtiffe hart, I doo ſende thee vnto them, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde God.

" Or, impudent.

5 And whether they wyll heare or refuſe (for they are a rebellious houſe) yet they may knowe that there hath been a prophete among them.

6 And thou ſonne of man feare them not, neither be afraide of their woordes, for * lyppers and thornes are with thee, and thou dooeſt dwell among Scorpions: feare not their woordes, nor be abaſhed at their lookes, for they are rebellious houſe.

* or, rebelles.

7 And thou ſhalt ſpeake my woords vnto them, whether they wyl heare or refuſe, for they are rebellious.

8 Therefore thou ſonne of man, * obey thou al thinges that I ſay vnto thee, and be not thou rebellious like the rebellious houſe: open thy mouth, and a eate that I geue thee.

9 And I looked, and behold a hand was ſent vnto me, and loe, in it was a roule of a booke.

10 And he opened it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein b lamentations, and mourning, and wo.

b. That is, gods iudgementes agaynſt the wicked.

¶ The iii. Chapter.

1. The prophete beyng fedde vvith the vvorde of God, and vvith the conſtant boldneſſe of the ſpirite, is ſent vnto the people that vvere in captiuitie. 17. The office of true preachers.

AFter this ſaid he vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, eate what ſo euer thou fyndeſt, eate this roule, and goe thy way, and ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he fedde me with this roule.

3 And he ſayde vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, thy belly ſhal eate, and thy bowels ſhalt thou fyll with this roule that I geue thee: then did I eate, and it was in my mouth as ſweete as hony.

4 And he ſayde vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, goe, geat thee vnto the houſe of Iſrael, and declare my woordes vnto them.

5 For not to a people of * profounde lyppes and harde language art thou ſent, but vnto the houſe of Iſrael:

* ſtrange ſpeach.

6 Not to many nations of a ſtraunge ſpeache and harde languages, whoſe woordes thou vnderſtandeſt not: certainely yf I had ſent thee vnto them, they woulde haue hearkened vnto thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not hearken vnto thee, for they will not hearken vnto me: For all the houſe of Iſrael haue ſtyffe foreheades, and ſtubburne hartes.

8 Beholde therefore, I haue made thy face ſtrong agaynſt theyr faces, and thy forehead ſtrong agaynſt theyr foreheades.

9 As an Adamant, harder then the flynt ſtone haue I made thy forehead: thou ſhalt not feare them, nor be abaſhed at their lokes, for they are a rebellious houſe.

10 He ſayde moreouer vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, al my woords that I ſhal ſpeake vnto thee receiue in thine hart, and hearken with thine eares.

11 And goe, geat thee to the captiuitie, to the chyldren of thy people, and thou ſhalt ſpeake vnto them, and ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lorde God: but ſurely they wyl not heare, neyther wyl they leaue of.

12 With that the ſpirite tooke me vp, and I heарde behinde me a voyce of a great ruſhyng, to vvyt, Bleſſed be the glory of Iehouah from his place.

13 I heарde alſo the noyſe of the wynges of the beaſtes ioynyng one with another, and the ratlyng of the wheeles that were before them, euen a noyſe of great ruſhing.

14 Now when the ſpirite lift me vp and tooke me away, I went in bitterneſſe and furie of my ſpirite: but the hande of the Lorde vpon me was ſtrong.

15 Then I came to the captiues in Thelabib that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I ſate where they ſate, and I remayned there ſeuen dayes aſtoniſhed among them.

16 And when the ſeuen dayes were expired, the Lorde ſayde vnto me,

17 Thou ſonne of man, ||I haue made thee a watchman vnto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt heare the woorde at my mouth, and geue them warnyng from me. ||Ezech. 33.7

18 When I ſhall ſay vnto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely dye, and thou geueſt not hym warnyng, nor ſpeakeſt to admoniſhe the wicked of his euyll way, and ſo to lyue: then ſhall the ſame vngodly man dye in his owne vnrighteouſneſſe, but his blood wyll I require of thyne hande.

19 Neuertheleſſe, if thou geue warning vnto the wicked, and he yet turne not from his vngodlyneſſe and from his wicked way: he ſhal dye in his owne wickednеſſe, but thou haſt deliuered thy ſoule.

20 Agayne, yf a righteous man turne from his righteouſnes, and do thyng that is euyll, I wyll lay a ſtumblyng blocke before hym: and he ſhall dye, becauſe thou haſt not geuen hym warnyng, dye ſhall he in his owne ſinne, ſo that his righteouſneſſe whiche he hath doone ſhall not be thought vpon: but his blood wyll I require at thyne hande.

21 Ne-

21 Neuertheleſſe yf thou admoniſhe that righteous man, that the righteous ſinne not, and ſo the righteous doo not ſinne: then ſhall he liue, becauſe he hath receiued thy warnyng, and thou haſt deliuered thy ſoule.

22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he ſaide vnto me, " Stand vp, and goe into the feeld, that I may there talke with thee.

23 So when I had riſen vp, and gone forth into the feelde, beholde, the a glory of the Lorde ſtoode there, || like the glory which I ſawe by the riuer Chebar: then fell I downe vpon my face.

24 And the ſpirite came into me, whiche ſet me vp vpon my feete, and ſpake vnto me, and ſaide vnto me, " Goe thy way, and ſhut thee ſelfe in thy houſe.

25 Behold, O thou ſonne of man, " they haue prepared bondes againſt thee, and they wyl binde thee with them, and thou ſhalt not goe out among them.

26 And I wyl make thy tongue b cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou ſhalt be dumbe, and not be as a reprouer vnto them: for they are a rebellious houſe.

27 But when I ſpeake vnto thee, I wyl open thy mouth, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, thus ſayth the Lorde God, Who ſo heareth, let him heare, who ſo leaueth of, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious houſe.

¶ The.iiii. Chapter.

1. The ſiege of the citie of Hieruſalem is ſignified. 9. The long continuance of the captiuitie of Iſrael. 16. A hunger is propheſied to come in the captiuitie.

THou ſonne of man, take thee a tyle ſtone, and lay it before thee, and purtray vpon it the citie Hieruſalem,

2 And lay ſiege againſt it, and builde a fort againſt it, and caſt a mount againſt it: ſet the campe alſo againſt it, and lay engins of warre againſt it rounde about.

3 Moreouer, take an iron panne, and ſet it betwixt thee and the citie for an iron wall, then ſet thy face toward it to beſiege it, and make an aſſault againſt it: this ſhalbe a token vnto the houſe of Iſrael.

4 But thou ſhalt ſleepe vppon thy leaft ſyde, and lay the ſinne a of the houſe of Iſrael vppon it: according to the number of the dayes that thou ſhalt ſleepe vppon it, thou ſhalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laide vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes euen three hundred and ninetie * dayes, ſo ſhalt thou beare the iniquitie of the houſe of Iſrael.

6 When thou haſt fulfilled theſe dayes, lye downe agayne and ſleepe vpon thy b right ſyde, || and beare the ſinnes of the houſe of Iuda: fourtie dayes haue I appointed thee, c a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore ſet nowe thy face towarde the ſiege of Hieruſalem, and diſcouer thyne arme, that thou mayeſt propheſie againſt it.

8 Behold, I wyl lay " chaynes vppon thee, that thou ſhalt not turne thee from one ſyde to another, til thou haſt ended the dayes of thy beſieging.

9 Wherefore take vnto thee wheate, barly, beanes, lintels, millot, and fitches, and put theſe togeather in a veſſell, and make thee loaues of bread thereof, according to the number of the dayes " that thou muſt lye vpon thy ſyde, that thou mayeſt haue bread to eate for three hundred and ninetie dayes.

10 And thy meate that thou eateſt ſhalbe by weight, namely twentie ſicles euery day: and from time to time ſhalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou ſhalt drinke alſo water by meaſure namely the ſixth part of a Hin: from time to time ſhalt thou drinke.

12 Barley cakes ſhalt thou eate, and them ſhalt thou bake in d mans doung before their eyes.

13 And with that ſaide the Lord, Euen thus ſhall the children of Iſrael eate their defyled bread among the Gentiles whyther I wyl caſt them.

14 Then ſaid I, O my Lord God, behold, my ſoule was yet neuer ſtayned, for fro my youth vp vnto this houre, I did neuer eate of a dead carkaſſe, or of that whiche was ſlayne of wilde beaſtes, neither came there euer any vncleane fleſhe in my mouth.

15 Whereunto he anſwered me, Loe I wyll graunt thee e cowcaſins in ſteade of mans doung, and thou ſhalt make thy bread with them.

16 And he ſaide vnto me, || Behold thou ſonne of man, I wyll breake the f ſtaffe of bread in Hieruſalem, and they ſhal eate their bread with waight and with care, and they water in meaſure and aſtonyſhment ſhall they drinke, 17 That they hauing a lacke of bread and water, may be aſtonied one at another, and be conſumed in their iniquitie.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

1. The ſigne of the heares, by vvhiche is ſignified the deſtruction of the people. 6. The cauſes of the anger of God vvard the people.

b. Whiche declared Ioſuah, who had now fro the tyme of Ioſuah ſlept in theyr ſinnes fourtie yeeres.

a. To ſhaue thy head and breaſt.

2 Thou ſhalt burne with fyre the thirde part in the middes of the b citie, when the dayes of the ſiege are fulfilled, and thou ſhalt take the other thirde part, and ſmite about it with a knife, and the laſt thirde part thou ſhalt ſcatter in the wiude, and I wyll drawe out a ſwoord after them.

b. To wyt, of that citie whiche he had purtrayed vpon the bricke. Chapter. 4. by the fire he meaneth famine and peſtilence, wherewith one part periſhed during the ſiege of Nabuchodonoſor: by the ſwoord, thoſe that were ſlaine when Zedecias fledde, thoſe that were caryed away captiue: and by the ſcatteryng into the winde, thoſe that fled into Egypt, and into other partes after the citie was taken.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo take thereof a fewe in nuмber, and binde them in thy lap.

4 Of them yet ſhalt thou take, and caſt them into the middeſt of the fyre, and burne them in the fyre: therof ſhal a fyre come forth into al the houſe of Iſrael.

5 Moreouer, thus ſayth the Lord God, This ſame is Hieruſalem, which I ſet in the middes of nations and countreyes rounde about her.

6 But ſhe hath changed my iudgements into wickedneſſe more then the nations, and my ſtatutes more then the countreys that are rounde about her: for they haue refuſed my iudgementes and my ſtatutes, and haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde God, For your c multiplyng more then the Gentiles that dwell rounde about you, and becauſe ye haue not walked in my lawes, neyther haue ye kept myne ordinances, no, ye haue not doone according to the iudgementes of the nations that are rounde about you:

c. Becauſe ye haue encreaſed the number of your idols, and ſuperſtitions, more then the gentiles.

8 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, Beholde, I wyll alſo come againſt thee, I mee ſelfe I ſay: for in the middeſt of thee wyll I execute iudgement in the ſyght of the heathen.

9 And I wyl doo in thee as I neuer dyd before and as I wyll neuer doo the like from that time forth, and that becauſe of al thyne abominations.

10 For in the middeſt of thee the fathers ſhal eate their owne ſonnes, and the ſonnes ſhall eate their owne fathers, and I wyll execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee wyll I ſcatter into all the windes.

11 Wherfore, as truely as I liue, ſayth the Lord God, Surely ſeeing thou haſt defyled my ſanctuarie with all maner of abominations, and with al ſhameful offences.

12 For this cauſe wyll I alſo deſtroy thee, myne eye ſhall not ſpare thee, neither wyl I haue any pitie.

13 One third part of thee ſhal dye of the peſtilence, and ſhalbe conſumed of hunger in the middes of thee, another third part ſhalbe ſlayne downe rounde about thee with the ſwoorde, the other thirde part that remayneth wyll I ſcatter abrode towarde al the windes, and drawe out a ſwoorde after them.

14 Thus wyll myne indignation be perfourmed, and I wyll cauſe my wrath to ceaſſe among them, and I wyl be d comforted: ſo that when I haue fulfylled myne anger againſt them, they ſhal knowe that I the Lorde with a feruent ielouſie haue ſpoken it.

d. That is, I wil not be pacified til I be reuenged. Eſai. 1.

15 Moreouer, I wyll make thee waſte, and a reproche among all the heathen that dwel about thee, in the ſight of all them that goe by thee.

16 So thou ſhalt be a reproche & ſhame, a chaſtiſement and a woondring vnto the nations that are rounde about thee, when I ſhall execute iudgementes in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in ſharpe rebukes, I the Lorde haue ſpoken it:

17 When I ſhall ſhoote among them the perilous e dartes of hunger, which ſhalbe for their deſtruction, therefore ſhall I ſhoote them, becauſe I wyl deſtroy you, I wyl encreaſe hunger vpon you, & wyl breake your ſtaffe of breade.

e. Whiche be the graſhoppers, mildeawe, and whatſoeuer were occaſions of famine.

18 *Plagues wyl I ſend vpon you, yea and wicked beaſtes alſo to ſpoyle thee, peſtilence and bloodſhedding ſhall come vppon thee, and the ſwoorde wyl I bring ouer thee: I the Lorde haue ſpoken it.

*Or, famine.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

1. He ſheweth that the people ſhalbe plagued for the ſinnes of Idolatrie.

AND the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſonne of man, ||ſet thy face to the mountaynes of Iſrael, and propheſie againſt them,

||Ezec. 36. 1.

3 And ſay, Heare the woord of the Lord God, O ye mountaynes of Iſrael, Thus hath the Lorde God ſpoken to the a mountaynes, hilles, riuers, and dales, Behold euen I wyl bring a ſwoord vppon you, and I wyll deſtroy your high places.

a. He ſpeaketh to al the places where the Iſraelites accuſtomed to commit their idolatries, threatnyng them deſtruction.

4 Your aulters ſhalbe deſtroyed, and your images of the ſunne ſhalbe broken downe, your ſlayne men wyl I caſt downe before your idols.

5 And the dead carkaſſes of the children of Iſrael wyll I *caſt before their idolles, your bones wyll I ſcatter round about your aulters.

*Or, Lay.

6 In al your dwelling places your cities ſhalbe shalbe desolate, and the high places layde waste, so that your aulters shalbe made waste and desolate, your idolles shalbe broken * and abolished, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut downe, and your woorkes quite taken away.

7 The slayne shal fal among you: and ye shal knowe that I am the Lorde.

8 Yet wyl I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shal escape the swoorde among the nations, when ye shalbe scattered through the countreyes.

9 And they that escape of you shall thinke vpon me among the heathen where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I haue ben * broken: for their whorishe hart which hath reparted from me, and for their eyes that haue gone a whoring after their idolles: and * they shalbe abhorred before their owne eyes for the euyls which they haue committed in al their abominations.

10 And they shal knowe that I am the Lorde, and that I haue not sayde in vayne, that I would doo this euyl vnto them.

11 Thus sayth the Lord God, b Smite thine handes togeather, and stampe with thy feete, and say, Wo worth all the abominations and wickednesses of the house of Israel: for they shal fal with the swoorde, with hunger, and with pestilence.

12 Who so is farre of, shall dye of the pestilence, he that is nigh at hande shall perishe with the swoorde, & the remnant that are besieged shal dye of hunger: thus wyll I satisfie my wrathfull displeasure vpon them.

13 And so shal ye knowe that I am the Lorde, when theyr slayne men shalbe among their idolles rounde about their aulters, vpon euery hygh hyl, & toppes of mountaynes, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, euen in the places where they did offer sweete sauour to all theyr idolles.

14 I wyl stretche mine hande out vpon them, and wyl make the lande waste and desolate, c from the wyldernesse vnto Diblath, through al their habitations: and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

2. The ende of all the lande of Israel shal sodaynely come. 10. The cause of the destruction thereof. 23. The prophete is commaunded to shewe the summe of the euyls that are at hande.

The woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lorde God, An ende is come vnto the lande of Israel: yea verily the ende commeth vppon the foure corners of the lande.

3 Nowe shal the ende come vppon thee: for I wyl sende my wrath vpon thee, and wyl * punishe thee according to thy wayes, and * rewarde thee after all thine abominations.

4 Mine eye shal not spare thee, neyther wyl I haue pitie, but * rewarde thee according to thy wayes, and declare thine abominations: then shal ye knowe that I am the Lorde.

5 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Behold, one euyl shal come after another:

6 The ende is here, the ende I say is come, it watcheth for thee: beholde it is come alredy.

7 The a morning is come vnto thee that dwellest in the lande, the tyme is at hande, the day of trouble is harde by, and not the b sounding agayne of the mountaynes.

8 Now I wyl shortly powre out my sore displeasure ouer thee, and fulfyl my wrath vpon thee: I wyll iudge thee after thy wayes, and recompence thee all thine abominations.

9 Mine eye shal not spare, neyther wyl I haue pitie, but * rewarde thee after thy wayes, and thine abominations shalbe in the middest of thee: and ye shal know that I am the Lorde that smiteth.

10 Beholde the day, beholde it is come, the morning is gone foorth, the rodde c flourisheth, pryde hath budded, 11 Crueltie is waxen to a rodde of wickednesse, none of them shal remayne, none of their rychesse, * not one of theyr seede, and no lamentation shalbe made for them.

12 The time commeth, the day draweth nigh: who so buyeth, let him not reioyce, he that selleth, let him not be sory: for wyl wrath is vpon al the multitude thereof.

13 So that the seller shal not come agayne to the thing that he solde, although their life be d yet with the lyuing: for when the prophesie was preached vnto al the people, none returned, no man shal e strengthen him selfe in the iniquitie of his lyfe.

14 f They haue blowen the trumpet, & made al redy, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon the whole multitude.

15 The swoorde shalbe without, pestilence and hunger within: so that who so is in the feelde shalbe slayne with the swoorde, and he that is in the citie shalbe deuoured with hunger and pestilence.

6 And he ſayde furthermore vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, ſeeſt thou not what theſe doo? namely the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael commit in this place, to driue me from my ſanctuarie? But turne thee about, & thou ſhalt ſee yet greater abominations.

7 And with that brought he me to the court gate, and when I looked, beholde there was a hole in the wall.

8 Then ſayde he vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, digge nowe in the wall: and when I digged in the wall, beholde there vvas a dooze.

16 And so he brought me into the inward court of the Lordes house, and beholde, at the doore of the Lordes house, betwixt the porche and the aulter, there were about twentie and fyue men that turned theyr backes vpon the temple of the Lorde, and their faces toward the East, and these worshipped the sunne Eastward.

17 And he saide vnto me, Hast thou seene this thou sonne of man? Thinketh the house of Juda that it is but a trifle to doo these abominations which they doo here? for they haue fylled the land ful of wickednesse, and haue returned to prouoke me to anger, and loe, they are putting the "branches to their noses.

18 Therefore wyl I also doo something in my wrathful displeasure, so that myne eye shal not spare them, neyther wyll I haue pitie: yea, and though they crye in myne eares with a loude voyce, yet wyll I not heare them.

¶ The. ix. Chapter.

1. The destruction of the citie. 4. They that shalbe saued, are marked. 8. A complaint of the prophete for the destruction of the people.

HE cryed also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, Drawe neare ye a visitations of the citie, euery man with a destroying weapon in his hande.

2 And beholde, then came there b sixe men out of the streete of the vpper gate towarde the North, and euery man a slaughter weapon in his hande: There was one amongst them that had on hym lynnen rayment, and a writers c inckhorne by his syde: these went in, and stoode beside the brasen aulter.

3 And the glory of the GOD of Israel was gone from the Cherub whereupon it was, to the doore of the house: and he called to the man that had the lynnen rayment vpon hym, and the writers inckhorne by his syde,

4 And the Lorde sayde vnto him, Goe thorowe the middest of the citie, euen thorowe the middest of Hierusalem, || and set a marke vpon the foreheades of them that mourne and "are sory for al the abominations that be done therein.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smyte, let your eye spare none, neyther haue ye any pitie:

6 Kyll and destroy both olde men and young, maydens, chyldren, and women: but as for all those that haue the marke vpon them, see that ye touche them not, and begyn at my sanctuarie. Then they began at the auncient men which were before the house.

7 And he sayd vnto them, Defile ye the temple, fyll the courtes with the slayne, then goe your way forth. So they went out, and slue downe through the citie.

8 Nowe when they had doone the slaughter, and I yet escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Ah Lorde God, wylt thou then destroy all the residue of Israel, in powryng out thy wrath vpon Hierusalem?

9 Then sayde he vnto me, The wickednesse of the house of Israel and Juda is exceeding great, so that the land is ful of blood, and the citie full of reuolting from God: for they say, The Lorde hath forsaken the earth, and the Lorde seeth it not.

10 As touchyng me also, myne eye shall not spare them, neyther wyll I haue pitie: but wyll recompence their wayes vpon their heades.

11 And beholde, the man that had the lynnen rayment vpon hym, and the writers inckhorne by his syde, reported the matter, and sayde, As thou hast commaunded me, so haue I doone.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

Of the man that tooke hot burnyng coales out of the middle of the vvheeles of the Cherubims.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was aboue the head of the a Cherubims, as it were a Saphire stone made lyke the similitude of a throne, was seene ouer them.

4 And the glory of the Lorde remooued from the Cherubims, and came vppon the dooze of the houſe: ſo that the temple was fylled with a cloude, and the court was full of the ſhine of the Lordes glory.

5 Yea, and the ſound of the Cherubims wynges was heard into the foze court, like as it had been the voyce of the almightie God when he ſpeaketh.)

6 Nowe when he had bidden the man that was clothed in linnen, ſaying, Take fyze from the middeſt of the wheeles, and from the middeſt of the Cherubims: he went and ſtoode beſide the wheeles.

7 Then one Cherub reached foozth his hand from betweene the Cherubims, vnto the fyze that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and gaue it into the hands of him that had on the linnen raiment: which tooke it, and went out.

8 And vnder the wynges of the Cherubims there appeared the likeneſſe of a mans hand.

9 I looked alſo, & beholde, foure wheeles beſide the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another by another Cherub, and the wheeles were to looke vpon after the faſhion of the pretious ſtone Charſis.

10 As touching their appearance (they were all foure of one faſhion) as yf one wheele had been in another.

11 When they went foozth, they went vpon their foure ſides, not turning backe in their going: foz whiche way the head of the fyrſt looked, after it they went, ſo that they turned not backe in their going.

‖Ezech. 1.8. 12 ‖ And theyr whole bodies, their backes, theyr handes, and wynges, yea, and the wheeles alſo, were ful of eyes rounde about the foure wheeles.

13 And to the wheeles, he cryed to them in my hearing, O wheele.

14 Euery one of them had foure faces, ſo that the face of the firſt was the face of a Cherub, and the face of the ſeconde the face of a man, and of the third the face of a Lion, and of the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beaſt that I ſawe at the water of Chebar.

16 Nowe when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lyft vp theyr wynges to mount vp from the earth, the ſame wheeles alſo turned not from beſydes them.

17 Shortly when they ſtoode, theſe ſtoode alſo, and when they were lyfted vp, the wheeles lyft vp them ſelues alſo with them: foz the b ſpirite of the beaſt was in the wheeles.

18 Then the glory of the Lorde departed from aboue the dooze of the temple, and remained vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims ſtackered with their wynges, and lift them ſelues vp from the earth in my ſight: when they went, the wheeles were beſides them, and they ſtoode at the dooze of the eaſt gate of the houſe of the Lorde: ſo the glory of the God of Iſrael was vpon them on hygh.

20 ‖ This is the c beaſt that I ſawe vnder the god of Iſrael by the riuer Chebar, and I perceiued that it was the Cherubims. ‖Ezech. 1.

21 Euery one had foure faces, & euery one foure wynges, and vnder theyr wynges the likeneſſe of mens handes.

22 The ſimilitude of theyr countenances, were the very ſame countenances which I ſawe at the riuer Chebar, and the ſelf ſame appearances, euery one in his goeyng went ſtrayght forwarde.

The.xi. Chapter.

1. VVho they vvere that ſeduced the people of Iſrael. 5. Againſt theſe he propheſieth, ſhevving them how they ſhalbe diſpearſed abrode.

MOreouer, the ſpirite lyft me vp, and brought me vnto the Eaſt gate of the Lordes houſe, which lyeth Eaſtward: and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fyue and twentie men, among whom I ſawe Iaazaniah the ſonne of Azur, and Pheltiah the ſonne of Banaiahu, the rulers of the people.

2 Then ſaid he vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, theſe men imagine miſcheefe, and a wicked counſayle take they in this citie,

3 Saying, It is not neare, let vs buylde houſes: this Hieruſalem is the a caldron, and we be the fleſhe.

4 Therfoze ſhalt thou propheſie againſt them: yea propheſie, O ſonne of man.

5 And with that fell the ſpirite of the Lorde vpon me, and ſayde vnto me, Speake, thus ſayth the Lord, On this maner haue ye ſpoken (O ye houſe of Iſrael) and I know the imaginations of your hartes.

6 Many one haue ye murdered in this citie, and fylled the ſtreetes full of the ſlayne:

7 Therefoze thus ſayth the Lorde God, The ſlayne men that ye haue layde in the middeſt of the citie are the b fleſh, and this citie is the caldron: but I wyll bryng you out of it.

a. We ſhal n be pulled out of Hieruſale tyl the hour our death come, as the fleſhe is not ken out of th caldron tyll i be ſodde.

b. Contrarie to theyr vay confidence he ſheweth in what ſenſe th citie was the caldron, that becauſe of th dead bodyes that haue be murdred ther in, and ſo lye the fleſh in caldron.

8 Ye

8 Ye haue feared the swoord, and I wil bring a swoord ouer you, saith the Lord God.
9 And I wyl bryng you out of the midst thereof, and deliuer you into the handes of strangers, and wyll execute iudgementes among you.
10 Ye shall fall by the swoorde, in the borders of c Israel wyll I iudge you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.
11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neyther shall ye be the flesshe in the myddest thereof: but in the borders of Israel wyll I d punisshe you,
12 That ye may knowe that I am the Lorde, in whose commaundementes ye haue not walked, nor kept my lawes, but haue doone after the customes of the heathen that lye rounde about you.
13 Nowe when I prophesied, d Pheltiah the sonne of Banaiahu dyed: then fel I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Ah Lord God, wylt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant in Israel?
14 And so the woorde of the Lord came vnto me on this maner,
15 Thou sonne of man, thy brethren euen thy brethren the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitantes of Hierusalem haue sayd, e Withdrawe ye farre from the Lord, for the lande is geuen vs in possession.
16 Therefore tel them thus sayth the Lorde God, Although I sende them farre of among the Gentiles, and scatter them among the nations, yet wyll I be to them as a litle f sanctuarie in the landes where they shall come.
17 Tel them also, Thus sayth the Lord God, I wyll gather you agayne out of the nations, and bryng you from the countreyes where ye be scattered, and I wyll geue you the lande of Israel agayne.
18 And they shal come thyther, and they shall take away all their idolles, and all their abominations from thence.
19 ||And I wyl geue them one hart, and I wil put a new spirite within their bowels: that stony hart wyll I take out of their body, and geue them a fleshly hart,
20 That they may walke in my commaundementes, and keepe myne ordinances, and doo them, that they may be my people, and I their God.
21 But to the hart of their idolles and their abominations their hart goeth, their wayes wyll I bryng vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lorde God.
22 After this dyd the Cherubims lyft vp their wynges, and the wheeles besides them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hygh.
23 So the glory of the Lorde went vp from the middest of the citie, and stoode vpon the mount of the citie towarde the East.
24 And the spirite tooke me vp, and brought me agayne to Chaldea to the captiuitie in a vision by the spirite of GOD: then the vision that I had seene went vp from me.
25 So I spake vnto the g captiues all the woordes of the Lorde whiche he had shewed me.

g. Those that were led away captiues, with Iechonias.

¶ The.xii. Chapter.

1. The parable of the captiuitie. 10. The exposition of the parable, by which the taking of king Zedecias is signified.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,
2 Thou sonne of man, thou dwellest in the myddest of a rebellious house, whiche haue eyes to see, & yet see not, eares haue they to heare, and yet heare they not: for they are a rebellious house.
3 Therefore (O thou sonne of man) * prepare thee instrumentes to flyt with, and remooue on the day tyme that they may see, yea euen in their sight shalt thou goe from thy place to another place, yf peraduenture they wyll consyder that they be a rebellious house.

* make thee vessels to goe into captiuitie.

4 Thou shalt bryng foorth thyne instrumentes as stuffe to flyt with by the day tyme in their syght, and thou thee selfe shalt goe foorth also at euenyng before their eyes, as they that goe foorth to flyt.
5 Dyg through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.
6 In their syght shalt thou beare vpon thy shoulders, and cary it foorth in the darke: hyde thy face, that thou see not the earth, for I haue made thee a a shewe token vnto the house of Israel.

a. That as thou doest, so shall they do, & therefore in thee they shall see theyr owne plague and punishment.

7 And I dyd so as I was commaunded, I brought foorth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and in the euenyng I dygged through the wall with my handes, and brought it foorth in the darke, and bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.
8 And in the mornyng came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, saying,
9 Thou sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, b What doest thou?
10 Then tel them, thus sayth the Lord God, This "burden toucheth the prince at Hierusalem, and all the house of Israel that dwell dwell among them.

11 Tell them, I am your shewe token, lyke as I haue doone, so shal it be doone vnto them, they shal go into bondage & captiuitie.

12 The prince that is among them shal loade his shoulders in the darke, and get him away, they shall breake downe the wal, to carie through by it: he shal couer his face, that he see not the grounde with his eyes.

13 My net wyll I c spreade out vpon hym, and he shalbe caught in my * net, and I wyll bryng hym to Babylon in the lande of the Chaldees, whiche he shall not see, and yet shall he dye there.

14 As for all his helpers and all his bandes that be about hym, I wyll scatter them towarde al the windes, and drawe out a swoorde after them.

15 So when I haue scattered them among the heathen, and strawed them in the landes, they shal know that I am the Lorde.

16 But I wyll leaue a litle number of them from the swoord, hunger, and pestilence, to tel al their abominations among the heathen where they come, that they may knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

17 Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Thou sonne of man, with a fearefull tremblyng eate thy bread, with vnquietnesse and sorowe drynke thy water.

19 And vnto the people of the lande speake thou, Thus saith the Lord God vpon them that dwell in Hierusalem, and vpon the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with sorow, and drynke their water with desolation, yea the lande after plentifulnesse shalbe layde waste, for the wickednesse of all them that dwel therein.

20 And the cities that nowe be well inhabited, shalbe voyde, and the lande desolate, that ye may knowe that I am the Lorde.

21 Yet came the word of the Lord vnto me agayne, saying,

22 Thou sonne of man, what maner of prouerbe is that whiche ye vse in the lande of Israel, saying, d The dayes are slacke in comming, and al visions faile?

23 Tell them therefore, thus saith the Lorde God, I wyll make that prouerbe to ceasse, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto the, The daies are at hande, and the effect of euery vision.

24 There shal no vision be any more in vayne, neyther any flatterynge deuination within the house of Israel:

25 For I the Lorde speake it, and what so euer I shall speake, it shalbe performed, and not be slacke in commyng any more, yea euē in your dayes, O rebellious house, wyl I speake the thyng, and bryng it to passe, saith the Lorde God.

26 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

27 Behold thou sonne of man, the house of Israel saith on this maner, The vision that he seeth, it wyll be many a day or it come to passe: it is farre of yet the tyme that he prophesieth of.

28 Therefore say vnto them, thus saith the Lorde God, Al my woordes shall no more be delayed, looke what I speake, that same shall come to passe, saith the Lorde God.

¶ The.xiii Chapter.

The vvoorde of the Lorde agaynst false prophetes, vvhiche teache the people the counsels of theyr owne hartes.

THE ‖ woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying, ‖Ezech.14.

2 Thou sonne of man, prophesie agaynst those prophetes of Israel, which prophesie, and say vnto them that prophesie out of their owne hartes, Heare the woorde of the Lorde,

3 Thus saith the Lorde God, Woe be vnto those foolish prophetes that folow their owne spirite, and haue seene nothyng.

4 O Israel, thy prophetes are lyke the Foxes in a desart places.

5 For ye haue not stande vp in the gappes, nor made a hedge for the house of Israel, to stande in the battayle in the day of the Lorde.

6 They haue seene vanitie and lying deuination, saying, The Lorde sayth it: and the Lorde hath not sent them, and they haue made men hope that they would confirme the woorde.

7 Haue ye not seene vayne visions, and spoken false prophesies, when ye say, The Lord hath spoken it, whereas I neuer spake it?

8 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Because ye haue spoken vanitie, and haue seene lyes: therefore beholde I am agaynst you, saith the Lorde God:

9 Myne hand shalbe vpon the prophets that see vanities and deuine lyes: they shall not be in the counsell of my people, nor written in the booke of the house of Israel, neyther shall they come in the lande of Israel, that ye may knowe how that I am the Lord God:

10 And that for because they haue deceiued my people, and tolde them of peace, where no peace was: one setteth vp a b wall, and they daube it with vntempered clay.

11 Therefore tell them whiche daube with

b. What false prophetes dyd say (whiche is here called the buyldyng vp of a wal) other false prophete would affirme the same, though he had peyce occasion no good ground to beare hym with vntempered morter, that it shal fal: for there shal come a great showre of rayne, I wyl sende haylestones to cause it to fal, and a great storme of winde shal breake it.

12 And loe when the wall is fallen, shal it not then be sayd vnto you, Where is nowe your [a] morter that ye daubed withal?

13 Therfore thus sayth the Lord God, I wyl cause a stormie wynde to breake out in my wrathful displeasure, so that in mine anger there shal come a mightie showre of rayne, and haylestones in my wrath to destroy it.

14 As for the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, I wyl breake it downe, and make it euen with the grounde, so that the fundation therof shalbe discouered, and it shall fal: yea, and ye your selues shal perishe in the middes therof, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lorde.

15 Thus wyl I perfourme my wrath vpon this wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [c] vntempred morter, and then wyl I say vnto you, The wall is [a] gone, and the daubers of it.

16 To wyt the prophetes of Israel, which prophesie vpon Hierusalem, and looke out visions of peace for it, where as no peace is, sayth the Lorde God.

17 Wherefore, O thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne hartes, and prophesie against them:

18 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Wo be vnto them that sowe [d] pyllowes vnder al arme holes, and put kerchifes vpon the heades of euery stature, to hunt soules. Wyl ye hunt the soules of my people, and geue lyfe to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And wyl ye pollute me to my people for handfulles of barley, and for peeces of bread, to kyl the soules of them that dye not, and promise [e] life to them that lyue not, in lying to my people that heareth your lyes?

20 Wherefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl vpon your pyllowes wherwith ye hunt the soules to [f] make them flee, and I wyl teare them from your armes, and wyll let the soules goe, euen the soules that ye hunt to make them flee.

21 Your kerchifes also wyl I teare in peeces, and deliuer my people out of your handes, so that they shal come no more in your handes to be hunted: and ye shal know that I am the Lorde.

22 Seeing that with your lyes ye discomfite the hart of the righteous, whom I haue not discomfited agayne, for so much as ye encourage the hande of the wycked, so that he may not turne from his wicked way, in promising hym lyfe:

23 Therefore shall ye see no more vanitie, neyther shal ye deuise deuinations, for I wyll deliuer my people out of your hande, that ye may knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

¶ The xiiii. Chapter.

The Lorde declareth his vvoorde to the people for theyr sinnes sake.

THere resorted vnto me certayne of the elders of Israel, and sate downe by me.

2 Then came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

3 Thou sonne of man, these men haue set vp their Idolles in their hartes, and put the stumbling blocke of iniquitie before their face, shoulde I then answeare them at theyr request?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, thus sayth the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idolles in his hart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the prophete: vnto that man wyll I the Lorde mee selfe geue answeare when he commeth, according to the [a] multitude of his idolles:

5 That the house of Israel may be snared in their [b] owne hartes, because they be cleane gone from me al of them through their idolles.

6 Wherefore tell the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Returne, and cause [c] to returne from your idolles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery man, whether he be of the house of Israel, or a stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idols in his hart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his wickednesse before his face, & commeth to a prophete for to aske counsel at me through hym: vnto that man wyll I the Lorde geue answeare by myne owne selfe:

8 I wyll set my face agaynst that man, and wyl make him to be an example for other, yea, and a common bywoorde, and wyl roote him out of my people, that ye may know how that I am the Lorde.

9 And if that prophete be deceyued when he telleth a thyng, then I ‖ the Lorde mee selfe haue deceyued that prophete, and wyll stretche out my hande vpon him, to destroy him out of my people of Israel.

‖ Eze c. 13.1

10 And

a. As his abomination hath deserued, that is, he shalbe led with lyes, according as he delyted therin.

b. That is, conuince them by theyr owne consciences.

c. Al such as by your example haue declined from God.

10 And they ſhalbe punished for theyr wickednesse, according to the sinne of hym that asketh shal the sinne of the prophete be:

11 That the house of Israel may wander no more from me, neither be any more defyled in al their transgressions: but that they may be my people, and I their GOD, sayth the Lorde God.

12 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

13 Thou sonne of man, when the lande sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, I wyl stretche out my hande vpon it, || and breake their staffe of bread, and sende dearth vpon them, to destroy man and beast foorth of it.

14 And though Noe, Daniel, and Job, these three men were among them: yet shall they in theyr righteousnesse deliuer but their owne soules, sayth the Lorde God.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the lande, and they spoyle it, and it be so desolate that no man may passe thorow it for beastes, 16 If these three men were also in the middest therof, as truely as I lyue, sayth the Lord God, they shal saue neyther sonnes nor daughters, but be onely deliuered them selues: and as for the lande, it shalbe waste.

17 Or if I bryng a swoorde vppon the lande, and say, Swoorde goe thorough this lande, so that I slay downe man & beast in it, 18 And if these three men were [a] therein: as truely as I lyue, sayth the Lord God, they shal deliuer neyther sonnes nor daughters, but onely be [b] saued them selues.

19 If I sende a pestilence into this land, and powre out my sore indignation vppon it in blood, so that I roote out of it both man and beast, 20 And if Noe, Daniel, and Job [a] were therein: as truely as I lyue sayth the Lorde GOD, they shal deliuer neyther sonne nor daughter, but [b] saue their owne soules in their righteousnesse.

21 Moreouer, thus sayth the Lord God, Howe muche more when I sende my foure [c] troublous plagues vpon Hierusalem, the swoorde, hunger, perilous beastes, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Beholde, there shalbe a remnant saued therein, whiche shal bring foorth theyr sonnes & daughters: beholde, they shal come foorth vnto you, and ye shal see their way, and their enterprise, and ye shalbe comforted concerning the euyl that I haue brought vpon Hierusalem, euen concerning al that I haue brought vpon it.

23 They shal comfort you when ye shal see theyr way and workes, and ye shal knowe howe that it is not without a cause that I haue done al agaynst Hierusalem as I dyd, sayth the Lorde God.

The. xv. Chapter.

As the vnprofitable vvood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so sayth he that Hierusalem shalbe brent.

THe woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree more then of euery other tree, and of the wylde vine among other trees of the forest?

3 Doo men take wood of it to make any woorke withal? or wyl men take a pynne of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be brent, the fire consumeth both the endes of it, the middes of it is brent: is it meete then for any woorke?

5 Seeing then that it was meete for no woorke being whole, much lesse may there any thing be made of it when the fyre hath consumed and brent it.

6 And therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, As the vine tree that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue geuen to the fyre to be consumed, so wyl I geue the inhabitantes of Hierusalem.

7 And I wyl set my face agaynst them, they shal goe out from the fyre, and yet the [a] fyre shal consume them: then shal ye knowe that I am the Lorde, when I set my face agaynst them,

8 And when I make the lande waste, because they haue so sore offended, sayth the Lorde God.

[a] Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

2. The prophet declareth the benefites of God towarde Hierusalem. 60. Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGayne the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, shewe Hierusalem theyr abominations,

3 And say, thus sayth the Lord God vnto Hierusalem, Thy habitation and kinrede is of the lande of [a] Chanaan, thy father was an Amorite, thy mother an Hittite.

4 In the day of thy byrth, [b] when thou wast borne, the string of thy nauel was not cut of, thou wast not bathed in water to [a] make thee cleane, thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in clowtes.

5 No

[a] Thou beest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and lowest the abominations of the wicked Chananites, chyldren do the maners of their fathers. Esai. 1. 57.

[b] When I first brought thee foorth of the land of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my churche.

[a] Or, to soften thee

5 No eye pitied thee to doo any of these thinges for thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee: but thou wast vtterly cast out vpon the feelde, in contempt of thy person in the day of thy byrth.

6 Then came I by thee, and sawe thee defyled in thyne owne blood, and I sayd vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Lyue, euen when thou wast in thy blood, I sayde vnto thee, Lyue.

7 I caused thee to multiply as the bud of the feelde, thou art growen vp and waxen great, thou hast gotten a maruelous pleasant beautie, thy breastes are fashioned, thy heare is goodly growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Nowe when I went by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde thy tyme was come, yea euen the tyme to woo thee: then spread I my clothes ouer thee to couer thy c dishonestie, yea I made an othe vnto thee, and contracted mee selfe vnto thee (sayth the Lorde GOD) and so thou becamest myne owne.

9 Then washed I thee with water, and purged thy blood from thee, and I annoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee with broydred worke, and shodde thee with Badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fyne linnen, and couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee with costly apparel, I put bracelets vpon thy handes, a chayne about thy necke, 12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and eareringes vpon thine eares, and a beautiful crowne vpon thyne head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with golde, and syluer, and thy rayment was of fyne lynnen, and of silke, and of broydred worke: thou dydest eate fyne floure, hony, and oyle, maruelous beautifull wast thou, and thou dydst luckyly prosper into a kyngdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfect through my beautie which I put vpon thee, sayth the Lorde God.

15 But thou hast put thy confidence in thyne owne beautie, and played the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast d powred out thy fornicatiõs with euery one that went by, * thou wast his.

16 Thou dyddest take thy garmentes, and deckt thy hygh places with e diuers colours, and played the harlot thereupon, f * they come not, and it shall not be.

17 The goodly iewels whiche I gaue thee of myne owne gold and syluer, hast thou taken and made thee mens images thereof, and committed whoredome with them.

18 Thy broydred garmentes hast thou taken, and deckt them therewith: myne oyle and incense hast thou set before them.

19 My meate whiche I gaue thee, as fyne floure, oyle, and hony, to feede thee withall, that hast thou set before them for a sweet sauour: and thus it was, sayth the Lorde God.

20 Thou hast taken thyne owne sonnes and daughters whom thou hast begotten vnto me, and these hast thou offered vp vnto them to be g deuoured: is this but a small whoredome of thyne?

21 And thou hast slayne my chyldren, and deliuered them, to cause them to passe through the fire for them.

22 And yet in all thyne abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, howe naked and bare thou wast at that tyme, and wast defyled in thyne owne blood.

23 After all these thy wickednesse (woe, woe vnto thee, sayth the Lorde God)

24 Thou hast buylt vnto thee an hygh place, and hast made thee an hygh place in euery streete.

25 Thou hast buylt thyne hygh place at euery * head of the way, thou hast made thy beautie to be abhorred, thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that came by, and multiplyed thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast committed fornication with the h Egyptians thy neighbours whiche were great in flesshe, and thus hast thou increased thyne whoredome to anger me.

27 Beholde, I dyd stretch out my hand ouer thee, and dyd minishe thyne ordinarie foode and deliuered thee ouer into the wylles of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistines, whiche are ashamed of thyne abominable wayes.

28 Thou hast played the whoore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea thou hast I say with them played the harlot, and yet hadst thou not ynough.

29 Thus hast thou furthermore multiplyed thy fornication from the lande of Chanaan vnto the Chaldees, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thyne hart, sayth the Lorde God, seeyng thou doost all these, euen the woorkes of a presumptuous whoorysshe woman?

31 Buyldyng thy hygh places at the head of euery way, & makest thy hygh places in euery streete: thou hast not ben as another whoore that holdeth scorne of a rewarde:

32 But as a wyfe that breaketh wedlocke, and taketh other in stede of her husbande.

34 It is come to paſſe with thee in thy whoordomes contrarie to the vſe of other women, yea there hath no ſuche fornication ben committed after thee: ſeeyng that thou geueſt gyftes vnto other, and no rewarde is geuen thee, therefore thou art contrarie.

35 Therefore heare the woorde of the Lorde, O thou harlot.

36 Thus ſayth the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt i powred out [a] thy braſſe, and diſcouered thy filthynesſe through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idols of thyne abominations, and in the blood of thy children whom thou haſt geuen them:

38 ‖ Moreouer, l I wyll iudge thee as a breaker of wedlocke and a murderer, and recompence thee thyne owne blood in wrath and ielouſie.

39 I wyl geue thee ouer into their handes, and they ſhal deſtroy thy bygh place, and breake downe thy bygh places, they ſhall ſtrip thee alſo out of thy clothes: thy fayre iewels ſhal they take from thee, and ſo leaue thee naked and bare.

41 ‖ They ſhall burne vp thy houſes with fyre, and punithe thee in the ſight of many women: thus wyll I make thee ceaſſe from playing the harlot, ſo that thou ſhalt geue out no more rewardes.

42 So wyll I make my wrath towarde thee to reſt, and my ielouſie ſhall depart from thee, and I wyll ceaſſe, and be angrie no more.

43 Seeyng thou remembreſt not the dayes of thy youth, but haſt fretted me in all theſe thynges: beholde therefore, I wyll bryng thine owne wayes vpon thy head, ſaith the Lord God, ſo that [m] thou ſhalt not commit any more miſchiefe vpon al thyne abominations.

44 Beholde, all they that vſe common prouerbes, ſhal vſe this prouerbe alſo againſt thee, ſaying, Such a [n] mother, ſuch a daughter.

45 Thou art euen thy mothers owne daughter, that haue caſt of her huſband, and her children: yea thou art the ſiſter of thy [o] ſiſters, whiche forlooke their huſbandes and their children, your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 Thyne eldeſt ſiſter is Samaria, ſhe and her [p] daughters that dwel vpon thy left hande: but thy younger ſiſter that dwelleth on thy right hande is Sodoma & her daughters.

47 Yet haſt thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations, as a litle and a litle: but in all thy wayes thou haſt ben more corrupt then they.

48 As truely as I lyue, ſayth the Lorde GOD, Sodoma thy ſiſter, with her daughters, haue not doone as thou haſt doone and thy daughters.

49 ‖ Beholde, the ſinnes of thy ſiſter Sodoma, were theſe, [q] Pryde, fulneſſe of meate, and abundance of idleneſſe, theſe thynges had ſhe and her daughters: beſydes that, they ſtrengthed not the hande of the poore and needie.

50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before me, therefore I tooke them away as I ſawe good.

51 Neyther hath [r] Samaria doone halfe of thy ſinnes, yea thou haſt exceeded them in thine abominations, and haſt [s] iuſtified thy ſiſters in al thyne abominations whiche thou haſt doone.

52 Therefore thou whiche dyddeſt condemne thy ſiſter, beare thyne owne ſhame, for thyne owne offences that thou haſt committed more abominable then they dyd, whiche in deede are more righteous then thou art, be thou I ſay aſhamed, and beare thy ſhamefull rebuke, ſeeing that thou haſt iuſtified thy ſiſters.

53 Therefore I wyl bryng agayne their captiuitie, the captiuitie of Sodom and her daughters, and the captiuitie of Samaria and her daughters, and the captiuitie of thy captiuities among [t] them, 54 That thou mayeſt take thyne owne confuſion vpon thee, and be aſhamed of all that thou haſt doone, in that thou haſt [v] comforted them.

55 And thy ſiſter Sodom & her daughters ſhal returne to their former ſtate, Samaria alſo and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate, when thou and thy daughters ſhall returne to your former ſtate.

¶ The. xvii. Chapter.

The parable of the two Eagles.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, put foorth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, thus sayth the Lorde GOD, There came a great a Eagle with great winges, yea with a mightie long body, and ful of feathers of diuers colours, vppon the mount of Libanus, and tooke the highest branche of a Cedar tree,

4 And brake of the top of his twigges, and caried it into the land of b marchantes, and set it in a citie of marchantes.

5 He tooke also of the c seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitefull grounde, he brought it vnto great waters, and set it in " an open trenche.

6 Then did it growe, and was a d spreading vine, but e lowe of stature, whose branches turned toward * it, and the rootes of it were vnder it: thus there came of it a vine, and it brought foorth branches, and shotte foorth buddes.

7 But there was another f Eagle, a great one, which had great winges and many feathers: and beholde the rootes of this vine turned towardes it, and spread out her branches towardes it, that he might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted vpon a good soyle beside great waters, so that it shoulde haue brought out branches, and borne fruite, and been a goodly vine.

9 Speake thou therefore, thus saith the Lorde GOD, Shal this vine prosper? shal g he not pul vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to dry? all the leaues of her budde shall wyther wiehout great power, or many people to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: Shall it prosper therefore? Shall it not be dryed vp and wythered? when the h East winde shall touche it, it shal wyther in the trenches where it grewe.

11 Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

12 Speake now to the rebellious house, Knowe ye not what these thinges doo signifye? Tell them, beholde the king of Babylon is come to Hierusalem, and hath taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and hath led them with him to Babylon.

13 He tooke of the kinges seede, and made a couenant with him, and tooke an othe of him: the princes of the land tooke he with him also,

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lyft vp it selfe, but keepe the couenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled agaynst him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that he might haue horses and much people: Should he prosper? shall he escape that doeth suche thinges? or shall he breake the couenant and escape free?

16 As truely as I lyue, sayth the Lorde GOD, he shal dye at Babylon in the place where the king dwelleth that made him kyng, whose othe he hath despised, and whose couenant he hath broken.

17 Neither shal Pharao with his great host and multitude of people mainteyne hym in ỹ warre, when they haue cast vp mounnes, and built a fort to destroy many persons.

18 For seeing he hath despised the othe, and broken the couenant (whereas he yet gaue his i hand therevppon) and doone all these thinges, he shall not escape.

19 Therfore thus sayth the Lord God, As truely as I liue, I wyll bring myne othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 I wyl spreade my net vpon him, and he shalbe caught in my net: and I wyl bring him to Babylon, and enter into iudgement with him there, for the trespasse whiche he 17 Neither hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vſurie nor increaſe, but hath executed my iudgementes, and walked in my ſtatutes: this man ſhall not die in his fathers ſinne, but ſhall liue without faile.

18 As for his father, becauſe he hath cruelly oppreſſed and ſpoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe he dyeth in his owne ſinne.

me? As truely as I liue, I * wyll not be ſought of you, ſayth the Lorde God.

4 Wylt thou iudge them ſonne of man, wylt thou iudge them? cauſe them to vnderſtand the abominations of their fathers.

5 And tell them, thus ſayth the Lorde God, In the day when I choſe Iſrael, and b lift vp myne hande vppon the ſeede of the houſe of Jacob, and was knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, yea when I lyft vp myne hand ouer them, and ſaide, I am the Lorde your God:

b. This was a maner of ſweareyng which was obſerued in taking an othe of al antiquitie, and is yet in diuers countreyes vſed.

6 Euen in the day that I lift vp myne hand vnto them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt, into a lande that I had prouided for them, whiche flowerth with milke and hony, and is pleaſant among all other landes:

7 Then ſaide I vnto them, Caſt away euery man the abominations of his eyes, and defyle not your ſelues with the idols of Egypt: for I am the Lorde your God.

8 But they rebelled agaynſt me, and would not hearken vnto me, they did not caſt away euery man the abominations of his eyes, neither did they forſake the idols of Egypt: then I ſaide I would powre out myne indignation ouer them, and accompliſhe my wrath vppon them, yea euen in the middeſt of the land of Egypt.

9 And I wrote for my names ſake, that it ſhoulde not be polluted before the heathen among whom they were, to whom I was manifeſtly knowen, in bringing them forth of the lande of Egypt.

10 Nowe when I had cauſed them to goe out of the lande of Egypt, and brought them into the wylderneſſe:

‖Leui. 18. 5. Rom. 10. 5.

11 ‖I gaue them my ſtatutes, and ſhewed them my iudgementes: whiche who ſo doth, ſhal liue in them.

‖Exod. 20. 8. and. 31. 13. Deut. 5. 12.

12 ‖I gaue them alſo my Sabboth dayes, to be a token betwixt me and them, and thereby to knowe that I am the Lorde whiche halowe them.

13 And yet the houſe of Iſrael rebelled agaynſt me in the wilderneſſe, they woulde not walke in my ſtatutes, they haue caſt away my iudgementes, whiche who ſo doth, ‖Exod. 16. 28 ſhal liue in them, ‖and my Sabboth dayes haue they greatly polluted: then I ſayde I woulde powre out myne indignation vpon them, and conſume them in the wilderneſſe.

14 And I wrought for my names ſake, leſt it ſhould be defiled before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheleſſe I lift vp my hand vnto them in the wilderneſſe, that I woulde not bring them into the lande which I gaue them, that flowerth with mylke and honye, and is a pleaſure of al landes:

16 And that becauſe they caſt away my iudgementes, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but haue defiled my Sabbothes: for their hart was gone after their idols.

17 Neuertheleſſe mine eye ſpared them, ſo that I woulde not deſtroy them, nor conſume them in the wylderneſſe.

18 Moreouer, I ſayd vnto their ſonnes in the wilderneſſe, Walke not in the ſtatutes of your c fathers, keepe not their iudgementes, and defile not your ſelues with their idols.

c. Whereby the holy ghoſt confuteth them that ſay, We wyl folowe the religion & example of the father: and by meaſure they their doings by good worde, whether they be approuable thereby or no.

19 I am the Lorde your God, walke in my ſtatutes, keepe my iudgementes, and do them.

20 Halowe my Sabbothes, for they are a token betwixt me and you: that ye may knowe howe that I am the Lorde your GOD.

21 Notwithſtandyng, their ſonnes rebelled agaynſt me alſo, they walked not in my ſtatutes, they kept not my iudgementes to fulfyll them, whiche he that dooth, ſhall lyue in them, they prophaned my Sabboth dayes, and I ſayde I woulde powre out myne indignation ouer them, and accompliſhe my wrath vpon them in the wylderneſſe.

22 Neuertheleſſe, I withdrewe my hande, and wrought for my names ſake, leſt it ſhoulde be defyled in the ſyght of the heathen, before whom I had brought them forth.

23 I lyft vp my hande to them alſo in the wylderneſſe, that I woulde ſcatter them among the heathen, and ſtrawe them among the nations:

24 Becauſe they had not kept my iudgements, but caſt aſide my ſtatutes, and broken my Sabbothes, and their eyes were after their fathers idolles.

25 Wherefore I d gaue them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and iudgementes wherein they ſhoulde not lyue.

d. Becauſe they would not obey my lawes I gaue them ouer to them ſelues, that thei ſhould obey their owne fantaſies, as verſ. 39. Rom. 1.

26 And I defyled them in their owne gyftes, in that they e cauſed al that openeth the wombe to paſſe, that I myght deſtroy them, that they myght knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

e. Cauſing their firſtborne to paſſe thorow the fire in ſacrifice to Moloch.

27 Therefore ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael thou ſonne of man, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, thus ſayth the Lorde GOD, Yet in this alſo your fathers haue blaſphemed me, and greeuouſly tranſgreſſed agaynſt me:

28 For after I had brought them into the land, for the whiche I lyfted vp my hande to geue it vnto them, when they ſawe euery hygh hyll, and all thicke trees, they offered there there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of g anger, there also they made their sweete sauours, and powred out their wine offeringes.

29 And I saide vnto them, What is that high place whervnto ye resort? and the name of it is called h Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore speake vnto the house of Israel, thus sayth the Lord God, Are ye not defiled in the wayes of your fathers, and commit ye not whordome after their abominations?

31 For when ye offer your giftes, & make your sonnes to passe through the fyre, you are polluted with all your idolles vnto this day: shal I answeare you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, sayth the Lorde GOD, I" wyll not be sought of you.

32 And that vvhiche commeth into your minde shall not be at all, which you say, We wil be as the Gentiles, as the kinredes of countreys to serue wood and stone.

33 As truely as I liue, sayth the Lorde God, I mee selfe wyl rule you with a mightie hand, with a stretched out arme, and with indignation powred out ouer you.

34 And I wyll bring you from the people, and geather you out of the countreys wherein ye are scattered, with a mightie hande, with a stretched out arme, and with indignation powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the i wyldernesse of the people, and there I k wyll be iudged with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wyldernesse of Egypt: so wyll I pleade with you also, sayth the Lorde God.

37 I wyll cause you to passe vnder the rodde, and I wyll bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I wyl" purge out of you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me, and bring them out of the lande of their habitation: as for the lande of Israel they shal not come in it, that you may knowe how that I am the Lorde.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus sayth the Lord God, Go you and serue euery man his idolles, seeing that ye obey not me: and pollute no more my holy name with your giftes and your idols.

40 For vpon my holy hill, euen vpon the high hil of Israel, saith the Lorde God, shall all the house of Israel, and all that is in the land worship me: and in the same place wyl I fauour them, and there wyl I require your heaue offeringes, and the fyrstlinges of your oblations, with all your holy thinges.

41 I wyl accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the nations, and geather you togeather out of the landes wherein ye haue been scattered, that I may be halowed in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal know that I am the lord, when I shall bring you into the lande of Israel, into the land for the which I lyft vp my hand to geue it vnto your fathers.

43 There shall ye call to remembrance your owne wayes, & all your woorkes wherein ye haue been defiled, and ye shalbe cutte of in your l owne sight for all your wickednesse that ye haue doone.

44 And ye shal know that I am the lord, when I deale with you for my names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt woorkes, O ye house of Israel, sayth the Lord GOD.

45 Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

46 Thou sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of m Themanah, and droppe thy vvoord toward the n South, and prophesie toward the forrest of the South feilde, 47 And say to the forrest of the South, Heare the woorde of the Lorde, thus sayth the Lorde GOD, Behold, I wyll kindle a fyre in thee, that shal consume al the o greene trees, with all the drie: the continuall flame shal not be quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shalbe burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see that I the lord haue kindled it, and it shall not be quenched.

49 Then sayd I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Dooth not he speake p parables?

l. Your owne conscience shal condemne you, as woorthy to be cut of from the earth.

m. To witte, the South.

n. That is, toward Hierusalem and Iuda, which was South from Babylon.

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

3. He threatneth the svvord, that is to say, destruction to the citie of Hierusalem.

THE woord of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, set thy face toward Hierusalem, and a droppe thy vvoorde towarde the holy places, and prophesie against the lande of Israel.

3 Say to the lande of Israel, thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I am against thee, and wyl drawe my swoorde out of the sheath, and cut of from thee both the b righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I wyll cut of from thee both the righteous & the wicked, therefore shall my swoord goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the c South to the North,

5 That all flesh may knowe, howe that I the Lorde haue drawen my swoorde out of the sheathe, and it shall not be put in againe.

a. As doctrine is compared to rayne, euen so here woordes are compared to droppes.

b. That is, such as seeme to haue an outward shewe of ryghteousnesse by obseruation of the ceremonies of the law.

c. Meanyng through all the lande.

6 Mourne therefore, O thou ſonne of man, yea euen with the d breaking of thy loynes, mourne bitterly in their preſence.

7 And yf they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then tel them, For the tydinges that commeth: All hartes ſhal melt, al handes ſhalbe letten downe, al ſtomackes ſhal faint, and all knees ſhal goe as water: beholde it commeth, and ſhalbe brought to paſſe, ſaith the Lorde God.

8 Againe, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

9 Thou ſonne of man, propheſie and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Speake, the ſwoord, the ſwoord is ſharpened and wel furbiſhed.

10 Sharpened is it to make a great ſlaughter, and furbiſhed that it may glitter: Shal we then make mirth? It contemneth the e rodde of my ſonne as f al other trees.

11 He hath geuen it to be furbiſhed, to holde it in the hand: this ſwoorde is ſharpened, and furbiſhed, to geue it into the hand of the g ſlayer.

12 Crie and howle ſonne of man, for it commeth vpon my people, it commeth vppon al the princes of Iſrael: the terrours of the ſwoord ſhalbe vpon my people, ſmite therefore thou vpon thy thigh.

13 Becauſe it is a triall, and what yf h it contemne the rod? it ſhalbe no more, ſayth the Lorde God.

14 Propheſie thou ſonne of man, & ſmite thy i handes together, and let the ſwoorde be doubled thryſe, euen the ſwoord of the great ſlaughter, entring into their priuie chambers,

15 To make them faint at the hartes, & to multiplie their falles, in al their gates haue I geuen the terrour of the ſwoorde: Ah it is made bright, and dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee k one way or other, eyther vppon the right hand or vppon the left, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I wyl ſmite my handes together alſo, and make my wrathful indignation to reſt: euen I the Lord haue ſaide it.

18 The woord of the Lorde came yet vnto me againe, ſaying, 19 Thou ſonne of man, appoint thee two l wayes, that the ſwoord of the king of Babylon may come: both theſe wayes ſhal goe out of one lande, and chooſe thee a place, at the head of the cities wayes chooſe it.

20 Appoint a way that the ſwoorde may come toward Rabbath of the Ammonites, and toward m Iuda in the defenced Hieruſalem.

21 For the kyng of Babylon ſtood at the n parting of the wayes, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, he made his arrowes bright, conſulted with images, and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the ſoothſaying for Hieruſalem, to appoint captaines, to open their mouth to the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with the alarum, to ſet battel rammes againſt the gates, to caſt a Bulwarke, and to builde a fort.

23 And it ſhalbe vnto them as a falſe diuination in their ſight, for the oathes made vnto them: but p he wyl cal to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the lord God, Becauſe ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred in diſcouering your tranſgreſſions, ſo that in al your workes your ſinnes might appeare, becauſe ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhalbe taken by hand.

25 O thou ſhamefull wicked q prince of Iſrael, whoſe day is come, euen when wickednes ſhal haue an end, 26 Thus ſaith the Lorde God, I wyl take away the r Diademe, and put of the crowne: this ſhalbe no more the ſame, I wil exalt the humble, and abaſe him that is hie.

27 Ouerthrowen, ouerthrowen, ouerthrowen wyll I put s it, and it ſhall not be, vntil he come to whom the iudgement belongeth, and to whom I haue geuen it.

28 And thou, O ſonne of man, propheſie and ſpeake, Thus ſayth the Lorde God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemie, ſpeake thou, The ſwoorde, the ſwoorde is drawen forth alredy to ſlaughter, and furbiſhed to conſume becauſe of the glittering:

29 Whiles they ſee vnto thee vanitie, & diuine a lye vnto thee, to put thee with the neckes of the wicked that be ſlayne, whoſe day is come when their iniquitie ſhall haue an ende.

30 Shoulde I cauſe it to returne into his ſheath? In the place where thou waſt created, in the lande of thine habitation wyl I iudge thee.

31 And I wyl powre mine indignation vpon thee, and wyll blowe vppon thee in the fyre of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the handes of deſperate people, whiche are ſkilful to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt feede the fyre, and thy blood ſhalbe ſhed in the middeſt of the land: thou ſhalt be put out of remembrance, for I the Lorde haue ſpoken it.

MOreouer, the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, and sayde,

2 Thou sonne of man, wylt thou not a iudge, wylt thou not iudge this bloodie citie? wylt thou not shewe her al her abominations?

3 And tell them, thus sayth the Lorde God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middest of it, that her tyme b may come, and maketh idolles c against her selfe, to defyle her selfe.

4 Thou hast made thee selfe gyltie in the blood that thou hast shedde, and defyled thee in the idolles whiche thou hast made: thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe nygh, and made the tyme of thy yeeres to come: therefore wyll I make thee a reproche among the heathen, and to be a mocking in al landes.

5 Whether they be nygh or farre from thee, they shal laugh thee to scorne, thou that hast gotten thee so foule a name, and art full of trouble.

6 Beholde the rulers of Israel, euery one in thee was redy to his power to shedde blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother, in thee haue they oppressed the stranger, in thee haue they vexed the wydowe and the fatherlesse.

8 Thou hast despised my holy thynges, and defyled my Sabbothes.

9 * Tale tellers are there in thee to shed blood, in thee are suche as eate vppon the hylles, and in the middest of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee they discouered theyr fathers shame, in thee they haue humbled her that was set apart for pollution.

11 ‖ Euery man hath dealt shamefully with his neyghbours wyfe, and abominably defyled his * daughter in lawe, in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 Yea gyftes haue ben receyued in thee to shed blood, thou hast taken vsurie and increase, thou hast oppressed thy neyghbours by extortion, and forgotten me, sayth the Lorde God.

13 Beholde, I haue d smitten my handes vpon thy couetousnesse that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood whiche hath ben shedde in the middest of thee.

14 Is thy hart able to endure? or may thy handes be strengthened in the dayes that I shal haue to doo with thee? Euen I the Lorde that speake it, wyll bring it also to passe.

15 I wyl scatter thee among the heathen, and straw thee about in the landes, and wyll cause thy fylthinesse to e vanish out of thee.

16 Yea and thou shalt be thine f owne inheritance in the sight of the heathen, that thou mayest knowe that I am the Lorde.

17 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Thou sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as drosse: all they are brasse, tinne, iron, and lead in the middest of the furnace, euen drosse of syluer are they.

19 Therfore thus sayth the Lord God, Forasmuche as ye all are turned into drosse, therefore beholde I wyl bring you togeather vnto Hierusalem.

20 Like as they geather syluer, brasse, iron, tinne, and lead into the middest of the furnace, and the fyre is blowne there vnder to melt them: euen so wyl I geather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and let you remayne there and cause you to g melt.

21 I wyll bring you togeather, and blowe the fyre of my wrath vpon you, and ye shalbe moulten in the middest thereof.

22 Like as the syluer is moulten in the middest of the furnace, so shall ye also be moulten therein, that ye may knowe howe that I the Lorde haue powred my wrath vpon you.

23 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

24 Thou sonne of man, tel her, Thou art an vncleane lande, which is not h rayned vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a i conspiracie of her prophetes in the middest thereof: as a roaring Lion rauening his pray they deuoure soules, they haue taken the riche & pretious thinges, they haue made her many wydowes in the middest thereof.

26 Her priestes haue broken my lawe, and defiled my holy thinges, they put no difference betweene the holy and vnholy, neyther discerne they betweene the cleane and vncleane: they turne theyr eyes from my Sabbothes, and I am defiled among them.

27 Thy rulers in the middest of thee are like wolues rauening the pray, to shedde blood, and destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 As for her k prophetes, they daube with vntempered morter, they see vanities, and diuine lyes vnto them, saying, The Lorde sayth so: whereas the Lorde hath not spoken.

29 The people in the land vsed wycked extortion & robberie, they vexe the poore and needie, & oppresse the stranger agaynst right.

¶ The.xxiii. Chapter.

4 Of the fornication, that is to ſay, of the idolatrie of Samaria and Hieruſalem, vnder the name of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſonne of man, there were two women the daughters of a one mother.

3 And they committed fornication in b Egypt, they played the harlottes in their youth: there were their breſtes preſſed, and there they bruiſed the teates of their virginitie.

4 The c names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter, and they were myne, and they bare ſonnes and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Hieruſalem Aholibah.

5 Aholah played the harlot d when ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fyre with her louers the Aſſyrians her nepghbours:

6 Whiche were clothed with blewe lyke, both captaynes and princes, they were all pleaſaunt young men, and horſemen ryding vpon horſes.

7 Thus ſhe committed her whoredome with them, being al choſen men of Aſſhur, and with al on whom ſhe doted, and defiled her ſelfe with al their idols.

8 Neyther left ſhe the fornication that ſhe vſed with the Egyptians: for in her youth they e lay with her, they bruiſed the breſtes of her maydenhead, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the handes of her louers, euen into the handes of the Aſſyrians vpon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcouered her ſhame, tooke her ſonnes and daughters, and ſlue her with the ſwoorde, an eupl name had ſhe among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 Her ſiſter Aholibah ſawe this, and deſtroyed her ſelfe with inordinate loue more then ſhe, and with her fornications, more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Aſſyrians captaynes and princes her nepghbours, clothed with all manner of gorgeous apparel, horſemen ryding vpon horſes, being all pleaſant young men.

13 Then I ſawe that ſhe was defyled, and they tooke both one way.

14 But ſhe encreaſed ſtyl in whoredome: for when ſhe ſawe men painted vppon the wall, the f images of the Chaldees paynted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vppon their heades, looking all lyke princes, after the maner of the Babylonians in Chaldea, the lande where they were borne:

16 As ſoone as ſhe ſawe them, ſhe burnt in loue vpon them, and ſent meſſengers vnto them into the lande of the Chaldees.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came vnto her in the bed of loue, they defyled her with their whoredome: and ſo was ſhe polluted with them, and her luſt was abated from them.

18 And ſhe diſcouered her whoredome, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then my hart forſooke her, lyke as my hart was gone from her ſiſter alſo.

19 Neuertheleſſe, ſhe encreaſed her whoredome more, and remembred the dayes of her youth, wherein ſhe had played the harlot in the lande of Egypt.

20 She burnt in luſt vpon their lechers, whoſe fleſhe was lyke the fleſhe of aſſes, and their iſſue lyke the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thus thou haſt called to remembrance the fylthineſſe of thy youth, when thy teates were bruiſed by the Egyptians, for the pappes of thy youth.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſayth the Lorde God, I wyl rayſe vp thy louers againſt thee from whom thy hart is departed, and geather them togeather agaynſt thee on euery ſide.

23 Namely the Babylonians and al the Chaldees, "rulers, wealthie and mightie men, with al the Aſſyrians, al pleaſant young men, captaynes and princes, all valiant and renowmed ryding vpon horſes.

24 Theſe ſhal come vpon thee with charettes, weapons, and wheeles, and great multitude of people, with buckler, ſhielde, and helmet they ſhal beſet thee on euery ſide: "I wyl geue iudgement before them, yea they them ſelues ſhal iudge thee accordyng to their owne iudgement.

25 I wyl lay mine indignation vppon thee, ſo that they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhal cut of thy noſe and thyne eares, and thy remnaunt ſhall fal by the ſwoorde, they ſhal cary away thy ſonnes and daughters, and the reſidue ſhalbe deuoured by the fyre.

26 They ſhall ſtrip thee out of thy clothes,

a. Meaning Iſrael and Iuda, which came both out of one familie.

b. They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

c. Aholah ſignifieth a manſion or dwellyng in her ſelfe, meaning Samaria, which was the royal citie of Iſrael and Aholibah ſignifieth, My manſion in her, whereby is meant Hieruſalem, where Gods temple was.

d. Or, vnder me, that is, vnder my gouernance, and named the people of god: they became idolaters, forſooke God, and put their truſt in the Aſſyrians.

e. The holy ghoſt vſeth theſe termes whiche ſeeme ſtrange to chaſte eares, to cauſe this wycked vice of idolatrie ſo to be abhorred, that vnneth any ſhoulde abyde to heare the name thereof mentioned.

f. This declareth that no woordes are able ſufficiently to expreſſe the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy ghoſt here comparyth them to thoſe which in their raging loue and fylthie luſtes doge vpon the images and paynting of them after whom they luſt.

o, ryded, as Shoah, and Koa.

" o, I wyl leaue the puniſhment vpon them.

clothes, and take away thy fayre iewels.

27 Thus wyll I make thy wickednesse to ceasse from thee, and thy fornication out of the lande of Egypt: so that thou shalt turne thyne eyes no more after them, and cast thy mynde no more vpon Egypt.

28 For thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl deliuer thee into the handes of them whom thou hatest, yea, euen into the handes of them from whom thyne hart is departed.

29 And they shal deale hatefully with thee, and take away al thy g labour, and leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications h shalbe discouered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I wyll doo these thynges vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoryng after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their Idolles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy syster, therefore wyll I geue her cup into thyne hande.

32 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Thou shalt drinke of thy systers cup deepe and large, thou shalt be laughed to scorne, and had in derision, because it conteyneth much.

33 Thou shalt be fylled with i drunkennesse and sorowe euen with the cup of destruction and desolation, with the cuppe of thy syster Samaria.

34 Thou shalt drinke it, and sucke it out, and thou shalt breake the sheardes thereof, and teare thyne owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lorde God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, For as muche as thou hast forgotten me, and cast me aside behynde thy backe, so beare now thine owne wickednesse and whoredome.

36 The Lorde sayde moreouer vnto me, Thou sonne of man, wylt thou not iudge Aholah, and Aholibah? shewe them their abominations.

37 Namely that they haue broken their wedlocke, and blood is in their handes: and with their Idols haue they committed aduulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fyre to be their k meate.

38 Yea, and this haue they done vnto me also, they haue defiled my sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbothes.

39 For when they had slayne their children for their idols, they came the same day into my sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middest of mine house.

40 And howe muche more is it that they sent for men to come from l farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou dyddest washe thee selfe, and paynted thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornamentes.

41 Thou satest vpon a stately bed, and a m table spread before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a noyse of a merie companie at n it, and with the men, beside the multitude of the people, were brought men of Saba out of the desart, whiche gaue them bracelettes vpon their handes, and beautifull crownes vpon their heades.

43 And I sayde vnto her that was worne in her adulteries, Nowe shal her fornications come to an ende, and she also.

44 And they went in to her as they goe vnto a common harlot: euen so went they to Aholah and Aholibah, those wycked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them after the maner of harlots, and after the maner of murderers: for they are harlottes, and blood is in their handes.

46 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I wyll bryng a great multitude of people vpō them, and geue them to be scattered and spoyled.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them downe with their swoordes, they shall slay their sonnes and daughters, and burne vp their houses with fyre.

48 Thus wyll I cause wickednesse to ceasse out of the land, that all o women may be taught not to doo after your wickednesse.

49 And so they shall lay your wickednes vpon your owne selues, and the sinnes of your Idols shal ye beare: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde God.

g All thy trauaile and labour.
h All the world shal see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue Idolles.

¶ The. xxiiii. Chapter.

He proueth the syeging of Hierusalem by a parable of a seething pot.

a. Of Iechonias captiuitie & of the raigne of Zedekias. 2. King. 25.
b. Called Tebeth, cōteining part of December and part of Ianuary, in whiche moneth & day Nabuchodonosor besieged Hierusalē.
c. Wherby is meant Hierusalem.
d. That is, the citizens and cheefe men therof.

IN the a nienth yeere in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the b moneth, came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

2 O thou sonne of man, write thee the name of this day, yea, euen of this present day: for the kyng of Babylon set hym selfe agaynst Hierusalem this selfe same day.

3 And shewe the rebellious house a parable, & speake vnto them, thus sayth the Lorde God, Prepare a c pot, set it on, and powre water into it.

4 Geather the d peeces thereof into it, euery good peece, the thygh and the shoulder, and fyll it with the cheefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, * & burne also bones vnder it, let it boyle well, and let the

* Or, heape.

the bones thereof ſeeth wel therein.

6 Wherfore thus ſaith the Lord God on this maner, Woe vnto the bloodie citie, to the pot whoſe ſcumme is therein, and whoſe ſcumme is not gone out of it: bring it out e peece by peece, let no f lot fal vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middeſt of it, vpon a high dry g ſtone hath ſhe powred it, and not vppon the grounde, that it might be couered with duſt:

8 That it might cauſe wrath to aryſe, and take vengeance: I haue ſet her blood vpon a high dry rocke, that it ſhoulde not be couered.

9 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, ||O woe be vnto the bloodthirſtie citie, for whom euen I mee ſelf wil make a great fire,

10 And heape on much wood, and h kindle the fire, and ſeeth the fleſhe, and "ſpice the pot, ſo that the very bones ſhalbe brent.

11 Moreouer, I wyl ſet the pot emptie vpon the coales, ſo that the braſſe therof may be hot and burnt, and the filthineſſe of it may be molten in it, and the ſcumme of it ſhalbe conſumed.

12 She hath weeried her ſelfe with "labour, yet her great ſcumme is not gone of her, in the fire her ſcumme muſt be conſumed.

13 In thy filthineſſe is wickednеſſe: becauſe I i would haue purged thee, and thou waſt not purged from thy filthyneſſe, thou ſhalt not be purged any more, till I haue cauſed myne indignation to reſt in thee.

14 Euen I the Lord haue ſpoken it: yea, it is come thereto already that I wyl doo it, I wyl not goe backe, I wyll not ſpare, I wyl not repent: but according to thy wayes and imaginations ſhall they k iudge thee, ſayth the Lorde God.

15 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

16 Thou ſonne of man, beholde, I wyl take away from thee the l pleaſure of thine eyes with a plague, yet ſhalt thou neyther mourne nor weepe, neyther ſhall thy teares runne downe.

17 Mourne in ſilence, make no mourning of the dead, bynde the tyre of thy head vpon thee, and put on thy ſhooes vppon thy feete, couer not thy lyppes, and m eate no mans bread.

18 So I ſpake vnto the people betimes in the morning, and at euen my wyfe dyed: then vppon the next morowe I dyd as I was commaunded.

19 And the people ſayde vnto me, Wylt thou not tel vs what this ſignifieth towarde vs, that thou doeſt ſo?

20 I anſwered them, The woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 21 Tel the houſe of Iſrael, thus ſayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl pollute my ſanctuarie, euen the glory of your power, the pleaſure of your eyes, and your hartes deſyre: and your ſonnes and daughters whom you haue left, ſhal fall thorough the ſwoorde.

22 Like as ye haue done, ſo ſhal ye doo alſo: ye ſhal not couer your lyppes, ye ſhall eate no mans bread.

23 And your tyre ſhalbe vppon your heades, and your ſhooes vpon your feete: ye ſhal neyther mourne nor weepe, but ye ſhal pyne away in your iniquities, and mourne one towardes another.

24 Thus Ezechiel is your ſhewetoken: according to al that he hath done, ye ſhall doo: when it commeth, then ye ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde God.

25 Alſo, thou ſonne of man, ſhal it not be in the day when I take frō them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleaſure of their eyes, & the "lyfting vp of their ſoules, their ſonnes and their daughters?

26 In that day ſhall come one that is eſcaped, vnto thee, o and bryng it to the hearyng of thyne eares.

27 In that day ſhall thy mouth be opened to hym which is eſcaped, that thou mayeſt ſpeake, & be no more dumbe: yea, thou ſhalt be their ſhewe token, that they may knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

4 Beholde therefore, I wyll deliuer thee to the people of the b Eaſt, that they may haue thee in poſſeſſion: theſe ſhal ſettle their c palaces in thee, and make their dwellinges in thee, they ſhall eate thy fruite, and drynke vp thy mylke.

5 And for d Rabbath, I wyll make of it a stable for Camels, and of the Ammonites a sheepefolde: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

6 For thus sayth the Lorde God, Insomuche as thou hast clapped with thyne handes, and stamped with thy feete, yea and reioyced ouer the lande of Israel with all thy * despite in hart:

7 Beholde therefore, I wyll stretche out my hande ouer thee, and deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and roote thee out frō among the people, and cause thee to perysshe out of the landes, yea I wyll make thee to be destroyed, that thou mayest knowe that I am the Lorde.

8 Thus sayth the Lorde GOD, For so muche as Moab and Seir doo say, Beholde, the house of Juda is lyke as all Gentiles be:

9 Therefore behold I wyl open the syde of Moab from the cities, from the cities I say of his frontires, the pleasures of the countrey as namely Bethiesimoth, Baalmeon, and Kiriathiarim:

10 e Unto the chyldren of the East, agaynst the Ammonites, and wyll geue it into possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be had in remembrance among the heathen.

11 And I wyll execute iudgementes vpon Moab: and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

12 Thus sayth the Lorde GOD, For that Edom hath done in auengyng reuengement vpon the house of Juda, and hath done great offence, and auenged hym selfe vppon them:

13 Therfore thus sayth the Lord God, I wyll reache out myne hande vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, I wyll make it desolate from Theman, and Dedanah shall fall by the swoorde.

14 And I wyl execute my reuengement vppon Edom by the hande of my people Israel, they shall doo in Edom accordyng to my wrath and indignation, so that they shall knowe my vengeance, sayth the Lorde God.

15 Thus sayth the Lorde GOD, For that the Philistines dyd in vengeance, namely in auengyng reuengement, with a * disspiteful hart to destroy it for the olde enmitie:

16 Therfore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I wyll stretche out my hande ouer the Philistines, and destroy the f Cerethites, and cause all the remnant of the sea coast to perysshe:

17 A great vengeance wyll I take vpon them, with punishmentes of my wrath, that they may knowe that I am the Lorde, when I shall lay my vengeaunce vpon them.

¶ The.xxv. Chapter.

1. He prophecieth that Tyrus shalbe ouerthrowen, because it reioyced at the destruction of Hierusalem.

AND it came to passe in the a eleuenth yeere, the fyrst day of the moneth, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, because that Tyre hath spoken vpon Hierusalem, Haha, the gates of the people is broken, b it is turned vnto me, for nowe that she is destroyed I shalbe c fylled:

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, O Tyre, I wyll vpon thee, I wyll raple vp many nations agaynst thee, lyke as when the sea arpleth with his waues.

4 They shall breake the wals of Tyre, and cast downe her towres, I wyll scrape her dust from her, and make her a dyre rocke.

5 She shalbe for a spreading of nettes in the sea, for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lorde GOD, and she shalbe for a spoyle to the nations.

6 Her d daughters that are in the feeld shalbe slayne with the swoord, that they may knowe howe that I am the Lorde.

7 For thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl bring vpon Tyrus Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon from the North, a king of kynges, with horses, charrets, horsemen, with a multitude, and muche people.

8 Thy daughters that are in the feelde shall he slay with the swoorde: but agaynst thee he shall make bulwarkes, & cast a mount agaynst thee, and lyft vp his speare agaynst thee.

9 He shal set engins of warre before him agaynst thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee they shalbe so many, thy wals shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, wheles, and charriottes, when he shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall he treade downe all thy streetes, he shall slaye the people with the swoorde, and the pyllers of thy strength shall fall downe to the grounde.

12 They shall rob thy ryches, and spoyle thy marchandise, thy walles shall they breake downe, and destroy thy houses of pleasure, thy stones, thy tymber, and dust shal they cast into the middest of the water.

14 I wyll bryng thee into a drye rocke, thou ſhalt be for a ſpreadyng of nettes, thou ſhalt neuer be buylt agayne: for euen I the Lorde haue ſpoken it, ſayth the Lorde God.

15 Thus hath the Lord GOD ſpoken concerning Tyre, Shal not the Iles tremble at the noyſe of thy fall, and at the crye of the wounded, when they ſhalbe ſlayne and murdered in the myddeſt of thee?

e. The gouernours & rulers of other countreis by the ſea, wherby be ſignifieth that her deſtruction ſhoulde be ſo horrible, that al the world ſhoulde heare thereof, and be afrayde.

16 All princes of the e ſea ſhall come downe from their thrones, they ſhal lay away their robes, and put of their broudered garmentes, yea with trembling ſhall they be clothed, they ſhal ſit vpon the grounde, they ſhalbe aſtonished at euery moment, and be amaſed at thee?

18 Now ſhal the inhabiters of the Iles be aſtonished in the day of thy fall: yea the Iles that are in the ſea ſhalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus ſayth the Lord God, When I make thee a deſolate citie, as other cities be that no man dwel in, and when I bryng vp the deepe vpon thee, that great waters may couer thee:

20 Then wyll I caſt thee downe vnto them that deſſende into the pit, vnto a people of g olde tyme, and ſet thee in a lande that is beneathe, lyke the olde ruynes, with them which go downe to the graue, ſo that no man ſhall dwell more in thee: but I wyll reſerue honour for the h lande of the lyuing.

¶ The.xxvii. Chapter.

The prophete is moued to bewayle the deſolation of Tyrus.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 O thou ſonne of man, take vp a lamentable complaynt vpon Tyre,

3 And ſay vnto Tyre that is ſituate at the entrie of the ſea, whiche is the mart of the people for many Iles, Thus ſayth the Lorde God, O Tyre, thou haſt ſayd, I am of perfect beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the myddes of the ſeas, thy buylders haue made perfect thy beautie.

5 They haue made all thy ship boordes of Fyrre trees of a Shenir, from Libanus haue they taken Cedar trees to make thee maſtes:

a This mount-ayne was cal-led Hermō, by the Ammonites called it Sherion Deut. 3.

b Which is take for Greece and Italie.

7 Fyne lynnen with broudered worke out of Egypt was ſpread ouer thee to be thy ſayle: blewe ſilke and purple out of the Iles of Eliſhah was thy couerynge.

8 The inhabiters of Sidon and Aruad were thy mariners: and thy wyſe men, O Tyre, that were in thee, were the ſhypmaſters.

9 The auncient and wyſe men of Gebal were in thee thy c ſtoppers of chinkes: all ſhyps of the ſea with their ſhypmen were in thee to occupy thy marchandiſe.

13 Iauan, Tubal, and Meſech were thy marchantes concernyng the e lyues of men, and they brought veſſelles of braſſe for thy marchandiſe.

14 They of the houſe of Thogarma brought vnto thee, at the tyme of thy mart, Horſes, Courſers, and Mules.

15 They of Dedan were thy marchantes, and many Iles the marchandiſe of thy handes, and brought thee f hornes, teeth, and g Hebenus, for preſentes.

f. Hornes of Vnicornes, teeth of Elephantes, called Iuorie.

g. Hebenus precious wood bright & blacke.

16 They of Aram were thy marchantes for the multitude of thy woorkes, and occupied in thy fayres with Emeraldes, purple, broudered woorke, fyne lynnen, coral, and pearle.

17 Iuda and the lande of Iſrael occupied with thee, & brought vnto thy markets wheate of h Minneth and Pannag, honie, oyle, and triacle.

h. Theſe were two places where the beſt wheate grew.

18 Damaſcus alſo vſed marchandiſe with thee, in the wyne of Helbon, and whyte wool, becauſe thyne occupying was ſo great, and thy wares ſo many.

19 Dan, Iauan, and * Meuſal haue brought vnto thy markets wrought iron: Caſſia & Calamus were amōg thy marchandiſe.

* wandring to and fro.

20 They

20 They of Dedan were thy marchantes in pretious clothes for chariots.

21 Arabia and al the princes of Cedar haue occupied with thee, in weathers, rammes, and goates: in these were they thy marchantes.

22 The marchantes of Seba and Rema haue occupied also with thee in al cheefe spices, in al pretious stones and golde, which they brought vnto thy markets.

23 Haran, Chenne, and Eden, the marchantes of Seba, Assyria, and Chelmad, were dooers with thee.

24 These were thy marchantes in all sortes of thynges, in rayment of blewe sylke, and of broydred woorke, and in Cofers for the riche apparel, whiche were trussed with cordes, and "Cedar boorde among thy marchandize.

25 The shippes of Tharsis were the cheefe of thine occupiyng: thus thou wast replenished and in great woorshyp, euen in the middes of the sea.

26 Thy "rowers haue brought thee into great waters, the e east wynde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.

27 Thy riches, and thy fayres, thy marchandize, thy maryners, and shippmaisters, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandize, and al thy men of warre that are in thee, and al thy multitude that is in the middes of thee, shal fall in the middes of the sea, in the day of thy fall.

28 The f suburbes shall shake at the loude crye of thy shipmen.

29 Al that handle the ore, maryners, and al shippmaisters of the sea, shall come downe from their shippes, and stande vpon the land.

30 And they shal cause their voyce to be heard agaynst thee, and shall crye bitterly, and shal cast dust vpon their heades, & wallowe in the ashes.

31 They shal g make them selues bauld for thee, and gyrde them with sackcloth, and they shal weepe for thee with sorowful hart, and bitter mourning.

32 And they shal take vp a lamentation for thee in their mourning, and lament ouer thee: What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea?

33 When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou fylledst many people: the kynges of the earth hast thou made riche, through the multitude of thy riches & marchandize.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the deapthes of the waters, thy marchandize, and al thy multitude that was in the middes of thee, shal fall.

35 All the inhabitantes of the Iles shal be astonied at thee, and al their kinges shalbe sore afrayde, and troubled in theyr countenance.

36 The marchantes of the nations shal hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and shalt m neuer be any more.

m. Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophesied to be destroyed but seuentie yeeres. Esai. 23.

¶ The. xxviii. Chapter.

The woorde of God agaynst the king of Tyrus for his pryde.

THe woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, Tell the prince of Tyre, thus sayth the Lorde God, Because thou hast a proude hart, and hast sayd, I am a a God, I sit in the seate of God, in the middest of the sea: whereas thou art but a man, and not God, b though thou set thine hart as the hart of God.

3 Beholde, thou thinkest thee selfe wyser then c Daniel, that there is no secretes hydde from thee.

4 With thy great wisedome and thyne vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee great wealthinesse, and geathered treasure of syluer and golde.

5 With thy great wisdome & occupiyng hast thou encreased thy "power, and because of thy great riches thy hart is proude.

6 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, For so muche as thou hast set thine hart as the hart of God:

7 Behold, I wyl bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations, these shall drawe out their swoordes vppon the beautie of thy wysedome, and shal defile thy glory.

8 They shal cast thee downe to the pyt, so that thou shalt dye the death of them that be slayne in the middest of the sea.

9 Wylt thou say then before them that slay thee, I am a God? whereas thou art but a man, and not God, in the handes of them that slay thee.

10 Dye shalt thou the death of the d vncircumcised in the handes of the strangers: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lorde God.

11 Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

12 Thou sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vppon the kyng of Tyre, and tell him, thus sayth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, e ful of wisedome and perfite beautie.

13 Thou hast ben in the pleasant garden of God, thou art deckt with al maner of pretious stones, with Rubie, Topas, Diamond, Churkis, Onyx, Iasper, Saphyr, Emerald, Carbuncle, and golde: the woorkemanshyp of thy timbrelles, and of thy pipes

a. Like as God is safe in heauen, euen so I am safe that none can come to hurt me.

b. Though thou diddest thinke in thine hart that thou wast equall with God.

c. Thus he speaketh by derision, for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wysdome in Babylon, when Ezechiel wrote this.

"Or, riches.

d. Like the rest of the heathen and infidels, which are Gods enimies.

e. He derideth the vayne opinion and confidence that the Tyrians had in their riches, strength, and pleasures.

that that be in thee, was prepared in the day that thou waſt created.

14 Thou art an f annoynted Cherub that coūereth, and I haue ſet thee in this dignitie, thou waſt vpon the holy mount of God, thou haſt walked in the middes of the ſtones of fire.

15 From the tyme of thy creation thou haſt ben perfite in thy wayes, tyl wyckedneſſe was founde in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy marchandiſe they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou haſt ſinned: I wyl caſt thee as prophane out of the g mount of God, and I wyll deſtroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the middes of the ſtones of fyre.

17 Thy hart was proude in thy beautie, and thorough thy brightneſſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy wyſedome: I wyll caſt thee downe to the grounde, I wyl lay thee before kynges, that they may beholde thee.

18 Thou haſt defiled thy h ſanctification with the great wyckedneſſe of thyne vnrighteous occupiyng: I wyll bryng a fyre from the middeſt of thee, to conſume thee, and wyl make thee to aſhes vpon the earth, in the ſight of all them that looke vpon thee.

19 All they that haue ben acquainted with thee among the heathen, ſhalbe abaſhed at thee: thou haſt ben a terrour, and neuer ſhalt thou be any more.

20 And the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

21 Thou ſonne of man, ſet thy face agaynſt Sidon, and prophecie vpon it,

22 And ſpeake, Thus ſayth the Lorde God, Beholde, O Sidon, I wyl vpon thee, and I wyl be glorified in the middeſt of thee: that it may be knowen howe that I am the Lorde, when I ſhall haue executed iudgementes in her, and ſhalbe ſanctified in her.

23 For I wyl ſende peſtilence and bloodſhedding into her ſtreetes, and the ſlayne ſhal fall in the middes of her by the ſwoorde comming vpon her on euery ſide: and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde.

24 They ſhalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the houſe of Iſrael, nor a greeuous thorne of al that are round about them, and deſpyſed them: and they ſhal know that I am the Lorde God.

25 Thus ſayth the Lorde God, When I gather the houſholde of Iſrael together agayne from the nations among whom they be ſcattered, then ſhall I be ſanctified in them in the ſight of the gentiles, and they ſhal dwel in the lande that I gaue to my ſeruant Iacob.

26 They ſhall dwell with confidence therein, buylde houſes, and plant vineyardes, yea, with confidence ſhall they dwel therein when I haue executed iudgementes vppon all thoſe that deſpiſe them rounde about: and then ſhal they knowe that I am the Lorde their God.

The.xxix. Chapter.

He propheſieth agaynſt Pharao, and of the deſolation of Egypt, with the ſparkyng abrode of the Egyptians.

IN the a tenth yeere, vpon the twelfth day of the tenth moneth, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſonne of man, ſet thy face agaynſt Pharao the kyng of Egypt, propheſie agaynſt hym, and agaynſt the whole lande of Egypt.

3 Speake, and tel hym, thus ſayth the Lorde God, Beholde, O Pharao, thou king of Egypt, I wyll vpon thee thou great Dragon b that lyeth in the middes of his ryuers, thou that ſayeſt, The ryuer is myne, I haue made it for mee ſelfe.

4 I wyll put c hookes in thy chawes, and hang thy fiſhe in thy ryuers vpon thy ſkales: after that, I wyll drawe thee out of the middeſt of thy ryuers, yea, and all the fiſhe of thy ryuers ſhal hang vpon thy ſkales.

5 I wyll leaue thee in the wyldernes both thee and all the fiſhe of thy ryuers: thou ſhalt fal vpon the open feelde, thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I haue geuen thee for meate to the beaſtes of the feelde, and to the foules of the * ayre.

6 That all they which dwel in Egypt, may knowe that I am the Lorde, becauſe they haue ben a ſtaffe of reede to the houſe of Iſrael.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hande, thou brakeſt and rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned vppon thee, thou brakeſt and madeſt al their lopnes to ſtande vpright.

8 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, Beholde, I wyl bring a ſwoorde vpon thee, and deſtroy out of thee both man and beaſt.

9 Yea, the lande of Egypt ſhalbe deſolate and waſte, and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde, becauſe he ſayd, The ryuer is mine, I mee ſelfe haue made it.

10 Beholde therefore, I wyl vpon thee, and vpon thy ryuers, I wyl make the land of Egypt vtterly waſte and deſolate, from the towre of Seueneh, vnto the borders of Ethiopia.

13 Agayne, thus sayth the Lorde God, When the fourtie yeeres are expired, I wyll geather the Egyptians togeather againe out of the nations among whom they were scattered.

14 And I wyll bryng the captiuitie of Egypt agayne, and cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, the lande of their habitation, & they shalbe there a d smal kyngdome.

15 Yea it shalbe the smallest among other kyngdomes, neyther shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I wyl so minish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And they shalbe no more vnto the house of Israel a truste, which bryngeth their iniquitie to remembraunce, when they shall looke after them: and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde God.

17 In the e twentie and seuenth yeere, the firste day of the firste moneth, came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

18 Thou sonne of man, Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon called his armie to serue a great seruice agaynst Tyre: euery head was made balde, & euery shoulder bare, yet had neyther he nor his armie any wages for Tyrus for the seruice whiche he serued agaynst it.

19 Therfore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl geue the lande of Egypt vnto Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babylon, that he may take away her multitude, and spoyle her spoyles, and take her pray to pay his host their wages withall.

20 For the * woorke which he wrought about it, I haue geuen hym the lande of Egypt, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lorde God.

21 In that day I wyl cause the horne of the house of Israel to budde forth, and I wyl geue thee the opening of thy mouth in the middes of them: and they shal knowe that I am the Lorde.

The.xxx Chapter.

The destruction of Egypt, and of his cities is bewayled.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, prophecie, and speake, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Howle, woe woorth this day:

3 For the day is neare, the day of the Lorde is at hande, the darke day, the tyme of the nations shalbe. * a cloudy day.

4 And the swoord shal come vpon Egypt: and feare shalbe in Ethiopia when the slayne shall fall in Egypt: and they shall take away her multitude, and her fundatiõs shalbe broken downe.

5 Yea Ethiopia, Libya, and Lydia, all their common people, and Chub, and al that be confederate vnto them, shall fal with them throughe the swoorde.

6 Thus sayth the Lorde, The maintenners of the land of Egypt shall fall, the pride of her power shall come downe, euen from the towre of a Seueneh shall they fall downe in it with the swoorde, sayth the Lorde God. a. Which was a strong citie of Egypt.

9 In that day shal messengers go foorth from me in shyps, to make the careless Morians afrayd, and feare shal come vpon them, accordyng to the day of Egypt: for loe it commeth.

10 Thus sayth the Lorde God, I wyll cause the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon.

11 He, and his people with him, the terrible nations shalbe brought to destroye the lande: they shall draw out their swoordes vpon Egypt, and fyll the lande full of slayne men.

12 I wyll make their ryuers drye, and sell the land into the handes of wicked people: the lande and all that is therin I wyl destroy through the hande of strangers: euen I the Lorde haue sayde it.

13 Thus sayth the Lorde God, || I wyl destroy the idolles, and bryng the images of b Noph to an ende: there shall no more be a prince of Egypt, and a fearefulnesse wyll I sende into the Egyptians lande. || Zach. 13. 2.

15 And I wyll powre out my wrathfull indignation vpon Sin the strength of Egypt, and I wyll destroy the multitude of No.

19 Thus wyl I execute my iudgementes in Egypt, and they ſhall knowe how that I am the Lorde.

20 And in the [f] eleuenth yeere, vpon the ſeuenth day of the fyrſt moneth, the woꝛde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 22 Therfoꝛe thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I wyl vpon Pharao king of Egypt, and breake his arme that was ſtrong, but is broken: and I wyll cauſe the ſwoꝛde to fall out of his hande.

23 As foꝛ the Egyptians I wyll ſcatter them among the nations, and ſtrawe them in the landes about.

24 Agayne, I wyll ſtrengthen the arme of the kyng of Babylon, and geue hym my ſwoꝛde in his hand, but I wyll breake Pharaos armes, and he ſhal grone the gronynges of a deadly wounded man befoꝛe hym:

26 And I wyl ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and ſtrawe them in the landes about: and they ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde.

The.xxxi. Chapter.

A compariſon of the proſperitie of Pharao with the proſperitie of the Aſſyrians. 10. He propheſieth a lyke deſtruction to them both.

MOꝛeouer, in the [a] eleuenth yeere, the firſt day of the third moneth, the woꝛd of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying, 2 Thou ſonne of man, ſpeake vnto Pharao kyng of Egypt, to all his people, Whom art thou [b] lyke in thy greatneſſe?

3 Behold, Aſſur is a Cedar in Libanon, with faire branches, and with thicke ſhadowing boughes of a hygh ſtature, and his toppe was among the thicke bowes.

4 The waters made hym great, and the deepe ſet hym vp on hygh, with the ryuers runnyng rounde about his plantes, and ſet out her [c] litle riuers vnto all the trees of the feelde.

5 Therefoꝛe was he hygher then all the trees of the feelde, and his bowes were multiplyed, and his branches were long, becauſe of the multitude of the waters whiche the deepe ſent out.

6 All foules of the [a] ayre made their neſtes in his branches, vnder his boughes dyd al the beaſtes of the feelde bryng foꝛth their young, and vnder his ſhadowe dwelt all myghtie nations.

7 Beautifull was he in his greatneſſe, and in the length of his branches: foꝛ his roote ſtoode beſyde great waters.

8 No Cedar tree might [d] hyde hym in the garden of God, there was no Fyre trees lyke his branches, the Cheſtnutte trees were not lyke the boughes of hym: all the trees in the garden of God myght not be compared vnto hym in his beautie.

9 I made him fayre with the multitude of his branches: inſomuch that all the trees in the pleaſant garden of GOD had enuy at hym.

10 Therfoꝛe thus ſayth the Lord God, Foꝛ ſo much as he hath lyft vp hym ſelfe ſo hygh, and hath ſhot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his hart is lyft vp in his heyght:

11 I haue therefoꝛe deliuered hym into the handes of the [e] myghtyeſt among the heathen: he ſhall handle him, for in his wickedneſſe haue I caſt hym away.

12 And ſtrangers haue deſtroyed hym, euen the terrible nations, and haue left him: vpon the mountaynes, and vpon all valleyes haue his boughes fallen, and his boughes are [f] broken by al the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his ſhadowe, and haue foꝛſaken hym.

13 Vpon his ruine ſhal all the foules of the [a] ayre remayne, and all the beaſtes of the feelde ſhalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters ſhalbe exalted in their heyght, noꝛ ſhoote vp their toppes among the thicke boughes, neyther ſhall their trees ſtande in their heyght, as many of them as dꝛynke water: foꝛ they are all deliuered vnto death in the neather partes of the earth, in the middes of the chyldꝛen of men, among them that goe downe to the pyt.

15 Thus ſayth the Lorde God, in the day when he went downe to the graue, I cauſed a lamentation to be made, I [g] couered the deepe foꝛ hym, I reſtrayned the floodes

¶ The. xxxii. Chapter.

The prophete is commaunded to bewayle Pharao king of Egypt. 12. He propheseth that destruction shal come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

IN the a twelfth yeere, the first day of the twelfth moneth, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon Pharao the king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art b lyke a Lion of the heathen, and as a Whale fishe in the Sea: thou drawest out thy riuers, thou c troublest the waters with thy feete, and stampest in their riuers.

3 Thus sayth the Lorde God, I wyl spreade my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, these shal make thee come vp into my net.

4 For I wyl leaue thee vpon the lande, and cast thee vpon the open feelde, and I wil cause al the fowles of the ayre to remayne vpon thee, and fyll all the beastes of the feeld with thee.

5 Thy flesshe wyl I lay vpon the hilles, and fyl the valleys with thy d highnesse.

6 I wyl e water thine ouerflowing land with thy blood, euen to the mountaynes, and the riuers shalbe full of thee.

7 When thou art put out, I wyll couer the heauen, and make his starres dimme: I wyl spreade a cloude ouer the sunne, and the moone shal not geue her light.

7 Al the lightes of heauen wyl I make darke for thee: and bring darknesse vpon thy lande, sayth the Lorde, 9 I wyll stirre vp to anger the hartes of many people, when I bring thy destruction among the heathen, and vpon the countreys which thou knowest not.

10 Yea I wyl make many people amased at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sworde to glitter against their faces: and they shalbe afraide at euery moment euery man for his owne lyfe, in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lorde God, The king of Babylons sword shal come vpō thee:

12 With the swords of the mighty wil I smite downe thy multitude: they al shalbe terrible nations, and they shal destroy the pompe of Egypt, and the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I wyll destroye also all the beastes thereof from the great waters sides, neyther shal the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beastes trouble them.

14 Then wyll I make their waters g deepe, and cause their riuers to runne lyke h Oyle, sayth the Lorde.

15 When I make the lande of Egypt desolate, and when the countrey with al that is therein shalbe laide waste, and when I smite al them which dwell in it, then shall they knowe that I am the Lorde.

16 This is the mournyng when they shal lament her, The daughters of ꝑ nations shal lament her, they shal make the lamentation ouer Egypt, & ouer al the people thereof, sayth the Lorde.

17 In the twelfth yeere, the fiftienth day of the moneth, came the woord of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

18 Thou sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and i cast them downe, euen them, and the daughters of the famous nations, to the neather partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom dooest thou passe in k beautie? goe downe & sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 Among those that be slayne with the sword shal they lye, to the sworde is l she alredy deliuered: drawe her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The m mighty woorthies shal speake to her out of the midst of hell, and to her helpers: they are gone downe & sleepe with the vncircūcised that be slaine with the sworde.

22 Assur is there also with all his company, and their graues rounde about hym, which were slayne & fel al with the sworde:

24 There is Elam alſo, with al his people round about his graue, whiche all being ſlaine and fallen with the ſwoorde, are gone downe vncircumciſed vnder the earth, which neuertheleſſe ſometime brought feare into the lande of the n liuing: they beare their owne ſhame, with the other that be gone downe to the graue.

n. They which being aliue, were a terrour to al the world, nowe being dead, are deſpiſed both of the liuing and the dead.

s. I wyll make the Egyptians afraide of me, as they haue cauſed other to feare them.

¶ The.xxxiii. Chapter.

He ſetteth out the office of the gouernours and miniſters. 14. He ſtrengtheneth them that diſpayre, and boldeneth them vvith the promiſe of mercie.

AGayne, the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſonne of man, ſpeake to the children of thy people, and tell them, When I ſende a ſwoorde vppon a lande, yf the people of the lande take a man of their coaſtes, and ſet him to be their a watchman:

a. He ſheweth that the people ought continually to haue gouernours and teachers, which may haue a care ouer them and to warne them euer of the dangers whiche are at hand.

3 If when he ſeeth the ſwoord come vpon the lande, he ſhal blowe the trumpet and warne the people:

4 Then he that heareth the noyſe of the trumpet and wyll not be warned, and the ſwoord come and take him away, his blood ſhalbe vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the ſounde of the trumpet, and would not be warned, therefore his blood be vppon him: but he that receiueth warning, he ſhal ſaue his life.

6 Againe, yf the watchman ſee the ſword come, and blowe not the trumpet, ſo that the people is not warned, yf the ſwoorde come then, and take any man from among them: the ſame ſhalbe b taken away in his owne ſinne, but his blood wyll I require at the watchmans hand.

b. Signifying that the wicked ſhal not eſcape punishment, though the watchman be negligent: but yf the watchman blowe the trumpet, and then he wyl not obey, he ſhall deſerue double punishment. Chap. 3.

7 And thou, O ſonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt heare the woord at c my mouth, and thou ſhalt warne them from me.

c. Which reacheth that he that receiueth not his charge and watcheth not at the Lordes mouth, is a ſlouth and not a true watchman.

8 If I ſay vnto the wicked, Thou wicked, thou ſhalt ſurely dye: and thou ſpeakeſt not to admoniſhe the wicked of his way: that wicked man ſhall die in his owne ſinne, but his blood wyll I require at thy hande.

9 Neuertheleſſe, yf thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, and he yet will not be turned from his way: then ſhall he die in his iniquitie, but thou haſt deliuered thy ſoule.

d. That the wicked when they heare of Gods iudgements for their ſinnes, diſpayre of mercies, and murmure.

10 Therefore, O thou ſonne of man, ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael, yea ſay thus, Yf our offences and ſinnes lye vpon vs, and we be conſumed in them, d howe ſhoulde we then liue?

11 Tel them, as truely as I liue, ſaith the Lorde GOD, I haue no pleaſure in the death of the wicked, but muche rather that the wicked turne from his way, and liue: Turne you, turne you from your wicked wayes, for why wyll ye dye, O ye of the houſe of Iſrael?

12 Therfore thou ſonne of man, tel the children of thy people, The righteouſneſſe of of the ryghteous shall not saue him in the day of his iniquitie: agayne, the wickednesse of the wicked shal not ouerthrowe him for it, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse: neyther shall the righteous lyue for e it in the day that he sinned.

13 If I say vnto the righteous, He shal surely liue, and so he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and doo sinne: then shal his righteousnesse be no more thought vpon, but in his wickednesse that he hath done, in it he shal dye.

14 Agayne, if I say vnto the wycked, Thou shalt surely dye: and so he turne from his sinnes, and f doo the thing that is lawful and right, 15 Insomuche that the same wycked man geueth the pledge agayne, restoreth that he had taken away by robberie, walketh in the commaundementes of lyfe, and doeth none iniquitie: then shal he surely lyue, and not dye.

16 None of the sinnes that he hath committed shalbe mentioned vnto him: for insomuche as he doeth nowe the thing that is lawful and right, he shal lyue.

17 And yet the chyldren of thy people say, The way of the Lorde is not equal: but their owne way is rather vnequal.

18 When the ryghteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and doeth the thing that is wicked, he shal dye therein.

19 But if the wicked turne from his wickednesse, dooing the thing that is lawful and right, he shal lyue therefore.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lorde is not equal: O ye house of Israel, I wyl iudge euery one of you after his wayes.

21 In the twelfth yeere, the fifth day of the tenth moneth of our g captiuitie, one whiche was escaped out of Hierusalem came vnto me, and sayde, The citie is smitten.

22 Nowe the h hande of the Lorde had ben vpon me the euening afore this man whiche was escaped came vnto me, and had i opened my mouth, vntyl the morning that he came to me: yea my mouth was opened, so that I was no more dumbe.

23 Then came the woorde of the Lorde vnto me, and sayde, 24 Thou sonne of man, these that dwel in the wasted lande of Israel talke and say, k Abraham was but one man and he had the lande in possession: nowe are we many, and the lande is geuen vs to possesse also.

25 And therefore tel them, thus sayth the Lorde God, In the blood haue ye eaten, your eyes haue ye lyft vp to idols, and haue shed blood: shal ye then haue the lande in possession?

26 Ye l leane vpon your swoordes, ye woorke abominations, euery one defyleth his neyghbours wyfe: and shal ye possesse the lande?

27 Say thou thus vnto them, thus sayth the Lorde God, As truely as I lyue, they that are in the desolate places shall fal by the swoorde, and him that is in the open feelde, wyl I geue vnto the beastes to be deuoured: and they that be in the strong holdes and dennes shal dye of the pestilence.

28 For I wyll make the lande so desolate and waste, that the pompe of her strength shal ceasse: the mountaynes of Israel shalbe so waste, that no man shall trauaple thereby.

29 Then shal they know that I am the Lorde, when I make the lande desolate and waste, because of al their abominations that they haue wrought.

30 And thou sonne of man, the chyldren of thy people that talke of thee by the waters and in the doores of their houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come I pray you, let vs heare what woorde is gone foorth from the Lorde:

31 They come vnto thee as the people vseth to come, and my people sit before thee and heare thy wordes, but they doo not thereafter: for in their mouthes they make a m iest of them, and their hart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them as a n iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce and can sing wel: for they heare thy wordes, but doo them not.

33 When this commeth to passe (loe it commeth) then shall they knowe that there hath ben a prophete among them.

m. This declareth that we ought to heare Gods worde with such zeale and affection, that we shoulde not onely delight therein to heare it preached, but also in all poyntes obey it: els we abuse the worde to our owne condempnation, and make of the ministers as though they were iestes to serue mens fantasies.

¶ The. xxxiiii. Chapter.

Agaynst shepheardes that despyse the flocke of Christe, and seeke theyr owne gayne.

AND the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 ‖ Thou sonne of man, prophesie agaynst the shepheardes of Israel, prophesie and speake vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God vnto the shepheardes, Wo be vnto the a shepheardes of Israel that feede them selues: shoulde not the shepheardes feede the flockes?

‖ Iere. 23. 1.

a. By the shepheardes, he meaneth the king, the magistrates, priestes, and prophetes.

3 Ye eate vp the fatte, ye clothe you with the wool, the best fedde doo ye slay: but the flocke doo ye not feede.

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened, the sicke haue ye not healed, the broken haue ye not bounde togeather, the driuen away haue ye not brought agayne, the loſt haue ye not ſought: but with force and crueltie haue ye ruled them.

5 They are ſcattered without a ſheepheard, yea all the beaſtes of the feelde b deuoure them, and they goe aſtray.

6 My ſheepe goe wandring vppon all mountaynes, and vpon euery high hyl, yea my flocke is ſcattered through all the face of the earth, and there is no man that ſeeketh or ſearcheth after them.

7 Therefore, O ye ſheepheardes heare the woorde of the Lorde.

8 As truely as I lyue, ſayth the Lorde God, forasmuche as my ſheepe are robbed and deuoured of all the wylde beaſtes of the feelde, hauing no ſhephearde, and ſeeing that my ſhepheardes ſeeke not my ſheepe, but the ſhepheardes feede them ſelues, and feede not my ſheepe:

9 Therefore heare the woorde of the Lorde, O ye ſhepheardes,

10 Thus ſayth the Lord God, Behold, I wyl vpon the ſhepheardes, and require my ſheepe from their handes, and make them ceaſſe from feeding of the ſheepe, yea the ſhepheardes ſhal feede them ſelues no more: for I wyl c deliuer my ſheepe out of their mouthes, ſo that they ſhal not deuoure them after this.

11 For thus ſayth the Lorde God, Behold, I, euen I wyl looke to my ſheepe mee ſelfe, and ſeeke them out.

12 Like as a ſhepheарde when he hath ben among the flocke, ſeeketh after the ſheepe that are ſcattered abrode: euen ſo wyl I ſeeke after my ſheepe, and deliuer them out of all places where they haue ben ſcattered in the d cloudie and darke day.

13 I wyl bring them out from the people, and geather them togeather out of the landes, I wyl bring them into their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaynes of Iſrael by the ryuers, and in al the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I wyl feede them in right good paſtures, & vpon the high mountaynes of Iſrael ſhal their foldes be: there ſhal they lye in a good folde, and in a fat paſture ſhall they feede, euen vppon the mountaynes of Iſrael.

15 I wyl feede my ſheepe, and bring them to their reſt, ſayth the Lorde God.

16 Suche as be loſt, wyl I ſeeke: ſuch as are driuen away, wyl I bring agayne: ſuch as be broken, wyl I binde vp: ſuche as be weake, wyl I make ſtrong: ſuche as be fatte and ſtrong, thoſe wyl I roote out, and feede them with e iudgement.

17 And as for you, O my ſheepe, ſayth the Lord God, I wyl iudge betweene catel and catel, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a ſmal thing to you to haue eaten vp the good f paſture, & to treade downe the reſidue of your paſture with your feete alſo? to drinke the deepe waters, and to trouble the reſt alſo with your feete?

19 Thus my ſheepe muſt be fayne to eate the thyng that ye haue troden downe with your feete, and to drinke it that ye with your feete haue defiled.

20 Therefore thus ſayth the Lorde God vnto them, Beholde, I euen I wyll iudge betweene the fat cattel and the leane cattel, 21 Forſomuche as with ſide and ſhoulder ye haue ſhoued, and with your hornes haue puſhed all the weake, tyl ye haue ſcattered them abrode.

22 I wyl ſaue my ſheepe, ſo that they ſhal no more be ſpoyled, yea I wyl iudge betweene catel and catel.

23 ‖ I wyl ſet vp ouer them a ſhepheard, and he ſhal feede them, euen my ſeruant g Dauid, he ſhal feede them, and he ſhalbe their ſhepheарde.

24 And I the Lorde wyll be their God, and my ſeruant Dauid ſhalbe their prince: euen I the Lorde haue ſpoken it.

25 Moreouer, I wyl make a couenant of peace with them, and cauſe euyl beaſtes to ceaſſe out of the lande: ſo that they may dwel h ſafely in the wylderneſſe, and ſleepe in the wooddes.

26 And I ſwyll ſet them as a bleſſyng rounde about my hyl, and I wyl cauſe rayne to come downe in due ſeaſon, and there ſhall be rayne of bleſſyng.

27 And the tree of the feelde ſhal yeelde her fruite, and the earth ſhal geue her encreaſe: they ſhalbe ſafe in their lande, and ſhal knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue broken the bondes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of thoſe that ſerued them ſelues of them.

28 They ſhal no more be ſpoyled of the heathen, nor deuoured with the beaſtes of the lande: but ſafely ſhal they dwel, and no man ſhal fray them.

29 And I wyl rayſe vp for them a i plant of renowme, and they ſhalbe no more " clunged with hunger in the lande, neyther beare the reproche of the heathen any more.

30 Thus ſhal they vnderſtande that I the Lorde their God am with them, and that they, euen the houſe of Iſrael, are my people, ſayth the Lorde God:

31 ‖ And ye my ſheepe, the ſheepe of my paſture,

The.xxxv. Chapter.

The destruction that shall come on the mount Seir, that is, on the Idumeans, because they troubled the people of the Lorde.

MOreouer the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Thou sonne of man, set thy face toward the mount a Seir, prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, O thou mount Seir, I will vpon thee, I will reache out my hande ouer thee, yea waste and desolate thy I make thee.

4 Thy cities thy I lay waste, and thou shalt lie voyde, that thou mayest know howe that I am the Lorde,

5 Forasmuche as thou hearest an old enmitie, and hast put the children of Israel to slight by the force of the swoorde, in the tyme of their calamitie, v when their iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as truely as I liue, sayth the Lorde GOD, I will prepare thee vnto blood, yea blood shal folowe vpon thee, except thou b hate blood, euen blood shal persecute thee.

7 Thus will I make the mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut out from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth:

8 His mountaynes will I fyll with his slayne men, thy hilles, valleys, and all thy riuers, the slayne with the swoord shall fall in them.

9 I will make thee a perpetual wylderneſſe, so that thy cities shall not c returne: that ye may knowe that I am the Lorde.

10 And because thou hast saide, d Both these nations, and both these landes must be mine, and we will haue them in possession, wheras the Lorde was there:

11 Therefore as truely as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I will euen doo accoording to thy e wrath, and accoording to thine enuipng whiche thou hast vsed in thy hatred against them: and I will make mee selfe f knowen amongst them when I haue iudged thee.

12 Yea and thou shalt knowe that I the Lorde haue heard al thy blasphemies, which thou hast spoken agaynst the mountaines of Israel, saying, They are made waste, and geuen vs to deuoure.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue made your boastes agaynst me, yea and multiplied your woordes against me, whiche I haue heard.

14 Thus sayth the Lorde God, To the ioy of all the woorlde will I make thee waste.

15 And like as thou wast glad because the heritage of the house of Israel was destroyed, euen so will I doo vnto thee, thou shalt be destroyed, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shal knowe that I am the Lorde.

¶ The.xxxvi. Chapter.

2. He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22. The benefites doone vnto the Ievves, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, not vnto their deseruinges.

THou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, & speake, || Heare the woorde of the Lorde, O ye mountaines of Israel. || Ezech. 6.2.

2 Thus saith the Lorde God, because your a enimie hath saide vnto you aha, the b high places of the woorlde are nowe become ours in possession:

3 Prophesie therefore and speake, thus sayth the Lorde God, For because that they haue made you desolate, and swalowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the Gentiles, and ye are taken vp in the c lippes and tongues of men, and to the reproche of the people:

4 Therefore heare the woord of the Lord God, O ye mountaines of Israel, thus sayth the Lorde GOD to the mountaynes and hilles, to the riuers and valleys, to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken, whiche are spoiled and had in derision on euery side, among the residue of the Heathen:

5 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Surely in the fire of my ielousie haue I spoken against the residue of the Gentiles, & against al Edom, which haue d appointed my land for their possession, whiche also reioyced from their whole hart with a despitefull stomacke, to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the lande of Israel, and speake vnto the mountaynes and hilles, to the riuers and dales, thus sayth the Lord God, Behold this haue I spoken in my ielousie and terrible wrath, because ye haue borne the e shame of the heathen:

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I haue f lyft vp my hande, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall g shoote out your branches, and bring foorth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are at hand to come.

g. God declareth his mercies and goodnesse towarde his Churche, who styl preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enimies.

9 Beholde, I come vnto you, and vnto you wyl I turne, that ye may be tilled and ſowen.

10 I wyl multiplie men vpon you, euen al the houſe of Iſrael wholly, the cities ſhalbe inhabited, and the decayed places ſhalbe repaired againe.

11 And I wyl multiplie vpon you man and beaſt, which ſhal encreaſe & bring fruite: and I wyl cauſe you to dwell after your olde eſtate, and be better h vnto you then at the beginning: and ye ſhall knowe that I am the Lorde.

12 Yea I wil cauſe men to walke vpon i you, euen my people Iſrael, and they ſhall poſſeſſe k thee, and thou ſhalt be their inheritance, and thou ſhalt no more hencefoorth deprsiue them of men.

13 Thus ſaith the Lorde God, Forſomuch as they ſay vnto you, Thou art an l eater vp of men, and a waſter of thy people:

14 Therefore thou ſhalt eate no more men, neither deſtroy thy people any more, ſayth the Lorde God:

15 Neither wyll I cauſe men to heare in thee the ſhame of the heathen any more: neither ſhalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, nor cauſe thy folke to fall any more, ſayth the Lorde God.

16 Moreouer, the woord of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

17 O thou ſonne of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt vppon their owne grounde, they defiled them ſelues with their owne wayes and imaginations, ſo that in my ſight their way was like the vncleanneſſe of a remooued woman.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrathfull diſpleaſure vpon them, becauſe of the blood that they had ſhed in the land, and becauſe of their idols wherwith they had defiled it:

19 I ſcattered them alſo among the heathen, ſo that they were ſtrawed about in the landes: according to their wayes, and after their owne inuentions, ſo did I iudge them.

20 ‖ And when they entred vnto the heathen whither they went, they polluted my holy name, when they ſaide of them, Theſe are the people of God, and are gone out of his lande.

21 Then ſpared I my holy m name, which the houſe of Iſrael had diſhonoured among the Gentiles where they came.

22 Therefore tell the houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lorde God, I n doo not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for my holy names ſake, whiche ye diſhonoured among the heathen where ye came.

23 Therefore I wyll halowe my great name againe, ‖ which among the Gentiles is polluted, for ye your ſelues haue diſhonoured it among them: and the Gentiles ſhal know that I am the Lord, ſayth the Lorde GOD, when I ſhalbe ſanctified in you before your eyes.

24 As for you, I wyl take you from among the heathen, and geather you togeather out of all countreys, and bring you againe into your owne lande.

25 Then wyl I ſprinckle cleane o water vpon you, and ye ſhalbe cleane: yea from all your vncleanneſſe and from all your idols ſhal I cleanſe you.

26 A newe hart alſo wyll I geue you, and a newe ſpirite wyll I put into you: as for that ſtony hart I wyll take it out of your fleſhe, and geue you a fleſhy hart.

27 I wyll geue my ſpirite among you, and cauſe you to walke in my commaundementes, and ye ſhall keepe my iudgementes, and doo them.

28 And ſo ye ſhal dwel in the lande that I gaue to your fathers: and ye ſhalbe my people, and I wyl be your God.

29 I wyl deliuer you from all your vncleanneſſe, I wil cal for the p corne, and wyl encreaſe it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 I wyll multiplie the fruites of the trees and the increaſe of the feelde, ſo that ye ſhall receiue no more reproche of hunger among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your imaginations which were not good: ſo that ye ſhalbe q irkſome in your owne eyes for your ſinnes and abominations.

32 But I wil not doo this for your ſakes, ſaith the Lorde God, be ye ſure of it: therefore, O ye houſe of Iſrael, be aſhamed and confounded of your owne wayes.

33 Moreouer, thus ſaith the Lorde God, What time as I ſhall cleanſe you from al your iniquities, then wil I make the cities to be inhabited againe, and the places that be decayed, ſhalbe repaired.

34 The deſolate lande ſhalbe tilled againe, which aforetime lay waſte in the ſight of al them that went by.

35 And they ſhal ſay, This waſte lande was like the garden of Eden: and theſe waſte and deſolate and ruinous cities were ſtrong and inhabited.

36 Then the reſidue of the heathen that lye rounde about you, ſhal knowe that I the Lorde r repayre that was broken downe, and plant againe that that was made waſte: euen I the Lorde haue ſpoken it, and wyll doo it in deede.

¶ The.xxxvii. Chapter.

He prophesieth the bryngyng agayne of the people beyng in captiuitie. 16. He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes vvith the two.

THe hande of the Lorde was vppon me, and caryed me out in the spirite of the Lorde, and set me downe in the middest of a playne feelde that was ful of a bones.

2 And he led me rounde about by them, and behold there was very many in the open feelde, and loe they vvere very drie.

3 Then sayde he vnto me, Thou sonne of man, thinkest thou these bones may lyue agayne? I answeared, O Lorde God, thou knowest.

4 And he sayde vnto me, Prophesie thou vpon these bones, and speake vnto them: Ye drie bones heare the worde of the Lorde,

5 Thus sayth the Lord God vnto these bones, Beholde, I wyl cause breath to enter into you, that ye may lyue.

6 I wyll geue you sinowes, and make flesh growe vppon you, and couer you ouer with skinne, and so geue you breath, that ye may lyue, and knowe that I am the Lorde.

7 So I prophesied as I was commaunded: and as I was prophesying, there was a noyse, and loe a great motion, so that the bones came neare togeather, bone to his bone.

8 Nowe when I had looked, beholde they had synowes, and flesh grewe vppon them, and aboue they were couered with skinne: but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayde he vnto me, Thou sonne of man, prophesie thou towarde the wynde, prophesie and speake to the winde, thus sayth the Lorde God, Come, O thou "ayre from the foure wyndes, and "blowe vpon these slayne, that they may lyue.

10 So I prophesied as he had commaunded me: then came the breath into them, and they receyued lyfe, and stoode vp vpon their feete, a marueylous great armie.

11 Moreouer he sayde vnto me, Thou sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel: beholde they say, Our bones are dryed vp, our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut of.

12 Therefore prophesie thou, & speake vnto them, thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyl open your graues, O my people, & cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bryng you into the lande of Israel agayne.

13 So shall ye knowe that I am the Lord, when I open your graues, O my people, and bring you b out of your sepulchres.

14 My spirite also wyl I put in you, and ye shal lyue, I wil set you agayne in your owne lande: and ye shall knowe that I the Lorde haue sayde it, and fulfylled it in deede, sayth the Lorde.

15 The woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

17 And c ioyne them one to another into one sticke: and they shalbe as one in thy hande.

18 Nowe if the children of thy people speake vnto thee, saying, Wylt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Then geue them this answeare, thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyll take the d "stocke of Ioseph, whiche is in the hand of Ephraim, and of the tribes of Israel his felowes, and wyll put them with him, euen with the stocke of Iuda, and make them one "stocke, and they shalbe one in my hande.

20 And the sticks whereupon thou wrytest, shalt thou haue in thy hande, that they may see.

21 And thou shalt say vnto them, thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wyll take the children of Israel from among the heathen vnto whom they be gone, and wyl gather them togeather on euery side, and bryng them agayne into their owne lande.

¶ The.xxxviii. Chapter.

He propheſieth that Gog and Magog ſhall come vvith an appoynted hoſt into the lande of promiſe.

AND the woorde of the Lorde came vnto me, ſaying,

3 And ſay, thus ſayth the Lorde God: O Gog, thou cheefe prince of Meſech and Tubal, beholde I wyl vpon thee:

4 And I wyl turne "thee backe, and put hookes in thy chawes, I wil bring thee forth and al thine hoſt, both horſe and horſemen, al armed with all ſortes of armour, a great multitude with ſpeares and ſhieldes, all handling ſwoordes.

7 Therefore prepare thee, ſet thee ſelfe in aray with all the people that are come vnto thee by heapes, and be thou their defence.

8 After many dayes thou ſhalt be viſited, and in the latter yeeres thou ſhalt come into the lande that hath ben turned and toſt with the ſwoorde, and geathered togeather agayne out of many people vpon the mountaynes of Iſrael, whiche haue ben alwayes ſubiect to waſte: but it is brought out of the people, and they dwel al ſafe.

9 Thou ſhalt aſſende and come vp lyke a ſtorme, as a cloude to couer the lande ſhalt thou be: thou with all thine hoſtes, and a great multitude of people with thee.

11 And ſay, I wyll vp to the lande of d vnwalled villages, I wyl goe to them that be at reſt, which dwell ſafely, all dwellyng without walles, they haue neyther barres nor gates:

12 To ſpoyle the pray, & to take a boote, to turne thy hande vpon the deſolate places that are nowe inhabited, and vpon that people that is geathered togeather from among the heathen, whiche haue gotten cattel and goodes, and dwel in the middes of the lande.

13 Then ſhal Saba and Dedan, and the marchantes of Tharſis with all theyr Lions, ſay vnto thee, e Art thou come to ſpoyle a pray? haſt thou geathered thy people togeather to take a bootie, to take away ſiluer and golde, to cary away cattel & good, and to haue a great pray?

14 Therefore, O thou ſonne of man, thou ſhalt propheſie and ſay vnto Gog, thus ſayth the Lorde God: In that day when my people Iſrael f dwelleth ſafe, ſhalt thou not knowe it?

15 And thou ſhalt come from thy place out of the north partes, thou and muche people with thee, whiche ryde al vppon horſes, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 Yea thou ſhalt come vppon my people of Iſrael, as a cloude to couer the lande: this ſhal come to paſſe in the g latter dayes, and I wyll bryng thee vp into my lande, that the heathen may knowe me, when I ſhalbe h ſanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus ſayth the Lord God, Art thou not he of whom I haue ſpoken in olde tyme by the handes of my ſeruantes the propheres of Iſrael, whiche propheſied in thoſe dayes and yeeres, that I ſhoulde bryng thee vppon them?

18 At the ſame time when Gog commeth vp into the lande of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde God, ſhal myne indignation ryſe in my wrath:

19 For in my ielouſie & fyre of my wrath haue I ſpoken it, ſurely at that time there ſhalbe a great ſhaking in the land of Iſrael.

8. He sheweth the deſtruction of Gog and Magog. 13. The graue of Gog and his hoſt.

THerefore, O thou ſonne of man, prophecie agaynſt Gog, and ſpeake, thus ſayth the Lorde God, Beholde, O Gog, thou cheefe prince of Meſech and Tubal, I wyll vpon thee.

2 And I wyll "turne thee about, and I "wyll a prouoke thee forwarde, and cauſe thee to come vp from the North partes, and bring thee vp to the mountaynes of Iſrael.

7 I wyll make alſo the name of my holineſſe to be knowen among my people of Iſrael, and I wyll not let them pollute my holy name any more: but the very Heathen alſo ſhal knowe that I am the Lorde, the holy one of Iſrael.

8 Beholde, it is c come, and it is done, ſayth the Lorde God: this is the day wherof I haue ſpoken.

9 They that dwell in the cities of Iſrael, ſhall goe forth, and d ſet fyre vpon the weapons, and burne them, ſhieldes and ſpeares, bowes and arrowes, "handſtaues, and ſwoordes, and they ſhall burne them with fyre ſeuen yeere.

10 So that they ſhal els bring no wood from the fielde, neyther hewe downe any out of the wood: for with weapons ſhal they make theyr fyre, they ſhall robbe thoſe that robbed them, & ſpoyle thoſe that ſpoyled them, ſayth the Lorde God.

11 At the ſame tyme wyll I geue vnto Gog a place to be buryed in Iſrael, euen the valley wherethrough men goe towarde the Eaſt ſea: thoſe that trauayle thereby, ſhall e ſtoppe theyr noſes: there ſhall Gog and all his multitude be buryed: and it ſhalbe called the valley of the "multitude of Gog.

12 Seuen monethes long ſhal the houſe of Iſrael be burying of them, that they may cleanſe the lande.

13 Yea, all the people of the lande ſhall bury them, and they ſhall haue a name when I ſhalbe glorifyed, ſayth the Lorde God.

14 They ſhall chooſe out men to goe continually throughe the lande, to f burye as they paſſe throughe thoſe that remayne vpon the grounde, to cleanſe it: after the ende of ſeuen monethes ſhall they make theyr ſearche.

15 And the trauaylers that paſſe throughe the lande, where they ſee a mans bone, they ſhall ſet vp a token by it, tyl the dead buriers haue buried it alſo in the valley of the "multitude of Gog.

16 And the name of the citie ſhalbe called g Hamonah: thus ſhall they make the lande cleane.

17 And thou ſonne of man, thus ſayth the Lorde GOD, Speake vnto all feathered foules, yea, and to all the beaſtes of the fielde, Aſſemble you togeather, and come, geather you rounde about to my h ſacrifice that I ſacrifice for you, euen a great ſacrifice vpon the mountaynes of Iſrael, that ye may eate fleſhe, and drynke blood.

18 Ye ſhall eate the fleſhe of the valiant, and drynke the blood of the princes of the lande, of the rammes, of the weathers, of the goates, and of the bullockes, that be al fedde at Baſan.

19 Ye ſhal eate the fatte your belly full, and drynke blood tyll ye be dronken of my ſacrifice, whiche I haue ſacrificed for you.

20 Ye ſhall fyll you at my table with horſes and "horſemen, with the valiant, and men of warre, ſayth the Lorde God.

21 I wyll ſet my glory alſo among the Gentiles, that all the Heathen may ſee my iudgement that I haue executed, & my hande whiche I haue layde vpon them.

¶ The.xl. Chapter.

The reſtoring of the cities, and of the temple that vvas to come, is ſhevved vnto the prophete.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our captiuitie, in the a begynnyng of the yeere, the tenth day of the moneth, that is, the fourteenth yeere after the citie was ſmitten, the ſelf ſame day came the hande of the Lord vpon me, and brought me thyther:

a. The Iewes coūted the beginning of the yeere after two ſorts: for feaſts, they began to count in March: and for their other affaires, in September, ſo that this is to be vnderſtande of September.

2 Euen into the lande of Iſrael brought he me in the viſions of God, and ſet me downe vpon a marueylous hygh mountayne, whereupon there was as it had ben the buyldyng of a citie towarde the South.

b. Which was an angell in forme of a mā, that came to meaſure out this buyldyng.

3 Thyther he caryed me, and beholde, there was a b man, whoſe ſimilitude was lyke braſſe, which had a twiſted lyne of flaxe in his hande, and a cane to meaſure with: and he ſtoode in the dooze.

4 And that man ſayde vnto me, Thou ſonne of man, marke wel with thyne c eyes, hearken to with thyne eares, and faſten it in thy hart what ſo euer I ſhall ſhewe thee: for to the intent that they myght be ſhewed thee, therefore art thou brought hyther, and what ſo euer thou ſeeſt, thou ſhalt certifye the houſe of Iſrael thereof.

c. By this and the like Hebrue phraſes, he exhorted hym to beholde, and marke diligētly as a thing worthy nothyng.

5 Beholde, there was a wall on the d outſyde of the houſe rounde about: the cane to meaſure with, that he had in his hand, was ſixe cubites long by the e cubite, and a hand breadth: So he meaſured the breadth of the buylding with one cane, and the heyght with one cane.

d. Whiche compaſſed the whole hyll of Sion, in the top whereof, the temple was buylded.

e. The cubite which he ſpeaketh of, was longer then the common cubite by a hande breadth, that is foure inches: it was called the holy cubite: the common cubite conteyned but ſix hand breadth. As this ſixe, reade chap. 43.

6 Then came he to the gate which looketh towarde the Eaſt, & went vp the ſtayres thereof, and meaſured the poſt of the gate, one cane broade, and the other poſt of the gate one cane broade.

7 And euery chamber was one cane lōg, and one cane broade, and betweene the chambers, were fyue cubites: and the poſt of the gate by the porche of the gate within, was one cane.

8 He meaſured alſo the porche of the gate within, with one cane.

9 Then meaſured he the porche of the gate eyght cubites: and the "pentiſes thereof two cubites, and the porche of the gate vvas inwarde.

"or, fronts.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eaſtwarde, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: they three were of one meaſure, and the pentiſes had one meaſure on this ſide, and one meaſure one that ſyde.

11 After this he meaſured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the heyght of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The ſpace alſo before the chambers, was one cubite on this ſide, and the ſpace one cubite on that ſyde: and the chambers, ſyxe cubites on this ſyde, and ſyxe cubites an that ſyde.

13 He meaſured the gate from the roofe of a chamber to his owne roofe, the breadth of fyue and twentie cubites, dooze agaynſt dooze.

14 He made "frontes alſo of threeſcore cubites, euen vnto the front of the court round about the gate.

"or, pentiſes.

15 And from the fore front of the entrie of the gate, vnto the fore front of the gate within vvere fyftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe wyndowes in the chambers, and in the frontes within the gate rounde about, and ſo in the arches: and the wyndowes vvere rounde about within, and vppon the frontes were Palme trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outwarde court, whereas were chambers, and a pauement made for the court rounde about: thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And

18 And the pauement vvas by the ſide of the gates ouer againſt the length of the gates: and the pauement vvas beneath.

19 Then he meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, a hundred cubites Eaſtward and Northward.

20 And the gate in the outwarde courte that looked toward the North, meaſured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof vvere three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: and the frontes thereof, and the arches thereof were after the meaſure of the f firſt gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

f. That is, the laſt gate, as appeareth in the next verſe.

22 And their wyndowes, and their arches, with their palme trees vvere after the meaſure of the gate that looketh towarde the Eaſt: and the goeing vp vnto it had ſeuen ſteppes, and the arches thereof vvere before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court ſtoode ouer againſt the gate toward the North and toward the Eaſt, and he meaſured from gate to gate a hundred cubites.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, where there ſtoode a gate toward the South, and he meaſured the frontes thereof and the arches thereof according to thoſe meaſures.

25 And there vvere wyndowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about like theſe wyndowes: the length vvas fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there vvere ſeuen ſteppes at the going vp to it, and the arches thereof before them: and it had palme trees, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide, vpon the front thereof.

27 And there vvas a gate in the inner court towarde the ſouth, and he meaſured from gate to gate towarde the ſouth a hundred cubites.

28 So he brought me into the inner court through the ſouth gate, & he meaſured the ſouth gate according to thoſe meaſures.

29 And the chambers thereof, the frontes thereof, and the arches thereof, according to theſe meaſures, & windowes in it: and in the arches thereof rounde about, fiftie cubites long, & fiue and twentie cubites brode,

30 And the arches rounde about vvere fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites brode.

31 And the arches thereof vvere towarde the vtter court, and paulme trees vpon the frontes thereof, and the going vp to it had eyght ſteppes.

32 He brought me alſo into the inmoſt court towarde the eaſt, and meaſured the gate according to thoſe meaſures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & frontes thereof, and the arches thereof vvere according to thoſe meaſures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it vvas fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites brode.

34 And the arches thereof vvere toward the vtter court, and palme trees vppon the frontes thereof on this ſide, and on that ſide, and the going vp to it had eyght ſteppes.

35 And he brought me to the north gate, & meaſured it according to thoſe meaſures.

36 The chambers thereof, the frontes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there vvere wyndowes therein rounde about: and the length vvas fiftie cubites, & the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the frontes thereof vvere towarde the vtter court, and palme trees vvere vpon the frontes thereof on this ſide and on that ſide, and the goeyng vp to it had eyght ſteppes.

38 And a chamber and the entrie thereof vvas vnder the fronts of the gates: there they waſhed the g burnt offerynges.

g. That is, the inwardes or entrayles of the ſacrifice that was offered for a burnt offring.

39 And in the porche of the gate ſtoode two tables on this ſide, and two tables on that ſide, vpon the whiche they ſlue the burnt offeryng, and the ſinne offeryng, and the treſpaſſe offerynge.

40 And at the ſide without the ſteppes, at the entrie of the North gate ſtoode two tables, and on the other ſide whiche was at the porche of the gate vvere two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this ſide, and foure on that ſide, by the ſide of the gate euen eyght tables, whereupon they ſlue theyr ſacrifices.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen ſtone for the burnt offeryng, of a cubite and a halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broade, and one cubite hygh, whereupon were layde the inſtrumentes wherewith they ſlue the burnt offeryng, and the ſacrifice.

43 And within there were * hookes one hande breadth long faſtened rounde about, and vppon the tables was the offeryng fleſhe. * trenels.

44 And without the inner gate vvere the chambers of the ſingers in the inward court, which was at the ſide of the North gate, and their proſpect was towarde the South: and one was at the ſide of the Eaſt gate, hauyng the proſpect towarde the North.

45 And he ſayde vnto me, This chamber whoſe proſpect is towarde the South, is for the prieſtes that haue charge to keepe the houſe.

46 And

46 And the chamber whoſe proſpecte is toward the North is for the prieſtes that haue charge to keepe the aulter: theſe are the ſonnes of Sadoc, whiche of the ſonnes of Leui come neare to the Lord, to miniſter vnto him.

47 So he meaſured the court, whiche had in length a hundred cubites, and a hundred in breadth, euen foure ſquare: and the aulter ſtoode before the houſe.

48 And he brought me to the porche of the h houſe, and meaſured the porche fyue cubites on this ſide, and fyue cubites on that ſide: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this ſide, and three cubites on that ſide.

h. That is, of the temple.

49 The i length of the porche was twentie cubites, the breadth eleuen cubites, and by ſteppes went men vp to it: by the frontes alſo were pillers, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide.

i. From North to South.

¶ The .xli. Chapter.

The diſpoſition and deuice of buildyng againe of the temple, and of the other thynges thereto belongyng.

AFter this he brought me to the temple, and meaſured the frontes, fiue cubites broade on the one ſide, and fiue cubites broade on the other ſide, vvhiche vvas the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 The breadth of the doore was tenne cubites, and the ſides of the doore vvere fiue cubites on the one ſide, and fiue cubites on the other ſide, and he meaſured the length a thereof fourtie cubites, & the breadth twentie cubites.

a. Of the temple from this doore to the moſt holy place.

3 Then went he in and meaſured the front of the doore two cubites: but the doore it ſelfe was fiue cubites, and the breadth on the other ſyde of the doore was ſeuen cubites.

4 He meaſured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the temple: and he ſayde vnto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 He meaſured alſo the wal of the houſe fiue cubites, and the breadth of a chamber foure cubites rounde about the houſe on euery ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, "three and thirtie in order: and they entred the wall which was of the houſe for the chambers rounde about, that they might be faſtened, and not be faſtened in the wall of the houſe.

" three and thirtie foote high.

7 There was an enlarging, and a wynding about, mounting ſtyll vpwarde to the chambers: for the ſtayre of the houſe was mounting ſtyll vpwarde rounde about the houſe, therefore the houſe was larger vpward: ſo they went vp from the loweſt chamber to the hyghest by the middeſt.

8 And I ſawe the houſe hygh rounde about: the fundations of the chambers vvere a ful cane of fiue cubites b vp to the arme holes.

b. That is, great, and of the largeſt ſize.

9 The thickneſſe of the wal which was for the chamber without vvas fiue cubites, and that which remayned was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubites rounde about the houſe on euery ſide.

11 And the doores of the chambers were towarde the "place that remayned, one doore towarde the North, and another towarde the South: and the breadth of the place that remayned, was fiue cubites rounde about.

" or, voyde ſpace.

12 Nowe the buyldyng that was before the ſeparate place at the ende towarde the Weſt vvas ſeuentie cubites brode: and the wal of the buyldyng was fyue cubites thicke rounde about, and the length nientie cubites.

13 So he meaſured the houſe, which was a hundred cubites long, & the ſeparate place and the buyldyng with the walles, were a hundred cubites long alſo.

14 The breadth alſo of the forefront of the houſe, and of the ſeparate place towarde the Eaſt, was a hundred cubites.

15 And he meaſured the length of the buyldyng ouer againſt the ſeparate place whiche was behynde it, and the chambers on the one ſyde, & on the other ſyde, a hundred cubites, with the tẽple within, and the porches of the court.

16 The doore poſtes, & the narowe windowes, & the chambers round about, on three ſides ouer againſt the doore, ſeeled with wood rounde about, and from the grounde vp to the windowes: and the windowes themſelues were ſeeled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the houſe within and without, and vpon euery wall rounde about within and without, rooke he meaſure.

17 And it was made with d Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub, and euery Cherub had two faces.

d. That is, Cherubims and palme trees were grauen & carued in the walles.

19 So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one ſide, and the face of a Lion towarde the palme tree on the other ſyde: thus was it made through all the houſe rounde about.

20 Frõ the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made: and and thus vvas the wal of the temple.

21 The postes of the temple were foure squared, and the fashion of the sanctuarie was e appearance like appearance.

22 The aulter of wood was three cubites high, and two cubites long: the corners, the length, and the walles thereof were of wood. And he saide vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lorde.

23 The temple and the holiest of al had eyther of them two doores.

24 And the doores had two f doores a peece, euen two folding doores, two for the one doore, and two doores for the other.

25 And vppon the doores of the temple there were made Cherubims and Palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles: and thicke beames vppon the forefront of the porche without.

26 And there vvere narrowe wyndowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porche, & vppon the sides of the house, and thicke beames.

¶ The. xlii. Chapter.

Of the chambers of the temple for the priestes, and the holy thinges.

THen ledde he me into the vtter court by the way towarde the North, and he brought me into the chamber that vvas ouer against the separate place, whiche vvas before the buildyng towarde the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubites vvas the North doore: and the breadth vvas fyftie cubites.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, whiche was for the vtter court, vvas chamber agaynst chamber three orders.

4 And before the chambers there was a walking place of ten cubites wide inwarde, the way of one cubite: and their doores towarde the North.

5 Thus the vpper chambers were alway narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to vvyt the lower & the middlemost of the buylding.

6 For they were in three orders, but had no pyllers as the pyllers of the courtes: therfore were they smaller then the neathermost and the middlemost to recken from the grounde.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, towarde the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, the length thereof was fiftie cubites.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fifty cubites, and loe, before the temple was a hundred cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers vvas the entrie from the East: as one goeth vnto them from the vtter court.

10 In the thicknesse of the wall of the court towarde the East, before the separate place, & before the buylding of the chambers.

11 And the way before them after the appearance of the chambers which were towarde the North: as theyr length, so was their breadth: and al their entries vvere according to their fashion, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, vvas a doore in the head of the way, euen the way directly before the wall towarde the East as one entreth.

13 Then sayde he vnto me, The chambers towarde the North, and the chambers towarde the South, whiche are before the separate place, those be holy chambers, wherin the priestes that a approche vnto the Lorde must eate the most holy thynges, and there must they lay the most holy thynges, and the meate offeryng, and sinne offeryng, and trespasse offeryng: for it is a holy place.

14 When the priestes come therin, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shal lay vp their garmentes wherin they minister, for they are holy: and shall put on b other garmentes, and so shall approche to those whiche are for the people.

15 Now when he had fynished the measuryng of the house within, he led me foorth towarde the gate, whose prospect is towarde the East, and he measured it rounde about.

16 He measured the East syde with the measuryng cane, fyue hundred canes, euen with the measuryng cane rounde about.

17 And he measured the North syde fiue hundred canes, euen with the measuring cane rounde about.

18 The South side also measured he fiue hundred canes, by the measuryng cane.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundred canes, by the measuryng cane.

20 So he measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundred canes long, and fyue hundred broade, to make a separation betweene the c sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

¶ The. xliii. Chapter.

He seeth the glory of God goyng into the temple, from vvhence it had before departed.

So

That is, the pyllers, or postes of the sanctuarie, wer the doore postes of the temple.

That is, two pyllers, one on the one side, & the other on the other side, eyther of the doores.

That is, for, vnto the place.

That is, Cherubims and palme trees were grauen & carued in the walles.

a. That is, which exercise the priestes office, as more fully is declared in the next chapter folowing verse. 19.

b. That is, their common apparel whiche they vsed amōg the people: and as some say, was suche as the cōmon people vsed.

c. That is, betweene the tēple and the cite, whiche in respect of the sanctuarie and temple was counted prophane.

SO he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East:

2 And beholde, then came the glorie of the GOD of Israel from out of the East, whose voyce was like a great noise of waters, and the earth was lightened with his glorie.

‖ Ezech. 9. 1. a. When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Chaldeans. b. Which was departed before. Chap. x.

3 ‖ And according to the appearance of the vision whiche I sawe, euen according to the vision which I sawe a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the visions whiche I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and I fel vpon my face.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the East.

Or, the spirite.

5 So a* winde tooke me vp, & brought me into the innermer court: and behold, the house was ful of the glory of the Lord.

6 And I hearde one speaking vnto me out of the house, & there stoode a man by me,

7 And he saide vnto me, O thou sonne of man, this roome is my seate, and the place of my footesteppes, wheras I wil dwel among the children of Israel for euermore, c so that the house of Israel shal no more defile my holy name, neither they nor their kinges thorowe their whoredome, and thrugh the dead bodies of their c kinges in their high places.

c. He alludeth to Ammon and Manasses, who were buried in their gardens neere the temple, and there had erected vp mommentes to their idolles.

8 Albeit they haue set their thresholdes by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes, and a wall betweene me and them, yet haue they defiled my holy name with their abominations that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 But nowe let them put away their whoredome, & the dead bodies of their kinges out of my sight, and I wil dwel among them for euermore.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, shewe thou the house of Israel this house, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and measure them selues an example thereat.

11 And if they be ashamed of all they workes: then shewe them the fourme of the house and paterne thereof, the going out, the comming in, al the maner thereof, yea, al the ordinances therof, the figures, & al the lawes thereof, and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doo them.

12 This is the d lawe of the house: vpon the top of the mount shal all the limittes thereof be, rounde about the most holy place: loe, this is the lawe of the house.

d. Description.

13 And these are the measures of the aulter in cubites: the cubite is a cubite and a handbreadth, the bottome shalbe a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge therof rounde about was one spanne, and this shalbe the heyght of the aulter.

14 And from the bottome vpon the grounde, vnto the lower peece, shalbe two cubites, the breadth one cubite: and from the litle peece to the great peece, shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 The aulter was foure cubites high, and from the aulter vpwarde stoode foure hornes.

16 And the aulter was twelue cubites long, and twelue cubites broade, square in the foure corners thereof.

17 The frame of the aulter shalbe fourteene cubites long, & foureteene brode in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shalbe halfe a cubite, & the bottome thereof shalbe a cubite about, and the steppes therof shalbe turned towarde the East.

18 And he sayde vnto me, Thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lorde God, These are the ordinances of the aulter, in the day when it is made, to offer burnt offerynge therupon, and to sprinkle blood thereupon.

19 And thou shalt geue to the priestes, to the Leuites that be of the seede of Sadoc, and approche vnto me, sayth the Lorde God, to minister vnto me, a young bullocke for a sinne offeryng.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood therof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border rounde about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and purge it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offeryng, and burne hym in the appoynted place without the sanctuarie.

22 The seconde day, take a goate bucke without blemishe for a sinne offeryng, to cleanse the aulter withall, lyke as it was cleansed with the bullocke.

23 Nowe when thou hast made an ende of cleansing it, then offer a young bullocke without blemish, & a ramme out of the flocke without blemishe also.

24 Offer them before the Lorde, and let the priestes cast salt thereupon, and geue them so vnto the Lorde for a burnt offeryng.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day a goate bucke for sinne, a young bullocke and a ramme of the flocke, both without blemishe shall they prepare.

26 Seuen dayes shal they reconcile and cleanse the aulter, and e fyl the place thereof.

e. Or, consecrate it.

27 When these dayes are expired, then vpon the eyght day, and so forth, the priestes shall make your burnt offeringes, and peace offerynges offerynges vpon the aulter: so I wyl accept you, sayth the Lorde God.

¶ The. xliii. Chapter.

1. He sheweth what doore of the temple is shut. 6. He is commaunded to vpbrayde the people with theyr offence.

AFter this he brought me agayne to the outwarde gate of the sanctuarie on the East syde, and that was shut.

2 Then sayde the Lorde vnto me, This gate shalbe styll a shut, and not opened, neyther shal any man go through it: for the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut.

3 It is for the prince, the prince him self shal sit in it to eate bread before the Lorde: he shall enter by the way of the porche of that gate, and shal goe out by the way of the same.

4 The brought he me towarde the north gate before the house: and as I looked, beholde, the glory of the Lorde fylled the house of the Lorde, and I fell vpon my face.

5 So the Lorde spake vnto me: O thou sonne of man, set thyne hart, and behold with thyne eyes, and heare with thyne eares, all that I say vnto thee concernyng all the ordinances of the house of the Lorde, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entryng in of the house, with euery goyng foorth of the sanctuarie.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious men to the house of Israel, thus sayth the lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of all your abominations.

7 Seeing ye haue brought into my sanctuarie b straungers, hauyng vncircumcised hartes, and vncircumcised flesshe, to be in my sanctuarie to pollute my house, when ye offer my bread, fatte, and blood, and they haue broken my couenaunt because of al your abominations.

8 And ye haue not kept the c ordinances of my holy thynges, and ye haue set keepers to keepe my sanctuarie d for you.

9 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Of all the straungers that dwell among the chyldren of Israel, no straunger vncircumcised in hart, nor vncircumcised in flesshe, shall enter into my sanctuarie.

10 But the Leuites that went backe from me when Israel went astray, whiche strayed from me after theyr idols e shal beare their iniquitie:

11 And they shalbe ministers in my sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house: they shal slay the burnt offerynges, and the sacrifice for the people, and they shal stande before them, to serue the.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therfore haue I lyft vp my hand agaynst them, sayth the Lorde God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neare vnto me, to do the office of a priest vnto me, neither shall they come neare vnto any of myne holy thynges in the most holy place: but they shal beare their owne shame and abominations whiche they haue done.

14 And I wyll make them keepers of the watche of the house, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein.

15 But the priestes, the Leuites, the sonnes of Sadoc, that f kept the charge of my sanctuarie when the chyldren of Israel strayed from me, shal come to me, to doo mee seruice, to stande before me, and to offer me the fatte and the blood, sayth the Lorde God.

16 They shall goe into my sanctuarie, and approche vnto my table to do me seruice, and they shal keepe my charge.

17 Nowe when they goe in at the gates of the innermer court, they shal put on linnen clothes, so that no wollen come vpon them whyle they doo seruice vnder the gates of the innermer court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpō theyr heades, and linnen breeches* vpon their loynes: they shall not gyrde them selues in the * sweate.

19 And when they go foorth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court of the people, they shal put of the clothes wherein they haue ministred, and lay them in the chamber of the sanctuarie, and put on other apparell, and they shall not sanctifye the people with theyr clothes.

20 They shal not g shaue their heades, nor suffer theyr heare to growe long, but powle theyr heades onely.

21 All the priestes that goe into the inmost court shall drynke no wyne.

22 ‖They shal marrie no widdow, neyther one that is put from her husbande, but a mayde of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widdowe that hath had a priest before.

23 They shall shewe my people the difference betweene the holy and vnholy, and cause them to discerne betwixt the cleane and vncleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stande to iudge, and geue sentence after my iudgementes: and my lawes and my statutes shall they keepe in all my solemne feastes, and halowe my Sabbothes.

25 They shal come at no dead person to defyle them selues, but to father or mother, sonne

¶ The. xlv. Chapter.

Of iuſt vveyghtes and meaſures.

WHen ye diuide the lande by the lot for inheritance, ye ſhall offer an oblation to the Lorde, a holy a portion of the lande, twentie and fiue thouſand canes long, and tenne thouſand brode: this ſhalbe holy in all the borders thereof rounde about.

2 Of this part there ſhal belong vnto the ſanctuarie fyue hundred cubites in length with fyue hundred in breadth ſquare round about: & fyftie cubites rounde about for the ſuburbes.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure, namely of the length of twentie and fyue thouſande, and the breadth of ten thouſande, and in it ſhalbe the ſanctuarie, and the moſt holy place.

4 That holy portion of the lande ſhall parteyne vnto the prieſtes whiche doo ſeruice in the ſanctuarie, whiche come neare to ſerue the Lorde: and it ſhalbe vnto them a place for their houſes, and a holy place for the ſanctuarie.

5 And in the twentie and fyue thouſande length, and ten thouſande breadth, ſhall the Leuites that miniſter in the houſe haue their poſſeſſion for twentie chambers.

6 Ye ſhall geue alſo vnto the citie a poſſeſſion of fyue thouſande canes brode, and twentie and fyue thouſand long, ouer againſt the oblation of the holy portion that ſhalbe for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

a. Of all the lande of Iſrael the Lord requireth onely this portion, for the temple and for the prieſtes, for the citie, & for the prince.

7 And a portion ſhalbe for the prince on this ſide and on that ſide of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the poſſeſſion of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the poſſeſſion of the citie, from the Weſt corner Weſtwarde, and from the Eaſt corner Eaſtwarde: and the length ſhalbe by one of the portions, from the Weſt border vnto the Eaſt border.

8 In this lande ſhalbe his poſſeſſion in Iſrael: and my princes ſhal no more oppreſſe my people, and the reſt of the lande ſhall they geue to the houſe of Iſrael accordyng to their tribes.

9 Thus ſayth the Lorde God, b Let it ſuffiſe you, O ye princes of Iſrael: leaue of crueltie and oppreſſion, and execute iudgemẽt and iuſtice: take away your exactions from my people, ſayth the Lorde God.

10 Ye ſhall haue a true ballance, a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath ſhalbe alyke: one Bath ſhall conteyne the tenth part of an Homer, and the Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof ſhalbe after the Homer.

12 ‖ The Sicle maketh twentie Gerahs: and twentie Sicles, and d twentie and fyue Sicles, and fyfteene Sicles make a Maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye ſhall offer: the ſixth part of an Ephah out of an Homer of wheate, and the ſixth part of an Ephah out of an Homer of barley.

14 Concernyng the ordinances of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle ye ſhal offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor: teme Bathes ſhalbe a Homer, becauſe ten Bathes fyl a Homer.

15 And one lambe from two hundred ſheepe out of the fatte paſtures of Iſrael for a meate offeryng, whole burnt offeryng, and peace offeryng, to reconcile them, ſayth the Lorde God.

16 All the people of the lande ſhal geue this oblation for the prince in Iſrael.

17 Agayne, it ſhalbe the princes part to offer whole burnt offeryngs, meate offeryngs, and wyne offeryngs in the holy dayes, newe Moones, Sabbothes, and in all the dyed feaſtes of the houſe of Iſrael: he ſhal prepare the ſinne offeryng, meate offeryng, whole burnt offeryng, and peace offeryng, to reconcile the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Thus ſayth the Lorde God, The firſt day of the firſt e moneth, thou ſhalt take a young bullocke without blemiſh, and cleanſe the ſanctuarie.

¶ The.xlvi. Chapter.

1. The ſacrifyce of the Sabbothes, and of the newe moones. 8. Through vvhiche doores they muſt goe in, or come out of the temple.

THus ſaith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court towarde the eaſt ſhalbe ſhut the ſixe wooꝛking dayes: but in the Sabboth and in the day of the newe moone it ſhalbe opened.

2 And the prince ſhall enter by the way of the poꝛche of the gate without, and ſhall ſtand by the poſt of the gate: and the prieſtes ſhal make his whole burnt offering, and his peace offeringes, and he ſhall wooꝛſhyp at the threaſhold of the gate, and goe fooꝛth: and the gate ſhall not be ſhutte till the euenyng.

3 On the ſame maner ſhal the people of the lande alſo doo their wooꝛſhip before the Lord, at the dooꝛe of this gate vpon the Sabbothes, and newe Moones.

4 The whole burnt offering that the prince ſhal bꝛing vnto the Lord vppon the Sabboth, ſhalbe ſixe lambes without blemiſhe, and a ramme without blemiſhe.

5 And the meate offering ſhalbe an Ephah for a ramme, and the meate offering for the lambes a a gift of his hand, and a Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he wil.

6 In the day of the newe moneth he ſhal be a young bullocke without blemiſhe, and ſixe lambes, and a ramme alſo without blemiſhe.

7 With the bullocke he ſhal geue an Ephah: and with the ramme an Ephah alſo for a meate offering: but to the lambes b accoꝛding as his hande ſhal take, and a Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b According to his habilitie.

8 And when the prince ſhal enter, he ſhal goe in by the way of the poꝛche of that gate: he ſhal goe fooꝛth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land come before the Lord in the high ſolemne feaſt, as many as come in by the Noꝛth gate to doo wooꝛſhip, ſhal goe out againe at the South gate: and they that come in at the South gate, ſhall goe fooꝛth againe at the Noꝛth gate: there ſhall none returne by the gate where he came in, but ſhall goe right fooꝛth ouer on the other ſide.

10 And the prince he ſhal goe in the middeſt of them when they goe in, and ſo come fooꝛth when they come fooꝛth.

11 Vppon the ſolemne and high feaſt dayes this ſhalbe the meate offering: an Ephah to a Bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes the gyft of his hand, and a Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince ſhall make a free whole burnt offering, oꝛ peace offeringes freely vnto the Lord: one then ſhall open him the gate that turneth towarde the Eaſt, and he ſhal make his whole burnt offerings, and his peace offeringes, as he dyd on the Sabboth day: after he ſhal goe fooꝛth, and when he is gone fooꝛth, one ſhall ſhutte the gate.

13 Thou ſhalt dayly make a whole burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemiſhe, thou ſhalt doo it euery mooꝛnyng.

14 Thou ſhalt prepare a meate offering for it euery mooꝛnyng, the ſixth part of an Ephah, and the thirde part of a Hin of oyle to mingle with the fyne floure: this meate offeryng ſhalbe continually by a perpetual oꝛdinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus ſhall they prepare the lambe, the meate offering, and oyle, euery mooꝛnyng, for a continuall whole burnt offering.

16 Moꝛeouer, thus ſayth the lord God, yf the prince geue a gyft vnto any of his ſonnes, the inheritaunce thereof ſhalbe his ſonnes: their poſſeſſion ſhalbe by inheritance.

17 But if he geue a gift of his inheritance to one of his ſeruauntes, then it ſhalbe his to the c yeere of libertie, and then returne to the prince: but the inheritance thereof is his ſonnes, and ſhalbe theyrs.

c. Whiche was at the yeere of Iubilee. Le. 25.

18 The prince alſo d ſhal take none of the peoples inheritance, nor put them from their poſſeſſion: but to his ſonnes ſhal he geue his owne poſſeſſion, that my people be not ſcattered abrode euery man from his poſſeſſion.

19 And he brought me through the entrance at the ſide of the gate to the holy chambers of the prieſtes, which ſtood toward the North, and behold there was a place vpon the Weſt ſide of them.

20 Then ſaide he vnto me, This is the place where the prieſtes ſhall ſeeth the treſpaſſe and ſinne offeringes, & bake the meate offeringes: that they neede not beare them into the outward court, and to e ſanctifie the people.

21 So he brought me into the vtter court, and cauſed me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and behold in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courtes ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broade: theſe foure corners were of one meaſure.

23 And there went a wall rounde about them, euen about thoſe foure: and vnder the walles there were * kitchins made rounde about.

¶ The. xlvii. Chapter.

1. The viſion of the waters that came out of the temple. 13. The coaſtes of the lande of promiſe, and the diuiſion thereof by tribes.

AFterwarde he brought me againe vnto the dooze of the houſe, and behold there guſhed out a waters from vnder the threſſholde of the houſe Eaſtwarde: for the forefront of the houſe ſtood toward the Eaſt, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right ſide of the houſe, which lyeth to the aulter Southward.

a. Wherby are meant the ſpiritual graces, that ſhould be geuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Chriſte, as Iohn. 4.

2 Then led he me to the North gate, and ledde me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate by the way that turneth Eaſtwarde: and behold, there iſſued foorth waters from the right ſide.

3 Now when the man that had the line in his hand went foorth Eaſtwarde, he meaſured a thouſand cubites, & then he brought me through the waters, the waters were to the anckles.

4 So he meaſured yet a thouſande, and brought me through the waters, the waters were to the knees: yet meaſured he a thouſand, and brought me through, the waters were to the loynes.

5 After this he meaſured a thouſand egaine, then was it ſuche a b riuer that I might not wade through it, the waters were riſen, and the waters did flowe as a riuer that might not be waded ouer.

6 And he ſaide vnto me, Haſt thou ſeene this, O thou ſonne of man? and with that he brought me, and cauſed me to returne to the riuer banke againe.

7 Nowe when I returned, behold, at the banke of the riuer were very many trees c on the one ſide and on the other.

8 Then ſaid he vnto me, Theſe waters flowe out towarde the Eaſt countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and come into the d ſea: which when it commeth into the ſea, the e waters ſhalbe wholſome.

9 Yea, al that liue and moue, whervnto this riuer commeth, ſhal liue: and there ſhalbe a very great multitude of fiſhe, becauſe theſe waters ſhal come thyther, for they ſhalbe wholſome: and euery thing ſhal liue whyther the riuer commeth.

10 By this riuer ſhall the fiſhers ſtand, from Engaddi vnto En-eglaim, and there ſpreade out their nettes: for theyr fiſhe ſhalbe accoyding to their kindes as the fiſhe of the maine ſea, exceeding many.

11 But the marſhes thereof, and the pittes thereof, ſhall not be made wholſome, they ſhalbe made ſalt pittes.

12 By this riuer, vpon the bankes therof on this ſide and on that ſide, ſhal growe al trees for meate, whoſe leaues ſhall not fade, neither ſhal the fruite thereof fayle, but ſhall bring foorth new fruite accoyding to his monethes, for the waters thereof runne out of the ſanctuarie: and the fruite thereof ſhalbe for meate, and the leaues thereof for * medicine.

15 This is the border of the f land vpon the North ſide, from the maine ſea toward Hethlon, as men goe to Zedada.

f. By the land of promiſe is ſignified the ſpiritual land whereof this was a figure.

16 Namely Hamah, Berotha, Sabarim, whiche are betweene thy borders of Damaſcus, and betweene the borders of Hamah, Hazar, Hatichon, that lyeth vpon the coaſtes of Hauran.

17 Thus the borders from the ſea ſoyth ſhalbe shalbe Hazar Enan, the border of Damascus, and the North Northward, and the borders of Hamah: this is the North part.

18 The East side shal ye measure from Hauran and Damascus, from Gilead & the lande of Israel by Iordane, and from the border vnto the East sea: and this is the East part.

19 The South side shalbe toward Teman, from Thamar to the waters of [n] strife in Cades, and the riuer to the mayne Sea: and that is the south part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great Sea, from the borders till a man come ouer against Hamah: this is the West part.

21 This land shal ye part among you according to the tribes of Israel, 22 And diuide it by lot to be an heritage for you, & for the strangers that dwel among you, and beget children among you: for ye shal take them among the children of Israel, like as though they were of your owne country, and they shall haue [g] heritage with you among the children of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, in the same tribe shal ye geue him his heritage, sayth the Lorde God.

¶ The .xlviii. Chapter.

1. The lottes of the seuen tribes 23. The lottes of the other tribes.

These are the names of the tribes: From the North side to the coast towarde Hethlon, til thou comest vnto Hamah, and Hazar Enan, the borders of Damascus Northward, the coast of Hamah, Dan shall haue his portion from the East quarter vnto the West.

2 Upon the borders of Dan, from the East side vnto the West, shal Aser haue his portion.

3 Upon the borders of Aser, from the East part vnto the West, shall Nephthali haue his portion.

4 Upon the borders of Nephthali, from the East quarter vnto the West, shall Manasses haue his portion.

5 Upon the borders of Manasses, from the East side vnto the West, shal Ephraim haue his portion.

6 Upon the borders of Ephraim, from the East part vnto the West, shall Ruben haue his portion.

7 Upon the borders of Ruben, from the East quarter vnto the West, shal Juda haue his portion.

8 Upon the borders of Juda, from the East part vnto the West part, shalbe the [a] offering whiche they shal offer, of fiue and twentie thousande canes brode, and of length as one of the partes from the East side vnto the West side: and the sanctuarie shalbe in the middest of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lorde, shalbe fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousande brode.

10 And for these euen for the priestes, shalbe this holy oblation: toward the North fiue and twentie thousande long, and towarde the West ten thousande brode, towarde the East ten thousande brode also, and towarde the South fiue and twentie thousande long, and the sanctuarie of the Lorde shalbe in the middest thereof.

11 This sanctified portion shalbe the priestes that are of the children of Sadoc, which haue kept my charge, whiche went not astray in the errour of the children of Israel, lyke as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the lande that is offered, shalbe theirs as a thyng most holy, harde vpon the borders of the Leuites.

13 And ouer agaynst the border of the priestes, shal the Leuites haue fiue and twentie thousande long, and ten thousande brode: all the length shalbe fyue and twentie thousande, and the breadth ten thousande.

14 Of this portion they shal sel nothing, nor make any permutation thereof, nor alienate the fyrst fruites of the lande: for it is holy vnto the Lorde.

15 And the fyue thousande that are leaft in the breadth ouer agaynst the fyue and twentie thousande, shalbe a prophane place for the citie, for housing and for suburbes: and the citie shalbe in the middes thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof: The North parte fyue hundred and foure thousande, and the South [b] part fyue hundred and foure thousande, and the East part fyue hundred and foure thousande, and the West part fyue hundred and foure thousande.

17 The suburbes of the citie shall haue towarde the North two hundred and fyftie, towarde the South two hundred and fyftie, towarde the East two hundred and fyftie, towarde the West also two hundred and fyftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, shalbe tenne thousande towarde the East, and tenne thousande towarde the West: and it shalbe ouer agaynst the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease therof shalbe for their meat that serue the citie.

19 And they that serue the citie, they shall serue it out of all the tribes of Israel.

20 All the oblation shalbe fiue & twentie

22 Moreouer, from the poſſeſſion of the Leuites, and the cities poſſeſſion, that whiche is in the middeſt ſhalbe the princes, betwixt the border of d Iuda, and the border of Beniamin ſhalbe the princes.

25 Upon the borders of Simeon, from the eaſt ſide vnto the weſt, ſhal Iſachar haue his portion.

26 Upon the borders of Iſachar, from the eaſt ſide vnto the weſt, ſhal Zabulon haue his portion.

27 Upon the borders of Zabulon, from the eaſt part vnto the weſt, ſhall Gad haue his portion.

28 Upon the borders of Gad at the ſouth ſide toward Temanah, the border ſhalbe frō Thamar, vnto the waters of * ſtrife to Cades, and to the riuer that runneth into the maine ſea. Or, Meribah.

29 This is the land whiche ye ſhall diuide by lot for an inheritance vnto the tribes of Iſrael, and theſe be their portions, ſayth the Lorde God.

30 Theſe be the boundes of the citie, vpon the North part fiue hundred and foure thouſande meaſures.

31 The gates of the citie ſhal haue the names of the tribes of Iſrael, three gates of the North ſide: one gate of Ruben, another of Iuda, the thirde of Leui.

32 Upon the Eaſt ſide fiue hundred and foure thouſande meaſures, with three gates: the one of Ioſeph, another of Beniamin, the thirde of Dan.

33 Vppon the South ſide fiue hundred and foure thouſand meaſures, with the three gates: the one of Simeon, another of Iſſachar, the thirde of Zabulon.

The ende of the Propheſie of Ezechiel.

¶ The booke of the prophete Daniel.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. The prophete ſheweth the captiuitie of Iehoakim king of Iuda. 4. Of the children that were in captiuitie, the king commaundeth to chooſe which of them ſhoulde be taught the learning and language of the Chaldeans.

a. Reade 2. Kyng. 24. 10.

IN the a thyrde yere of the raigne of Iehoakim kyng of Iuda, came Nabuchodonoſor kyng of Babylon vnto Hieruſalem, and beſieged it.

2 And the Lord deliuered Iehoakim the kyng of Iuda into his hande, with part of the veſſelles of the houſe of GOD, whiche he caryed away into the lande of b Sennar, to the houſe of his GOD, and he brought the veſſels into his goddes treaſurie.

b. Which was a playne by Babylon, where was the temple of the great God, & is here taken for Babylon.

3 And the king ſpake vnto Aſphenaz the c cheefe chamberlayne, that he ſhould bring hym certayne of the children of Iſrael, of the kynges ſeede, and of the princes.

c. Or, maiſter of the eunuches.

4 Youngmen without any blemiſh, but well fauoured, ſtudious in all wyſdome, ſkylfull for knowledge, able to vtter knowledge, and ſuche as haue lyuelyneſſe in them, that they

they d may ſtand in the kinges palace: and whom they might teache the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 Unto theſe the king appointed a dayly prouiſion euery day of a portion of ỹ kings meate, and of the wine which he dranke, ſo to nouriſhe them three yeeres, that afterwarde they might ſtand before the king.

6 Among theſe now were certaine of the children of Iuda: namely Daniel, Ananias, Miſael, and Azarias.

7 Unto theſe the cheefe chamberlaine gaue e other names, and called Daniel Baltaſſar: Ananias, Sidrach: Miſael, Miſach: and Azarias, Abednego.

8 But Daniel purpoſed in his hart that he would not defile him ſelfe with the portion of the kinges meate, nor with the wine whiche he dranke: therefore he required the cheefe chamberlaine that he might not defile him ſelfe.

9 (And God brought Daniel into fauour and tender loue with the cheefe chamberlaine.)

10 And the cheefe chamberlaine ſaide vnto Daniel, I am afraid of my lord the king whiche hath appointed you your meate and your drinke: wherefore ſhould he ſee your faces worſe liking then the ſyringaldes of your age, and ſo ye ſhall make me indaunger my head vnto the king.

11 Then Daniel ſaide vnto Melaſſar, whom the cheefe chamberlaine had ſet ouer Daniel, Ananias, Miſael, and Azarias:

12 Prooue but ten dayes with thy ſeruantes, and let vs haue pulſe to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenaunces be looked vpon before thee, and the countenaunces of the children that eate of the portion of the kynges meate: and as thou ſeeſt, deale with thy ſeruantes.

14 So he conſented to them in this matter, and prooued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes theyr countenances appeared fayrer and f fatter in fleſhe then al the chyldrens whiche did eate the portion of the kynges meate.

16 Thus Melaſſar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wyne that they ſhoulde drynke, and gaue them pulſe.

17 As for theſe foure chyldren, God gaue them knowledge and vnderſtanding in g al learning and wyſedome: alſo he gaue Daniel vnderſtanding of all h viſions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the i tyme was expyred that the kyng had appoynted to bryng them in, the cheefe chamberlayne brought them before Nabuchodonoſor.

19 And the king communed with them: but among them al were founde none ſuche as Daniel, Ananias, Miſael, and Azarias: therefore ſtoode they before the kyng.

20 In al matters of wyſe dome and vnderſtanding that the kyng enquyred of them, he founde them ten tymes better then al the wyſe men and ſoothſayers that were in al his realme.

21 And Daniel abode ſtyll vnto the k firſt yeere of kyng Cyrus.

¶ The ii. Chapter.

1. The dreame of Nabuchodonoſor. 2. He calleth vnto hym ſoothſayers, and requireth of them both the dreame and the interpretation thereof.

IN the a ſecond yeere of the raigne of Nabuchodonoſor, had Nabuchodonoſor a dreame, wherethrough his ſpirite was troubled, and his ſleepe brake from hym.

2 Then the kyng commaunded to call the wyſe men, and ſoothſayers, and ſorcerers, and the Chaldees, for to ſhewe the kyng his dreame: So they came, and ſtoode before the kyng.

3 And the kyng ſayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my ſpirite was troubled to knowe the dreame.

4 Upon this the Chaldees aunſweared the kyng in the Syrians ſpeache, O kyng, God ſaue thy lyfe for euer: ſhewe thy ſeruantes the dreame, and we ſhall ſhewe the interpretation.

5 The kyng aunſweared and ſayd to the Chaldeans, The thyng is gone from me: Yf ye wyll not make me vnderſtande the dreame, with the interpretation thereof, ye ſhalbe drawen in peeces, & your houſes made a iakes.

6 But yf ye tell me the dreame, and the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall receiue of me gyftes, rewardes, and great honour, therefore ſhewe me the dreame, and the interpretation therof.

7 They aunſweared agayne, and ſayde, The kyng muſt ſhewe his ſeruantes the dreame, and ſo ſhall we declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the kyng aunſweared, ſaying, I percepue of a trueth that ye would b redeeme the tyme, for ſo muche as ye ſee the thyng is gonne from me.

9 Therefore yf ye wyll not tell me the dreame, this is your onely purpoſe, Ye haue prepared lying and corrupt woordes to ſpeake before me, tyll the tyme be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe that

k. That is, he was eſteemed in Babylon as a prophete, and in auctoritie ſo long as the common wealth ſtoode.

a. The father and the ſonne were both called by this name, ſo that it is meant of the ſonne when he raigned alone: for he raigned alſo after a ſort with his father: Or els in the ſeconde yeere of his generall conqueſt of other barbarous nations.

b: Ye ſeeke occaſion of delayes, vntyll ſome other affayres myght happen, and make me forget the matter.

that ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Vpon this the Chaldees gaue anſweare before the king, and ſaid, There is no man vpon earth that can tel the thing which the king ſpeaketh of, yea there is neyther kyng, prince, nor lorde, that euer aſked ſuche thinges at a wyſe man, ſoothſayer, or Chaldean.

11 For it is a rare matter that the king requireth, neither is there any that can certifie the king thereof, except the gods, whoſe dwelling is not with fleſhe.

12 For the whiche cauſe the kyng was wroth with great indignation, & commaunded to deſtroy al the wyſe men at Babylon.

13 So the decree went forth, and the wyſe men were ſlayne: they ſought alſo to ſlay Daniel, with his companions.

14 Then Daniel ſtayed the counſell and decree with Arioch the captaine of the kings garde, who was gone forth to put to death the wyſe men of Babylon.

15 He anſwered and ſaide vnto Arioch the kinges captaine, Why is the ſentence ſo haſtie from the king? Then Arioch told Daniel the matter.

16 Vpon this went Daniel, and deſyred the king that he would gene him leiſure, and that he woulde ſhewe the king the interpretation.

17 Then Daniel went to his houſe, and ſhewed the thing to Ananias, Miſael, and Azarias, his companions:

18 That they ſhould beſeeche the God of heauen for grace in this ſecrete, that Daniel and his felowes, with other ſuch as were wyſe in Babylon, periſhed not.

19 Then was this ſecrete reuealed vnto Daniel in a viſion by night: then Daniel prayſed the God of heauen.

20 Daniel alſo anſwered, and ſayde, ‖ Pſal. 113. 1. The name of God be prayſed for euer and euer: for wyſedome and ſtrength are his.

21 He changeth the tymes and ſeaſons, he taketh away kinges, he ſetteth vp kinges: he geueth wyſedome vnto the wyſe, and vnderſtanding to thoſe that vnderſtande.

22 He reuealeth the deepe and ſecrete thinges: he knoweth the thing that lyeth in darkeneſſe, for the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and prayſe thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou haſt geuen me wyſdome & ſtrength, and haſt ſhewed me nowe the thing that we deſyred of thee: for thou haſt declared the kynges matter vnto vs.

24 Vpon this went Daniel in vnto Arioch, whom the kyng had ordeyned to deſtroy the wyſe men at Babylon: he went & ſayde thus vnto hym, Deſtroy not the wyſe men of Babylon, but bring me before the kyng, and I ſhal ſhewe the kyng the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the kyng in al the haſt, and ſayde thus vnto hym, I haue founde a man among the chyldren of Iuda that were brought captiues, that wyl declare vnto the kyng the interpretation.

26 Then anſwered the kyng and ſayde to Daniel whoſe name was Balthaſar, Art thou able to ſhewe me the dreame whiche I haue ſeene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel anſweared in the preſence of the kyng, and ſayde, As for this ſecrete which the kyng maketh inquiſition, there can neyther the men of vnderſtanding, nor ſoothſayers, nor the wyſe men, nor readers of deſtinies, declare it vnto the kyng:

28 But there is a c God in heauen that reueaſeth ſecretes, and ſheweth the kyng Nabuchodonoſor what is for to come in the latter dayes. Thy dreame and that whiche thou haſt ſeene in thyne head vpon thy bedde is this.

c. Hereby he ſmyteth the kyng with a certayne feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receyue the high myſteries that ſhoulde be reuealed.

29 O kyng, when thou waſt in thy bed, thoughtes came into thy minde what ſhould come hereafter: ſo he that is the opener of myſteries, telleth thee what is for to come.

30 As for me, this ſecrete is not ſhewed me for any wyſedome that I haue more then any other lyuyng, but onely that I myght ſhewe the kyng the interpretation, and that thou myghteſt knowe the thoughtes of thyne owne hart.

31 Thou kyng ſaweſt, and behold, there vvas a great image: this great d image, whoſe bryghtneſſe was excellent, ſtoode before thee, and the fourme thereof was terrible.

d. By this is vnderſtanded the worlde.

32 This images e head was of fyne golde, his breſt and armes of ſyluer, his belly and his thyghes of braſſe.

e. By golde, ſiluer, braſſe, & iron, are ment the Chaldean, Perſian, Macedonian & Romane kingdome, whiche ſhoulde ſucceſſiuely rule the world til Chriſt (whiche is here called the ſtone) come hym ſelfe and deſtroy the laſt.

33 His legges were of iron, his feete were part of iron and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldeſt it tyll a ſtone was cut without handes, whiche ſmote the image vpon his feete that were of iron and clay, and brake them to peeces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the braſſe, the ſyluer and golde broken altogeather, and became lyke the chaffe of ſommer flowres, and the wynde carped them away, that no place was founde for them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image, became a great mountayne, and fylled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame: and nowe wyll we ſhewe before the kyng what it meaneth.

37 O king, thou art a king of kings: for the the GOD of heauen hath geuen vnto thee a kingdome, power, strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where so euer the childrē of men dwell, the beastes of the feeld, and the foules of the ayre hath he geuen into thy hand, and hath made thee ruler in them all: thou art this f head of gold.

39 After thee shal aryse g another kingdome, inferior to thee, and another h thirde kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 The i fourth kingdome shalbe strong as iron: for as iron breaketh in peeces and subdueth al thinges, and as iron bruiseth all these thinges, so shall it breake in peeces and bruise all.

41 Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of iron, the kingdome shalbe k diuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of iron, for so much as thou sawest the iron mixt with the clay and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of iron and part of clay: so shal the kingdome be part strong and part broken.

43 And wheras thou sawest iron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle them selues with the seede of men, and yet not ioyne one with another, as iron wyl not be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kinges shal the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shal neuer be destroyed, and this kyngdome shal not be geuen ouer to another people: but it shall breake & destroy all these kingdomes, and it l shal stand for euer.

45 Like as thou sawest that m without any handes there was cut out of the mount a stone, whiche brake the iron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and golde in peeces: so the great GOD hath shewed the kyng what shall come to passe after this: this is a true dreame, and the interpretation of it is sure.

46 Then the king Nabuchodonosor fel downe vppon his face, and bowed him selfe vnto Daniel, and commaunded to offeryne n rewardes and sweete odours for him.

47 The king answeared Daniel, and saide, Of a trueth o your God is a God of goddes, and the Lorde of kinges, and a reuealer of secretes, seeing thou couldest reueale this secrete.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great gyftes: he made him ruler of all the countreys of Babylon, and the cheefe of the rulers aboue al the wyse men of Babylon.

49 Then Daniel made request to the king, and he set Sidrach, Misach, and Abednego, ouer the charge of the prouince of Babylon: but Daniel sate in the kinges gate.

¶ The iii. Chapter.

1. The king setteth vp a golden image, vvhiche he commaundeth to be vvorshipped. 8. Sidrach, Misach, and Abednego are accused, becaus they dispised the kinges commaundement.

NAbuchodonosor the kyng made an image of golde, whiche was threescore cubites high, and sixe cubites thicke: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babylon.

2 Then Nabuchodonosor the kyng sent forth, to geather togeather the dukes, lords, and nobles, the iudges and officers, the deputies and sheriffes, with all the rulers of the prouinces, that they might come to the a dedication of the image which Nabuchodonosor the king had set vp.

3 So the dukes, lordes, and nobles, the iudges and officers, deputies, and sheriffes, with al the rulers of the prouince, geathered them togeather vnto the dedication of the image that Nabuchodonosor the kyng hadde set vp, and they stood before the image which Nabuchodonosor had set vp.

4 Then an Heralde cryed a loude, To you it is commaunded, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the noyse of the Cornet, Trumpet, Harpe, Shawme, Psalteries, Dulcimer, & all maner of instrumentes of musicke, ye fall downe and woorship that golden image that Nabuchodonosor the king hath set vp.

6 Who so then falleth not downe and woorshippeth, shall euen the same houre be cast into the middest of a hotte fierie furnace.

7 Therfore when al the folke heard the noyse of the Cornet, Trumpet, Harpe, Shawme, Psalteries, and al instrumentes of musicke, then all the people, nations, and languages fell downe and woorshipped the golden image that Nabuchodonosor the king had set vp.

8 Nowe were there certaine men of the Chaldees, that went euen then, and b cryed out an accusation of the Iewes.

9 They spake, and sayd vnto the kyng Nabuchodonosor, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sounde of the Cornet, Trumpet, Harpe, Shawme, Psalteries, Dulcimer, and al instrumentes of musicke, shall fall downe and woorshippe the golden image:

11 And who so then fel not downe, and woꝛſhipped not, that he ſhoulde be caſt into the middes of an hot fierie fornace.

12 Nowe are there certaine Iewes, whom thou haſt ſet ouer the charge of the pꝛouince of Babylon: namely c Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego: theſe men, O king, regarded not thy commaundement: yea they wyll not ſerue thy goddes, noꝛ woꝛſhip the golden image that thou haſt ſet vp.

13 Then Nabuchodonoſoꝛ in his anger and wꝛath commaunded that Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, ſhoulde be bꝛought vnto him: ſo theſe men were bꝛought before the king.

14 Then Nabuchodonoſoꝛ ſpake vnto them, and ſaide, Is it true, O Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, wyl not you ſerue my goddes, noꝛ woꝛſhip the golden image that I haue ſet vp?

15 Nowe therfoꝛe be redy when ye heare the ſounde of the Cornet, Trumpet, Harpe, Shawme, Pſalteries, Dulcimer, and all inſtrumentes of muſicke, to fal downe & woꝛſhip the image which I haue made: foꝛ yf ye woꝛſhip it not, ye ſhalbe caſt immediatly into the middes of a hot fierie furnace: foꝛ who is that GOD that can deliuer you out of my handes?

16 Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, anſwered the king, and ſaid, O Nabuchodonoſoꝛ, we are not d carefull to anſweare thee in this matter:

17 Behold, our God whom we ſerue, is e able to deliuer vs from the hotte fierie foꝛnace: and he wyl deliuer vs out of thy hand, O king.

18 And though he wyll not, yet ſhalt thou knowe, O king, that we wyll not ſerue thy goddes, noꝛ woꝛſhip the golden image whiche thou haſt ſet vp.

19 Then was Nabuchodonoſoꝛ full of indignation, ſo that the countenance of his face chaunged vpon Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego: therefoꝛe he charged and commaunded that they ſhoulde heate the foꝛnace, one ſeuen times moꝛe then it was woont to be heat, 20 And he charged the moſt valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, & to caſt them into the hot fierie furnace.

21 So theſe men were bounde in theyꝛ coates, hoſen, head attire, with their other garmentes, and caſt into the middes of the hotte fierie furnace.

22 Therefoꝛe becauſe the kinges commaundement was ſtraite, and the furnace was exceeding hotte, the men that put in Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, the flame of the fyꝛe deſtroyed them.

23 And theſe thꝛee men, Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, fel downe in the middes of the hotte fierie furnace bounde.

24 Then Nabuchodonoſoꝛ the king was aſtonied, and roſe vp in al haſte: he ſpake vnto his counſell, and ſaide, Did not we caſt thꝛee men bound into the middes of the fyꝛe? They anſweared and ſaide vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 He anſweared and ſayde, Loe I ſee foure men loſe, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt: and the fourme of the fourth is like the f ſonne of God.

26 Vpon this went Nabuchodonoſoꝛ vnto the mouth of the hot fiꝛie furnace, he ſpake alſo, and ſaid, O Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, ye ſeruantes of the higb God, go foꝛth, and come hither. And ſo Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, came foꝛth of the middes of the fyꝛe.

27 The Dukes, Loꝛdes, and Nobles, and the kinges counſel came togeather to ſee theſe men, vppon whom the fyꝛe had no maner of power in their bodyes: in ſo muche that the very heare of their head was not burnt, and their clothes vnchaunged, yea there was no ſmel of fire felt vpon them.

28 Then ſpake Nabuchodonoſoꝛ, and ſaide, Bleſſed be the God of Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, whiche hath ſent his angel, and deliuered his ſeruants that put their truſt in him, and haue altered the kings commaundement, and ieoparded their bodyes, rather then they would ſerue noꝛ woꝛſhip any god, except their owne God only.

29 Therfoꝛe I make a decree, that euery people, nation, & language, whiche ſpeake any blaſphemie againſt the God of Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, ſhalbe dꝛawen in peeces, and their houſes ſhalbe made a iakes: becauſe there is no God that can deliuer after this ſoꝛt.

30 So the king pꝛomoted Sidꝛach, Miſach, and Abednego, in the pꝛouince of Babylon.

The.iiii. Chapter.

Nabuchodonoſoꝛ dreameth againe.

NAbuchodonoſoꝛ king, vnto all people, nations, and languages that dwell vpon the a whole earth, peace be multiplied among you.

2 I thought it good to ſhewe the ſignes and marueylous woꝛkes that the higb God hath wꝛought vpon me.

3 O howe great are his ſignes, and howe mightie are his woonders? his kingdome is an b euerlaſting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

4 I Nabuchodonoſoꝛ being at reſt in my houſe,

c. It ſeemeth that they named not Daniel, becauſe he was greatly in the kinges fauour, thinking yf theſe three had been deſtroyed, they might haue better occaſion to accuſe Daniel after: and this declareth that this pollicie of erectyug this image, was inuented by the malitious flatterers, whiche ſought nothing but the deſtruction of the Iewes, whom they accuſed of rebellion, and ingratitude.

d. They ſhould haue done iniurie to God, yf they ſhoulde haue doubted in this holy cauſe, & therefore they ſay that they are reſolued to dye for Gods cauſe.

e. They ground on two pointes: firſt on the power and prouidence of god ouer them: ſecondly on their cauſe, whiche was gods glory, and the teſtifying of his true religion with their blood, and ſo make open confeſſion, that they wyll not ſo much as outwardly conſent to idolatrie.

f. That is, an angel of God, as verſe. 28.

a. Meanyng, ſo farre as his dominion extended.

b. Reade Chapt. 2.

houſe, and floriſhing in my palace.

5 Sawe a c dreame, which made me afrayde, and the thoughtes vpon my bed with the viſions of my head troubled me.

6 Therefore made I a decree, that they ſhoulde bring all the wyſe men of Babylon before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

7 So came the wyſe men, the ſoothſayers, the Chaldeans, and wyſardes, to whom I tolde the dreame: but they could not ſhewe me the interpretation thereof.

8 Tyl at the laſt Daniel came before me (whoſe name was Bataſſar, according to the name of my God) which hath the ſpirit of the holy goddes in him, and before him I tolde the dreame, ſaying, 9 O Baltaſſar, thou prince of wiſe men, for ſo muche as I knowe that thou haſt the ſpirit of the holy gods, and no ſecrete troubleth thee: tel me therefore the viſions of my dreame that I haue ſeene, and the interpretation thereof.

10 Thus were the viſions of my head vpon my bed: and beholde, I ſawe a tree in the middes of the earth, & the heyght thereof was great:

11 A great tree and ſtrong, and the heyght thereof reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof to the endes of all the earth.

12 The leaues thereof were fayre, and the fruite thereof muche, and in it was meate for al: the beaſtes of the feelde had ſhadowes vnder it, and the foules of the ayre dwelt in the boughes thereof: al fleſhe fedde of it.

13 I ſawe in the viſions of my head vpon my bed, and beholde, a d watcher, and a holy one came downe from heauen, 14 And cryed mightily, ſaying thus, Hewe downe the tree, breake of his branches, ſhake of his leaues, and ſcatter his fruite abrode: that the beaſtes may geat them away from vnder hym, and the foules from his branches.

15 Neuertheleſſe, leaue the ſtumpe of his rootes ſtyl in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bynde it among the graſſe of the feelde, and let it be wet with the deawe of heauen, & let his portion be with the beaſtes among the graſſe of the feelde.

16 Let his hart be e changed from mans nature and let a beaſtes hart be geuen vnto hym, and let ſeuen tymes be paſſed ouer hym.

17 This ſentence is according to the f decree of the watchers, and the requeſt according to the woorde of the holy ones: becauſe lyuyng men ſhoulde knowe that the bygheſt hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and geueth it to whom it lyketh hym, and ſetteth vp ouer it the baſeſt among men.

18 This is the dreame that I king Nabuchodonoſor haue ſeene: therefore thou, O Baltaſſar, declare the interpretation therof, for ſo muche as al the wyſe men of my kingdome are not able to ſhewe me what it meaneth: but thou canſt doo it, for the ſpirite of the holy goddes is in thee.

19 Then Daniel, whoſe name was Baltaſſar, helde his peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughtes g troubled him. So the kyng ſpake, and ſayde, O Baltaſſar, let neyther the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Baltaſſar anſweared, ſaying, O my Lorde, this dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine aduerſaries.

20 As for the tree that thou ſaweſt, whiche was great and mighty, whoſe heyght reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof through al the worlde,

21 Whoſe leaues were fayre, and the fruite thereof muche, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beaſtes of the feelde had their habitation, and vppon whoſe branches the foules of the ayre did ſit:

22 It is thou, O kyng, which art great and mighty, for thy greatneſſe encreaſeth and reacheth vnto the heauen, ſo doeth thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

23 But whereas the kyng ſawe a watcher, and a holy one that came downe from heauen, and ſayde, Hewe downe the tree, and deſtroy it, yet leaue the ſtumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of iron and braſſe bynde it among the graſſe of the feelde, and let it be wet with the deawe of the heauen, and let his portion be with the beaſtes of the feelde, tyl h ſeuen tymes paſſe ouer hym.

24 This, O kyng, is the interpretation, yea it is the very decree of hym that is hygheſt of al, and it toucheth my Lorde the kyng.

25 Thou ſhalt be caſt out from men, and thy dwelling ſhalbe with the beaſtes of the feelde: with graſſe ſhalt thou be fed lyke i oxen, thou muſt be wet with the deawe of the heauen, yea, ſeuen tymes ſhall paſſe ouer thee, tyl thou k knowe that the hygheſt hath power ouer the kyngdome of men, and geueth it to whom he lyſt.

26 Moreouer, whereas it was ſayde that the ſtumpe of the roote of the tree ſhould be left ſtyl: it betokeneth that thy kingdome ſhal remayne whole vnto thee, after thou haſt learned to knowe that the power commeth from heauen.

27 Wherefore, O king, let my counſell be acceptable vnto thee, and I breake of thy ſinnes

---

b. This was another dreame, beſide that whiche he ſawe of y foure empyres.

c. Which was the angel of God.

d. That is, let him be depriued of naturall diſpoſion, and haue vnderſtanding.

e. This was the tree of God himſelfe, as appeareth in the 22. verſe following, but it is called the deuyſe of the Babylonians or Chaldeans, becauſe they wrought it and practiſed it: which the holy Ghoſt deſyre to haue to paſſe, conſenting vnto the decree of God, that the people might be brought to knowe, and the Gentyles exalted.

f. Meaning, ſo farre as his dominion extended.

g. Partly conſydering the great iudgementes of God in the horrible puniſhment of this great prince: and partly mooued with pitie of his cauſe, whom God had commaunded the Iewes to wyſhe wel to, and pray for, as, Iere. 29.

h. Whereby he meaneth a long ſpace, as ſeuen yeeres, or ſeuen quarters of yeeres, or ſeuen monethes: for the interpretation is diuers.

i. Not that his ſhape or fourme was changed into a beaſt, but that he was eyther ſtricken madde, and ſo auoyded mans compayne: or was caſt out for his tyrannie, and ſo wandred among the beaſtes, and ate herbes and graſſe.

k. Daniel ſheweth the cauſe why God thus puniſhed hym.

l. Ceaſſe from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy ſinnes, & where thou haſt cruelly oppreſſed many poore, be nowe mercifull vnto them in righteouſneſſe, ſo ſhal the errours of thy former lyfe be redreſſed.

ſinnes by ryghteouſneſſe, and thine iniquities by mercie towarde the poore: loe, let there be a healing of thine errour.

28 All theſe thinges touche the kyng Nabuchodonoſor.

29 So after twelue monethes, the king walked in the palace of the kyngdome of Babylon.

30 And the kyng ſpake, and ſayde, Is not this great Babylon that I haue buylt for the houſe of the kyngdome by the myght of my power, and for the honour of my maieſtie?

31 Whyle theſe wordes were yet in the kyngs mouth, there fel a voyce from heauen, ſaying, O kyng Nabuchodonoſor, to thee be it ſpoken, Thy kyngdome is departed from thee, 32 And thou ſhalt be caſt out of mens companie, thy dwelling ſhalbe with the beaſtes of the feelde: ſo that thou ſhalt eate graſſe lyke oxen, and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, vntyl thou knowelt that the higheſt hath power vpon the kyngdome of men, and geueth it vnto whom it pleaſeth him.

33 The very ſame houre was this matter fulfylled vpon Nabuchodonoſor, ſo that he was caſt out of mens companie, and dyd eate graſſe like oxen, and his body was wet with the deawe of heauen, tyll his heares were growen as Egles feathers & his nayles lyke byrdes clawes.

34 When this m tyme was paſt, I Nabuchodonoſor lyft vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto me: then gaue I thankes vnto the hyghеſt, I magnified and prayſed hym that lyueth for euermore, whoſe power is an euerlaſting power, and his kingdome is from one generation to another.

35 And al they that dwel vpon the earth are to be reputed as nothing, and accordyng to his wyl he worketh in the armie of heauen, and among the inhabiters of the earth: and there is none that may reſiſt his hande, or ſay vnto hym, What dooeſt thou?

36 At the ſame tyme was mine vnderſtanding geuen me agayne, and I was reſtored to the honour of my kyngdome, my glory and my beautie was reſtored vnto me, and my counſaylours and n princes ſought vnto me, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kyngdome, and my glory was augmented towarde me.

37 Nowe therefore I o Nabuchodonoſor, prayſe, and extol, and magnifie the king of heauen, whoſe woorkes are al trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and thoſe that walke in pryde he is able to abaſe.

m. That is, the ſeuen times or yeeres mentioned in the verſes. 16. 23. and. 25.

n. By whom it ſeemeth he was put from his kyngdome before.

o. He doeth not onely prayſe God for his deliuerance, but alſo confeſſeth his fault, that God onely may haue the glory, and man the ſhame, and that he may be exalted, and pũ caſt downe.

¶ The. v. Chapter.

1. Balthaſar king of Babylon abuſing the veſſels of the temple, ſeeth an hande vvryting in the vval. 8. The ſoothſayers called of the king, can not expounde the vvryting.

KYng Balthaſar made a great feaſt to a thouſande of his princes, and dranke wyne a before the thouſande.

2 And Balthaſar, when he had taſted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and ſiluer veſſels, which his father Nabuchodonoſor had brought from the temple in Hieruſalem, that the king, and his princes, and his wyues, & his concubines, might drynke therein.

3 So were brought the golden veſſelles that they had taken out of the temple of the Lordes houſe at Hieruſalem: and the kyng, and his princes, his wyues, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, & prayſed the gods of golde, ſiluer, braſſe, iron, wood, and ſtone.

5 In the very ſame houre there appeared fyngers of a mans hande wryting, ryght ouer b agaynſt the candleſticke vppon the plaſter of the wal of the kynges palace, and the king ſawe the knockles of the hande that wrote.

6 Then changed the kyng his countenance, and his thoughtes troubled him, ſo that the ioyntes of his loynes were looſed, and his c knees ſmote one agaynſt the other.

7 Wherefore the kyng cryed mightily, that they ſhoulde bring the ſoothſayers, Chaldees, and wyſardes: the king ſpake alſo to the wyſe men of Babylon, and ſayd, Who ſo can reade this wryting, and ſhewe me the interpretation thereof, ſhalbe clothed with purple, and haue a chayne of golde about his necke, and ſhalbe the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Upon this came all the kynges wyſe men, but they coulde neyther reade the wryting, nor ſhewe the kyng the interpretation.

9 Then was kyng Balthaſar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in hym, and his princes were aſtonied.

10 Nowe the d queene, by reaſon of the talke of the kyng and his princes, came into the banquet houſe: and the queene ſpake, and ſayde, O kyng, lyue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, and let not thy countenaunce be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kyngdome that hath the ſpirite of the holy gods within hym: and in the dayes of thy father, lyght, and vnderſtanding, and wyſedome, lyke the

b. That it might the better be ſeene.

c. So that he that before contempned God, was moued by this ſight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgemeures.

d. This ſome thinke was his mother, other his grandmother, of all lykelyhood a woman of great age, that could remember the actes of Da the wysedome of the goddes was founde in hym, whom the kyng Nabuchodonoſor thy father, the kyng I ſay thy father made cheefe of the e wyſe men, ſoothſayers, Chaldeans, and wyſardes, e Reade vp.4.& this wareth,both e this name odious vn- him,and alſo e he dyd not theſe vyle Riſes be- ſe he was among the en all were ed.

12 Becauſe that ſuch an abundant ſpirite, knowledge, and vnderſtanding, to expounde dreames, to open ſecretes, and to declare harde doubtes,was founde in hym, yea euen in Daniel,whom the kyng named Baltaſſar: let Daniel be called, and he ſhall declare the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought before the king: ſo the king ſpake vnto Daniel,and ſayde,Art thou that Daniel,which art of the chyldren of the captiuitie of Juda, whom my father the kyng brought out of Jurie?

14 I haue heard of thee that thou haſt the ſpirite of the holy goddes, and that lyght and vnderſtandyng, and excellent wyſedome is founde in thee.

15 Now haue there ben brought before me wyſe men, and ſoothſayers, to reade this wryting, and to ſhewe me the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of the thyng.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldeſt ſhewe interpretations, and diſſolue doubtes: nowe if thou canſt reade this wryting,and ſhewe me the meanyng thereof,thou ſhalt be clothed with purple, & haue a chayne of golde about thy necke,and be the thirde ruler in the kyngdome.

17 Then Daniel aunſweared,and ſayde before the kyng, As for thy rewardes keepe them to thee ſelfe, and geue thy gyftes to another: yet I wyll reade the wryting vnto the kyng, and ſhewe hym the interpretation.

18 O thou kyng,the moſt hygh GOD gaue vnto f Nabuchodonoſor thy father a kyngdome,and maieſtie,and honour,and glorie.

f Before he al the wry- he decla- to the king great ingra- ude towarde d,who could he moued geue hym glory, con- tryng his nderfull ke towarde grandfa- ſo ſhew- that he ſin- not of ig- rance,but of ge.

19 And for the maieſtie that he gaue hym,al people, nations,and languages trembled and feared before him: he ſlue whom he woulde, he ſmote whom it pleaſed hym: agayne,whom he woulde he ſet vp, and whom he liſt he put downe.

20 But becauſe his hart was loftie,and his mynde ſtrengthened in pryde, he was depoſed from his kyngly throne, and they tooke his glory from hym.

21 He was dryuen out from the ſonnes of men, his hart was made lyke the beaſtes, and his dwellyng was with the wylde aſſes, they fedde hym with graſſe lyke oxen,and his body was wet with the deawe of heauen, tyll he knewe that the moſt hygh God bare rule ouer the kyngdome of meune, and that he appoynted ouer it whom ſo euer he pleaſeth.

22 And thou his ſonne, O Balthaſar, or, Belſaſar. haſt not ſubmitted thyne hart, though thou kneweſt al theſe thynges:

23 But haſt lyft vp thee ſelfe agaynſt the Lorde of heauen, ſo that the veſſelles of his houſe were brought before thee,that thou and thy princes, with thy wyues and concubines, myght drynke wyne thereout: and thou haſt prayſed the goddes of ſyluer, and golde,of braſſe,and iron, of wood, and ſtone, whiche neyther ſee, heare, nor vnderſtande: as for the God in whoſe hande conſiſteth thy breath and all thy wayes,thou haſt not glorifyed hym.

g After that God,had ſo lōg tyme deferred his anger,& patiently wayted for thyne amēdement.

24 g Then was the knockles of the hand ſent from hym, and hath wrytten this wryting.

25 And this is the wryting that he hath written: MENE h MENE, THECEL, VPHARSIN.

h This word is doubled, not only to exaggerate the certainetie of the matter,but alſo as ſome thinke, the one to ſignifie the end of the kyng, the other ỹ ende of the kyngdome.

26 Now the interpretation of the thing is this, MENE, GOD hath numbred thy kingdome,and brought it to an ende.

27 THECEL,thou art weighed in the ballance,and art founde wantyng.

28 PHERES, thy kyngdome is diuided,and geuen to the Medes,and Perſes.

i Cyrus his ſonne in lawe gaue hym this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

29 Then commaunded Balthaſar, and they clothed Daniel with purple, & a chayne of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning hym,that he ſhould be the thirde ruler in the kyngdome.

30 The very ſame nyght was Balthaſar the kyng of the Chaldees ſlayne.

31 And i Darius of the Medes tooke the kyngdome,beyng threeſcore & two yeeres of age.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

Daniel is made ruler ouer the lordes.

IT pleaſed Darius to ſet ouer his kyngdome a hundred and twentie gouernours, whiche ſhoulde be ouer the whole kyngdome.

2 Aboue theſe he ſet three princes, of whom Daniel was one, that the gouernours myght geue accomptes vnto them, and the kyng ſhoulde haue no damage.

3 Nowe this Daniel was preferred aboue the princes and gouernours, for the ſpirite of God was plenteous in hym, ſo that the kyng was mynded to ſet hym ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours a ſought an occaſion agaynſt Daniel concernyng the kyngdome, but they coulde finde none occaſion nor faulte: for he was ſo faythfull, a Thus the wicked can not abyde the graces of God in others,but ſeke by all occaſions to deface them, therefore agaynſt ſuche afaultes there is no better remedy then to walke vprygh- ly in the feare of God,and to haue a good conſcience.

faythfull, that there was no blame nor faulte founde in him.

5 Then sayde these men, We shall fynde none occasion agaynst this Daniel, except we fynde it agaynst hym concernyng the lawe of his God.

6 Uppon this went the princes & lordes togeather vnto the kyng, and sayde thus vnto hym, Kyng Darius, lyue for euer.

7 All the rulers of the kyngdome, the officers, and gouernours, the counsellours, and dukes, haue consulted togeather to make a decree for the kyng, and to establishe a statute, That who so desyreth any petitiō eyther of any god or man within these thirtie dayes, except of thee, O kyng, he shalbe cast into the Lions denne.

8 Nowe, O kyng, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, accordyng to the lawe of the Medes & Persians, whiche altereth not.

9 Wherefore kyng Darius sealed the wrytyng and decree.

10 Nowe when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the wrytyng, he went into his house, and the b wyndowes of his chamber towarde Hierusalem stoode open, there kneeled he downe vpon his knees three tymes a day, he made his petition, and prayed his God, as he dyd aforetyme.

11 Then these men assembled, & founde Daniel making his petition, and praying vnto his God.

12 So they came to the kyng, and spake before hym concernyng his commaundemēt, saying, O kyng, hast thou not sealed the decree, that within thirtie dayes who so requireth his petition of any God or man, but onely of thee selfe, O kyng, he shalbe cast into the denne of Lions? The kyng aunswered, and sayde, Yea it is true, accordyng to the lawe of the Medes and Perses that altereth not.

13 Then aunsweared they, and sayd vnto the kyng, This Daniel whiche is of the chyldren of the captiuitie of Juda, O kyng, regardeth neyther thee, nor thy decree that thou hast sealed: but maketh his petition three tymes a day.

14 When the kyng heard these words, he was sore displeased with hym selfe, and set his hart on Daniel to deliuer hym, and he laboured tyll the sunne went downe, to delyuer hym.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the kyng, and sayde vnto hym, knowe this, O kyng, that the lawe of the Medes and Perses is, that the commaundement and statute whiche the kyng maketh, may not be c altered, 16 Then the kyng commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and they cast hym into the Lions denne. Nowe the kyng spake vnto Daniel, and sayde, Thy G D D whom thou alway seruest, euen he wyll delyuer thee.

17 And there was brought a stone, and layde vppon the mouth of the denne, this the kyng sealed with his owne ryng, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose concernyng Daniel shoulde not be changed.

18 So the kyng went into his palace, and remayned fastyng, neyther was there any instrumentes of musicke brought in before hym, and his sleepe went from hym.

19 But betymes in the mornyng at the breake of the day, the kyng arose, and went in all haste vnto the denne of the Lions.

20 Nowe as he came nygh vnto the denne, he cried with a pitious voyce vnto Daniel, yea the kyng spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, O Daniel, thou seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God whom thou seruest alway able to deliuer thee from the Lions?

21 Then sayde Daniel vnto the kyng, O kyng lyue for euer.

22 ‖My God hath sent his angel, which hath shutte the Lions mouthes, so that they myght not hurt me, for myne d vngyltinesse is founde out before hym: and as for thee, O kyng, I neuer e offended thee.

23 Then was the kyng exceedyng glad for him, and commaunded to take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vppon hym, for he f put his trust in his God.

24 And as for those men whiche had accused Daniel, the king commaunded to bring them, and to cast them into the Lions denne, them, their chyldren, and their wyues: so the Lions had the mastrie of them, and brake all their bones a sunder or euer they came at the grounde of the denne.

25 After this wrote kyng Darius vnto all people, nations, and tongues, that dwelt in all landes, Peace be multiplyed vnto you:

26 My commaundement is in al my dominion and kyngdome, that men feare and stande in awe of Daniels G D D: for he is the lyuyng G D D whiche abydeth euer, his kyngdome shall not fayle, and his power is euerlastyng.

27 It is he that deliuereth and saueth, he dooth woonders and marueylous woorkes in heauen and in earth, he hath preserued Daniel from the power of the Lions.

b. Because he woulde not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes towarde Hierusalem when he prayed, both to styrre vp hym selfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray towarde the temple: & also that others myght see that he woulde neuer consent in hart nor deede, for these few daies, to any thyng contrary to Gods glory.

c. Thus the wicked mainteyned yl lawes by constancie & auctoritie, whiche is oft tymes eyther lyghtnesse or stubburnesse, when as the innocents therby perish: & therefore gouernours ought neyther to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

‖ 1. Mach. 2. 60.

d. Mine vprightnesse in this thing wherein I was charged, was approued of God, e. For he dyd disobey y kinges wicked commaundemēt to obey god, and so did no iniurie to the king, who ought not commaund nothing whereby God should be dishonored.

f. Because he committed his selfe wholy vnto God, whose cause he did defende, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him, wherin we see the power of fayth. Heb. xi.

28 ‖So this Daniel proſpered in the raigne of Darius, and in the raigne of Cyrus of Perſia.

¶ The.vii. Chapter.

A viſion of foure beaſtes is ſhewed vnto Daniel.

IN the firſt yeere of Balthaſar kyng of Babylon, ſawe Daniel a dreame, & there were viſions in his head vppon his bed: whiche dreame he wrote, and declared the ſumme of the matter.

2 Daniel ſpake, and ſayd, I ſawe in my viſion by night, & behold, the foure a windes of heauen ſtroue vpon the great ſea.

3 And foure great beaſtes came vp from the ſea, one diuers from another.

4 The firſt was a b Lion, and had Eagles wynges: I behelde tyll his wynges were pluckt from him, & he lyfted vp from the earth, and ſet vpon his feete lyke a man, and there was geuen him a mans hart.

5 Beholde, another beaſt vvhiche vvas the ſeconde, was like a c Beare, & ſtoode vpon the one ſide: betwixt his teeth in his mouth he had three ribbes, and it was ſayde vnto him thus, Aryſe, eate vp much fleſhe.

6 Then I looked, and beholde, there was another like vnto a d Leoparde, this had wynges as a fowle, euen e foure vppon the backe: this beaſt had foure heades, and there was power geuen him.

7 After this I ſawe in a viſion by night, and beholde, the fourth beaſt was f grimme and horrible, and marueylous ſtrong: it had great iron teeth, it deuoured and deſtroyed, and ſtamped the reſidue vnder his feete, it was vnlyke the other beaſtes that were before it: for it had g ten hornes.

8 As I conſydered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle horne, before whom there were three of the firſt hornes pluckt away: and beholde, this horne had eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth ſpeaking preſumptuous thinges.

9 I beheld tyl the thrones were ſet vp, and the auncient of dayes did ſit, whoſe garment was white as ſnowe, and the heares of his head like the pure wool: his throne was lyke the fierie flambe, and his wheeles as burning fyre.

10 There iſſued footh a fierie ſtreame, and went out from before him: a thouſande thouſands miniſtred vnto him, and ten thouſande thouſandes ſtoode before him: the iudgement was ſet, and the bookes opened.

11 Then tooke I heede thereunto, becauſe of the voyce of the proude wordes whiche the horne ſpake: I beheld tyll the beaſt was ſlayne, and his body deſtroied, and geuen to be brent in the fyre.

12 As concerning the other beaſtes, they had their dominion taken away, but theyr lyues were prolonged for a certayne tyme and ſeaſon.

13 I ſawe in viſions by night, and beholde, there came one in the cloudes of heauen, lyke the ſonne of man, whiche went vnto the auncient of dayes, before whom they brought hym.

14 And he gaue him dominion and honour, and a kyngdome, that al people, nations, and languages ſhoulde ſerue hym: ‖his dominion is an euerlaſting dominion, which ſhal neuer be taken away, and his kingdome ſhal neuer be deſtroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my ſpirite in the middeſt of my body, and the viſions of my head made me afrayde.

16 I gate me vnto h one of them that ſtoode by, and aſked him the trueth concerning all theſe thinges: ſo he tolde me, and made me vnderſtande the interpretation of theſe thinges.

17 Theſe great beaſtes which are foure, are foure kynges which ſhal aryſe out of the earth.

18 But the i high ſaintes ſhal receyue a kyngdome, and poſſeſſe a kyngdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this, I requyred to knowe the trueth concerning the fourth beaſt, whiche was ſo vnlyke the other beaſtes, and ſo horrible, whoſe teeth were of iron, & his nayles of braſſe, which deuoured and deſtroyed, and ſtamped the reſidue vnder his feete:

20 I deſyred alſo to knowe the trueth as touchyng the ten hornes that he had vppon his head, and this other whiche came vp afterwarde, before whoſe face there fel downe three, whiche horne had eyes, and a mouth that ſpake preſumptuous thinges, and looked with a grimmer viſage then his k felowes.

21 I beheld, and the ſame horne made battel agaynſt the ſaintes, yea, and preuayled agaynſt them, 22 Untyl the l auncient of dayes came, that the iudgement was geuen to the hygh ſaintes, & tyl the tyme came that the ſaintes had the kyngdome in poſſeſſion.

23 He gaue me this anſweare, That fourth beaſt ſhalbe the fourth kyngdome vpon earth, it ſhalbe vnlike to all the kyngdomes: it ſhal deuoure, treade downe, and deſtroy al other landes.

24 The ten hornes, are ten kinges that ſhal aryſe out of the kyngdomes: after whom there ſhal ſtande vp another, whiche ſhalbe vnlyke

¶ The. viii. Chapter.

A viſion of a ſtrife betweene a Ramme and a hee goate.

8. After the generall viſion he commeth to certayne particuler viſions as touching ỹ deſtruction of the monarchie of the Perſians & Macedonians, for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hande, and alſo he had ſufficiently ſpoken thereof.

IN the thirde yeere of the raigne of kyng Balthaſar, there appeared a viſion vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, a after that whiche I had ſeene in the beginning.

2 I ſawe in a viſion (and when I ſawe it, I was in the palace of Suſis, whiche is in the prouince of b Elam) and in the viſion me thought I was in the ryuer of Ulai.

b. Elam, is Perſia.

3 Then I looked vp, and ſawe, and beholde, there ſtoode before the ryuer a c Ramme, which had two hornes, and theſe two hornes were hygh, but d one was higher then the other, and the hyghеſt came vp laſt.

c. That is, the kyngdome of the Perſians and Medes nowe ioyned togeather.

d. Meaning Cyrus, who after grewe greater in power then Darius his vncle & father in lawe.

4 I ſawe that this Ramme puſhed with his hornes agaynſt the Weſt, agaynſt the North, and agaynſt the South: ſo that no e beaſtes might ſtand before him, nor defend them from his power, but he did as hym lyſted, and became great.

e. No kynges or nations.

5 And as I conſydered, beholde, there came a hee f Goate from the Weſt ouer the whole earth, and touched not the grounde, and this Goate had a g horne appeared betwixt his eyes.

f. Meaning Alexander, that came w̃ great expedition.

g. Though he came in ỹ name of al Gretia, yet he bare ỹ title and dignitie of ỹ generall captayne, ſo that ỹ ſtrength was attributed to him, whiche is meant by this horne.

6 And he came vnto the Ramme that had the two hornes (whom I had ſeene ſtanding by the ryuer) and ranne fiercely vppon him with his might.

7 And I ſawe him drawe nygh vnto the Ramme, being very fierce vpon hym, yea, he h ſmote the Ramme, and brake his two hornes, neyther had the Ramme ſo much ſtrength as to ſtande before hym: but he caſt him downe to the grounde, trode him vnder his feete, and there was none able to deliuer the Ramme out of his power.

h. Alexander ouercame Darius in two battayles, and ſo had the kyngdome of the Medes and Perſians.

8 Therefore the Goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the ſtrongeſt, his great horne was broken: then grewe there other foure notable ones in the ſteede of it, towarde the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a litle horne, which waxed very great, toward the South, towarde the Eaſt, and towarde the pleaſant lande.

i. That is, p

10 i It grewe vp vnto the hoſt of heauen, whereof it did caſt ſome downe to the grounde, and of the ſtarres alſo, and trode them vnder foote.

11 Yea, it grewe vp agaynſt the k prince of the hoſt, from whom the dayly ſacrifice was taken away, and the places of the ſanctuarie caſt downe.

k. Antiochus who raged a- gaynſt the ch of God.

12 And power was geuen vnto it ouer the dayly ſacrifice for the iniquitie, and it ſhal l caſt downe the trueth to the grounde: and thus ſhal it doo, and proſper.

l. This horn ſhal abolliſhe for a tyme the true doctrine, and ſo corru Gods ſeruice.

13 Vpon this I heard one of the ſaintes ſpeaking, and one of the m ſaintes ſpake vnto n Palmoni, ſaying, Howe long ſhall the viſion of the dayly ſacrifice and of the iniquitie of deſolation endure, to geue both the ſanctuarie & the power to be troden vnder foote?

m. One of the angels.

n. That is, a ſecrete one, a marueylous one, whereby vnderſtanded Chriſte the re ualer of all th creates.

14 And he anſwered me, Vnto the o euening and the mornyng, two thouſande and three hundred: then ſhal the ſanctuarie be cleanſed.

o. Euening and mornyng doo ſignifie a natural day, that is, 2300. dayes.

15 Nowe when I Daniel had ſeene this viſion, and ſought for the vnderſtanding of it: beholde, there ſtoode before me p lyke the ſimilitude of a man.

p. That is, Chriſte.

16 And I hearde a mans voyce q betweene Ulai, which cryed, and ſayd, ‖O Gabriel, r make this man vnderſtande the viſion.

q. That is, b tweene the banks of th ryuer Vlai.

‖Dan. 9.21.

r. This pow to commaũ the angel, de clareth it was God.

17 So he came and ſtoode by me, but I was afrayde at his commyng, and fel downe vpon my face: then ſayde he vnto me, Vnderſtande, O thou ſonne of man: for at the s tyme of the ende of this viſion ſhalbe.

s. That is, th viſion ſhalbe fulfylled here after in tym conuenient.

18 Nowe as he was ſpeaking vnto me, I fell in a ſlumber vppon my face to the grounde: but he touched me, and ſet me vp in my place.

19 And he ſayde, Beholde, I wyl ſhewe thee what ſhalbe in the laſt wrath: for in the tyme appoynted it ſhalbe fulfylled.

20 The Ramme which thou ſaweſt hauyng two hornes, is the kyng of the Medes and Perſes,

10 And

21 And the goate is the king of Grecia: and the great horne that is betwixt his eyes, that is the firſt kyng.

22 But wheras it brake, and foure other roſe vp in the ſteade, it ſignifieth that out of one of this people ſhal ſtand vp foure kingdomes, but not ſo myghtie as it.

23 And in the ende of theyr kyngdome, when the wicked are come to the full, a kyng of s fierce countenance, and vnderſtanding harde ſentences, ſhall ſtande vp.

24 His power ſhal be mightie, but not in v his ſtrength, and he ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, he ſhal proſper, and practiſe, and deſtroy the x myghty and the holy people.

25 And through his pollicie alſo he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his handes, he ſhall extoll him ſelfe in his hart, and in proſperitie he ſhall deſtroy many, and many one ſhall be put to death in his wealthyneſſe: he ſhall ſtande vp againſt the y prince of princes, but he ſhalbe deſtroyed without z. hande.

26 And the viſion of the * euenyng and the mornyng whiche is declared, is true: therfore ſeale thou vp the viſion, for it ſhalbe after many dayes.

27 Vpon this was I Daniel feeble, ſo that I lay ſicke certayne dayes: but when I roſe vp, I went about the kynges buſineſſe, and was aſtonied at the viſion, neuertheleſſe, no man vnderſtoode it.

That is, Antiochus, who ſhuld be impudent, ſhamefull, ſubtil, and wittie.

Iere.29.10 Otherwyſe called Aſtyages For Cyrus with ambaſſet about matters in other countreyes, and before Darius the tyrle, and Cyrus the kyng in deede.

IN the firſt yeere of ||Darius the ſonne of a Aſſuerus, whiche was of the ſeede of the Medes, and was made kyng ouer the b realme of the Chaldees,

2 Euen in the firſt yeere of his raigne, I Daniel vnderſtoode by c bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lorde ſpake vnto Jeremie the prophet that he would accompliſh ſeuentie yeeres in the deſolation of Hieruſalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and ſought by prayer and ſupplication, with faſtyng, ſackcloth, and aſhes.

Though he be an excellent prophet, yet encreaſed knowledge requyreth the ſcriptures. Eſay.1.5. Hier.1.17

4 I prayed vnto the Lorde my God, and made my confeſſion, ||ſaying, O Lorde God, great and fearefull, whiche keepeth couenant and mercie with them that loue * hym, and keepe his commaundementes.

5 ||We haue ſinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue doone wickedly, yea we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy preceptes, and from thy iudgementes.

6 We woulde not obey thy ſeruauntes the prophetes that ſpake in thy name to our kynges, and princes, to our forefathers, and to all the people of the lande.

7 O Lord, righteouſnes belongeth vnto thee, vnto vs open ſhame, as is come to paſſe this day vnto euery man of Juda, and to the that dwell at Hieruſalem, yea vnto al Iſrael, whether they be farre or nygh, throughout all the landes whyther thou haſt dryuen them, becauſe of their offences that they haue done againſt thee.

8 Yea, O Lorde, vnto vs, to our kinges, and princes, to our forefathers that haue offended thee, belongeth open ſhame.

9 Vnto the Lorde our God partayneth compaſſion and forgeueneſſe, though we haue rebelled againſt hym.

10 And we haue not obeyed the d voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in his lawes whiche he layde before vs, by the hand of his ſeruantes the prophetes,

d. He ſheweth that they rebel againſt GOD, whiche ſerue him not accordyng to his commaundement and woorde.

11 Yea all Iſrael haue tranſgreſſed and gone backe from thy lawe, ſo that they haue not hearkened vnto thy voyce: wherefore the e curſe and othe that is wrytten in the law of Moſes the ſeruant of God, againſt whom we haue offended, is powred vpon vs.

e. As Deut.17 16. or the curſe confirmed by an othe.

12 And he hath confirmed his woordes whiche he ſpake againſt vs, and againſt our iudges that iudged vs, to bryng vpon vs ſuch a great plague as neuer was vnder heauen, lyke as it is nowe come to paſſe in Hieruſalem.

13 Yea al this plague, as it is written in the lawe of Moſes, is come vpon vs: yet made we not our prayers before the Lorde our God, that we myght turne againe from our wickednesſe, and vnderſtande thy trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lorde watched vpon the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lorde our GOD is righteous in all his woorkes whiche he doeth: for we woulde not hearken vnto his voyce.

15 And nowe, O Lorde our God, ||thou that with a mighty hande haſt brought thy people out of the lande of Egypt, to geat thee ſelfe a name, whiche remayneth this day, we haue ſinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lorde, accordyng to al thy f righteouſneſſe, I beſeeche thee let thyne anger and thy wrath be turned awaye from the citie of Hieruſalem, thy holy hyll: for becauſe of our ſynnes, and for the wickednesſe of our fathers, Hieruſalem and thy people are a reproche vnto al them that are about vs.

f. That is, accordyng to all thy mercyfull promiſes, and performance thereof.

18 O my God, enclyne thyne eare, and hearken, open thyne eyes, beholde how we be deſolated, yea and the citie alſo whiche is called after thy name: for we do not preſent our prayers before thee in our i owne ryghteouſneſſe, but in thy great mercyes.

19 O Lorde heare, O forgeue Lorde, O Lorde k conſyder, and do it, deferre not for thyne owne ſake, O my G O D: becauſe thy name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 As I was yet a ſpeaking at my prayers, knowledgyng myne owne ſinnes, and the ſinnes of my people Iſrael, preſentyng ſo myne interceſſion before the Lorde my God for the holy hyl of my God:

21 Yea whyle I was yet ſpeakyng in my prayer, the man Gabriel (whom I had ſeene afore in the viſion) came fleeyng, and touched me about the tyme of the euenyng oblation:

22 And he enfourmed me, and talked with me, and ſayde, O Daniel, I am nowe come foorth to geue thee knowledge and vnderſtandyng.

23 At the begynnyng of thy ſupplications, the commaundement came foorth, and I am come to ſhewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therfore vnderſtande the matter, and conſyder the viſion.

24 l Seuentie weekes are determined ouer thy people, and ouer thy holy citie, to fynyſhe the wickednesſe, and to ſeale vp the ſinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bryng in euerlaſtyng rygh teouſneſſe, to ſeale vp the viſion and prophecie, and to annoynt the moſt holy.

25 Knowe therfore and vnderſtand, that from the goyng foorth of the commaundemēt to bryng agayne the people and to buylde Hieruſalem, vnto Meſſiah the prince, there ſhalbe ſeuen weekes, and threeſcore and two weekes: and the ſtreete ſhalbe buylt agayne, and the wall, euen in the ſtraytneſſe of tyme.

26 After theſe threeſcore & two weekes ſhall Meſſiah be ſlayne, and not for hym ſelfe: and the people of the prince that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy the citie and the ſanctuarie, and the ende thereof ſhalbe with a flood, and vnto the ende of the battayle it ſhalbe deſtroyed by deſolations.

27 He ſhall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke, and in the middeſt of the weeke he ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice and the oblation to ceaſſe, and for the ouerſpreadyng of the abominations, || he ſhall make it deſolate, euen vntyll the conſummation determined ſhalbe powred vpon the deſolate.

k. Thus he could not contēt hym ſelfe with any vehemencie of wordes, when he was ſo led with a feruent zeale, conſyderyng Gods promiſſe made to the citie in reſpect of the Churche, & for the aduaūcement of gods glory.

l. He alludeth to Ieremies prophecie, whereby he declared there ſhoulde be ſeuentie yeeres of the Iewes captiuitie for the execution of Gods iudgement: but nowe Gods mercy ſhoulde ſeuen folde exceede his iudgement, in geuing them ſeuentie tymes ſeuen yeeres of a happyer ſtate, though not altogether voyde of affliction, whiche amounteth to foure hundred and nientie yeeres, euen to the cōming of Chriſt, and ſo then it ſhould cōtinue for euer.

¶ The. x. Chapter.

1. There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11. vvhich shevveth hym vvherfore he vvas sent.

IN the a thyrde yeere of Cyrus kyng of Perſia, there was ſhewed vnto Daniel, otherwyſe called Baltaſſar, a matter, yea a true matter, but it is yet a long tyme vnto it: he vnderſtoode the matter, & perceiued what the viſion was.

a. He meaneth this third yeere, becauſe after tyme the bondyng of the people began to be hymſelfe Cambyſes Cyrus ſonne, the father made warre Aſia minor gayuſt the Chriſtians, was a diſcouragyng to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

2 At the ſame tyme I Daniel mourned for the ſpace of thyree weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleaſant bread, as for fleſhe and wine there came none within my mouth: no, I dyd not once annoynt mee ſelfe tyll the whole thyree weekes of dayes were fulfylled.

4 Upon the foure and twentieth day of the fyrſte moneth, I was by the ſyde of that great ryuer, euen Hiddekel.

5 I lyft vp myne eyes, and looked, and beholde a man clothed in lynnen, whoſe lopnes were gyrded vp with fyne golde of Uphaz.

6 His body was lyke the Thurkis ſtone, his face to looke vpon was lyke lyghtnyng, his eyes as lampes of fyre, his armes and feete were lyke in colour to pullyſhed braſſe, and the voyce of his woordes was lyke the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone ſawe this viſion, for the men that were with me ſawe not the viſion: but a great fearefulneſſe fell vppon them, ſo that they fledde away, and hyd them ſelues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and ſawe this great viſion, and there remayned no ſtrength in me: for my colour was turned in me into corruption, and I reteyned no ſtrength.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his woordes: and when I heard the voyce of his woordes, I fell aſtonyed vppon my face, and my face towarde the earth.

10 And beholde a hande touched me, whiche ſet me vp vppon my knees, and vpon the paulmes of my handes.

11 And he ſayd vnto me, O Daniel, thou welbeloued man, take good heede to the woordes that I ſay vnto thee, and ſtande in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe ſent. And when he had ſayde theſe woordes vnto me, I ſtoode vp trembleyng.

12 Then ſayde he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for ſince the fyrſt day that thou dydeſt ſet thyne hart to vnderſtande, and to chaſten thee ſelfe before thy GOD, thy woordes were heard, and I am come for thy woordes.

13 But

13 But the b prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes came to helpe me, and I remayned there by the kinges of Persia.

14 And I am come to shewe thee what shal come vnto thy people in the latter daies: for it wyll be long yet or the vision be fulfilled.

15 Nowe when he hadde spoken these woordes vnto me, I cast downe my head to the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And beholde, there touched my lippes one very lyke vnto a man: then opened I my mouth, and spake, and saide vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lorde, by the vision my " ioyntes are turned out of their place, and I haue reteyned no strength.

17 For howe can the seruant of this my lorde talke with my Lorde being suche a one? And as for me, straightway there remayned no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me:

19 And saide, O man, greatly beloued, feare not, peace be vnto thee, be strong, and of good courage. So when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and saide, Speake on my Lorde: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Thus saide he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? nowe wyll I returne to fyght with the prince of the Perses: as soone as I goe forth, loe the c prince of Greeke lande shal come.

21 Neuertheless, I wyll shewe thee that that is noted in the scripture of trueth: and there is none that helpeth me in these thinges, but d Michael your prince.

The. xi. Chapter.

1. A prophesie of the kinges of Persis. 3. Of the kingdome of Greece. 5. Of the kingdome of Egypt, and of the bonde thereof. 15. Of the battel with the kingdome of Syria.

AND in the fyrst yeere of Darius of Media a I stoode to comfort him, and to strengthy him.

2 And now wyl I shew thee the trueth: behold, there shall stand vp yet three kynges in Persia, but the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength and by his richesse he shal stirre vp al against the realme of Greeke lande.

3 Then shall there aryse yet a mighty king, that shal rule with great dominion, and doo what him list.

4 And when he shall stand vp, his kyngdome shalbe b broken, and shalbe diuided towarde the foure windes of the heauen, and not towarde his posteritie, nor accordyng to his dominion which he ruled: for his kyngdome shalbe pluckt vp, euen for others besides these.

5 And the c king of the south shalbe mightie, and d one of his princes, and he shall preuayle against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.

6 And in the ende of yeeres they shalbe ioyned togeather, and the kinges e daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North for to make agreement, but she shall not reteyne the power of the f arme, neither shall he continue nor his arme: but she shalbe deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the budde of her rootes shal one stande vp in his steede, whiche shal come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doo with them as he list, and shal preuayle.

8 And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their goddes, with their moulten images, with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue more yeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shal returne into his owne lande.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shalbe styred vp, and shall geather togeather a mightie great host of people, and one shall come and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shall he turne agayne and be styred vp at his fortresse.

11 Then the kyng of the South shalbe angry, and shall come forth to fyght with him, euen with the kyng of the North: for he shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shalbe geuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shalbe proude, and their hartes shalbe lyfted vp, for he shal cast downe thousandes: but he shall not styl preuayle.

13 For the kinges of the North shal returne, and shal set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shal come forth (after certayne yeeres) with a mightie armie and great richesse.

14 And at the same tyme there shal many stande vp agaynst the kyng of the South, so that the seditious children of thy people also shall exalt them selues to establishe the vision, but they shal fal.

c. To wit, Ptolomeus King of Egypt.

d. That is, Antiochus ỹ sonne of Seleucus and one of Alexanders princes shalbe more mighty, for he shal haue both Asia and Syria.

e. That is, Berenice ỹ daughter of Ptolomeus Philadelphus shalbe geuen in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie, that Syria and Egypt shoulde haue a continuall peace togeather.

f. That force and strength shal not continue, for soone after, Berenice and her young sonne after her husbandes death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice the lawful wyfe of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

15 So the king of the North ſhall come and caſt vp a mount, and take the ſtrong cities: and the g armes of the South ſhall not reſiſt: neither his choſen people, neither ſhal there be any ſtrength to withſtand.

16 And when he commeth, he ſhal handle him as he liſt, and no man ſhall ſtande againſt him, he ſhall ſtande in the pleaſant h lande, whiche vp his hande ſhalbe conſumed.

17 Againe, he ſhal ſet his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him, thus ſhal he doo: and he ſhall geue him the i daughter of women to deſtroy yet, but ſhe ſhal not ſtande on his ſide, neither be for him.

18 After this ſhal he turne his face vnto the k iles, and ſhal take many: but a prince ſhal cauſe his ſhame to light vppon him, beſide that, he ſhall cauſe his owne ſhame to turne vpon him ſelfe.

19 For he ſhall turne his face towarde the fortes of his owne lande: but he ſhalbe ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more founde.

20 Then ſhall ſtande vp in his place a rayſer of taxes in the glory of the kingdome, and after a fewe dayes he ſhalbe deſtroyed, neither in wrath nor in battel.

21 In his ſteede there ſhall ſtande vp a vile perſon, to whom they ſhall not geue the honour of the kingdome: but he ſhall come in peaceably, and obteyne the kingdome with flatteries.

22 And the armes ſhalbe ouerflowed with a flood before him, and alſo the prince of the couenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he ſhal worke deceitfully, for he ſhall come vp, and ouercome with a ſmall people.

24 He ſhal enter into the quiet and plentiful prouince, & he ſhall doo that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he ſhal diuide among them the pray, & the ſpoile, and the ſubſtance, yea & ſhall forecaſt his deuiſes againſt the ſtrong holdes euen for a time.

25 Alſo his power and hart ſhall be ſtirre vp with a great armie againſt the king of the South, the king of the South ſhalbe mooued vnto battel with a great and a mightie hoſt alſo: neuertheleſſe, he ſhall not ſtande, for they ſhall forecaſt deuiſes againſt him.

26 Yea l they that feede of the portion of his meate ſhal deſtroy him, and his armie ſhal m ouerflowe, and many ſhal fall and be ſlaine.

27 Theſe two kinges hartes ſhalbe to doo n miſchiefe, and they ſhall talke of deceite at one table, but it ſhall not proſper, for yet the ende ſhalbe at the time appoynted.

28 Then ſhall he goe home againe into his land with great o ſubſtance, and ſet his hart againſt the holy couenaunt, ſo ſhall he doo, and returne to his owne lande.

29 At the time appointed he ſhall come againe, and goe toward the South: but the laſt ſhal not be as the firſt.

30 For the ſhippes of p Chithim ſhall come againſt him, therefore he ſhalbe ſory, and returne, and fret againſt the holy couenant: ſo ſhal he doo, he ſhall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forſake the holy couenant.

31 And armes ſhal ſtand on his part, and they ſhal pollute the ſanctuarie of ſtrength, and ſhall take away the dayly ſacrifice, and they ſhal ſet vp the abominable deſolation.

32 And ſuche as wickedly breake the couenaunt, ſhal he cauſe to ſinne by flatterie: but the people that knowe their God, ſhall preuaile and proſper.

33 Thoſe alſo that haue vnderſtanding among the people, ſhall enſourme the multitude, and for a long ſeaſon they ſhal fal with the ſwoord, with fyre, with captiuitie, and with the taking away of their goodes.

34 Now when they ſhal fal, they ſhalbe holpen with a little helpe, but many ſhall cleaue vnto them faignedly.

35 Yea ſome of thoſe that haue vnderſtanding ſhall fall, that they may be tryed, purified, and made white, til the time be out: for there is a time appoynted.

36 And a kyng ſhal doo what him lyſt, he ſhall exalt and magnifie him ſelfe againſt al that is good, yea he ſhall ſpeake maruelous thinges againſt the God of Gods, and he ſhal proſper tyl the wrath be fulfylled: for the determination is made.

37 He ſhall not regarde the God of his fathers, nor the deſyres of women, yea he ſhal not care for any god: for he ſhall magnifie him ſelfe aboue al.

38 But in his place ſhall he honour the god Mauzzim, & the god whom his fathers knewe not ſhall he honour, with golde and ſiluer, with precious ſtones, and pleaſaunt thinges.

39 Thus ſhall he doo in the holdes of Mauzzim with a ſtrange god whom he ſhall acknowledge, he ſhal encreaſe his glory, and ſhal cauſe them to rule ouer many, and ſhall diuide the land for gayne.

40 And at the ende of time ſhal the king of the q South puſhe at him, and the king of the North ſhall come againſt him lyke a whirlewynde, with charrettes, horſemen, and

g. That is, the Egyptians with their captayne Scopas, were not able to withſtand Antiochus.

h. He ſheweth that he ſhal not only afflict the Egyptians, but alſo the Iewes, and ſhal enter into their countrey, whereof he admoniſheth them before, that they may knowe that all theſe thinges come by gods prouidence.

i. Antiochus maried his daughter Cleopatra to Ptolomeus Epiphanes, thereby the rather to ouercome him: but ſhe fauoured her huſbād, and obeyed not the ſubtile practiſes of her father.

k. The Iewes maner was to call all countreys, Iles, that were diuided from them by the ſea: yet Antiochus inuaded ſome that were Iles in deede, as Euboca, Phocea, Samos, Cyprus, &c. and at length conducted his armie into Grecia.

l. Signifying Philometors princes and chiefe about him.

m. Antiochus ſhal vanquiſhe the Egyptians.

n. The vncle and nephewe ſhal take truice and banket together, yet in their hartes they ſhal imagine miſchiefe one againſt an other.

o. Which Philometor ſhal take of the ſpoyling of Ieruſalem and the temple, and this is tolde them before, to moue them to patience, knowing al things are done by gods prouidence.

p. That is, the Romanes power ſhall come againſt him: Publius popilius ambaſſadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, which thing he obeyed, though with greefe: and to reuenge his rage, he came againſt the people of God the ſeconde time.

q. That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians ſhal at length fight againſt the Romanes, but they ſhalbe ouercome.

and with many shippes: he shall enter into the countreyes, and shal ouerflowe, and passe throughe.

41 He shal enter also into the pleasant lande, and many countreyes shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hande euen Edom and Moab, and the cheefe of the chyldren of Ammon.

42 He shal stretch forth his hande also vpon the countreyes, and the lande of Egypt shal not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of syluer, and ouer all the pretious thinges of Egypt, and of the Libyans and Ethiopians in his passyng by them.

44 Neuertheless, the tydinges out of the East r and the North shal trouble hym, therefore he shall s goe forth with great wrath, to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shal plant the tabernacles of his pallace betweene the seas, in the glorious and holy mountayne: yet he shal come to his ende, and none shal helpe hym.

when he shal here that Craterus is slayne, & Antonius discomfited.

For Augustus became the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.

¶ The. xii. Chapter.

1. He prophesieth the resurrection of the dead.
9. The darkenesse of the prophesie of Daniel.

AND at that time shal a Michael stande vp, the great prince, which standeth for the chyldren of thy people: for there shalbe a tyme of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation, vnto that same tyme: and at that tyme thy people shal be deliuered euery one that shalbe found written in the booke.

The Angel here noteth two thynges. First, that the Churche shalbe in great affliction & trouble vnder Christes comming. And next, that God wyll sende his Angel to declare it: whom heere he calleth Michael. Meanyng, al shall ryse at the generall resurrection, whiche heere he mentioneth, that the faythfull maye euer haue respect vnto it, for in earth thal they synde no comfort.

2 And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, b shal awake, some to euerlasting lyfe, and some to shame and perpetual contempt.

b. Or such as haue kept the feare of God, and religion.

3 They that c be wyse, shal shine as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that d turne many to righteousnesse, as the starres for euer and euer.

c. Not wandryng as vagabondes, but to searche for the knowledge of God.

d. He cheefely meaneth the ministers of Gods worde, & next, al the faythful, whiche instruct the ignorant, & bryng them to the true knowledge of God.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the woordes, and seale the booke tyl the tyme of the ende: many shal e goe about here and there, and knowledge shalbe encreased.

e. Not wandryng as vagabondes, but to searche for the knowledge of God.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beholde there stoode other two, the one on this syde of the bancke of the f ryuer, and the other on that side of the bancke of the ryuer.

f. VVhiche was Tygris, in Hebrue Hiddekel, as Ezech. 10.

6 And one sayde vnto the man clothed in linnen, which was ouer the waters of the ryuer, When shal the ende of these wonders be?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, whiche was ouer the waters of the ryuer, when he held vp his right g hande and his least hande vnto heauen, and sware by hym that lyueth for euer, that it shal tarie for a h tyme, times, and a halfe: and when he shal haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, al these thinges shalbe finished.

g. VVhich was a double oth, & dyd the more confyrme the thyng.

h. VVhereby the Angell declareth rather that which perteyneth to the comfort of the elect, that these afflictions shoulde once haue a certayne end, then that the tyme therof shoulde be certaynly knowen, as a thyng not expedient for creatures to know. Act. 1.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstoode it not: then sayde I, O my Lorde, what shall be the ende of these thynges?

9 And he sayde, Goe thy way Daniel, for the woordes are closed vp and sealed tyll the tyme of the ende.

10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wycked shal doo wyckedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding, but the wyse shal vnderstande.

11 And from the tyme that the i daily sacrifice shalbe taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there shalbe a k thousande, two hundred, and nientie dayes.

i Frō the tyme that Christe by his sacrifice shal take awaye the sacrifice & ceremonies of the lawe, and the destruction of the temple and citie, whiche is meant heere by the abominable desolation.

12 Blessed is he that wayteth and commeth to the thousand, three hundred, and fiue and thirtie dayes.

k. Signifying that the tyme shalbe long, and yet the chyldren of GOD ought not to be discouraged though it be deferred.

13 But goe thou thy way tyl the ende be, for thou shalt rest, and stande vp in thy lot at the ende of the dayes.

The ende of the prophesie of Daniel.

¶ The booke of the prophete Oſee.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. The tyme vvherein Oſee propheſied. 2. The idolatrie of the people. 10. The callyng of the Gentiles. 11. Chriſte is the head of all people.

THe woꝛde of the Loꝛde came vnto Oſee the ſonne of Beeri, in the dayes of Ozia, Joathan, Ahas, and Hezecias, kynges of Juda, and in the tyme of Jeroboam the ſonne of Joas kyng of Iſrael.

2 When the Loꝛde ſpake fyꝛſt vnto Oſee, he ſayde vnto him, Goe take vnto thee a wyfe of a foꝛnications, and chyldꝛen of foꝛnications: foꝛ the lande hath committed great foꝛnication, departing from the Loꝛde.

a. That is, one that of long tyme hath accuſtomed to play the harlot, not that the prophete dyd this in deede, but he ſawe this in a viſion: or els was commaunded by God, to ſet foorth vnder this parable or figure, the idolatrie of the Iſraelites.

3 So he went and tooke Gomer the daughter of Deblaim: which conceyued and bare him a ſonne.

4 And the Loꝛde ſayde vnto hym, Call his name Jezrahel: foꝛ I wyl ſhoꝛtly auenge the blood of Jezrahel vpon the houſe of Jehu, and wyl bꝛyng the kingdome of the houſe of Iſrael to an ende.

5 And in that day wyl I alſo bꝛeake the bowe of Iſrael in the valley of Jezrahel.

6 And ſhe conceyued agayne, and bare a daughter: and the Lorde ſayde vnto him, Cal her name Loruhamah that is, not obteynyng mercie, foꝛ I wyl no moꝛe haue pitie vpon the houſe of Iſrael, but I wyl vtterly take them away.

7 Yet I wyll haue mercie vppon the houſe of Juda, and wyll ſaue them, euen thꝛough the Loꝛde their God: and wyl not ſaue them by bowe, ſwoꝛde, batel, hoꝛſes, oꝛ hoꝛſemen.

8 Nowe when he had weaned Loruhamah, ſhe conceyued agayne, and bare a ſonne.

9 Then ſayde he, Call his name Leammi, that is, not my people: foꝛ ye are not my people, therefoꝛe I wyl not be your God.

10 Yet the number of the chyldꝛen of Iſrael ſhalbe as the ſande of the ſea, whiche can neyther be meaſured noꝛ tolde, ‖ and in the place where it was ſayde vnto them, Ye are not my people: it ſhalbe ſayde vnto them, Ye are the chyldꝛen of the lyuyng God.

‖ Rom. 9. 26.

11 Then ſhal the chyldꝛen of Juda and the chyldꝛen of Iſrael be geathered togeather, and appoynt them ſelues one head, and they ſhal come vp out of the lande: foꝛ great ſhalbe the day of Jezrahel.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

1. The people is called to repentance. 5. He shevveth theyr idolatrie, and threatneth them, except they repent.

TEl your bꝛethꝛen that they are my people, and your ſyſterne that they haue obteyned mercie.

2 As foꝛ your mother, ye ſhall chide with her, and repꝛoue her, foꝛ ſhe is not my wyfe, neyther am I her huſbande: let her therefoꝛe put away her whoꝛedome from her face, and her adulterie from her bꝛeaſtes:

3 Leſt I ſtrip her naked, and ſet her euen as ſhe came into the woꝛlde, and make her as a wyldernes, and as a dꝛye lande, and ſlay her foꝛ thyrſt.

4 And I wyll haue no pitie vppon her chyldꝛen: foꝛ they be the chyldꝛen of foꝛnication.

5 Their mother hath played the harlot, and ſhe that bare them is come to confuſion: foꝛ ſhe ſayde, I wyl goe after my louers, that geue me my bꝛead and my water, my wool, and flaxe, my ople and my dꝛynke.

6 Therefoꝛe beholde, I wyl ſtoppe thy way with thoꝛnes, and make a hedge, that ſhe ſhal not finde her pathes.

7 And though ſhe runne after her louers, yet ſhal ſhe not ouertake them: ſhe ſhal ſeeke them, but not finde them. Then ſhal ſhe ſay, I wyl goe and returne to my fyꝛſt huſband: foꝛ at that tyme it was better with me then nowe.

1. Pet. 2. 10. Rom. 9. 25.

8 And ſhe dyd not know that I gaue her coꝛne, and wine, & ople, and mu̇tiplied her ſiluer and gold, which they beſtowed on Baal.

9 Therefoꝛe wyl I returne and take awap my coꝛne in the tyme thereof, and my wine in the ſeaſon thereof, and fet agayne my wool and my flaxe, vvhich I gaue her to couer her ſhame.

10 And nowe wyl I diſcouer her ſhame,

euen in the ſight of her louers, and no man ſhal deliuer her out of my handes.

11 Moreouer, I wyll take away all her mirth, her holy dayes, her newe moones, her Sabbothes, and al her ſolenne feaſtes.

12 I wyll deſtroy her vineyardes and figge trees, whereof ſhe ſaide, Theſe are my rewardes that my louers haue geuen me: I wyl make them as a wood, and wilde beaſtes ſhal eate them vp.

13 I wyll viſite vppon her the dayes of Baal, wherin ſhe burned incenſe to him, and decked her ſelfe with eare ringes and iewels, ſhe folowed her louers, and forgate me, ſayth the Lorde.

14 Wherefore beholde, I wyll allure her, and bring her into the wyldernesſe, and ſpeake freendly vnto her.

15 From thence wyll I geue her her vineyardes againe, yea and the valley of Achor for an entrie of hope: and ſhe ſhall ſyng there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when ſhe came out of the lande of Egypt.

16 And at that day (ſayth the Lord) thou ſhalt call me, O my huſband, and ſhalt call me no more Baal.

17 For I wyl take away thoſe names of Baal from her mouth, yea ſhe ſhall neuer remember their names any more.

18 Then wyll I make a couenaunt for them, with the beaſtes of the feelde, with the foules of the ayre, and with euery thing that creepeth vpon the earth: As for bowe, ſworde, and battel, I wyll deſtroy out of the lande, and wyl make them to ſleepe ſafely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mine owne ſelfe for euer, yea euen to mee ſelfe wyl I marry thee in righteouſneſſe, in iudgement, in louing kindneſſe, and mercie.

20 In faythfulneſſe alſo wyl I marrie thee vnto mee ſelfe, and thou ſhalt know the Lorde.

21 At the ſame time wyl I ſhewe mee ſelfe gratious vnto the heauens, ſayth the Lorde, and the heauens ſhal helpe the earth.

22 And the earth ſhall helpe the corne, wine, and oyle: and they ſhal helpe Iezrahel.

1. Pet. 2. 10. Rom. 9. 25.

23 ‖ And I wyl ſowe her for mee ſelfe in the earth, and wyl haue mercy vpon her that had not obteyned mercie: and to them which were not my people, I wyll ſay, Thou art my people: and they ſhal ſay, Thou art my God.

¶ The. iii. Chapter.

1. The Ievves ſhalbe caſt of for theyr idolatrie. 5. Afterwvard they ſhal returne to the Lorde.

THen ſayde the Lorde to me, Goe yet and loue a woman beloued of her huſbande, and yet an adultreſſe, accordyng to the loue of the Lorde towarde the children of Iſrael: and yet they haue reſpect to ſtrange goddes, and loue the wine pottes.

2 So I gate her for fifteene ſiluerlings, and for an Homer and an halfe of barley,

3 And ſayd vnto her, Thou ſhalt byde with me a long ſeaſon, thou ſhalt not play the harlot, thou ſhalt be to no other man, and I wyl be ſo vnto thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhal ſit a great whyle without kyng, without prince, without ſacrifice, without image, without Ephod, and without Theraphim.

5 But afterwarde the children of Iſrael ſhalbe conuerted, and ſeeke the Lorde theyr God, and Dauid their king, and in the latter dayes they ſhal worſhip the Lorde, and his louing kyndneſſe.

¶ The. iiii. Chapter.

A complaynt againſt the people, and the prieſtes of Iſrael.

HEare the worde of the Lorde, O ye children of Iſrael, for the Lorde hath a controuerſie with the inhabitantes of the lande: for there is no trueth, there is no mercy, there is no knowledge of God in the lande.

2 But ſwearyng, lying, manſlaughter, theft, & adulterie, hath gotten the ouer hand, and one bloodgyltineſſe foloweth another.

3 Therefore ſhal the lande mourne, and all they that dwell therein ſhalbe rooted out, the beaſtes of the fielde, the foules of the ayre, and the fyſhes in the ſea, ſhalbe conſumed.

4 Yet let no man rebuke or reproue another, for thy people are as they that [a] are at controuerſie with the prieſt. [a] or, contende.

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the day tyme, and the prophet with thee in the night, and I wyll bring thy mother to deſtruction.

6 My people periſhe for lacke of knowledge: becauſe thou haſt refuſed knowledge, therefore wyll I refuſe thee alſo, ſo that thou ſhalt no more be my prieſt: and forſomuche as thou haſt forgotten the lawe of thy God, I wyl alſo forget thy children.

7 The more they increaſed in multitude, the more they ſinned againſt me, therefore wyll I chaunge theyr honour into ſhame.

a. That is, the prieſtes ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, & flatter them in their ſinnes.

8 They eate vp the [a] ſinnes of my people, and encourage them in their wickednes.

9 ||Thus the prieſt is become like the people: wherefore I wyl puniſhe them for their wicked wayes, and rewarde them according to their imaginations.

10 They ſhal eate, & not haue ynough, they haue vſed whoredome, but ſhall not proſper, they haue forſaken the Lorde, and not regarded him.

11 Whoredome, wine, and newe wine, take the hart away.

12 My people aſke counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: for the ſpirite of fornication hath cauſed them to goe aſtray, and they haue committed fornication againſt their God.

13 They make ſacrifices vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne their incenſe vpon the hilles, yea vnder the Okes, Poplars, & Elmes, for there are good ſhadowes: therefore your daughters are become harlottes, and your ſpouſes haue broken their wedlocke.

14 I wyll not puniſhe your daughters for being defiled, and your ſpouſes that became whoores, ſeeing the fathers themſelues haue medled with harlottes, and ſacrificed with whoores: but the people that wyll not vnderſtand, muſt be puniſhed.

15 Though thou Iſrael play the harlot, yet let not Iuda ſinne, come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye to Bethauen, neither ſweare ye, The Lorde liueth.

16 For Iſrael is rebellious like an vnruly heiffer: nowe the Lorde wil feede them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is become partaker of idols, let him alone.

18 Their drunkenneſſe ſtinketh, they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to ſay with ſhame, Bring ye.

19 The winde hath bounde them vp in her wynges, and they ſhalbe aſhamed of theyr ſacrifices.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

1. Againſt the prieſtes and rulers of Iſrael.
13. The helpe of man is in vayne.

OYe prieſtes heare this, take heede, O thou houſholde of Iſrael, geue eare, O thou houſe of the kyng, for iudgement is againſt you, becauſe you are become as a ſnare on Mizpah, and a ſpread net vpon the mount of Thabor.

2 They kyl ſacrifices by heapes, and turne farre from the Lorde, and I haue ben a rebuker of them al.

Or, they were profounde vvith to offer ſacrifices.

3 I knowe Ephraim wel ynough, and Iſrael is not hid fro me: for nowe O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Iſrael is defiled.

4 They wyl not geue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the ſpirite of fornication is in the middeſt of them, and they haue not knowen the Lorde.

5 And the pride of Iſrael doeth teſtifie to his face, therefore both Iſrael and Ephraim ſhal fal for their wickednes, and Iuda with them alſo.

6 They ſhal come with their ſheepe and bullockes to ſeeke the Lorde, but they ſhall not finde him: for he is gone from them.

7 They haue tranſgreſſed againſt the Lorde, and brought vp baſtarde children: a moneth therefore ſhall deuoure them, with their portions.

8 Blowe with the ſhawmes at Gibes, and with the trumpet in Ramah, crye out at Bethauen, after thee, O Beniamin.

9 In the tyme of the plague ſhall Ephraim be layde waſte, in the tribes of Iſrael haue I ſhewed the trueth.

10 The princes of Iuda haue ben lyke them that remoue the lande markes, therefore wyll I powre out my wrath vpon them lyke water.

11 Ephraim is oppreſſed and broken in iudgement, becauſe he wyllingly *folowed the commaundement.

*Or, becauſe he begynneth to go about filthyne, that is, to worſhyp Ieroboams Calues.

12 Therefore wyll I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the houſe of Iuda as a caterpyller.

13 When Ephraim ſawe his ſickneſſe, and Iuda his diſeaſe, Ephraim went vnto Aſſur, and ſent vnto kyng Iareb, yet couldе not he helpe you, nor eaſe you of your payne.

14 I wyll be vnto Ephraim as a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe to the houſe of Iuda: I euen I wyll ſpoyle, and goe my way: I wil take away, and no man ſhall reſcue.

15 I wil go and returne to my place, tyl they knowledge that they haue ſinned, and ſeeke me. In their aduerſitie they ſhall a early ſeeke me.

a. That is, diligently.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

1. Affliction cauſeth a man to turne to God.
9. The vvickedneſſe of the prieſtes.

COme, let vs turne agayne to the Lorde: for he hath ſmitten vs, and he ſhal heale vs, he hath wounded vs, and he ſhall bynde vs vp agayne.

2 ||After two dayes ſhall he quicken vs, ||1. Cor. 15.
in the thirde day he ſhall rayſe vs vp, ſo that we ſhall lyue in his ſyght.

3 Then ſhall we haue vnderſtandyng, and endeuour our ſelues to knowe the Lorde: he ſhall goe forth as a ſpring of the day, and come vnto vs as the rayne, and as the latter rayne vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what ſhall I doo vnto thee? O Iuda, howe ſhall I entreate thee? for your goodneſſe is like a morning cloude, and like a deawe that goeth early away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe the prophetes, and let them be ſlaine for my wordes ſake, ſo that thy puniſhment ſhall come to light.

Mat.9.17. and.12.7. Eccle.4.17. Lam.15.22. 6 ||For I deſyred mercie, and not ſacrifice: and the knowledge of God, more then whole burnt offeringes.

7 But euen like as Adam did, ſo haue they broken my couenaunt, and ſet me at nought.

8 Gilead is a citie of wicked doers, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues armed wayte for him that paſſeth by the way: ſuche is the counſel of the prieſtes, whiche with one agreed counſel, murder cruelly ſuche as keepe the way, yea they dare doo al vnſpeakeable miſchiefe.

10 Horrible thinges haue I ſeene in the houſe of Iſrael: there is the fornication of Ephraim, and Iſrael is defiled.

11 Yea and thou Iuda keepeſt an harueſt for thee ſelfe, when I returne the captiuitie of my people.

¶ The.vii. Chapter.

1. Of the vices and vnthankfulneſſe of the people.
12. of their puniſhment.

WHen I vndertooke to make Iſrael whole, then the vngratiouſneſſe of Ephraim, and the wickednes of Samaria came to light, for they goe about with lyes, therefore the theefe robbeth within, and the ſpoyler deſtroyeth without.

2 They conſider not in their hartes that I remember all their wickednes: Nowe their owne inuentiõs haue beſet them, which I ſee wel enough.

3 They make the king glad with their wickednes, and the princes with their lyes.

4 Al theſe burne in adulterie, as it were an ouen that the baker heateth when he hath left kneading, til the dowe be leauened.

5 That is the day of our king, the princes haue made him ſicke with bottels of wine, he hath ſtretched out his hand to ſcorners.

6 For whyles they lye in wayte, they haue made redy their hart like an ouen, their baker ſleepeth all night, in the morning it burneth as a flame of fyre.

7 They are altogether as hotte as an ouen, and haue deuoured their owne iudges, al their kinges are fallen, yet is there none of them that calleth vpon me.

8 Ephraim hath mixt him ſelfe among heathen people, Ephraim is become like a cake that no man turneth.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his ſtrength, and he regardeth it not: he waxeth full of gray heares, yet wyl he not knowe it.

10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face, yet wyll they not turne to the Lorde their God, nor ſeeke him for al this.

11 Ephraim is like a Doue that is beguiled, and hath no hart: now cal they vpon the Egyptians, nowe goe they to the Aſſyrians.

12 But whyle they be going here and there, I ſhal ſpreade my net ouer them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the ayre: and according as they haue been warned, ſo wyl I puniſhe them.

13 Wo be vnto them, for they haue forſaken me, they muſt be deſtroyed, for they haue ſet me at nought: I am he that hath redeemed them, yet haue they ſpoken lyes againſt me.

14 They call not vppon me with their hartes, but lye howlyng vpon their beddes: they wyl aſſemble them ſelues for corne and wine, but they rebel againſt me.

15 I haue bounde vp and ſtrengthened their arme: yet doo they imagine miſchiefe againſt me.

16 They turne them ſelues, but not to the moſt higheſt, and are become as a broken bowe, their princes ſhalbe ſlayne with the ſwoorde for the malice of their tongues: this ſhalbe their deriſion in the lande of Egypt.

The.viii Chapter.

The deſtruction of Iuda and Iſrael, becauſe of their idolatrie.

SEt the Trumpe to thy mought, vviſibly as an Eagle ſhall the enemie come againſt the houſe of the Lorde: for they haue broken my couenaunt, and tranſgreſſed my lawe.

2 Iſrael ſhould haue ſaid vnto me, Thou art my God, we knowe thee.

3 But he hath refuſed the thing that is good, therefore ſhal the enimie purſue him.

4 They haue ordeyned kinges, but not through me, they haue made princes, and I knewe it not: of their ſiluer and golde haue they made them idols, therefore ſhall they be deſtroyed.

5 Thy Calfe, O Samaria, doth call thee of, for my wrathful indignation is gone forth againſt them: howe long wyll they be without innocencie?

4 For the Calfe came from Iſrael, the woorkeman made it, therefore can it be no

God: but euen in peeces ſhall the Calfe of Samaria be broken.

7 They haue ſowen winde, therefore ſhall they reape a whirlewinde: it hath no ſtalke, the budde ſhal bring foorth no meale: and yf haply it doo, ſtrangers ſhal deuoure it vp.

8 Iſrael is deuoured, nowe ſhal they be among the Gentiles as a veſſell of no reputation.

9 For they haue gone vp to Aſſyria, and are as a wilde Aſſe ſolitarie by him ſelfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 And though they haue hired them among the heathen, yet nowe wyll I geather them, and they ſhall begin to be weerie with the burden of the king and the prince.

11 Ephraim hath made many aulters to doo wickednelle, his aulters I ſay he had to his ſinne.

12 I haue written to them the great thinges of my lawe, but they are counted as a ſtrange thing.

13 They ſacrifice fleſhe for the ſacrifice of myne offeringes, and eate it, but the Lorde hath no pleaſure in it: nowe wyll he remember their iniquitie, and viſite their ſinnes, they ſhal returne into Egypt.

14 For Iſrael hath forgotten him that made him, and hath builded fayre palaces, and Iuda hath encreaſed ſtrong cities: but I wyl ſend a fyre into their cities, and it ſhal conſume their palaces.

¶ The.ix. Chapter.
Of the hunger and captiuitie of Iſrael.

DO not thou triumph, O Iſrael, make no boaſting ouer ioyous thinges as doo the heathen: for thou haſt committed adulterie againſt thy GOD, whoſiſhe rewardes haſt thou loued more then all the corne floores.

2 The corne floore and the wine preſſe ſhal not feede them: and the newe wine ſhall faile them.

3 They ſhall not dwell in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim ſhal turne againe into Egypt, and eate vncleane thinges among the Aſſyrians.

4 They powre out no wine for a drinke offering vnto the Lorde, neither ſhall theyr ſlaine offeringes be pleaſant vnto him, they ſhalbe vnto them as the bread of mourners, all they that eate ſhalbe defiled: for theyr bread a for their ſoules ſhall not come into the houſe of the Lorde.

a. The ſacrifice which they offered for theyr ſinnes.

5 What wyl ye do then in the ſolempne day, and in the feaſt day of the Lorde?

6 For behold, they are gone away for deſtruction, but Egypt ſhal geather them, and Memphis ſhal burie them: the nettles ſhall poſſeſſe the pleaſaunt places of their ſiluer, thornes ſhalbe in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of viſitation are come, the dayes of recompence are come: and then ſhal Iſrael knowe that they were deceiued by a fooliſhe, mad, and franticke prophete: for the multitude of their iniquitie God ſhall multiplie enimies againſt thee.

8 The watchman of Ephraim was with my b God but the prophete: the ſnare of a fouler in al his wayes, and an abomination in the houſe of his God.

b. At the beginning the teachers inſtructed the people out of gods word only: but afterward trayned them to idolatrie.

9 ‖ They haue gone to the bottome, they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibea: therfore he wyll remember their iniquitie, and viſite their ſinnes. ‖Iud. 19. 18.

10 I founde Iſrael like grapes in the wyldernelle, and ſawe their fathers as the firſt ripe in the figge tree at her firſt ſeaſon: but they went to Baal Peor, and ſeparated them ſelues to that ſhame, and became as abominable as their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory ſhall flee away like a bird: from the birth, from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 And though they bring vp chyldren, yet I wyl deſtroy them before they be men: Yea woe ſhall come to them when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim (as mee thinke) is planted in a pleaſant place, like as is Tyrus: but nowe muſt ſhe bring her owne children forth to the manſlayer.

14 O Lord geue them: what ſhalt thou geue them? Geue them an vnfruitefull wombe, and dry breſtes.

15 ‖ All their wickednelle is done at Gilgal, there doo I abhorre them: for the vngratiouſneſſe of their owne inuentions I wil driue them out of my houſe, I wyll loue them no more, for all their princes are vnfaythful. ‖1. king. 12.

16 Ephraim is hewen downe, their roote is dryed vp, ſo that they ſhall bring no more fruite: yea and though they bring forth any, yet wyl I ſlay euen the beſt beloued of their body.

17 My God ſhall caſt them away, for they haue not been obedient vnto him, therefore ſhal they wander among the heathen.

a. As the Vine ſpoyled of his grapes beareth newe the yere folowyng, ſo the Iſraelites enioying reſt after affliction renewed their former wickedneſſe and idolatrie.

¶ The.x. Chapter.
1. Againſt Iſrael and his idols. 14. His deſtruction for the ſame.

the goodnesse of their lande, they haue made them fayre Images.

2 Their hart is diuided, therefore shall they nowe be destroyed, the Lorde shal breake downe their aulters, he shall destroy theyr Images.

3 For nowe shal they say, We haue no kyng, because we haue not feared the Lorde, and what shoulde then a kyng doo to vs?

4 They haue spoken woordes, swearing falsly in making a b couenant: thus c iudgement groweth as woormewood in the furrowes of the feelde.

5 They that dwel in Samaria shal feare, because of the Calfe of Bethauen, for the people thereof shal mourne ouer it, yea, and the prieftes also reioyced on it for the glorye thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shalbe brought to the Assyrian for a present to the king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shalbe confounded for his owne imaginations.

7 Samaria with his king shall vanishe away as the fome vpon the water.

8 The hygh places of Auen where Israel dooth sinne, shalbe destroyed, thistles & thornes shal growe vpon their aulters: ||then shal they say to the mountaynes, Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fal vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes d of Gabaa: there they stood, the battayle in Gabaa against the children of iniquitie dyd not touche them.

10 It is my desire that I shoulde chastice them, and the people shalbe geathered against them, when they shall ioyne them selues togeather in their two e furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heyffer vsed to delite in f treading out the corne: but I wil passe by her fayre g necke, I wyl make Ephraim to h ryde: Iuda shall plowe, and Iacob shal breake his cloddes.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnesse, and reape the fruites of wel dooing, plowe vp your freshe lande: for it is tyme to seeke the Lorde, tyl he come & rayne righteousnesse vpon you.

13 For you haue plowed vngodlinesse, ye haue reaped iniquitie, you haue eaten the fruite of lyes, because thou puttest thy confidence in thine owne wayes, and leanest to the multitude of thy strong men.

14 There shall growe a sedition among thy people, al thy strong cities shalbe layed waste, euen as Salma destroyed Beth Arbel in the day of battaile, where the mother with the children were dashed in peeces.

15 Euen so shal Bethel doo vnto you, because of your malitious wickednesse: in a morning shal the king of Israel be destroyed.

4 I led them with cordes of a man, euen c with bandes of loue: and I was to them as he that taketh of the yoke from their iawes, and I layde d meate to them.

6 Therefore shal the swoorde fal on his cities, and shal consume his f branches, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsayles.

7 And my people shalbe in a doubt for their rebellion agaynst me: for when the prophetes called them to the most hygh, not one yet woulde geue him his glory.

29 Also in those dayes vpon the seruantes, and vpon the handmaydens wyl I powre out my spirite:

30 And I wyll shewe woonders in heauen and in earth, blood, and fyre, and pyllers of smoke.

31 ‖ The Sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the Moone into blood, before that great and terrible day of the Lorde come.

32 ‖ But who so euer shall call on the name of the Lord shalbe saued: for there shalbe deliuerance in mount Sion, and in Hierusalem, as the Lorde hath promised, and also in the remnant whom the Lorde shall call.

¶ The. iii. Chapter.

Of the iudgement of God agaynst the enimies of his people.

FOR beholde, in those dayes and in that tyme when I shall bryng agayne the captiuitie of Iuda and Hierusalem,

2 I wyll also geather all the Gentiles, and cause them to come into the valley of a Iehosaphat, and I wyll pleade with them there for my people & heritage Israel, whiche they haue scattered amongst the nations, and haue parted my lande.

3 And they haue caste lottes for my people, and changed the boy for an b harlot, and solde the gyrle for wyne, that they myght drynke.

4 And what haue ye to doo with me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coast of Palestine? wyll ye render me recompence? and if you recompence me, I shall swiftly and speedyly returne your recompence vppon your owne heades.

5 For ye haue taken my syluer and my golde, my pleasant and precious thinges, and haue caryed them into your temples.

6 You haue solde also the chyldren of Iuda, and the chyldren of Hierusalem to the Grecians, that you might sende them farre from their owne countrey.

7 Beholde, I wyl rayse them out of that place whyther you haue solde them, and wyll returne your recompence vppon your owne heades.

8 And I wyll sell your sonnes and your daughters into the handes of the chyldren of Iuda, and they shall sell them vnto the Sabeans, to a nation that dwelleth farre of: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

9 Publyshe this thyng among the Gentiles, proclayme warre, wake vp the mightie men, let all the men of warre drawe neare, and come vp.

10 Breake your plough shares into swoordes, and your sythes into speares, let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all you Heathen, and geather your selues togeather rounde about, there shall the Lorde cast downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the Heathen aryse, and come vp to the valley of Iehosaphat: for there wyll I syt to iudge all nations rounde about.

13 ‖ Put in your sythes, for the harueste is rype, come ye and descende, for the c wyne presse is full, yea the presses ouerflowe: for their wickednesse is multiplyed.

14 O people, people, come into the valley of finall "iudgement: for the day of the Lorde is at hand in the valley of final iudgement.

15 ‖ The Sunne and the Moone shalbe darkened, and the Starres shall withdrawe their lyght.

16 ‖ The Lorde also shall roare out of Sion, and out of Hierusalem shal he geue his voyce, the heauens and the earth shall shake: but the Lorde wyll be the hope of his people, and the strength of the chyldren of Israel.

‖Amos.9.13. 18 ‖ And in that day shall the mountaynes drop downe sweete wyne, and the hylles shall flowe with mylke, and all the ryuers of Iuda shall run with water, and a fountayne shal come out of the house of the Lorde, and shall water the valley of Sittim.

19 Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shalbe a desolate wyldernesse: for the iniuries done to the chyldren of Iuda, because they haue shed innocent blood in theyr lande.

20 But Iuda shal dwel for euermore, & Hierusalem from generation to generation.

21 I wyl also cleanse the blood of them that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord dwelleth in Sion.

The booke of the prophete Amos.

¶ The first Chapter.

1. The condition and state of Amos, and the tyme of his prophesie. 3. The vvorde of the Lorde against Damascus, the Philistines, Tyrus, Idumea, and Ammon.

THE woordes of Amos, who was amõg the "sheepeheardes at Thecua, whiche he "saw vpon Israel in the dayes of Osia king of Iuda, and in the dayes of Jeroboam the son of Joas kyng of Israel, ‖two yeeres before the earthquake.

‖Zach.14.15 Jerem.25.30

2 And he sayde, The Lorde shall roare out of Sion, and vtter his voyce from Hierusalem: and the "dwellyng places of the sheepheardes shal "mourne, and the toppe of Charmel shal wyther.

3 Thus sayth the Lorde, For a three "wickednesses of Damascus, and for foure I wyll not "spare her, because they haue threshed Gilead with iron staples.

4 But I wyl sende a fyre into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Benhadad.

5 I wyll breake also the barres of Damascus, and "roote out the inhabitours from the "playne of Auen, and hym that holdeth the scepter, out of the house of "Eden, and the people of Syria shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, sayth the Lorde.

6 Thus sayth the Lorde, For three wickednesse of "Azza, and for foure, I wyll not spare her: because they carryed "away prysoners into captiuitie, to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore wyl I sende a fire vpon the walles of "Azza, whiche shall deuoure her palaces.

8 And I wyll cut of the inhabiter from Asdod, and hym that holdeth the scepter from Ascalon, and turne my hande to "Ecron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perysh, sayth the Lorde God.

9 Thus sayth the Lord, For three "wickednesses of Tyre, and for foure, I wyll not spare her: because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the b brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore wyll I sende a fyre vpon the wall of Tyre, and it shal consume the palaces thereof.

11 Thus sayth the Lord, For three wickednesses of Edom, and for foure, I wyll not spare him: because he pursued his brother with the swoorde, and dyd * cast of all pitie, and "in his anger spoyled hym continually, and his indignation he kept alwayes.

12 Therefore wyll I sende a fyre into Theman, whiche shal deuoure the palaces of Bozra.

13 Thus sayth the Lord, For three wickednesses of the chyldren of Ammon, and for foure, I wyll not spare them: because they c haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their bordes.

14 Therefore wyll I kyndle a fire in the walles of Rabbath, that shall consume her palaces, with a great crye in the day of battayle, and with a tempest in the day of the whirle wynde.

15 And their kyng shall goe into captiuitie, he, and his princes togeather, sayth the Lorde.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

THus ſaith the Lorde, For three wickednesses of Moab, and for foure I will not "ſpare him: because he burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I ſende a fire into Moab, which ſhal conſume the palaces of Cariioth, and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhowting, and with the ſounde of the Trumpet.

3 And I will cut of the iudge out of the middes thereof, and will ſlay al the princes thereof with him, ſaith the Lorde.

4 Thus ſayth the Lorde, For three wickednesses of Iuda, and for foure I will not ſpare him: because they haue caſt away the lawe of the Lorde, and haue not kept his ordinaunces, and their lies cauſed them to erre, after the whiche their fathers walked.

5 Therefore will I ſend a fire into Iuda, which ſhal conſume the palaces of Hieruſalem.

6 Thus ſaith the Lorde, For three wickednesses of Iſrael, and for foure I will not ſpare him: because they ſolde the righteous for ſiluer, and the poore for a paire of ſhoes.

7 They "gape for breath ouer the head of the poore in the duſt of the earth, and pervert the way of the "meeke: A man and his father wyl goe in to one "maide, to diſhonour my holy name.

10 ||Alſo I brought you vp from the lande of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres through the wyldernesse, to poſſeſſe the land of the Amorites.

11 And I rayſed vp of your ſonnes for prophetes, and of your young men for "Nazarites: Is it no euen thus, O ye chyldren of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commaunded the prophetes, ſaying, Prophecie not.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, ſhal ſtande, nor he that is ſwyft of foote ſhall eſcape, neyther ſhall he that ryderh the horſe ſaue his lyfe.

16 And he that is of mightie courage among the ſtrong men, ſhal flee away naked in that day, ſayth the Lorde.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

1. He reproueth the houſe of Iſrael of ingratitude, foreſhewyng Gods moſt iuſt puniſhment for the ſame. 9. Strangers are called to ſee the equitie of Gods iudgement againſt Iſrael.

HEare the woorde that the Lorde pronounceth againſt you, O chyldren of Iſrael, euen againſt the whole familie which I brought vp from the lande of Egypt, ſaying,

2 You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth, therefore I wyll viſite you for al your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together, except they be agreed?

4 Wyl a Lion roare in the forreſt when he hath no praye? or wyl a Lions whelpe crye out of his denne yf he haue taken nothing?

6 Or ſhall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afrayde? or ſhall there be a cuyll in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it? a. That is, calamitie or aduerſitie.

7 "Surely the Lorde God wyll doo nothyng, but he reuealeth his ſecrete vnto his ſeruantes the prophetes. "Or, for.

9 Proclayme in the palaces at Aſdod, & in the palaces of the lande of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues vpon the mountaynes of Samaria, and beholde the great tumultes in the myddes therof, and the oppreſſed in the middes thereof:

10 For they knowe not to do right, ſaith the Lord, they ſtore vp "violence and robberie in their palaces. "Or, iniurie.

11 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, An aduerſarie ſhal come euen rounde about the countrey, and ſhall bryng downe thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhalbe ſpoyled.

12 Thus ſayth the Lorde, As the ſhepheard taketh out of the mouth of the Lion two legges or a peece of an eare: ſo ſhall the chyldren of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde, and in Damaſcus as in a couche.

Vnder the name of fatte Kine of Baſan, he inueith agaynſt the gouernours of Samaria, and foreſhevveth their punishment.

HEare this woorde, ye kine of Baſan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, whiche oppreſſe the poore, and deſtroy the needie, whiche ſay to their [a] maiſters, Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lorde God hath ſworne by his holineſſe, that loe, the dayes ſhal come vppon you, that he wyll take you away with [b] thornes, and your poſteritie with fleſhehookes.
3 And ye ſhal goe out at the breaches, euery Cowe forward, and ye ſhall [b] caſt your ſelues out of the palace, ſayth the Lorde.
4 Come to Bethel, and [b] tranſgreſſe: to Gilgal, and multiplie tranſgreſſion: and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, and your tythes after three yeeres.
5 And offer a thankeſgeuing of leauen, publiſhe and proclaime the free offeringes: for this liketh you, O ye children of Iſrael, ſayth the Lorde God.
6 Therefore haue I geuen you [c] cleanneſſe of teeth in all your cities, and ſcarſeneſſe of bread in al your places: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.
7 And alſo I haue withholden the rayne from you when there were yet three monethes to the harueſt, and I cauſed it to rayne vpon one citie, and haue not cauſed it to rayne vpon another citie: one peece was rayned vpon, and the peece whereupon it rayned not, wythered.
8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drynke water, but they were not ſatiſfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.
9 I haue ſmitten you with blaſting and myldeawe, your great gardens, and your vineyardes, and your fygge trees, and your oliue trees, did the [b] palmer woorme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.
10 Peſtilence haue I ſent among you after the maner of Egypt: your young men haue I ſlayne with the ſwoorde, and haue taken away your horſes, and I haue made the ſtynke of your tentes to come euen vp to your noſethyrilles: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſayth the Lorde.
11 || I haue ouerthrowen [b] you, as God ouerthrewe Sodoma and Gomorrha: and ye were as a fyrebrande pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, ſaith the Lorde.
12 Therfore thus wyl I doo vnto thee, O Iſrael, and becauſe I wyl doo this vnto thee, d prepare to meete thy God, O Iſrael.
13 For loe, he that fourmeth the mountaynes, and createth the wynde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought, whiche maketh the [b] morning darkeneſſe, & walketh vpon the hygh places of the earth, the Lorde God of hoſtes is his name.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

1. The prophete lamenteth the captiuitie of Sion. 4. He calleth to repentance. 8. He deſcribeth the povver of God.

HEare ye this woorde whiche I lyft vp vppon you, euen a lamentation [b] of the houſe of Iſrael.
2 The virgin in Iſrael is falle, and ſhall no more ryſe, ſhe is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raiſe her vp.
3 For thus ſayth the Lorde God, The citie which went out by a thouſand, ſhal leaue an hundred, and that whiche went forth by an hundred, ſhall leaue tenne to the houſe of Iſrael.
4 For thus ſayth the Lorde vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Seeke ye me, & ye ſhall lyue.
5 But ſeeke not Bethel, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-ſeba: for Gilgal ſhal go into captiuitie, and Bethel ſhal come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lorde, and ye ſhall lyue: leſt he breake out like fyre in the houſe of Ioſeph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quenche it in Bethel.
7 They turne iudgement to woormewood, and forſake ryghteouſneſſe in the earth.
8 He maketh the ſeuen Starres and Orion, and he turneth the a ſhadowe of death into the morning, & he maketh the day darke as nyght: || he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth, the Lorde is his name.

12 For I know your "manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewardes, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the wyse shall keepe silence in that time: for it is an euil time.

14 Seeke good, and not euill, that ye may liue: and so the LORDE GOD of hostes shalbe with you, as you haue spoken.

15 ‖ Hate the euil, and loue the good, and stablishe iudgement in the gate: it may be, that the LORDE God of hostes wil be merciful vnto the remnaunt of Joseph.

16 Therefore the LORDE God of hostes, the LORDE saith thus, Mourning shalbe in al streetes, and they shall say in al the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shal call the husbandman to lamentation, and suche as can mourne " to mourning.

17 And in al the vines shalbe lamentation: for I wyl passe through thee, sayth the LORDE.

18 ‖ Woe vnto you that desyre the day of the LORD, what haue ye to doo with it? the day of the LORD is darkenesse, and not light.

19 As yf a man did flee from a Lion, and a Beare meete him, and went into the house, and leaned his hand vnto the wal, and a serpent bite him:

20 Shall not the day of the LORDE be darkenesse, and not light: euen darkenesse and no " light in it.

21 ‖ I hate, I abhorre your feast dayes, and I wyl not d smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me whole burnt offeringes, and meate offeringes, I wyll not accept them, neither wyll I regard the peace offering of your fat beastes.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songues, for I wil not heare the melodie of thy Vials.

24 And " let iudgement runne downe as water, and righteousnesse as a mightie riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offeringes in the wyldernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But ye haue borne e Siccuth your king, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your goddes, whiche ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore wyl I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, sayth the LORD, whose name is the God of hostes.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

1. He propheseith against the princes of Israel, liuing in pleasures.

WOe to ‖ them that are at ease in Sion, and trust in the mountayne of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations, and the house of Israel came to them. ‖ Luke. 6. 24

4 They lye vpon beddes of Iuorie, and stretch them selues vpon their couches, and eate the Lambes out of the flocke, and the Calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the Viall, and inuent to them selues instrumentes of musicke, like Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and annoynt them selues with these ointmentes: but no man is sory for the affliction of Joseph.

7 Therefore nowe shal they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and " the sorowe of them that stretched them selues is at hande.

8 ‖ The LORD God hath sworne by him selfe, saith the LORDE God of hostes, I abhorre the "excellencie of Jacob, and hate his palaces, therefore wyl I deliuer vp the citie, with al that is therein.

9 And yf there remayne ten men in one house, they shal dye.

10 And his vncle shal take him vp, and burne him, to carie out the bones out of the house, & shal say to him that is by the b sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shal say, None. Then shal he say, Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the name of the LORDE.

11 For beholde, the LORDE commaundeth, and he wyl smite the great house with breaches, and the litle houses with clefts.

12 Shal Horses runne vpon the c rocke? or wyll one plowe there with Oxen? for ye haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousnesse into wormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought, ye say, Haue not we gotten vs hornes by our owne strength?

14 But beholde, I wyl raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the LORD God

¶ The. vii. Chapter.

1. God sheweth certayne visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel.

THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto me, and beholde, he fourmed Grashoppers in the beginnyng of the shooting vp of the latter growth, and loe it was in the latter growth, after the a kinges mowing.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the graſſe of the lande, then I ſaid, O Lorde God, ſpare I beſeeche thee: Who ſhal rayſe vp Jacob? for he is ſmall.

3 So the Lorde b repented for this: it ſhal not be, ſayth the Lorde.

4 Thus alſo hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto me, and beholde the Lorde God called to iudgement by fyre, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp " a part.

5 Then ſaide I, O Lorde God, ceaſſe I beſeeche thee: Who ſhal rayſe vp Jacob? for he is ſmall.

6 So the Lorde repented for this: this alſo ſhal not be, ſaith the Lorde God.

7 Thus againe he ſhewed me, and beholde the Lorde ſtoode vppon a wall made by line, c with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lorde ſaide vnto me, Amos what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaide, A lyne. Then ſaide the Lorde, Beholde, I wyll ſet a lyne in the middeſt of my people Iſrael, and wyll paſſe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Iſahac ſhalbe deſolate, and the " temples of Iſrael ſhalbe deſtroyed, and I wyll ryſe againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſwoord.

10 Then Amazia the prieſt of Bethel ſent to Jeroboam king of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the middeſt of the houſe of Iſrael: the lande is not able to beare all his woordes.

11 For thus Amos ſaith, Jeroboam ſhal dye by the ſwoord, and Iſrael ſhalbe ledde away captiue out of their owne lande.

12 Alſo Amazia ſaide to Amos, O thou ſeer, goe, flee thou away into the lande of Juda, and there eate thy bread, and propheſie there.

13 But propheſie no more at Bethel: for it is the kinges chappel, & it is the kinges court.

14 Then anſweared Amos, and ſayde vnto Amazia, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophetes ſonne: but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wylde figges.

15 And the Lorde tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lorde ſaide vnto me, Goe, propheſie vnto my people Iſrael.

16 Now therfore heare thou the woord of the Lorde: Thou ſayeſt, Propheſie not againſt Iſrael, and ſpeake nothing againſt the houſe of Iſahac.

17 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord, Thy wyfe ſhalbe an harlot in the citie, and thy ſonnes and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſwoord, and thy lande ſhalbe diuided by line, and thou ſhalt dye in a polluted lande, and Iſrael ſhall ſurely goe into captiuitie fourth of his lande.

The. viii. Chapter.

By a viſion of a baſket of ſommer fruite, the ende of the kingdome of Israel is shewed.

THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto me: and beholde, a baſket of ſommer fruite.

2 And he ſaide, Amos what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaide, A baſket of ſommer a fruite. Then ſaide the Lorde vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Iſrael, I wyl paſſe by them no more.

3 And the ſongues of the temple ſhalbe howlinges in that day, ſayth the Lord God: many dead bodyes ſhalbe in euery place, they ſhal caſt them forth with ſilence.

4 Heare this, O ye that ſwalowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the lande to faile,

5 Saying, When wyl the newe moneth be gone, that we may ſell corne? and the Sabboth, that we may ſet forth Wheate, and make the b Ephah ſmall, and the ſicle great, and falſifie the weightes by deceipt?

6 That we may buy the poore for ſiluer, and the needie for ſhoes, yea, and ſell the refuſe of the wheate?

7 The Lorde hath ſworne by the excellencie of Jacob, Surely I wyl neuer forget any of their woorkes.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne that dwelleth therein? And it ſhall ryſe vp wholly as a floodde, and it ſhalbe caſt out, and c drowned, as by the floodde of Egypt.

9 And in that day, ſayth the Lord God, I wyl euen cauſe the d ſunne to goe downe at noone, and I wyll darken the earth in the cleare day.

The booke of the Prophete Ionas.

¶ The firſt Chapter.

1. Ionas fledde vvhen he vvas ſent to preache. 4. A tempeſt aryſeth, and he is caſt into the ſea for his diſobedience.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto a Ionas the ſonne of Amittai, ſaying,

2 Aryſe, and goe to b Ninive the great citie, and crie againſt it: for their wickednes is come vp before me.

3 And Ionas roſe vp to flee into Tharſis from the preſence of the Lorde, and went downe to c Ioppa, and founde a ſhip going to d Tharſis: ſo he paied his fare, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tharſis from the e preſence of the Lorde.

4 But the Lorde ſent out a great winde into the ſea, and there was a mightie tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was in daunger of ſplitting in ſunder.

5 Then the Mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and caſt the wares that were in the ſhippe into the ſea, to lighten it of them: but Ionas was gone downe into the ſides of the ſhippe, and he lay downe ſleeping.

6 And the ſhipmaiſter came vnto hym, and ſaide, What meaneſt thou ſleeper? Vp, and call vpon thy God, yf ſo be that God wyll thinke vnto vs, that we periſhe not.

7 And they ſaide euery one vnto his felowe, Come, let vs caſt lottes: that we may knowe for whoſe cauſe this euill is on vs. And they caſt lottes: and the lotte fell on Ionas.

8 Then ſaide they vnto him, Tell vs, for whoſe cauſe is this euill come vppon vs? what is thine occupation? whence cameſt thou? what countreyman art thou? and of what nation?

9 And he anſwearred them, I am an Hebrue, and I feare the Lorde God of heauen, whiche hath made the ſea, and the dry lande.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and ſaide vnto hym, Why haſt thou doone this? (for the men knewe that he fledde from the preſence of the Lorde, becauſe he had told them.)

11 And they ſaide vnto him, What ſhal we doo vnto thee, that the ſea may be calme vnto vs? for the ſea wrought, and was troublous.

12 And he ſaide vnto them, Take me, and caſt me into the ſea, and the ſea ſhalbe calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my ſake this great tempeſt is vppon you.

13 Neuertheleſſe, the men aſſaied with rowyng to bring the ſhip to lande, but they could not, becauſe the ſea wrought, and was troublous agaynſt them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the lord, and ſaide, We beſeeche thee, O Lord, we beſeeche thee, let vs not periſhe for this mans life, and laye not to our charge innocent blood: for thou, O Lorde, haſt doone as it pleaſed thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionas, and caſt him into the ſea, and the ſea left raging.

16 And the men feared the Lorde exceedingly, and offered a ſacrifice vnto the Lord, and made f vowes.

17 And the Lorde prepared a great fiſhe to ſwalowe vp Ionas: and Ionas was in the bellye of the fiſhe three dayes and three nightes.

3 Thou haddeſt caſt me downe into the deepe, into the middeſt of the ſea, and the floodes compaſſed me about: all thy billowes and waues paſſed ouer me.

4 And I ſaide, ||I am caſt away out of thy ſyght, yet wyll I looke agayne towarde thyne holy temple.

3 So Jonas aroſe and went to Niniue, according to the woord of the Lorde: (Niniue was a great citie and a excellent, of three dayes iourney.)

4 And Jonas began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and ſaide, Yet fourtie dayes, and Niniue ſhalbe deſtroyed.

5 || And the men of Niniue beleeued God, and proclaimed a faſt, and put on ſackcloth, from the greateſt of them, to the leaſt of them.

6 And woorde came vnto the king of Niniue: whiche aroſe from his throne, and put of his robe, and couered him ſelfe with ſackcloth, and ſate downe in aſhes.

7 And he cauſed a cryer to crye, and ſay thorowe the citie by the counſel of the kyng and his nobles, Let neither man nor beaſte, bullocke, nor ſheepe taſte ought at al, neither feede nor drinke water.

8 And let both man and beaſt put on ſackcloth, and crie mightylie vnto God: yea let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesſe that is in his handes.

9 Who can tel whether God wyl turne and be moued with b repentance, and turne from his fierce wrath, that we periſhe not?

The great goodneſſe of God towarde his creatures.

AND this diſpleaſed Jonas greatly, and he was a angry within him ſelfe.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and ſaide, I pray thee, O Lorde, was not this my ſaying when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I "haſted to flee vnto Tharſis: || For I knewe that thou art a gracious GOD, and mercifull, long ſuffering, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteſt thee of euill.

3 And nowe, O Lorde, take I beſeeche thee my life from me: for it is better for me to dye then to liue.

4 Then ſaide the Lorde, Dooeſt thou well to be angry?

5 And Jonas went out of the citie, and ſate him downe on the Eaſt ſide thereof, and there made him a boothe, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadowe, till he might ſee what ſhoulde be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it ſpring vp ouer Jonas, that it might be a ſhadowe ouer his head, to deliuer him from his greefe: So Jonas was exceeding glad of the gourde.

7 But GOD prepared a woorme, when the morning roſe the next day, whiche ſmote the gourde, that it wythered.

8 And when the ſunne roſe, God prepared a feruent Eaſt winde, and the ſunne beat vpon the head of Jonas that he fainted, and wyſhed vnto his ſoule that he might dye, and ſaide, It is better for me to dye, then to liue.

9 And the Lorde ſaide vnto Jonas, Doeſt thou well to be ſo angry within thee ſelfe for the gourde? And he ſaide, I doo well to be angry euen vnto death?

10 Then ſaide the Lorde, Thou haſt hadde compaſſion on the gourde about the whiche thou beſtowedſt no labour, neither madeſt it growe, whiche came vp in a night, and periſhed in a night:

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

Of the destruction of Samaria, because of theyr idolatrie.

THE woorde of the Lorde came vnto Micheas the Morasthite, in the dayes of Iotham, Ahas, and Ezecias, kinges of Iuda, whiche he sawe concernyng Samaria and Hierusalem.

Deut.32.1. Esai.1.2. 2 ||Heare al ye people, marke this wel, O earth, and all that therein is, yea let the Lorde GOD him selfe be witnesse agaynst you, euen the Lorde from his holy temple.

Esai.26.21. 3 ||For behold, the Lorde shal come out of his holy place, & come downe, and treade vpon the high thinges of the earth.

4 The mountaynes shall melt vnder hym, and the vallepes shal cleaue asunder, lyke as waxe melteth before the fyre, and as the waters runne downewarde.

5 And al this shalbe for the wyckednesse of Jacob, and the sinnes of the house of Israel: but what is the wyckednesse of Jacob? is not a Samaria? whiche are the high places of Iuda? is not Hierusalem?

a Samaria and Hierusalem were the cheefe cities of the two kynges: idolatrie vsed in them, sheweth a general corruptiō through all.

6 Therefore I wyl make Samaria an heape of the feelde meete for the planting of a vineyarde: her stones wyll I tumble downe into the valley, and discouer her foundations.

7 Al her images shalbe broken downe, and al her [b] garmentes shalbe brent in the fyre, yea al her idols wyl I destroy: for they are geathered out of the hyre of an b harlot, and into an harlots hyre shall they be turned agayne.

c Buyl gotten, cyl spent.

8 Wherefore I wyll mourne and make lamentation, bare and naked wyll I goe: I wyl mourne lyke the Dragons, and take sorowe as the Estriches.

9 For their wounde is past remedie, it is come into Iuda, and hath touched the gate of my people at Hierusalem alredy.

10 Declare it not at Gath, neyther weepe ye: for the house of Aphra roule thee selfe in the dust.

d Names of cities that shoulde be first destroyed by the enimies.

11 Thou that dwellest in Saphir geat thee hence naked with shame: the that dwelleth at c Zaanan, shal not come forth in the mourning of Bethezel: the enimie shal receyue of you for his d standing.

12 For the inhabitantes of Maroth wayled for good, but the plague shall come from the Lorde, euen vnto the gates of Hierusalem.

13 O thou e inhabitant of Lachis, binde the charet to the swiftest f beast, she is the beginning of the sinne of the daughter of Sion: for the transgressions of Israel were founde in thee.

14 Therfore shalt thou bring presentes to g Mozesheth Gath: the houses of Achzib shall be as a lye to the kynges of Israel.

15 And as for thee, O thou that dwellest at Maresa, I wyl bring a possessioner vpon thee, he shal come to Adullam, the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee baulde, h and shaue thee, because of thy tender children: make thee cleane baulde as an Eagle, for they shalbe carryed away captiue from thee.

d. The long continuance of an armie in one place is hurtful.

e. It appeareth that this citie was one of the fyrst which receiued the worshipping of the golden Calues, set vp by Ieroboam.

f. Make haste to flee away.

g. A citie so named.

h. Shauing and plucking of heare, was vsed in tyme of mourning.

¶ The.ii. Chapter.

Threatnynges agaynst the sinnefull people.
6. They vvoulde teache the prophetes to preache.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wyckednesse vppon theyr beddes: when the morning is lyght they practise it, because theyr hande hath power.

2 And they couet feeldes, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man & his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Beholde, agaynst this houshold haue I deuised a plague, whereout ye shal not plucke your neckes: ye shal no more goe so proudely, for it wyl be a perillous tyme.

4 In that day shal this parable be vsed, and a mourning shalbe made ouer you on this manner: We be vtterly [c] desolate, the portion of my people is changed: howe wyll [d] he part vnto the lande that he hath taken from vs.

c Or, vvasted.

d Or, howe shal he take our lande to restore it vnto vs (seyng the enimie) hath diuided it?

5 Therefore there shalbe no man to diuide thee thy portion in the congregation of the Lorde.

6 Ye ſhall not a propheſie ſay they to them that propheſie: b they ſhal not propheſie to them, neyther ſhal they take ſhame.

7 O thou that art named the houſe of Jacob, is the ſpirite of the Lorde ſhortened? are theſe his woorkes? are not my woordes good vnto him that walketh vprightly?

8 But ye that was yeſterday my people, is ryſen vp on the other ſide as agaynſt an enimie: they ſpoyle the beautiful garment from them that paſſe by peaceablie, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye ſhut out from theyr pleaſant houſes, and taken away " mine excellent gyftes from theyr chyldren.

10 Up, geat you hence, for here ſhall ye haue no reſt: becauſe the lande is defyled, it ſhal deſtroy you with vtter deſtruction.

11 If a man c walke in the ſpirite, and woulde lye falſly ſaying, I wyl propheſie to thee of d wine and ſtrong drynke: that were a prophete for this people.

12 I wyl ſurely geather e thee wholly, O Jacob, I wyl ſurely geather the remnant of Iſrael, I wyl put them togeather as the ſheepe of f Bozra, as the flocke in the mideſt of their folde, they ſhal make great noyſe by reaſon of the multitude of men.

13 The breaker ſhall come vp before them, they ſhal breake out, and paſſe by the gate, and goe out by it: and theyr kyng g ſhal goe before them, and the Lorde ſhalbe vpon h theyr heades.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

Agaynſt the tyrannie of princes and falſe prophetes.

AND I ſayde, Heare, I pray you, O heades of Jacob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael, ſhoulde not ye knowe iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euyl, they plucke of theyr ſkinnes from them, and their fleſhe from their bones.

3 And they eate alſo the fleſhe of my people, and flay of their ſkinne from them: and they breake their bones, and chop them in peeces as for the pot, and as fleſhe within the caudron.

4 Then ſhal they crye vnto the Lorde, but he wyl not heare them: he wyll euen hyde his face from them at that tyme, becauſe they haue done wyckedly in theyr woorkes.

5 Thus ſayth the Lorde concerning the prophetes that deceyue my people, a and byte them with theyr teeth, and crye peace: but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre agaynſt hym.

6 Therefore b nyght ſhalbe vnto you for a viſion, and darkeneſſe ſhalbe vnto you for a diuination: and the ſunne ſhall goe downe ouer the prophetes, and the day ſhalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then ſhal the ſeers be aſhamed, and the ſoothſayers confounded: yea c they ſhal al couer their lyppes, for they haue no anſweare of God.

8 Yet notwithſtanding, I am full of power by the ſpirite of the Lorde, and of iudgement, and of ſtrength, to declare vnto Jacob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the houſe of Jacob, and princes of the houſe of Iſrael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert al equitie.

10 d They buyld vp Sion with blood, and Hieruſalem with iniquitie.

11 ||(The heades thereof iudge for rewardes, and the prieſtes thereof teache for hyre, and the prophetes thereof propheſie for money: yet wyl they leane vpon the Lorde, and ſay, Is not the Lord among vs? no euyl can come vpon vs.)

12 ||Therefore ſhal Sion for your ſake be plowed as a feelde, and Hieruſalem ſhall be an heape, and the mountayne of the houſe as the hygh places of the forreſt.

¶ The first Chapter.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE burden of a Niniue: the boke of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.

The Ninivites were spared because they repented at the preaching of Jonas: but afterwards returned to their former wickednesse, before God threatneth them this prophecie.

2 God is ielous, & the Lorde auengeth, the Lord auengeth & hath wrath in store: the Lorde taketh vengeance of his aduersaries, and keepeth wrath in store for his enimies.

3 The Lorde is slowe to anger, and also of great power, and in no case wyl acquite the wicked, the Lords dealyng is with blustring tempest and whirle winde, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it vp, al the ryuers also he maketh drye: Basan and Carmel are destroyed, the spryng also of Libanus is destroyed.

5 The mountaynes quake * at his power, and the hylles are resolued: the earth also burneth at his countenance, the worlde, and al that dwelleth therein.

6 Who can stande before his wrath? or who can ryse vp before the anger of his countenance? his fiercenesse is powred out lyke fyre, yea the rockes cleaue in peeces at his myght.

7 The Lorde is gratious, a strong holde in the day of trouble, and knoweth them that trust in hym.

8 But with an ouerrunnyng floodde he wil destroy her place, and wyl pursue his enimies with darkenesse.
